Former County Resident Dies In Auto Mishap

A Pennsylvania woman and man died Saturday following an automobile accident in which their car hydroplaned while westbound on Rt. 40 in Henry Clay Township, Pa. and slammed into a tractor-trailer truck.

Renee Michelle Stefanick, 24, Leisenring, (and former Garrett County resident) was pronounced dead at 7:15 in Uniontown (Pa.) Hospital, and Joseph Paul Carolla, 25, Uniontown, was declared brain dead at West Virginia University Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., at 10:25 a.m.

Stefanick and Carolla were reportedly transferred from the accident scene by ambulance to Uniontown Hospital when rescue workers determined that foggy conditions in the mountains made transport by emergency helicopter impossible.

According to Fayette County (Pa.) Coroner, Dr. Phillip E. Reilly, Stefanick had been stabilized for transfer to another hospital when her condition suddenly deteriorated. She was pronounced dead shortly afterwards.

Pennsylvania State Police stated that the accident occurred at 4:40 a.m. when the 1986 Pontiac Fiero, which Stefanick was operating, hydroplaned on the wet roadway, crossed into the eastbound lane and struck an embankment. The car then spun 180 degrees and its rear collided with the front of a tractor-trailer truck driven by Floyd Taylor, 37, Waynesboro, Pa. Taylor was reportedly not injured.

According to police, the truck was climbing a hill eastbound at a slow rate of speed at the time of the accident.

Born February 1, 1963, in Morgantown, Renee Stefanick was the daughter of Kenneth and Brenda (Newbraugh) Stefanick, Evanston, Wyo.

Miss Stefanick was employed at Scottyland Camping Resort, Somerset, Pa. She was a graduate of Mt. Vernon, Ill. High

A LIVE HOOD ORNAMENT? Motorcycles really don't have hoods, but this "ornament" was indeed alive as he zoomed along with his master on U.S. Rt. 48. The identities of all three riders are unknown, as The Republican staff photographer Craig Phillips captured this shot out the passenger window of an automobile.

There was even speculation that the dog was the driver of the cycle. Riding in short sleeves will soon come to an end as the return of local children to school on Monday is a sure sign that autumn is just around the corner.

Dr. Friend Listed As "Good" After Tractor Mishap

A local dentist remains a patient at West Virginia University Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., where he is listed in "good" condition following an accident Saturday involving a farm tractor.

Dr. Alvin P. Friend, 60, Oakland, was attempting to start a farm tractor with a dead battery at 7:15 p.m. at his residence along Rt. 219, north of Oakland, when the battery charger he was using finally started the engine.

As the engine turned over, the tractor, which was in gear, began moving and the rear tire and brush hog ran over Friend. He was reportedly dragged approximately 100 feet. The tractor then rolled down an embankment onto Rt. 219 and caught fire.

Among his injuries were a broken pelvis and jaw, and other facial injuries. He was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad and then flown to WVU Hospital by Health Net helicopter.

Those responding to the scene, besides the Southern Rescue Squad, were Cpl. G.D. Broadwater of the Maryland State Police and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Clarification Noted

In a story that appeared in last week's issue of The Republican, when it was reported that Vaughn Winters, 35, of Swanton, was arrested for driving while intoxicated and two counts of possession of controlled dangerous substances, it was stated that a vial containing cocaine was found in Winters' wallet.

The vial referred to was actually an open-ended glass tube which, according to Cpl. G.D. Broadwater of the Maryland State Police, contained traces of a white powdery substance which he, Broadwater, determined to be cocaine. The substance has been sent to the MSP Crime Lab but its identification has yet to be confirmed by them.

Volunteers Sought For Habitat Project

Habitat for Humanity is currently building a house for a couple in the Bloomington area and concrete finishers and other workers are "greatly needed," according to Connie Margison, coordinator.

The finishing work on the basement floor will be undertaken on Saturday and those interested in volunteering their time may contact Kathy at 334-9431 for complete information. Persons residing in the Bloomington area and wishing to volunteer may contact Delores at 359-9294.

Five Juveniles Escape From Youth Centers

A total of five juveniles have escaped from two Garrett County youth centers during the past week, according to Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment. Two of the youths have since been apprehended and returned to the detention center.

According to police reports, three 16-year-old males escaped from the Meadow Mtn. Youth Center, Grantsville. Two of them were last seen on Monday and one of them on Sunday.

A Mt. Rainer youth was apprehended Tuesday on New Germany Road and a Union Bridge youth was apprehended on U.S. Rt. 48. They were both charged with juvenile delinquency escape.

One of the three, a 16-year-old from Baltimore, from the Grantsville center has not yet been located. He is described as being five feet, ten inches tall, weighing about 210 pounds with a muscular build. He has black hair and a dark complexion.

Two 17-year-old males were also reported missing at the Savage Mtn. Youth Center. Police are still trying to locate the youths.

In other State Police news, an Osage, W.Va. man was arrested and charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

David Rigglesman, 28, was charged after he turned himself in at the McHenry detachment following an incident earlier in the day when he reportedly took a 1987 Chrysler Newport from the residence of William E. Frazee, Friendsville. According to Frazee, Rigglesman took the car and failed to return it as promised. Tfc. Dale K. Williams was the investigator.

State Police are also investigating a theft that occurred at the Village Green Golf Course, McHenry, sometime between August 13 and 14.

According to William A. Thoman, two EZGO golf carts were removed from the premises and approximately five million gallons of water was released from a reservoir there. Total loss amounted to $4050, according to investigating officer, Tpr. J.K. Moore. Another theft was reported that occurred August 25 at Grantsville Foodland when someone reportedly stole a bag of miscellaneous coupons, valued at $1428. Sgt. R.E. Friend is investigating.

A destruction of property was reported by David E. Rosh, Academy, who stated that the family's two-year-old Doberman was injured as a result of a gunshot wound. The incident occurred Friday on Bowman Hill Road.

Swanton Man Is Given Three-Year Sentence In DOC

During proceedings in Garrett County District Court last week, a Swanton man was sentenced to three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections after having been found guilty of battery.

Joseph R. Kisselovich, 32, was found guilty of the charge in a June 23 hearing when a presentence investigation was ordered by Judge Jack R. Turney. Kisselovich was also fined $100 and court costs.

He was arrested April 24 following an incident that began on Rt. 495 at the White Oak Trailer Court. According to complainant, David L. Nock, also of Swanton, he was traveling westbound when he attempted to pass the vehicle directly in front of him.

At the time, Nock reportedly observed another vehicle traveling at a high rate of speed toward him and pulled off the road to avoid a collision. He then continued toward Oakland and a car, reportedly driven by Kisselovich, passed him, swerving back and forth in front of him.

This action brought Nock to a stop at which point Kisselovich exited his vehicle and grabbed Nock, striking him once through the open window and several more times after pulling him from the vehicle. He then pulled Nock's vehicle off the road, took the keys and left the scene.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Kisselovich.

A Cumberland woman received an 18-month jail sentence in the Maryland Department of Corrections after she was found guilty on five counts of writing bad checks.

Betty J. Bates, 43, was also placed on 24 months supervised probation as a result of the conviction. The charges were filed by Cynthia A. Martin, bookkeeper at Grantsville Foodland, where Bates reportedly wrote checks for groceries on June 25, 27 and 30. Total amount of the checks was $324.05. Toston was the defending attorney.

Teresa A. Arbogast, 25, Baltimore, received a six-month suspended sentence after she was found guilty of malicious destruction of property and battery in two separate cases. She was found guilty in previous hearings where a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The destruction charge was filed by Nathan C. Browning, correctional officer at the Garrett County Jail, after she reportedly scratched a cell door on May 2.

Deputy C.P. Nolan charged her with battery after she re-

Many Injured In Traffic Mishaps This Past Week

Four Frostburg residents were injured, one of them seriously, last Thursday morning in a one-car accident that occurred on New Germany Road.

Two-year-old Daniel C. Greene was admitted to the Intensive Care Unit at Sacred Heart Hospital in "serious" condition after he was thrown from a vehicle driven by Kim Greene, 29. The youth has since been released from the hospital.

Also injured in the 9:30 a.m. accident were Katie M. Greene, 6, who was admitted in "guarded" condition and has since been released, and Robert M. Greene, 4, who was treated and released. Kim Greene was also treated for injuries and released.

According to Maryland State Police reports, the accident occurred when Greene was operating a 1987 Subaru hatchback southbound, south of Frank Brenneman Road, when the car went off the right side of the road.

The vehicle then re-entered the roadway and traveled across to the left side and again to the right side where it hit an embankment and overturned twice before coming to a rest on its side. Tfc. R.M. Hersherberger investigated the accident. Also at the scene were Northern Rescue Squad and Bittering firemen.

A Bayard, W.Va. man was admitted to Garrett Memorial Hospital after injuries he received Sunday in a one-car accident along Rt. 50.

Robert S. Barkley, 22, has since been released from the hospital where he was taken by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Investigating officer, Tpr. R.T. Wilson, stated that the accident occurred at 6:15 a.m. when Barkley lost control of the Willy's Jeep he was operating westbound near Gorman.

The jeep traveled off the roadway into a slight embankment and continued for approximately 80 feet and struck a tree.

It then continued for another 30 feet and struck another tree, overturned and ejected the driver.

Barkley was reportedly traveling at a high rate of speed. He was charged with driving while intoxicated by Tpr. Wilson.

A two-vehicle accident Friday morning resulted in four people being injured, one of whom was admitted to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Laura L. Hauser, 17, Olean, N.Y., has since been released from the hospital where she had been transported by Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter. Also injured were Russell G. Henderson, 70, Helane Henderson, 66, and Dorothea Henderson, 92, all of Pittsburgh, Pa. They were all taken by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released.

The accident occurred, according to State Police reports, while a 1976 Chevrolet Impala, driven by Kenneth C. Broadbent, 22, Hamburg, N.Y., and a 1987 Chevrolet Caprice, driven

Garrett, Allegany Commissioners Meet With State Plumbing Board

The Boards of Garrett and Allegany County Commissioners met in Baltimore Monday with William A. Fogel, secretary of Licensing and Regulations, and the Maryland State Board of Commissioners of Practical Plumbing to discuss the enforcement of the plumbing code in those two counties.

The meeting was the result of recent reports that the code was not being enforced by the two westernmost counties in the state. State officials did say that of the some 100 complaints received, none of them concerned Garrett County plumbers. The complaints did bring to light, though, a long-forgotten law passed in the 1920's that mandated each jurisdiction to enforce the code or the state would step in and enforce it at the county's expense and probable inconvenience because of logistics.

At a press conference Tuesday, Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. commented, "After many years, the state realized that the law was not being enforced and they strongly recommended a need to remedy the situation. Now, it is this Board's responsibility to put our best foot forward to protect the rights of the people whose livelihood is practicing plumbing. We will do our best not to allow the state to deprive anyone of his livelihood."

The state officials presented a proposed agreement to the county officials who will now review it with W. Dwight Stover, county attorney, and make their recommendations. They then have one month to respond to the State Board.

The state law requires that a plumber must be certified as a master plumber or spend five years as an apprentice to a master plumber and pass a state test to practice in the state of Maryland. The state is reportedly considering a localized test with a much higher passage rate than a state test that will permit non-certified plumbers to practice in Garrett County but not the rest of the state.

Commissioner Gregg said it was not the intention of the state to preclude anyone from earning a living and noted that the State Board is offering to conduct instructional classes to prepare plumbers for the test. The commissioners are hopeful that a grandfathering mechanism will be included for non-certified plumbers. Passing a localized test, though, will not certify a plumber. The rigid state test must be passed to earn that status.

The commissioners are also faced with hiring an additional qualified staff person or two to inspect new or replaced plumbing in new or existing structures. The law also has an impact on developers and homeowners as plumbing jobs will have to be permitted.

The state is expecting to hear from the county officials by October 1 on the proposed agreement.

Commissioner Elwood Groves II commented, "We appreciate the position they (State Board) find themselves in, but quite frankly, I think they were pretty pushy considering their neglect of that state law for the past 60 years. Now, all of a sudden, we have to move on this thing immediately."

Commissioner Braskey indicated that the commissioners would conduct another public meeting to gain more input from local plumbers and citizens before reporting back to the state.

Forest Management

Several forest product contractors met with the commissioners on Tuesday morning to air their concerns about the gearing down of forest management in the county, especially the Savage River forest area.

The commissioners informed the contractors that, to their knowledge, the "slowdown" of timbering was only temporary and that each tract would continue to be reviewed by the Department of Natural Resources. The Board of Public Works must approve each tract before any timbering begins.

Commissioner Gregg stated that "to do nothing to forest lands would do greater harm than the good management and harvesting of those forests."

Reportedly, environmentalist groups were a factor in the decision not to allow timbering in Puzzle Run.

"We are not 'raping the land' as some environmentalists claim," said Commissioner Groves.

He said that time would prove that preventing timbering would not be a prudent decision on the part of the state.

During the press conference, one member of the media commented that there had been some evidence that the "slowdown" came about because of some inter-departmental bickering within DNR. "If that is the case," he questioned, "how do you (commissioners) feel about 350 jobs in the county being jeopardized at the whim of some bureaucrats?"

"We have no knowledge of those allegations," responded Commissioner Gregg. "If that is the case, though, it's deplorable."

Drawdown At Deep Creek Lake Now Underway

Deep Creek Lake is being drawn down four to five feet to allow the shoreline along Rock Lodge Road to be strengthened against erosion, according to a release from Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec), owner of the lake.

According to Dick Imler, manager of Penelec's Seward and Deep Creek stations, the gradual drawdown will be completed by October 5. A contractor then will put riprap along about 2,000 feet of shoreline and rebuild the berm in a job that will take two to three months.

The lake provides water for Penelec's Deep Creek Hydroelectric Generating Station.

The office of The Republican will be closed Monday, September 7, in observance of Labor Day. The regular deadlines for advertising and news copy will remain the same.

"DREAM COME TRUE FUND" — Mrs. Marin S. Day (left), president of The Civic Club of Oakland, is pictured presenting Mrs. Aloise O'Neill, chairman of the Dream Come True Fund, with a check for $1,000, while Mrs. Shirley Panther, Civic Club treasurer, looks on. The Dream Come True Fund is a non-profit corporation set up to provide joy to a terminally ill person. The idea was conceived after a local cancer patient, Dorothy Graham, expressed a desire to see her grandchild, and funds were raised to bring the young family to Garrett County from North Carolina. The foundation is to grant a "dream" to a terminally ill patient, a Garrett County resident, over 18 years of age. It will provide the family with special memories during the turmoil of a final illness. All requests must be submitted in writing, by a Hospice volunteer or a doctor, to the Dream Come True Board of Directors. The referral person will then be contacted to obtain additional information, and an appointment will be made with the patient's family to explain the Dream Come True procedures. The new "Dream Come True Foundation" will be funded primarily by contributions from individuals and local clubs and organizations. The board of directors consists of members of the contributing organizations. The fund will be held in a separate interest-bearing account, designated for terminally ill patients in Garrett County. A fund-raising committee will address all local clubs and organizations throughout the county appealing for contributions.

WILL THE GOAL BE REACHED in time for Christmas? That is the question being asked by the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) which is holding a campaign to raise money for new Christmas decorations for the city of Oakland. With the First United National Bank and Trust being the major contributor so far, 21 contributions have brought the total raised for the Christmas decorations to $6,343.75. A goal of at least $10,000 was set by GOBA after consultation with Jay Hayes, Weston, W.Va., who will be designing the decorations for Oakland. Contributors pictured above, left to right, are: Mel Smith, The A.D. Naylor Company; Dan Daniels, WMSG/WXIE Radio; Joe Helbig, Oakland Elk Lodge 2481; Marin Day, Civic Club of Oakland; Betty Brack, Coca-Cola Bottling Plant; Nancy Helbig, Gonder Insurance Agency; Patti Battista, Junior Woman's Civic Club; Jeannette Rudy, First United National Bank and Trust; and Dick Wheeler, First Federal Savings and Loan. Contributors not pictured are: Dr. Alvin Friend, Dr. Porter Welch, Dr. Roland Capelle, Rodeheaver & Associates, Dr. Herbert Leighton, Dr. Joseph Alvarez, Devlin, Inc., Andrew Mance, M.D., Knights of Columbus 1771, Lakeside Realty, Potomac Edison, and Buffalo Coal Company. Donations can still be made to members of the Greater Oakland Business Association.

Two Sentenced In Circuit Court By Judge Thayer

A Frostburg man was given a one-year suspended sentence during Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings last week after he was found guilty of misdemeanor theft by Judge Fred A. Thayer.

John C. Williams, 36, had been charged with writing a bad check by Jeffrey N. Fike, Oakland, bookkeeper at Beachy Lumber Company, Inc. in Oakland. The incident occurred in December of last year when Williams reportedly wrote a check there for the purchase of $1411.06 worth of lumber.

The charge was entered into Circuit Court files from Garrett County District Court June 30 after Williams played a jury trial. Judge Thayer amended the bad check charge to mis-deanor theft.

Williams was then placed on one year supervised probation and ordered to pay a $200 fine and court costs. James F. Braskey represented Williams.

Also in Circuit Court last week, Robert L. Holschneider, 39, Cresaptown, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland Department of Corrections after he had been found guilty in a previous trial of a sexual offense.

Judge Thayer then suspended the sentence (except for time already served) and placed Holschneider on supervised probation for the remainder of the two years.

The incident leading to his arrest occurred in November 1985 in the Snaggy Mountain area of Garrett County. The charge was filed by Cpl. Michael R. Mattingly, Maryland State Police. John R. Toston, public defender, represented Holschneider.

CAMP HICKORY RECEIVES CHECK — United Cerebral Palsy of Central Maryland, Inc., Administrator Virginia Briels (left) presented a check for $300 to Cindy Downton, director of Camp Hickory. The funds were raised by U.C.P. during the Camp Phon-a-thon which took place in June. United Cerebral Palsy will be having their Camp Phon-a-thon each June to benefit Camp Hickory in Garrett County, Camp New Hope in Allegany County and U.C.P.'s Camp New Horizon in Washington, Frederick and Baltimore counties. Funds raised in each county go directly to that area.

portedly kicked him while being transported to the jail May 1 in another deputy's vehicle. Bittering was also fined $250 and placed on 12 months supervised probation for the two charges.

Herbert F. McCrobie, 49, Friendsville, was found guilty of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor and received 30 days unsupervised probation before judgment. He was also fined $100.

The charge was filed by Cpl. G.D. Broadwater, Maryland State Police, following a May 1 incident at The Winds Fox's Pizza Den in McHenry. According to police reports, an employee there sold a six-pack of beer to an MSP cadet, under the age of 21, without asking for identification. McCrobie is the co-licensor there.

Nova K. Matthis, 25, Grantsville, was the counter attendant there at the time and was charged with the same count by Cpl. Broadwater. She was also given 30 days unsupervised probation before judgment as a result.

Barbara J. McCrobie, 44, Friendsville, was also charged with one count of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor as a result of the same incident but the case was dismissed because of a plea agreement. Mrs. McCrobie is also a co-licensor at that establishment. Ralph M. Burnett represented the McCrobies.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Darrell E. Gregory, 30, Mtn. Lake Park, after he was found guilty of battery. A charge of fourth degree sexual offense was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement.

The charge was filed by a 16-year-old Oakland youth who reported that Gregory assaulted her sexually on the morning of August 5 at the Gregory residence. James F. Braskey was the defending attorney.

Two revision hearings were also held in Garrett County District Court, one resulting in a sentence modification for Carl E. Niner, 49, Mtn. Lake Park, who was given six months probation before judgment after having been previously sentenced to a 90-day suspended sentence for theft.

The charge had been filed by Kevin Biser, Browning's Foodland, after Niner reportedly stole a polarized flat triple wall plug from that establishment February 8. Toston was the defending attorney.

John Michaels, Deer Park, was also given probation before judgment during a revision hearing last week. Michaels had been found guilty of battery and had received a one-year suspended sentence for the charge. He is now on one year unsupervised probation.

The charge was filed by Michael G. Sines, Oakland, after Michaels reportedly assaulted and battered him during a February 25 incident at Southern High School. Michaels was represented by Michael M. Morrisette.

The following four cases were placed on the Stet Docket: Cheryl L. Stanya, 35, Fairmont, W.Va., was charged with battery by George Stanya, also of Fairmont, following a July 6 incident in Oakland. The complainant did not wish to testify.

Shari L. Hinebaugh, 20, Oakland, was charged with battery by Douglas D. Hinebaugh, Mtn. Lake Park, following a June 30 incident in Mtn. Lake Park. The complainant did not wish to testify. Lois R. Evans, Deer Park, did not wish to pursue a charge of battery filed against Michael E. Evans, 29, also of Deer Park, after she charged him following a July 9 incident.

Charles W. Clark, assistant store manager at Heck's, Inc., dropped a bad check charge filed against Nancy M. Bradshaw, Friendsville, after she reportedly wrote a check for merchandise there on July 1. The check has since been paid.

State Police Note DWI Arrests During Past Week

A number of persons were arrested this past week by Maryland State Police officers and charged with driving while intoxicated.

USS Garrett Co. Association Plans Another Reunion

The U.S.S. Garrett County Association, which held its first reunion in Garrett County last month, also conducted its first business meeting, elected officers, and named a reunion committee to make plans for the next reunion in 1989.

In attendance at the reunion last month were World War II Coast Guard sailors who served on the Garrett County and who had not seen each other in 42 years, as well as Vietnam War sailors from LST-786, HAL 3, Detachments 4 and 6, River Division 533, and other former crew members who had not been together in 20 years. Some of the highlights of the reunion were a visit to the Garrett County Museum, where artifacts from the ship are located, a dinner/dance at the American Legion home in Oakland, and a ceremony at Deep Creek Lake State Park to honor war dead. There were 69 people in attendance at the dinner/dance.

The U.S.S. Garrett County, first commissioned as LST-786 in 1944, was a Coast Guard vessel from 1944 to 1946 and was recommissioned in 1966 to serve in Vietnam as a repair ship and home base for river patrol boats, as well as a base for Navy helicopter gunships.

Anyone who served on board the Garrett County as ship's company or embarked personnel is eligible to join the association. Jim McNeil's Watercolors On Display At GCC

The Garrett Community College Art Gallery is featuring the watercolor paintings of Maryland artist Jim McNeil this month.

McNeil classifies himself as "a realistic painter who stops short of photographic realism."

He notes that although most of his landscapes and seascapes are based on identifiable locales, their purpose is not primarily to describe a scene. He believes the more important aims are to engage the sensibilities of the viewer in a special way.

McNeil obtained his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees in English at the University of Illinois. He taught literature and composition at the University of Alabama for five years and presented writing courses for the federal government for 20 years. He enrolled in art classes at various institutions and studied with William B. Lawrence, Laurel, and Tony Couch, Stone Mountain, Ga.

The artist and his wife, Nelda, who mats and frames his watercolors, spend most of the summer and autumn months in the mountains of Garrett County, while their permanent home is in Columbia.

He has exhibited in the Snowbird Gallery at Caanan Valley Resort, the Slayton House Gallery in Columbia; "Maryland's Best" exhibit at Rockland Art Center, Alpine Visual Arts in Davis, W.Va. and at the Ruth Enlow Library for the Garrett County Arts Council.

The exhibits may be viewed at the gallery at GCC in the Administration Building anytime during operational hours.

Tfc. Dale K. Williams charged Henderson with passing a vehicle on the left side and charged Broadbent with failure to signal for a turn.

A 16-year-old Oakland youth was treated for injuries at Garrett Memorial Hospital and released following a one-car accident Saturday on Rt. 219 south.

The youth was operating a 1986 Chevrolet Cavalier southbound at 3:20 a.m. when the car traveled across the center line into the northbound lane and struck a culvert. It then continued off the road, striking a fence, and continued traveling for another 50 yards before coming to rest.

Tpr. R.T. Wilson charged her with failure to drive on the right side of the road and violating a provisional driver's license requirement.

Richard O. Halsey, 68, Oakland, was also treated for injuries at Garrett Memorial Hospital and released after an accident Saturday in which he was struck by an unidentified vehicle.

According to Halsey, he was walking along the shoulder of Glendale Road at approximately 10:20 p.m. when a car, traveling in the same direction, struck him. Halsey had no information on the vehicle, according to Tpr. R.T. Wilson, investigating officer.

A public meeting will be held on October 6 at the Bittering Fire Hall to further discuss forest management and timbering.

Road Specifications

Also Tuesday, the commissioners reviewed the final proposal of specifications to incorporate roads into the Garrett County Roads System.

The county officials said they felt the proposal was acceptable and that they plan to hold a public meeting soon to gather input from local citizens.

When the final document is approved by the commissioners, persons or developers wishing to have roads incorporated into the county system must meet the required specifications to be considered. The final decision then rests with the county officials.

Junkyard Ordinance

The commissioners also reviewed the proposed amendments to the county junkyard ordinance which were recently ulations on the ordinance while recognizing the rights and needs for such businesses in the county. A public hearing will be held before a final document is drafted. Subscribe to The Republican Junk Business . . .

A few weeks ago this newspaper carried a story about the results of the last regular meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education. We had a little fun with the headline of the story, which read "Education Board Members Vote To Reject Doughnut." The first paragraph explained that the board actually took no action on a proposal to make available a breakfast doughnut, because its nutritional value was highly suspect.

One member of the board told us she objected to our use of the headline, not only because it was technically incorrect (there was no vote taken), but also because it made light of an issue that she believes is most serious: good nutrition for our students.

We saw her point, and we wish to emphasize that good nutrition in our school system is also of great concern to us, which brings us to what we believe is a major problem.

There once was a day when students were offered nothing more than a balanced meal for lunch at school. There were no opportunities afforded for the purchase of junk food in lieu of the meal. Now, however, an array of junk food is available to all middle and high school students, and even some elementary school students, in Garrett County. Snack cakes, potato chips, and pretzels are on sale every day and hundreds of students are sacrificing the regular meal by spending their "lunch" money on these sugar-loaded, salt-loaded snacks.

Meanwhile, in the classroom, from our medical experts, and all through the media, the importance of good nutrition is pounded into our heads, information which cannot be over-emphasized. Our school systems are supposedly designed to make the welfare of our young people the number one priority in ALL areas, and this philosophy is simply not being carried out in the cafeterias.

The reason this "junk business" is in operation is to help finance the school lunch program, and proceeds from these extra sales even go toward salaries and retirement for the food service personnel. We recognize the reality of this never-ending problem and we sympathize with those faced with having to solve it; however, we strongly object to this method of doing so.

Some suggestions we offer are: no junk food to any student until he has eaten either a school lunch or a packed lunch; increase the cost of the school lunches to cover the additional expense (those who receive free and reduced-price meals because of lower ability to pay will continue to do so); and the board of education and county government, in their overall budgetary preparations and negotiations, should address the problem directly and provide enough additional funds to cover the costs of operating the program.

In fairness, we also wish to point out that, besides the junk food that is available, the schools also offer a nutritious salad bar which features fruit and yogurt, which is a fine addition to the lunch program.

We believe our educators and those in related decision-making capacities are doing an excellent job at educating our young people and filling their minds with the knowledge they will need to survive in this world. But we believe the youth are being short-changed in the area of nutrition by being tempted on a daily basis to eat food which is not good for their bodies. Their health should not be threatened in order to finance the school lunch system. There must be a better way; however, unless enough parents scream their objections, we suspect that there will be no changes.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Deer Park Mayor and Town Council, I wish to respond to the letter by Shawny Werdebaugh.

1) Town Property: The school property is available for use by any resident of Deer Park during the posted hours (6 a.m. to 9 p.m.) provided that their activities do not disturb other residents. We have contacted the Sheriff's Department regarding the August 8 and 9 incidents and have been informed that the deputy was responding to a complaint called in by a local resident. While we encourage use of this facility by all age groups, we do not support unruly behavior, drinking in public (particularly by minors), loud and boisterous activities, or vandalism, all of which have occurred recently on our town property.

2) Town Meeting: Town meetings are held on the second Monday of every month. From time to time, conflicts do arise such that our regular meeting must be held on a different date. While we normally attempt to post a notice of such changes, persons interested in attending our monthly meeting are always free to check with the Town Clerk regarding the date, time, and location of the meeting.

3) Town Attorney: Town funds were indeed used for legal services concerning a local business establishment. You conveniently failed to point out that the establishment has several convictions for selling alcohol to minors and has resulted in numerous complaints to the Mayor and Council.

4) Zoning: A local committee has been appointed to provide direction for our town's future. After their recommendations are reviewed by the Council, adequate public notice will be provided if further action is anticipated.

Finally, it seems highly inappropriate to us for you to use the public media to air your concerns regarding our local government and their actions. A truly "Concerned Citizen" would have confronted the Mayor and Council during our regular meeting to state your position on a particular matter or to request information. If you are, in fact, a "Concerned Citizen," join with us to help our town prosper.

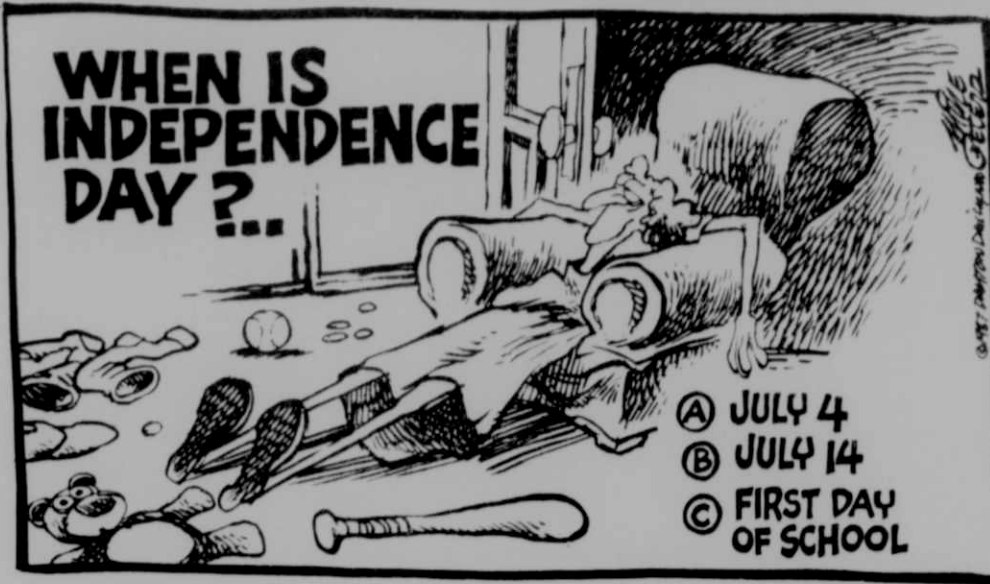

Sincerely,
Jack Hinebaugh, Mayor
Town of Deer Park

To the Editor:

I have been appalled at the number of accidents and deaths recently here. I wonder besides speed and carelessness how much alcohol or other drugs may be involved? I was very happy to read of the LCB actions and their concern over our problems here. Keep up the good work.

I have in the past panned the Health Department and your newspaper at times on issues. I also give accolades when due and I am very happy to do so now.

Your paper published a column by Dr. Pope many weeks ago and you wrote Dr. Pope would answer people's questions if they sent them in! I called his office with my questions and I soon got answers in the mail to me. I received very valuable information to me concerning the mentally ill prospectus which I didn't have. I also was given Wellness Together information which spurred me to respond fully at once in a full, complete way in which I had not done in a few years by having a mammogram done as well. It showed positive indication of a real problem. I go for further surgical intervention.

I am deeply grateful for your paper's cooperation and Dr. Pope's letter to me and Garrett Memorial's cooperation and my family physician all working together in "The Wellness Together," otherwise, I would not have known what to do now.

I appeal to all ages of susceptible years to be aware of this often physically undetected scourge. I have been informed that we elderly people should have a mammogram every year regardless.

After 32 years of repeated false scares, biopsies, and mammograms in recent years I had overlooked that aspect of my health. No mammogram in years. I know now at 75 years of age that was a very real mistake.

I am wondering about our Judicial system and the mentally ill. How much does anyone really care about the court's treatment of those who are incapable of caring for themselves? Whose responsibility are they? I was appalled by a recent case where a person very seriously impaired was sent to jail.

Administrators and some such can appear on the docket for assault charges and you never hear of their case again. It magically disappears, but for a seriously impaired person a jail sentence?

We need a system here to look out for the non-influent-poor and handicapped, especially.

This is my opinion.
Thank you.
Think please.
Mrs. Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:
I was born on a farm. I'm acquainted with some problems of old fashioned farms but not of modern mechanized ones. However, I am concerned for a new condition I've read about in the paper which carried the information that Maryland farmers are now "impacted" by a federal law.

This is shocking. And Webster affirms that this word, coming from the Latin impactus, means a "striking together; violent contact, collision, shock."

Considering all that farmers have to contend with, including this year's disastrous drought, for them to also have to endure such an added experience is simply unfair and inexcusable.

The federal law, I also note, has something to do with persons hired by farmers and known as SAW persons. I assume that if a hired hand is a good man with a saw that the feds won't be too hard on him or his farmer employer.

But through all this shocking situation, with its sustained striking together, I hardly see how our farmers are going to come out ahead this year.

The headline that alerted me to this condition read: "Immigration Reform and Control Act Impacts Maryland Farmers."

Nelson-Rees Survey

Should public schools teach teenagers to use contraceptives?
(Readers can participate in this survey by calling one of the telephone numbers below.)

Yes

More than one million unmarried girls aged 18 or younger in this country become pregnant each year. They give birth to more than 470,000 unwanted children.

Why? American teenagers have been failed by their parents, their churches, and the educational system. A 1986 Harris Poll revealed that 40 percent of all teenagers have had NO sexuality education, and only 35 percent had received comprehensive instruction in the subject. They don't know how to protect themselves from pregnancy or sexually transmitted diseases.

Some parents jealously claim the prerogative of teaching their children about sex, while many churches simply advise young members to abstain. Unfortunately, these measures aren't working.

The poll showed that 50 percent of all teenagers 15 to 17 years old are sexually active. More than 21 percent engage in sex weekly, while nearly 2 percent have intercourse daily.

Television and other media make sex look highly attractive," says Dr. Clara Haignere, Director, Teen Advocacy Project, Planned Parenthood Federation of America, "but they don't realistically portray the consequences."

A widely held hope of parents is that if teenagers are kept ignorant about sex and contraceptives, they won't get into trouble. This is naive.

Today's teenagers need to know what kind of contraceptives are available, where to get them, and how to use them effectively. Of the youth polled, 39 percent weren't aware they could purchase some contraceptives in drug stores without a prescription or parental permission.

More schools need to provide good, comprehensive sexuality education. More in-school clinics where students can go for sexual counseling and contraceptive information without sacrificing their anonymity are also desperately needed.

If you agree that public schools MUST teach teenagers more about how to avoid unwanted pregnancies and disease, call:

Let your vote be counted! Results of the Nelson-Rees Survey go to the White House, the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives, and all major television networks and newspaper wire services, in addition to reaching over 10 million Americans nationwide through over 250 participating newspapers. Calls will be accepted by AT&T's 24-hour answering service up until 2 p.m. Central Time, Friday, Sept. 11. Results will be published in this newspaper. AT&T charges a long distance toll of $1.00 per call.

Previous survey results:

Do we need stricter Gun Control Laws?

Yes: 238 calls, or 8.9%

No

Teaching contraceptive techniques to teenagers is mental masturbation that encourages promiscuity.

Showing potentially promiscuous teenagers how use contraceptives is like showing potential drug abusers how to use needles, or those with suicide potential how to shoot guns.

Teenage pregnancy is a problem. Our kids are not ready for parental responsibility. Children aren't qualified to raise their babies which in most cases should be given up for adoption to a long waiting list of eager couples.

The real problem isn't so much teen pregnancy as it is the desire for instant gratification—an "eat, drink and be merry" attitude that leads kids to unhealthy sexual contacts, drugs, alcohol, and possible suicide when instant gratification cannot be obtained. We need educational programs that teach basic reproduction, plus responsibility for one's actions, self-restraint, respect for others, and similar values that build strong human and family relationships.

As tough as it is for a teenager to go through a pregnancy, it is better to learn responsibility for one's actions the hard way than to enter adult life with an instant gratification mind set.

I resent the well-meaning, but misguided misfits in public education who want to teach my kids how to use condoms, or how to masturbate, or that homosexuality or lesbianism is OK. Or worst of all, that abortion is a viable alternative to pregnancy. I teach my children that the proper place for sex is within marriage, between a man and a woman, that sex outside the marriage relationship weakens the family unit. These teachings are reinforced by religious beliefs. I object to tax dollars being spent to teach my children how to use contraceptives, luring them to cast aside the moral values they have learned at home.

If you agree with me that the use of contraceptives should not be taught in the public schools, call

Our Turn

Parental Phone Problems
by Susan Alvarez

If Alexander Graham Bell could have foreseen the problems he was creating for parents, he would have said, "Watson, stay right where you are!" instead of "Come here. I need you."

Take, for example, the child who one minute is completely mute when asked, "Did you clean your room?" and then seconds later is capable of yelling directly into the phone, "Mom, it's for you!"

Parental phone problems begin when a child is merely an infant. No sooner is cranky, fussy Johnny down for a nap when "Brrring!" Calls at this time are always wrong numbers or someone selling something; never the call from the doctor that you had been expecting.

The toddler even presents his own unique set of phone problems with the proverbial "Let me talk" syndrome. Oh, he'll say a quick "hello" to your local friends, but just try to pry the phone out of his greedy little hands when you've called grandma long, long distance.

The older child manifests his own variety of older children as well. Siblings use the telephone as a type of radar-warning system. As soon as mom or dad pick up the phone, that is the signal to start fighting, shrieking, kicking and screaming. Another older child phone habit is the "what message?" syndrome that goes something like this:

"Someone called and said it was important when you were in the shower."

"Who was it?"

"I dunno."

"Was it a man or a woman?"

"I dunno. It kinda sounded like Pee Wee Herman."

Of course the teen years present a whole new realm of parental phone problems. An optimistic parent may view it this way:

"If your teen isn't out cruising, shopping, eating, going to a movie or dancing, you always know where he or she will be — on the phone. Lucky for Alexander G. that Watson wasn't a teenager. He would have received the reply, "Could you wait a second? I gotta make a phone call about what we're wearing tomorrow."

Less Tooth Decay Allowing Dentists To Spend More Time On Prevention

MORGANTOWN, W. VA. — Dentistry has come a long way since the age when barbers and blacksmiths pulled teeth if their regular business was slow. Since the late 1800s modern dentistry has shrugged off its crude beginnings, and the past few years have marked a new and promising era in this health area. "Dentistry is not simply 'drill and fill' anymore," said Robert Hornbrook, associate professor of periodontics at the WVU School of Dentistry.

"A number of years ago decay was rampant, and people were resigned that there was nothing they could do about it," he said. "But for the past 15 to 20 years preventive techniques have been developed or re-emphasized to control tooth decay and periodontal disease."

Because of this change, caused largely by fluoridization of water sources and use of fluoride toothpaste, dentists aren't as busy with tooth decay treatment, and they are spending more time applying new techniques for even better dental health.

"There's absolutely no reason for children today to have cavities if prevention is heeded," said Robert Stuchell, a WVU associate professor of dentistry.

White, plastic-resin sealants are a recent dental advance that Dr. Stuchell said can help create a cavity-free generation. Sealants are applied to chewing surfaces to cover small pits and fissures that can be bacterial banquet tables. They deprive tooth decayers their food sources by closing these holes that are a natural surface feature of teeth.

Although American Dental Association (ADA) studies show that sealants can be nearly 100 percent effective in stopping cavities, Stuchell said the idea is slow in catching on.

Sealants, costing from $5 to $30 for each tooth, represent preventive dentistry, a type of care that requires a person's commitment to dental health — which Stuchell said is something they may be unwilling to give.

"Sometimes patients say that if they don't need it they don't want it," he explained. "Unfortunately, prevention is something many people aren't attuned to."

Fluoride seems to be the main agent that is causing better dental health, said Sanford Fenton, WVU professor of pediatric dentistry. As recently as 1975, he said, three-fourths of the 5-year-olds examined at WVU had at least one cavity.

"With the use of fluorides, that cavity rate is no longer valid. When I came here 11 years ago we didn't see many 7- or 8-year-olds who were cavity-free, but now we've reached a point where a lot of kids we see have healthy teeth."

Fluoride, said Dr. Fenton, appears to work in two ways to prevent cavities. First, it interferes with enzymes inside bacterial plaque. This slows production of acid which is bacteria's tooth-decaying by-product.

When fluoride is on teeth, as when deposited by toothpaste, and also within teeth, as from drinking fluoridated water, it can cause significant reduction in the amount of calcium dissolved by acid.

Second, and more importantly, fluoride aids a re-mineralization process that can repair damage to teeth before the surface enamel develops a cavity, he said. Bacterial acid dissolves minerals, mainly calcium, in the subsurface enamel. This happens mostly during a 20-minute period after food has been eaten.

After this time the acid level drops, and calcium-containing saliva begins to rebuild the dissolved areas. Fluoride present during this process not only accelerates this repairing, but also causes a more decay-resistant new surface.

"Basically you have a fight going on," Fenton said. "Bacteria try to de-mineralize the enamel, and the body defends itself and re-mineralizes it."

Who wins this battle? If the period of repair between meals is long enough, with fluorides the teeth have a chance. But Fenton said people often eat sugary snacks between meals, and those snacks are like reinforcements coming in on the bacteria's side.

Still decay seems to be on the decline, according to dentists at the WVU Dental Clinic, where about 3,000 patients are seen each month. Because of this, more attention can be given to another serious dental problem.

Periodontal disease, or tissue loss to the supporting structure of teeth, is responsible for about 70 percent of tooth loss, and like decay, it occurs because of bacteria that thrive in the mouth.

In this area as well, new techniques are improving dental health. "We are putting more emphasis on treating the bacterial infection, rather than simply the problem it causes," Dr. Hornbrook said.

Periodontal disease is caused mainly by bacteria in plaque, a sticky substance that accumulates in narrow pockets between the gums and teeth, and was formerly treated by surgically removing infected portions of the gums.

This unappealing option is still necessary in advanced cases, but Hornbrook said the current approach in early treatment of periodontal diseases may include using chemotherapeutic agents such as antibiotics and some types of mouth rinses. Hornbrook emphasized, however, that this is not a substitute for mechanical cleaning such as brushing and flossing.

The primary goal of periodontal therapy is restoring tissues lost to disease. A new product called polytetrafluoroethylene is being used to help regenerate bone and gum tissue damaged by bacterial infection. Surgically implanted in the area of the tissue loss, it helps the natural repair process.

Oral diagnosis has a new tool at the WVU dental clinic. A computer program called ODONTICS was developed at WVU and is used to keep an accurate record of the amount of radiation patients receive when they get oral x-rays.

There is no evidence that any patient has ever been harmed by the low-level radiation they receive from oral x-rays, according to William Graham, WVU oral diagnosis and radiology department chairman.

However, this fact doesn't always reassure patients who are worried about exposure to radiation. For them ODONTICS can give information that may be more convincing.

"Having a record of the exact amount of radiation patients have received in their regular visits here, and the total of all their exposures, is a lot better than just saying 'don't worry about it, it won't harm you,'" Dr. Graham said.

"With ODONTICS, we can point to the patient's exact dosage data and give them a specific number." The computer data on radiation has been used for patients at the WVU dental clinic since 1985.

Other advances in dentistry include dental implants to replace missing teeth. They are made of materials that reduce the formerly common problems of infection and instability, but implants aren't for everyone because many people don't have the proper jaw size or shape to receive them.

In Memory Of

Viola Knox

If I had all the world to give I'd give it, yes, and more, to hear her voice and see her smile and greet her at my door. But all I can do, dear Mother, is go and tend your grave and leave behind a token of love to the best mother God ever made. I'd like to think, when life is done wherever heaven may be, that she'll be standing at the door up there to welcome me.

ACOUSTIC TRAUMA

Noise induced hearing loss, also called acoustic trauma, begins with certain high frequencies. It then progresses and involves other frequencies if the noise exposure continues. It is a permanent loss, not reversible by medical or surgical treatment. The key to the problem is prevention. High level noise should be avoided when possible. When the noise is part of the environment at work, earplugs or other sound protectors should be worn. Safe limits for noise exposure have been set by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. At 90 decibels or less, a worker may put in an eight hour day. If exposed to 95 decibels of noise, four hours a day are considered safe exposure. In all instances, sound protectors should be used.

Hearing is a most important and valued asset in one's lifestyle. If you experience hearing loss, the hearing assist devices available at ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES may be of benefit to you. We welcome your call or visit so that we may show you the potential benefits such products have for you. Let us help you hear the sounds you enjoy.

High noise levels may also contribute to high blood pressure and ulcers.

Variety Of Continuing Education Courses Offered By Garrett CC

A variety of Continuing Education courses is now being offered by Garrett Community College. Persons desiring more information about the courses should call the Oakland Center of the college at 334-8266.

TYPING FOR SPEED & ACCURACY

A Typing for Speed & Accuracy course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. Sessions will be held at the Oakland Center of the college each Wednesday and Friday from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. beginning September 16 for 20 sessions.

This course is designed to increase typing speed and accuracy. Typists whose errors seem to be mounting and whose typing speed appears to be at a plateau may wish to enroll in this course.

BASIC OFFICE SKILLS

A Basic Office Skills and Procedures I course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division, beginning Tuesday, September 15. Sessions will be held each Tuesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college and will continue for 23 sessions.

This course is designed to introduce and prepare the student for employment in the clerical field. Topics to be covered include: typing, telephone usage, office skills, receptionist duties, pre-employment skills and basic record keeping.

BEGINNING SHORTHAND

A Beginning Shorthand course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division, beginning Monday, September 14. Sessions will be held each Monday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college for 12 sessions.

Persons who plan to enter the clerical/secretarial field may benefit from this course. Topics include symbols, dictation and transcription. Speed and accuracy will be stressed throughout the course.

MEDICAL

A Medical Receptionist Training course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division, beginning Monday, September 14. Sessions will be held each Monday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college and will continue for 12 sessions.

This course is designed to prepare the student to enter the medical secretarial field in an entry level clerical position. The course includes medical communications, secretarial responsibilities, patient records and professional activities.

BASIC EDUCATION

Several Adult Basic Education courses are currently being offered by the Continuing Education Division. These classes are designed not only for the person wishing to work toward his/her high school equivalency diploma, but also for people wishing to upgrade any personal basic skills. Trained tutors are available to assist the non-reader. Each course is designed to accept students on an on-going basis at no cost to the student. Pre-registration is not necessary for these courses. The courses will be held as follows:

Grantsville Elementary School, 9/14-12/21, Mondays, 5:30-8:45 p.m.; Friendsville Library, 9/14-12/21, Mondays, 6-9:15 p.m.; Zion Parish Hall (Accident), 9/14-12/21, Mondays and Wednesdays, 9-11:00 a.m.; Oakland Center, 9/14-12/21, Mondays, 6-9:15 p.m.; Kitzmiller Elementary School, 9/16-12/23, Wednesdays, 6-9:15 p.m.; Oakland Center, 9/17-12/23, Thursdays, 1-4 p.m.

Interested persons may walk into any of these classes or call the Office of Continuing Education at 334-8266 for more information.

TYPING

A Beginning and Intermediate Typing course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division beginning Thursday, September 10. Sessions will be held each Thursday from 6:30 to 9:15 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college and will continue for 14 sessions.

This course is designed for students who have no experience with the typewriter or for those who would like to upgrade their previously acquired skills. Topics will include typing and finger positions, centering and tabulation techniques, typing from dictation, and speed and accuracy.

WORD PROCESSING

A Word Processing I course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division beginning Wednesday, September 9. Sessions will be held each Wednesday from 6 to 9:15 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college.

AIDS COURSE

A course entitled "Current Facts and Figures about Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, AIDS" is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College in cooperation with Hospice of Garrett County. This one-day course will be held at the McHenry campus of the college on Tuesday, September 15, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The course will be presented by Jim Rowe, R.N., Western Maryland Program Director for Health Education Resource Organization (HERO). Rowe has been a registered nurse for over 14 years and has worked in and will continue for 10 sessions.

This course is designed to teach the student the basics of word processing through the use of the "WordStar" software. Topics to be covered include: function and usage of word processing, business applications, and applications specific to WordStar.

SIGN LANGUAGE

A course in Basic Sign Language is being offered by the Continuing Education Division, beginning September 9, and will be held each Wednesday from 6:30 to 9:15 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college for eight sessions.

This course will introduce students to an effective method of communicating with individuals who have a hearing handicap. Topics will include manual spelling, short sentence structure and the origin and association of sign.

MARKETING YOURSELF

A course entitled "Marketing Yourself: Get The Job & Keep It" will be offered by the Continuing Education Division beginning Wednesday, September 9. This course will continue for four sessions, which will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college.

Those who are currently employed or unemployed may wish to enroll in this short course to review plans to effectively market yourself. Major topics will include job applications, resume writing, interview techniques and specific job keeping skills.

FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS

A course entitled "Current Facts and Figures about Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, AIDS" is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College in cooperation with Hospice of Garrett County. This one-day course will be held at the McHenry campus of the college on Tuesday, September 15, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The course will be presented by Jim Rowe, R.N., Western Maryland Program Director for Health Education Resource Organization (HERO). Rowe has been a registered nurse for over 14 years and has worked in geriatric, psychiatric, medical-surgical, and home health nursing. He became involved in AIDS education in 1985 when he set up the first AIDS Unit in a private nursing home in the United States. After seeing the need for more intense community education, he resigned his position as director of nursing of the 310-bed nursing home. He then became program director of HERO in Western Maryland which covers Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties.

In the past three months, over 6,500 students and adults have been educated about AIDS and how this disease can affect their lives.

This course is free of charge, but preregistration is requested.

COMPUTER LITERACY

Two Computer Literacy courses are being offered by the Continuing Education Division. The first course will begin Tuesday, September 15, with sessions being held each Tuesday from 6 to 8:45 p.m. at the Grantsville Elementary School for eight sessions. A second course will be offered at the Bloomington Elementary School each Thursday beginning September 17, from 6 to 8:45 p.m. for eight sessions. This course is designed to teach the basic concepts in order to understand and use the

GUIAR

Guitar Instruction Classes are being offered by the Continuing Education Division beginning Monday, September 14. Two classes will be held each Monday for 11 sessions at the Oakland Center. Beginning Guitar Instruction will be offered from 6 to 7:30 p.m. and Intermediate Guitar Instruction will be offered from 7:40 to 9:10 p.m.

These courses will provide instruction for beginners as well as those who have previously acquired skills. Students will receive instruction in chording, reading music, and guitar techniques.

WELDING

The Continuing Education Division will offer Welding I, II, III and IV, beginning Tuesday, September 15. Sessions will be held each Tuesday from 6 to 10:15 p.m. at the McHenry campus of the college and continue for 15 sessions.

These courses are designed to accommodate the beginning student as well as students with high level welding skills.

Welding I will cover oxyacetylene and arc welding, oxygen and acetylene cylinders, and cutting and running beads. Safety and quality workmanship will be stressed.

Welding II topics include lap, tee or fillet welds on light steel; beads and manipulation of welding rod on heavy steel plate; butt and lap welds on heavy steel plate; brazing and running beads with bronze rod; building-up on cast iron; silver soldering ferrous and non-ferrous metals; and an introduction to vertical welding.

Welding III will address the areas of gas metal arc processes, welding of carbon and low-alloy steels, stainless steel, cast iron, cast steel and metal surfacing processes.

Welding IV is directed toward higher welding competency. Pipe welding, weld defects, inspection and testing welds, safety and welder qualifications will be the major topics.

PRE-EMPLOYMENT SKILLS

A course entitled Pre-Employment Skills Training is being offered by the Continuing Education Division, beginning Friday, September 18. Sessions will be held each Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college for seven sessions.

This career assessment course is designed for students to identify their training needs and prepare for employment. Topics will include skills assessment, career information, resume writing, job applications, job search strategies and interviewing techniques.

MEDICAL TERMINOLOGY

A Medical Terminology course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division, beginning Wednesday, September 9. Sessions will be held at the Oakland Center of the college each Wednesday from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. for 15 sessions.

This course is designed for individuals presently working in or wanting to enter the medical/secretarial field. Successful participants should be able to define medical terms and discuss how they are formed, build a background vocabulary, and spell medical terms correctly.

CARPENTRY, WIRING

A Basic Residential Carpentry & Wiring course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division. Sessions will be held each Tuesday beginning September 15, from 6 to 10:15 p.m., for 15 sessions at the McHenry campus of the college.

This introductory, "hands-on" course should assist students who desire entry level skills for the construction industry. Major topics will include care and use of tools, proper materials, readings and measurements, basic framing techniques, principles of electricity, wire sizes, grounding, codes, hazards and safety precautions.

J. Randolph Lake Activities Noted

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced activities planned for the Labor Day weekend at Jennings Randolph Lake (formerly Bloomington Lake).

Evening nature movies will be shown at the Robert W. Craig Campground amphitheater on Saturday and Sunday evenings, September 5 and 6.

The campground also features a playground for the children, a 3/4 mile interpretive trail, horseshoe pits, and a newly-constructed basketball court.

In addition to the evening programs in the campground, tours of the Intake Tower will be conducted on Sunday, September 6, from 1 to 4 p.m. Tours will originate at the West Virginia Overlook Shelter.

For further information, persons may call (304) 355-2346 or (301) 359-3861 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Education Board Notes Schedule For Report Cards

The Garrett County Board of Education recently announced the following schedule for the issuance of report cards to elementary, middle and high school students. It is as follows:

All Elementary Schools

November 13, 1987
February 5, 1988
April 8, 1988
Mailed home after final day

Northern and Southern Middle Schools

October 12, 1987
November 30, 1987
January 21, 1988
March 7, 1988
April 21, 1988
Mailed home after final day

Northern and Southern High Schools

November 13, 1987
February 5, 1988
April 8, 1988
Mailed home after final day

The board urges parents to take note of the four dates for elementary and high school report cards and six dates for middle school report cards. A spokesman for the board added that parents and students should be aware that the second, third and fourth reporting periods for elementary and high schools and the third, fourth and sixth reporting periods for middle schools could be changed if a significant number of school days are missed because of the weather.

New Horizons Offers Tuition To Qualifiers

The New Horizons Program, a single parent/homemaker/displaced homemaker project, sponsored by Garrett Community College, in cooperation with the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, has arranged to pay tuition for qualifying participants registered with the New Horizons Program to take non-credit, vocational training in the business field in the following areas:

Beginning Typing, beginning September 10; Intermediate Typing, September 10; Basic Office Skills & Procedures I, September 15; Beginning Typing, September 15; Pre-Employment Skills Training, September 18 and October 7;

Typing for Speed and Accuracy, September 16; Basic Accounting, September 29; Beginning Shorthand, to be announced; Supervisory Leadership and Management, October 20; and Intermediate Typing, September 15.

These classes will enable the individual to learn or to brush up on office skills in order to enter or re-enter the job world. All of these classes are limited in size and registration is available on a first come, first served basis.

Child care and/or transportation subsidies are available through the New Horizons Program to enable individuals with special needs to receive assistance.

Twenty dollars ($20.00) per class will also be made available for instructional materials for these classes.

Interested persons wishing to qualify for this free training should contact the New Horizons Program to schedule an appointment to determine 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at eligibility. Persons may call 334-9184.

Iva Mae Shields

Will be exhibiting and selling her original watercolors.

Iva Mae Shields divides her year between Pennsylvania and Florida. She is a Pennsylvania native with strong roots and an appreciation for the beauty of the rolling hills. However, with "sand in her shoes," she also professes a love for Florida, saying she has the best of two worlds.

She has studied art too many years back to remember, but the bulk of her education was from the Pittsburgh Art Institute. She has taught and exhibited extensively. Her paintings have won numerous awards and found homes from ocean to ocean. Recently her teaching has been limited to private lessons, demos, and an occasional one-shot workshop.

She explains that she wants more time to paint, but realizes when one's paintings are admired, the artist is in demand to teach. However, she never will stop studying and learning in workshops of fellow artists she admires. These experiences are her "shot in the arm," as she describes them. She remains a member of too many watercolor organizations to list. These are important to the artist's active and social life.

September 4, 5 & 6 — Carole Spickler will be demonstrating the art of basket weaving and selling her original cradles and sleighs.

Zion's altar flowers were given by Mrs. Viola Campbell in memory of her husband, John. Lectors on Sunday morning were Steve O'Brien, St. John's; Emmanuel, Joan Sussman; and Zion, Leota Baker.

Lutheran Brotherhood Branch #8483 is holding a fund-raiser to gather funds in behalf of the Bittering Fire Department. The last day to send contributions is September 7. Lutheran Brotherhood will match up to $1,000 collected funds. Contributions are to be sent to: L.B. Branch #8483-B.V.F.D., c/o Mr. Ray Pile, 947 Weirs Avenue, LaVale, Md. 21502.

Family Picnic

The family of Amelia Brenne-man held a picnic on Sunday at her home with family members present. There were 61 in attendance. Her daughter, Lois, Traverse City, Mich., is spending a two-week vacation at her home. Afternoon visitors at the home were Raymond Beitzel, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rash and children and Mrs. Ruby Moore and children, all from Dela.

An Unusual Family

Some time ago, there appeared in The Republican a photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Opel of the Glades community who were celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary.

Since then, additional information has been made available about this unusual family. Herman and Melda (Schrock) Opel were married on June 12, 1929 at Grantsville in Brenne-man's grove by Gideon Miller. They lived all their married life in the Accident, Bittering area.

They are the parents of 14 children, and one son died in infancy. All of their other children are living and include: Bernice Baker, Park and Donald Opel, Erma Stephens, Nora Evans, Thelma Yoder, Eva Miller, Viola Yommer, Marie Eisen-trout, Jean DeWitt, Jody Bender, June Holman, and Hazel Maust.

There are 49 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren. Of the 118 in the family there have been no deaths, other than the infant son. Most of the family members live within 35 miles of home, except Marie, who lives in Virginia, and Jody who lives in Kolona, Iowa. Three grandchildren live in Canada, Mississippi and Colorado. Of the 49 grandchildren, only four boys have the name of Opel and, as of now, there are no great-grandsons.

Herman has no living brothers and sisters. Melda has two brothers and two sisters living in Delaware and Maryland.

Herman has been a farmer, coal miner and heavy equipment operator. His wife has been busy with her housework and the rearing of her children. They are both in good health and live in the house they built in 1946 on the Foxtown Road.

Along with many of the family, they attend and are members of the Glade Menno-nite Church.

Recently a family reunion was held at Mrs. Opel's parents' former home. The reunion was held the last week in July at the old Schrock place, now the farm of Park Opel. There were 129 present, with every one of their children and grandchildren present. It was held on Sunday afternoon, and some family members came on Friday evening and camped out until Sunday.

Elvin Schrock and family, Delaware, and Iva Yoder, brother and sister of Mrs. Opel were present.

Herman is 81 years old and Melda is 79.

Records Tape

Mrs. Eva Miller reports that she has several tapes for sale with music recordings with Ray Bender in the group calling themselves the Deer Creek Boys. Ray was a resident of this community some years ago, and is married to the former Jody Opel. They live in Kolona, Iowa.

Chicken Barbecue

The Bittering Fire Department will have a chicken barbecue for the public on Saturday, September 12.

Personal Items

Robert and Rosetta Rode-heaver, Oakland, and Mrs. Stanley Miller were Sunday afternoon guests of James and Charleen Thomas.

Lois, Janet and Miriam Brenne-man spent several days in Beckley, W.Va., and Bertha Castle, Ellicott City.

Martha Glatfely and son, Hamill, were Sunday dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Glatfely and two sons at Nemacolon Country Club, near Brownsville, Pa. They also visited one of Mrs. Glatfely's high school classmates in Briar Hill, Mrs. Lora Townshend.

Tammy Brenne-man fell while playing volleyball and fractured both of her wrists.

Corrections

An item that listed Lillian and Charles Reckner last week should have been Lillian and Charlee Reckner.

Another item that listed the name of William Bergsneider should have been Wilma Bergsneider.

Also omitted were the names of Albert Dillsworth and friend, Oakland.

Births

The births of five infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesman.

A son was born August 27 to Billy Ray and Sandra Lynn Conley Moul, Corinth, W.Va.

A son was born August 27 to Gary A. and Phyllis Ellen Donaldson Glatfely, Oakland.

A daughter was born August 29 to Daniel Lee and Kimberly Renee Schmidt Green, Oakland.

A son was born August 30 to Scotland Moran and Pamela Sue Teets Gray, Keyser, W.Va.

A son was born September 2 to Harold Ernest Jr. and Sheila Gale Hyde Dillsworth, Aurora, W.Va.

Admissions were listed at 64 with 73 discharges. This morning's census shows 46 patients.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy A. Foster, Oakland, announce the birth of a granddaughter, Rebecca Marie Foster, on July 22. The parents are Vincent and Jeanie Foster of Sacramento, Calif.

A son was born August 24 to Michael W. and Cynthia Katherine Hahn Carr, Mtn. Lake Park, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The couple's last name was inadvertently omitted in the announcement last week. We regret the error.

New Horizons Fall Workshop Series Announced

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College has released the schedule for the fall workshop series entitled "Take A Forward Step". This series is comprised of 10 workshops designed to deal with issues encountered in taking "forward steps": toward employment, toward college, toward gaining more control over your life," according to Barbara Frey, director.

These free workshops will be held every Wednesday morning from 10 a.m. to noon in Room 603 of Garrett Community College, Oakland Branch, beginning September 16 and continuing through November 18. A complete list of topics and dates is as follows:

September 16, "On Your Own", (Dealing with loss through death or divorce); September 23, "Decision Making" Part I, (Managing Time, managing stress); September 30, "Decision Making" Part II, (Managing Money, establishing credit); October 7, "Options" (World of work vs. family; films & discussion); October 14, "Women In The Workplace" (Problems and ways to cope); October 21, "Parenting In The '80s", (Tips for single parents, couples, parents of a difficult child); October 28, "Alcoholism Revisited", (Adults who grew up with an alcoholic parent); November 4, "Feed The People", (Menu planning for the working person or student); November 11, "Super-Person Syndrome", (Multiple role persons; avoiding burn-out); November 18, "Inter-Personal Communication", (Communication patterns, body language).

All workshops are free and are open to the public. Persons interested in attending any or all of these workshops are asked to pre-register by calling the New Horizons Program at 334-9184 weekdays between 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Attention Investors:

Hunting for the Highest Yielding Investment?

Consider the "bear" facts!

Almost all non-bank investments have charges associated with them. For instance, you may be charged a LOAD FEE for your investment. This is a fee you pay directly to your broker for investing your money. Other fees may also be added such as MANAGEMENT FEES, SALES COMMISSIONS, MIDDLE-MAN FEES, etc. And, oftentimes these fees are only disclosed in the fine print.

Investment related fees will decrease your original profit potential. When you deduct these fees from your rate of return, you may discover your net yield to be much lower than the big rate first offered.

So, if you're shopping the financial jungle, remember to look at the "bottom line" of your investment. Then you'll realize where your hard-earned dollars should be invested — at First United National Bank & Trust.

Looking Back

A 20th Anniversary Is Remembered
With Some Sadness And Much Hope

by Pam Ashby

Twenty years have passed since the last fatal accident at the bottom of Backbone Mountain on State Route 135, but the faded crosses are a constant reminder of the past tragedies that once plagued the hamlet of Bloomington.

It was 1967 — a time when protesting (at least in Garrett County) only happened in distant metropolitan areas. The major protest in the county involved students attempting to achieve the "Beatles" look while high school principals demanded they get haircuts.

Then on Monday, June 19, 1967, just one day after the final fatal accident at the foot of Backbone Mountain, which brought the death toll to 12, a group of angry, frightened and dedicated citizens decided to protest the "death trap."

Among the protestors were David and Delores Boal and Judy Wilson, all residents of the Bloomington area, who were quick not to take full credit for the campaign that eventually led to the erection of warning signs and lights on Backbone and probably the saving of hundreds of lives. They agreed to recount, to the best of their recollection, the events that turned continual tragedy into hope some 20 years ago.

When The Republican carried the news of the heart-wrenching June 18, 1967, accident that claimed the life of an Elk Garden High School teacher, her nine-year-old nephew and the tractor-trailer driver, a story also appeared on the front page announcing the planned campaign to protest with placards along Backbone Mountain.

Delores recalled that the accidents seemed to happen back-to-back for two years. They all vividly remembered a truck that was carrying cattle. The driver was killed as were many of the cows. The injured and frightened cows that survived were ironically roaming the cemetery at the foot of the hill. Another truck driver who lost his life was carrying frozen chickens. Still others were hauling powdered fertilizer or pulpwood. The pulpwood would have gone to Luke Paper Company (Westvaco), just a few hundred yards from the foot of the deadly mountain.

Delores said she couldn't remember who suggested the protest and that it didn't really matter. "We just all lived with this terrible fear constantly. And we couldn't help but wonder who among us might be next in front of a runaway truck."

So those 20 or so active protestors and 80 or more supporters "took to the mountain" and peacefully protested for the next two weeks. Their placards warned truckers of the dead end and 90-degree turn at the end of the line. "Many of the truckers stopped to thank us for the warning while they sipped the coffee we provided for them," said Delores.

She continued, "I remember one trucker came flying by us so fast he didn't have time to read our signs. So my brother-in-law and I jumped into his car and chased the trucker down the mountain. I hate to drive fast, but we had a mission. We knew he wouldn't make it if we didn't stop him. When we finally did, he was so thankful and said he wasn't in the right gear to meet that wall at the bottom of the hill. At first he thought we were highjackers."

ALL TRUCKS STOP (hopefully) — Pictured is one of the signs warning of the danger of Backbone Mountain. This summer is the 20th anniversary of the campaign that convinced state officials to erect the signs and warning lights along the mountain that ends in a dead end and a 90-degree turn. One resident of Bloomington feels that there can't be enough warnings and reminders of the "death trap" located there.

David, who was instrumental with other area residents in beginning a rescue squad in that area in later years, recalled too well the horror of seeing those accident victims maimed beyond recognition. Since he lived so near the dangerous turn he was always among the first to try to help. "There was usually no one alive to help," he said.

The Boals heard many times the horns blowing a death knell in the distance announcing that another truck was running away and saw that we were serious and that we were peaceful demonstrators. They laughed and said the signs would do no good, but erected them in a few weeks anyway. There hasn't been a fatality there since (knock on wood), so I guess the last laugh is on those who laughed."

The signs and warning lights have improved over the years, but David says that some truckers are starting to ignore them and fail to stop at the three stops on the way down the mountain.

Delores can't recall how the mother-in-law of the last killed trucker got her name, but she still has the letter sent to her, commending the citizens for trying to do something about "the death trap in Maryland" that claimed her daughter's husband. Delores also received a similar letter from the wife of the dead trucker. The wife spoke of how she and her son were supposed to go on that trip, but decided at the last minute that it would be too hot for her son. She said it was the Lord's will that they were not with him. She also lent her support to the efforts of the protestors.

"I'd like to think that their wishes of no more fatalities have been granted, but only time will tell. We are thankful that it has been 20 years, but we all still watch for runaways."

Judy, Delores and David and all the other protestors did make a difference. "I only hope this article serves the purpose to remind truckers and motorists that the potential for a tragedy still exists here and that we can't become careless again," concluded David.

Delores' 1967 Plea

The following is a letter to the editor, then George Hanst, of The Republican, in its entirety, as it appeared on July 13, 1967. It was written by Delores Boal.

"The dangerous condition existing on Route 135 on Backbone Mountain and ending at a 90-degree curve at the foot of the mountain has given us a new game of life and death, which is played every day by hundreds of people. We call it Backbone Mountain Roulette."

"You don't need to be brave or insane to play this game and you don't even need a gun. Just a family car and a runaway truck will be the weapons. If you live in Bloomington, have friends or relatives here, or have a desire to get to Deep Creek Lake, you have no choice — you just play."

"People familiar with this dangerous area have about an even chance with strangers. Since we know the dangers, we take precautions, such as: watch coming up Luke Road for

AN UNKNOWN GRAFFITI ARTIST painted the now-faded crosses on the black wall at the foot of Backbone Mountain some 20 years ago in remembrance of those killed and as a reminder to all travelers of that dangerous mountain and dead end. The final fatal accident brought that death toll to 12 on July 18, 1967. One day later, local protestors stepped in to try to end the tragedies that made Bloomington so infamous.

Many Huskies Are Back To Prove They Can Be Winners

There is only one way to go for the Northern High School program this football season, and that is up, since it has been two years since the Huskies have recorded a win.

Coach Tom Vent has begun his second season at the helm of the Huskies, who currently hold an 0-19 record over the past two seasons, their last win having been a 21-16 upset over the previously undefeated Southern Rams on November 9, 1984.

Prospects are indeed brighter for Vent and Company, as 28 players are back from last year, including 13 starters. The team is still young, however, as only six seniors are listed on the roster, eight juniors, 13 sophomores, and 12 freshmen.

A new offensive plan will be executed by the Huskies this season, as they table their multiple-I formation and replace it with a rather unusual single-wing offense. The success of the single-wing hinges partially on strong blocking ability of the offensive line, and since Vent has several linemen who are well over 200 pounds, he decided to give it a try.

"We have spent a lot of time working on the single wing," Vent said, "and I have done considerable research on it. We are really excited about it."

Essentially, Vent explained, the ball is snapped directly to the tailback, a position which will be filled again this year by Rodney Lipscomb, who is regarded as one of the strongest running backs in the area. The 5-10, 188-pound senior was named to the Highland Conference team last year, when he managed to record over 600 yards, despite a winless season.

Expected to start this Friday night at home against Immaculate Conception, along with Lipscomb in the backfield, are fullback Ed Tabor, a 6-1, 165-pound senior; quarterback and blocking back Ed Lytle, a 5-5, 140-pound senior; and wingbacks Jeff Rounds, 6-1, 177-pound senior, and Craig Umbel, a 5-11, 155-pound junior. Lipscomb and Tabor will alternate at the fullback and tailback positions. Sophomore Darren McKenzie, 6-0, 157, will start at split end.

Starting on the offensive line this week will be junior Danny Eggleston, 5-9, 148, at center; senior Steve Morton, 6-0, 203, at quick guard; junior Jason Rush, 5-11, 183, at guard; senior Kevin Wassel, 5-10, 170, at pulling guard; sophomore Johnny Joe Friend, 6-1, 215, at tackle; and junior Danny Sines, 6-1, 205, at tight end.

Sines will also handle the place kicking, while Lipscomb

THE FUNDAMENTALS OF FOOTBALL are an integral part of any successful campaign, and the Northern Huskies have been hard at work with such drills in preparations for the 1987 season. The Huskies and second-year head coach Tom Vent, pictured second from right, are seeking their first win in two years, and with the return of nearly every starter from last season, there is renewed hope that a victory is within their grasp. Northern opens this Friday night at home against Immaculate Conception.

jury is 6-1, 272-pound junior Tom Savage, who will be a key figure at the tackle positions once he is healthy.

Senior John Vought, 5-11, 189, is expected to see considerable action at tight end.

When asked about this week's opponent, Immaculate Conception High School out of Pennsylvania, Vent said that he knows nothing at all about them.

"We have not had an opportunity to scout them and all I can say is that they have had football for only four years, but they are located in the middle of a strong football area," he said.

"We really don't know what to expect."

Since everyone is back from last season, Vent is hopeful that the experience and increased maturity level of his players will put some victories on the board.

"I really believe we are well ahead at this point compared to last season," he said. "Hopefully the team this year will be the foundation of what can become a well-established, respectable program."

The number of players has always been a problem at Northern, not only because of a relatively small school enrollment, but also because of the great distance from the school that so many students reside. Transportation problems and evening jobs on local farms also prevent a number of youth from participating in extra-curricular activities. However, Vent is pleased with the turnout this year and hopes that the current enthusiasm will be maintained throughout the season.

"We (the coaching staff) are really excited about the season," Vent said, "and more importantly, the kids are too. We just hope we can keep things rolling in our favor."

Assisting Vent this year are Rob and Roy DeVore, Dave Frazee, Keith Kamp, and former Northern standout quarterback, Kevin Sines, who was at the helm when Northern won its last game.

Golf Tourney To Benefit Local Organizations

The Arrowhead Grocery and Deli, Deep Creek Lake, will sponsor a Pro-Am Golf Tournament on Friday, September 11, at the Oakland Country Club Golf Course to benefit Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., Habitat for Humanity and Garrett Community College's men's basketball team.

Tee-off time will be at 1 p.m. and there will be one golf professional with each foursome to offer advice to the team.

Pros from the Pittsburgh, Pa. area and local golf courses will participate. Entry forms may be obtained at pro shops and Arrowhead.

An entrance fee of $50 which includes golf cart, use of the course, cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, has been set. Any golfer with an established handicap is welcome to participate.

Prizes will be awarded to the low four teams, low net, low gross and closest to the pin on some par three's. "A total of $1,500 in prizes will be given away and each organization will receive $1,000 from Arrowhead," said Greig Johnson, manager. "This is one way our establishment can help support our community which helps support us."

Big-Play Offense To Be Utilized By Southern Rams

The fans of Southern High School will see some new wrinkles in the Ram offensive game plan this Friday night at home against Beall, as Coach Tom Woods and his staff attempt to best utilize what could be one of the area's strongest big-play teams.

The veteran Ram coach seems cautiously optimistic, however, in light of the fact that eight starters from last season's 7-3 squad were lost to graduation and, once again, a lack of depth is significant, especially on the offensive line.

"The keys to our season are, number one, staying healthy," Woods said, "because we have absolutely no offensive line depth. And two, our defense must get more aggressive and more consistent."

Woods did state, however, that in his 10 years at Southern, he has never had more ability for a wide-open offense than this year. The team has more speed than usual and will be guided by one of the area's premier quarterbacks in junior Zack Gibson. The backfield will also feature All-Area senior tailback J.R. Bosley, who last year racked up 842 yards on 154 carries for a 5.65 average, scored 80 points, and returned 10 punts for 252 yards.

Gibson, at 6-1, 179 pounds, is beginning his third year as starting signal caller for Southern and Woods is counting on his experience and leadership. Gibson connected on 34 of 82 passes last year for 457 yards and four touchdowns.

"Much of our offense this year will be built around Zack, and we will depend on him not only to throw the ball more, but also to run with it," Woods said.

Woods called Bosley (5-8, 158) "a great tailback to work with"

RAMS MAKE READY — Although a number of veteran Southern High players were lost to graduation this past spring, excitement is running high in the Rams' camp this week as a strong nucleus of experienced players is back. Among the top returnees with big-play potential are third-year starting quarterback Zack Gibson and tailback J.R. Bosley. Above, head coach Tom Woods leads a "skull session" with the Rams, telling them that they are in for a real struggle this Friday night in their season opener against Beall. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. at the Southern field.

Expected to start on offense along with Gibson and Bosley this Friday are newly-acquired Greg Gatto, a 6-1, 171-pound transfer from Tucker County, or senior Gordon Savage, 6-0, 171, at center.

Guards will be either Gatto or Savage and senior Mike Inglesse, 5-9, 177. John McCartney, a 6-2, 174-pound senior will also see considerable action at guard.

Starting at the tackle positions will be senior Gary Long, 6-2, 196, and junior Steve Wotring, 5-10, 209.

Bobby Bernard, a 6-2, 180-pound senior, will start at tight end, and juniors Jamie Colaw (5-10, 156) and Richard Mann (5-9, 158) start at split end.

Junior Mike Bittinger, 6-0, 204, expected to be one of the area's strongest power runners, will start at the fullback spot, while senior Marty Sharpless, 5-7, 153, and junior Brent Sanders, 5-10, 162, will start at the slots. Backing up Bosley at tailback will be senior Randy Tichnell, 5-9, 141.

Expected to start on the Ram defense, which features just three returning starters, will be Sharpless, senior Scott Damon, 5-9, 162, and senior Doug Nesselrodt, 5-7, 150, rotating at the end position; Bittinger, Long and Wotring rotating at tackle; Inglesse at nose guard, with backup by junior Charlie Paugh, 5-7, 179; Bernard, Sanders, and senior Chris Helbig, 5-9, 178, at linebacker, with relief from Savage; and Gibson, Bosley, and Colaw in the secondary. Tichnell and senior Jason Park, 6-1, 168, will also see a lot of action in the defensive backfield.

The Southern kicking game is expected to be strong with the return of sophomore place-kicker John Milligan, 5-9, 155, who is a definite threat inside the 25-yard line, and Jason Park will be the number one punter.

Woods is reasonably confident about the ability of his defensive line and secondary, however Bernard is the only returning linebacker, and he has been moved from outside to inside.

"We hope that the line and secondary can take up the slack until our new linebackers get some experience," he said. "Our defense has been playing well at times, but needs to come on and be more consistent."

In turning to the Rams' first opponent of the season, Woods said that early in the summer he assumed that Beall would not be among the strongest foes on Southern's schedule this year, but now, after seeing them scrimmage against Allegany, he anticipates a close, tough game against the Mountaineers.

"They were really impressive against Allegany," he said. "They are probably one year away from being a great team, but they look awfully tough right now."

The Mountaineers have six returning starters on defense and four on offense, including senior tight end Brent McKenzie, 6-5, 175; senior tackle Jamie Cutter, 6-3, 224; and senior fullback Jim Wellings, 5-9, 185.

"Cutter is one of the best nose guards in the area and McKenzie is a big problem for us, not only on offense, but as free safety because of his size," Woods said.

Another talented player noted by Woods is sophomore tailback Rick Duckworth, 5-9, 155.

Beall runs from a wing-T offense and utilizes a 5-2 defensive formation.

"Their defense is very aggressive, quick, and does a lot of slanting and stunting, which forces your offensive line to think and act quickly," he said. "It should be a real good test for us."

Assisting Woods this year are Fred Gregg, Paul Pacella, and Dave, Tom and Jim Bosley.

Kickoff against Beall is slated for 8 p.m. at the Southern High field.

Western Maryland Tennis Tourney Results Noted

Results of the 66th Annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships, held recently at the Mountain Lake Park courts, were received this week from Dave DeGraft, tournament director.

William Marshall, Morgantown, W.Va., was the winner of the men's singles title, defeating Ken Howard, Taylorsville, in the finals, 6-2, 6-4.

Fred McNair IV, McLean, Va., won the men's 35-44 title by topping Mike Barnes, of Westminster, 6-3, 6-2, and John Sandbert, Gaithersburg, captured the senior men's 45-54 trophy by stopping Doug Holtschneider, White Marsh, 6-3, 6-2.

The senior men's 55-64 title went to Jack Dorsey, Wheeling, W.Va., who topped Mickey Pardew, Baltimore, in the finals, 6-3, 7-6. Pardew, however, claimed the 65 and over division by defeating Doyal Royal, College Park, in the finals of that division, 6-2, 6-3.

Winning the women's singles title was Janet Phillips, Hyndman, Pa., when she defeated Chris Kamenoff, Annapolis, 6-4, 6-2, while Barbara Drilling, Bethesda, won the women's singles 35 and over by stopping Ann Farzanigan, Cabin John, 7-5, 6-1.

The team of Ken Howard and Bill Moldoch, Annapolis, defeated Mike Barnes and Chuck Barnes, Chevy Chase, for the men's doubles championship, 6-2, 6-2.

Winning the senior men's doubles, age 35-59, was the team of Bruce Goldstein, Silver Spring, and Brian Tenney, Rockville, who defeated Skip Fielden and Abe Stayman, Hagerstown, 6-2, 6-2.

Ray Arnesberg and Jack Dorsey, Wheeling, defeated Fred McNair IV and Phil Neff, Washington, D.C., 4-6, 6-4, 6-0, for the senior men's 60 and over doubles title.

Kathy Leasure, Cumberland, and Janet Phillips took the women's doubles trophy by whipping Joyce Brown, Potomac, and Ann Farzanigan, 6-3, 6-3.

Capturing the mixed doubles crown was the team of Fred and Barbara Drilling, Bethesda, who topped Bill and Chris Kamenoff, Annapolis, 6-4, 6-4.

Sam Eastman, Pleasant Valley, was the winner of the drawing for the 5-inch television/radio.

Hole-In-One Hit At Oakland Course

A hole-in-one was recorded last evening at the Oakland Country Club by Oakland resident Fred Colaw, who is a member of the Nine-Hole Golf League.

Colaw used a 5-iron for the 190-yard shot on the 13th hole, which has a par of three. It was the first hole-in-one he has ever recorded.

He was playing on a team with Chum Gower, J.R. Shillingburg and Matt Pritts at the time. The league plays every Wednesday evening.

Oakland Edges Cumberland To Advance To Finals Of Pen-Mar

Although Oakland will not be considered the favorite to win the 1987 Pen-Mar Baseball League championship again this year, the Oaks have made it into the finals despite the loss of key players to injury.

Oakland, which finished the regular season in second place, edged Cumberland on Saturday, 8-7, at Allegany Community College in a semi-final contest, while top-seeded Tri-Towns stopped fourth-place Hyndman, 7-4, in the other semi-final match-up.

The Oaks jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first inning against Cumberland, but had to rally from a 7-6 deficit in the sixth to secure the one-point win.

Lawrence Nesselrodt, who was literally knocked out in the third inning, led off Oakland's first with a single. Wayne Brown walked and Steve Zumpano followed with a bunt single to load the bases. Phil Carr then singled home one run, Randy Cirillo was hit by a pitch, and Craig Cumberlandworth doubled to plate two more runs. Player/manager Terry Helbig and Jon Reneslacs followed with singles to complete the six-run effort.

Cumberland came back for a single run in the second when Bill Malec walked and scored on a ground-out. They added two more in the third when Scott White walked, Lynny Shook and Meryl Grose followed with singles, and the Oak defense committed a throwing error.

Cumberland continued its rally in the top of the sixth, as White led off with a single and came home on a double by Shook. Marshall Wayland then walked and Grose singled to score another run. The final run was recorded on a ground-out.

The final two Oakland runs were both unearned, as Ed Wildesen walked and Helbig singled. Wildesen then came home on a wild pitch and Helbig on an outfield error.

Helbig then went to work on defense to maintain the one-run advantage, recording a pair of outstanding catches in the outfield in the ninth inning with the tying run at second base. Cumberland had led off the inning with walks by Joe Pastorek and Brian Bohrer. Helbig then grabbed a line shot to right field by Mick Hatter, and then made a running catch of a ball hit by Shook to end the game.

Mike Brady, who relieved Oakland starter Steve Mohr in the fourth, was credited with the win.

Nesselrodt, who has been one of the leading hitters for Oakland all season, was carried off the field in the third inning after he was run over by a Cumberland base runner at second base and knocked out. He was taken by ambulance to a Cumberland hospital where he was treated and released. According to Helbig, he is still "a bit woozy," but will probably play in the final series this weekend.

Two other top Oakland players will also be out of the line-up this weekend. Phil Caruso, another of Oakland's leading hitters, was lost for the season a few weeks ago because of a torn knee ligament and Keith Cain, the league's most outstanding relief pitcher, was injured in a swimming accident.

"Our chances of winning in the finals against Tri-Towns are not great," Helbig admitted, "but I am still really proud of how well our team did this year, especially considering all of our injuries."

GEORGE G. MOORE

George G. Moore, 79, Oakland, died Thursday, August 27, in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born September 1, 1907, in Kitzmiller, he was a son of the late John and Daisy (Harvey) Moore.

Mr. Moore was a former trackman for the B&O Railroad.

Surviving are three sons, Robert Moore and George D. Moore, both of Deer Park, and John S. Moore, Oakland; one sister, Mrs. Mabel McRobie, Charlottesville, Va.; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Gail Hixon.

Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

LAURA J. METZLER

Laura J. Metzler, 97, Curryville, Pa., died Tuesday, August 25, at Nason Hospital, Roaring Springs, Pa.

Born November 11, 1889, in Mazon, Pa., she was a daughter of the late Bishop J.N. and Melissa Jane (Steel) Durr. She was preceded in death by her husband, Isaac K. Metzler, who served as pastor of the Glade Mennonite Church from 1935 to 1963.

While living in Accident, Mrs. Metzler was active as a leader of the church sewing circle, a Sunday school and Bible school teacher. The Metzlers moved to Martinsburg, Pa. in November, 1963.

Surviving are three sons, Wilbur Metzler, Sarasota, Fla.; Elwood Metzler, Curryville, Pa.; and Isaac J. Metzler, Plant City, Fla.; five daughters, Grace Miller, Sarasota; Myrtle King, Harrisonburg, Va.; Mary Stephen, Bel Air; Kathryn Bowser, Accident; and Edith Weaver, College Park; 23 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon at the Curryville Church of the Brethren with the Rev. Robert Dillard, grandson of the deceased, officiating.

Interment was in the Kauffman Cemetery, Martinsburg, Pa.

CHARLES LLOYD DAVIS
Charles Lloyd Davis, 73, Oakland, died Saturday, August 29, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born in Oakland on March 31, 1914, he was a son of the late Wilbur L. Davis and Ona (Lantz) Davis. He was a retired auto body technician, having been employed by Ray Teets Garage and later Oakview Motors for 45 years. He was a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, and Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, and was a retired member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, where he had served for 35 years.

He is survived by his wife, Oneda (Johnson) Davis; two daughters, Mrs. Inez D. Griffiths, San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. Lois A. Shaffer, Mobile, Ala.; one brother, Richard L. Davis, Oakland; one sister, Mrs. S. Virginia Ensminger, Cumberland; and four grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Durr Funeral Home, Oakland, where the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Knights of Pythias held memorial services on Sunday evening.

A service was conducted at the funeral home Monday morning with the Rev. Allen Ridenour officiating. Interment was in the Oakland Cemetery.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, the Southern Rescue Squad, Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., or to a charity of the donor's choice.

Whoo's News

by Loretta Wotring
Public Relations chairman

September brings the beginning of fall and the beginning of a new year for the County Extension Homemakers. Many changes will happen this month. First on the list is to welcome our new and permanent Extension Agent, Mrs. Irmgard Koscielniak, and bid a farewell to our temporary Summer Agent, Mrs. Betty Wolford. Betty has become a friend to many of us and we are very happy with the fine job she did. One other change worthy of note is that all members of Homemaker clubs will pay their dues this month. The dues are $3.00 each and September makes it a good month to join one of the County clubs. As always, you are invited to call the Extension Office, 334-1990, for more information. The Maryland Cooperative Extension Services programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, age, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

Next on the agenda is Achievement Day. This year Casselman Valley Club is our host and we are to meet September 22 at Garrett Community College Auditorium from 7 to 9 p.m. All club presidents are asked to send $3.00 to Merla Murray to defray the cost of the program and speaker. Casselman Valley Club will furnish refreshments with a charge of $2.50 for those attending. Christmas Workshop will be November 4, with New Germany Club as hostess, to be held at the Grantsville Fire Hall, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Also keep Tuesday, October 20, free for the next Council meeting. Again it will be held at GCC from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Now, for the club reports. We go all the way back to July for the Bittering Club. These ladies held their covered dish dinner for the families at Beulah Moon's Cottage on Deep Creek Lake, July 28. One of their members, Ruth DiPaolo, has moved in to her new home on Rock Lodge and Peat Moss Roads. Fern Beachy, Ethel and Ralph Buckel are touring the Western States for 20 days. Loretta Opel had relatives from seven states visiting in August. They held no meeting in August due to the fair and reunions. The next meeting will be at the home of Virginia Hesson, September 22, 1987.

September 8 is the next meeting for Loch Lynn Homemakers. They are planning a luncheon at Chimney Corner. Nine members were present at the August meeting. Those members who brought homemade articles for "Show and Tell" explained how to make them.

Eight members and three guests were present at the annual picnic for Meadow Glade. This club reports having five members do volunteer work at the County fair. Next month's meeting is September 10 at the home of Loretta Wotring.

The County Committee meeting was held August 31 at Garrett Community College. The personnel were introduced to Mrs. Koscielniak, who began her job September 1.

SINCERE THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the many friends who have shown their love and concern for me and my family during the illness and following the death of our loved one, Mr. Harvey C. Friend, Sr., of Oakland, Md. Thanks for the flowers, food, prayers, etc.

May God bless each one of you,
Mrs. Betty O. Friend and Children

Of course, we use this highway more than strangers, so that makes us just about even for either a resident or a traveler to be hit by one of the trucks that pass through here every 10 minutes.

"Age is no barrier to this game of Backbone Mountain Roulette. Every child riding a school bus, walking across the highway to school, playing in the school yard or riding in the family car is forced to play.

"Several factors were needed to make up this dangerous condition:

"First — The planners of this highway did not really finish it, but stopped abruptly with a 90-degree death curve at the bottom.

"Second — The truck drivers, who because of human error or mechanical failure, do not stop at the truck stops or obey signs to travel in lower gear and ditch truck if brakes fail.

"Third — The saddest of all: the people who unwillingly and couple and their daughter. A greater tragedy was averted because being originally from this area, they knew the rules of this highway. Therefore, while the husband drove, the wife looked up the mountain for runaway trucks. Seeing this one coming, she was able to warn her husband, but hard as they tried, they could not stop the car in front of them. This family watched in helplessness and desperation as the truck, loaded with steel, demolished the car. Will they or anyone present ever forget this scene of death?

"We do not like this game of Backbone Mountain Roulette. Since it is a matter of life or death to us, we hope that some prompt action is taken before any more of these accidents occur."

Among speakers at the convention were Thomas K. Turnage, chief of the Veterans' Administration, and Congressman J. Roy Rowland (D-Ga.), member of the U.S. House Veterans Affairs Committee.

Elected at the convention as National Commander for the 1987-88 year was Gene Murphy, South Dakota, who became disabled during the Vietnam War. Chosen as DAV National Auxiliary Commander was Katherine Pearson. Local delegate, Hazel Meyers, will be serving on the Mae Holmes Award Committee.

Lori Dodge Returns From State Farm Queen Contest

Garrett County's 1987 Farm Queen, Lori Dodge, competed in the Maryland State Farm Queen Contest Sunday at the State Fair in Timonium. One girl from each of Maryland's 23 counties represented her county to the best of her ability, hoping to claim the crown and the title of Maryland Farm Queen for 1987 to serve as agriculture's emissary across the state.

As in the local contest, an important part of the state contest was the "fish bowl" question. Lori's "fish bowl" question asked, "What would you say if you heard a consumer in a supermarket complain about the high cost of fruits and vegetables?" Lori answered by asking another question, "How would that consumer like to spend over 60 hours a week working for less money than they should get, using hard manual labor, to get a $10,000 profit from a $100,000 investment?"

After returning home, Lori said that she was very proud to have represented the county in the state contest, that she met a number of wonderful people, and that it was a great experience. Lori is available to speak to organizations and at ban-

Byron Announces Counties Eligible For Drought Aid

Rep. Beverly Byron (D-6th) announced today that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has advised that Allegany and Washington counties in the Sixth District are federally designated disaster areas where eligible family farmers may qualify for Farmers Home Administration emergency loan assistance. Frederick, Garrett and Howard counties, as contiguous counties, are also eligible.

This is the second year in a row in which drought conditions have devastated thousands of acres of corn, soybeans, grass, tobacco, and other crops and poultry, in virtually every region of the state. Last year alone the drought cost farmers and the state's economy over $130 million in agricultural losses. When added to the estimated $70 million worth of crop losses so far this year, the combined total could force many farmers out of business.

The farmers with multi-peril of Federal Crop Insurance are now eligible to receive low-interest federal emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration. The rate will be 4.5% for up to 80% of their loss and not more than $500,000.

Rep. Byron, along with the other members of the Maryland Congressional delegation, recently contacted Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng urging federal disaster assistance for farmers in Maryland, whose crops have been destroyed by the severe drought.

Byron said, "Western Maryland farmers need help to overcome their financial losses. This assistance will help to alleviate the severe economic hardships caused by drought."

Egdon Farm Service Holds Annual Meeting, Election

John Allman, of Egdon, W.Va., and Carl Bachtel, of Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., were elected to the local advisory board at the Southern States Annual Membership Meeting of Egdon Farm Service, Inc. held in Horse Shoe Run on August 14. More than 19 stockholder-members of the cooperative and their families attended the session.

Robert Strawser, of Amboy, W.Va., was selected chairman of the local advisory board while Carl Bachtel was named vice-chairman.

Elected to the Southern States Farm Home Advisory Committee were: Mrs. Cheryl Dixon, of Amboy, and Mrs. Debbie Strawser, of Egdon. Mrs. Jean Winters, of Egdon, was chosen chairman of the Farm Home Advisory Committee while Mrs. Joyce Dixon, of Amboy, was named secretary.

James E. Collier, of Huntington, W.Va., a member of Southern States Cooperative's regional staff, reported on the over-all Southern States operations. This report also included a slide-tape presentation entitled "Southern States: The Growing Team." This presentation summarizes changes resulting from recent growth of Southern States and changes initiated to ensure future growth in level of service and quality of products.

The report on local operations and services rendered to farmer-members in the community was given by Ron Bishop, manager of Egdon Farm Service, Inc.

Polled Hereford Group Sponsors Fair Awards

The Mason Dixon Polled Hereford Association sponsored trophies and cash prizes for the champion and reserve champion Polled Hereford classes this year at the Garrett County Fair.

Winning a trophy and a $100 check for the Champion Polled Hereford Steer Award was Bobbi Jo Harvey, and winning the Reserve Champion Polled Hereford Steer trophy and a $50 check was Shawn Bishoff.

According to club treasurer Douglas E. Klotz, of Friendsville, the organization wished to recognize the winners and all the Polled Hereford exhibitors at the fair for their interest in Polled Hereford cattle.

The Mason Dixon Polled Hereford Association is a group of Polled Hereford breeders from Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Tractor Operator Safety Saves Lives

Over the last two years, local and national Future Farmers of America (FFA) have been conducting a tractor-safety campaign, distributing stickers to farmers to be placed on their tractors (like the one below with a big red heart) as a reminder to be careful while operating tractors and machinery. After an accident last weekend involving a local man and a farm tractor, it seems that a review of some of the FFA safety pointers is in order. For more tractor-safety information and a "stay alive" heart sticker, contact a local FFA chapter.

Please be careful

FFA

"Tractors don't die — people do," is the theme of the safety campaign, advising farmers and tractor operators to know the basics, use safe equipment, don't take chances, and do operate safely.

Know The Basics

"Know your tractor and your job," is the first tip passed along to operators. A tractor is the most-used piece of equipment on most farms. Meeting responsibilities of a good operator means preparing the equipment for a day's work. Know the operator's manual and use the check lists as a guide to sound maintenance practice.

"Know yourself and other operators of your tractor," is the second safety tip provided by the FFA. Wear proper clothing for the work to be done. Talk safety practices from time to time with fellow workers to keep good practices on everyone's mind.

"Know the terrain," is the third tip. Take a good look at new fields or areas for slopes, ditches or obstructions, and be aware that the ground can change and new obstructions can show up in those areas.

"Know tractor safety," advises the FFA. Excellent information is available from farm equipment dealers and agricultural agencies or safety organizations. One of the best sources is the tractor owners' manual.

Use Safe Equipment

Safe equipment should always be used. The first goal should be to prevent accidents. For those accidents that will occur, though, the use of roll over protective structures (ROPS) (roll bars) and safety belts can give great protection.

Power take off (PTO) shields should be in place at all times. Don't wear loose clothing when working with the shaft. Even a loose thread can pull clothing into the shaft. Shut off tractor engine before making adjustments or unclogging PTO-driven equipment.

Use hitches only on the drawbar and for towing loads or equipment. Do not attach a tow chain to the axle, the seat mount or the top link attaching point when towing. Don't tow loads that are too heavy for the tractor. Use care in all pulling operations — including when the tractor is stuck — to prevent rear overturns which can occur suddenly and viciously.

Use recommended procedures for attaching implements. Be sure attachments are in good repair before each use. References for attaching each implement and balancing with counterweights are detailed in operator's manuals.

Don't Take Chances

Don't start or operate engine in a closed shed. Don't refuel when the engine is running or hot. Be sure fuel containers near an operating tractor are closed.

Don't get off tractor with engine running. Shut off engine even when dismounting to make quick adjustments, to unclog instruments, to check field conditions, or to talk to someone. Always apply the parking brake or park lock when leaving the seat.

Don't attempt to "jumpstart" a tractor with the transmission in gear. The transmission should be placed in neutral to prevent the tractor from moving forward or backward when the motor starts.

Don't allow children — or any passenger — on the tractor or implements. Take special care in operating when other workers must be near the tractor.

Don't leave the tractor with an implement in the raised position. Don't move the tractor with a front loader raised high. Keep the loader as low as possible when moving.

Do Operate Safely

Do use caution in all operations — especially when working with others. Allow for extra noise, dust and confusion. Know the hand signals designed by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

Do operate at safe speeds. Keep the wheels set as wide as possible. Make allowances for heavier loads, bad weather conditions or difficult terrain.

Do take special care in moving on or across highways — and travel public roads only when necessary. One-third of tractor fatalities occur on highways. Use proper lights or markers as required by state law.

Do think about each day's work and each job. Develop a mental check list on terrain, weather, equipment, repair and proper use, and special or unusual condition to prepare for. "Take the time to do it right — for yourself and for others," the FFA advises.

The FFA National Tractor Safety Campaign is co-sponsored by International Harvester Company and Case IH as a special-emphasis project of the National FFA Foundation and is endorsed by the National Safety Council.

Ag Waste Workshop Highlights Nutrient Value, Proper Application

"Because we call it a 'waste,' the general public feels it has no value," and, "Manure does have a value — but manure application has a cost," were just two comments heard by approximately 85 farmers at the Manure Management Workshop held yesterday at the Deer Park Fire Hall and the Charles Mason farm.

Giving the introduction and an overview of waste management in Garrett County were Jim Simms, county Extension agent, and Jim Schlossnagle, SCS district conservationist. Simms explained the benefits of testing manure for its nutrient value, and announced the University of Maryland's free manure testing offer (along with a $5 soil sample test) with sample kits available at his office.

Schlossnagle mentioned that there are currently 55 manure storage facilities in the county, of many different types and designs. He displayed a metal safety sign available to farmers to place on their storage facility which reads, "Warning, Animal Waste Pit." These signs may be purchased for $8.25 through Shaun Sanders, Garrett County Soil Conservation District manager. Checks should be made payable to Washington County Soil Conservation Service.

Speaking next on the agenda was Carolyn Gano, whose family had just experienced a manure spill on their farm near Finzel. Gano explained that no sure cause has been found for the spill. However, it is assumed that the unusually hot, dry weather the county suffered this summer had a hand in shrinking a wooden entrance door and causing it to break open allowing 150,000 gallons of manure to spill out.

She gave a step-by-step account of the action taken by the family after the spill occurred, noting that the spill was contained approximately four hours after it happened. She thanked a number of neighbors and local businesses, and local SCS officials. "We called the SCS and they sent out an SOS," she said.

Gano said the clean-up from the spill, which happened August 20, is now complete and they are ready to proceed with repairs and improvements which are being planned by state and local SCS engineers.

John Mickley, conservation engineer for the state Soil Conservation Service, discussed various types of animal waste structures and machinery. "We're always looking to design a better mousetrap," he said, explaining that 15 years ago when he first became involved in animal waste structure design he and other engineers had "nothing to go by, no examples to follow."

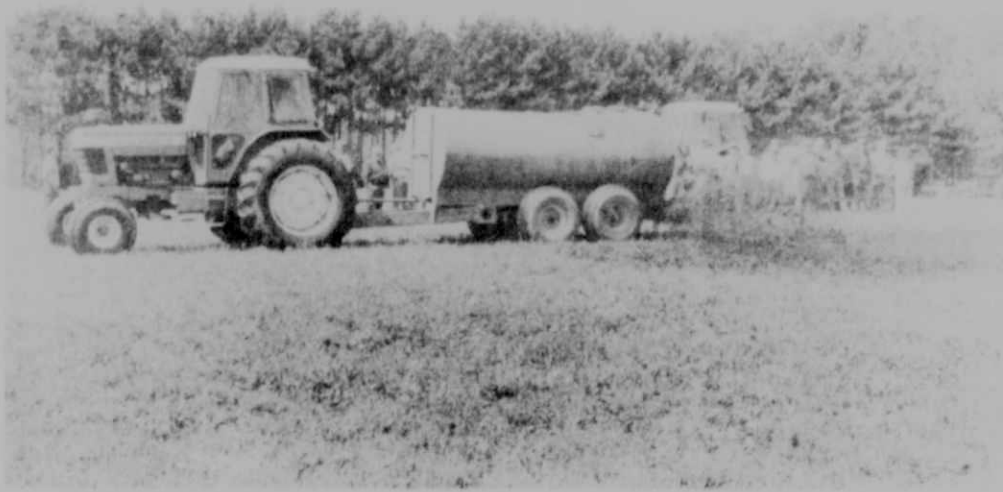

He told the group that a great many advances have been made throughout the years, but one thing has not changed — the fact that each and every manure storage facility must be "site specific" to that individual farm.

He gave the farmers present a look at the various types of structures designed and approved by the SCS, and the kinds of cost-share funds available to help pay for them.

The first type structure discussed by Mickley was the earth-fill pond, or storage basin made of earth. This type structure, he said, is rather exclusive to Western Maryland, where the typography is better for them, and not used much down state where land prices are higher and space is limited. Other types he mentioned include reinforced concrete, concrete block, and pre-approved such as circular concrete tanks, pre-cast panels, coated structures, and roofed structures.

The type structure chosen by a farmer must depend on: 1) the kind of room he has; 2) the kind of equipment he has or intends to use; 3) his future plans and decisions concerning the structure; and 4) how much manpower he has available.

He told the group that good structure management includes the ability to think ahead three or four months, to know when the contents of the structure will be spread and where. "You can't wait until it's full then try to find a place to put it," he said.

Next, Herb Brodie, University of Maryland ag engineer, spoke on nutrient management for livestock manure and the nitrogen retention of different storage systems. Livestock manure, he said, at times is a fertilizer, at times a pollutant, and at times it is both. The farmer needs to inventory the amount produced on the farm and the amount needed on the farm. A balance should be sought between the nutrient content of the manure and the amount needed by the farm's cropland.

He stressed that when and where it is put on the field changes the nutrient content of the manure. "Manure does have a value, but, manure application has a cost. In the future," he continued, "we've got to balance our economic survival with environmental concerns. Every phase of manure management requires prior planning."

Landowners' responsibilities were touched on by Louise Lawrence, executive secretary, Maryland State Soil Conservation Committee. Her main topic was liability. "Everyone is responsible to such a great extent today," she said, listing noxious fumes, general maintenance, personal injury, and pollution as examples. "A farmer's insurance may cover his family, but not employees or such things as pollution," she stated.

Lawrence related that the Department of Environment would like to get into discharge permitting, requiring applications and fees. She also stated that under a new Chesapeake Bay agreement, Governor Schaefer may sign, this winter, a nutrient management program for regulation.

Garrett County dairyman Kenneth Bachtel reviewed his experiences with manure storage for the group. Bachtel, who constructed a 54-foot diameter by eight-foot high concrete structure on his farm in 1985, said, "I don't have to haul manure in the winter and that's the greatest thing that ever happened."

He stated that he has noticed a great savings in fertilizer costs on his farm since the structure was built, and this year, skipped putting liquid nitrogen on his corn completely. And his corn crop, he said, is good in spite of the drought.

After lunch, the workshop moved to Cha-La-Ma Farm on Route 219 south of Oakland, where field demonstrations were hosted by Charles Mason and his son, Andy. Mason explained the operation of his storage facility which is 15 years old. Manure from this facility was spread on one of his alfalfa fields to demonstrate how to calculate the amount of manure being applied, and the procedure for adjusting different types of spreaders for proper application.

In charge of these field demonstrations were Herb Brodie and another University of Maryland ag engineer, Gary Smith. During the early afternoon, Brodie also discussed the proper way of taking a manure sample, and stressed mixing a number of samples from different areas of the structure for a representative sample to be sent away for testing.

Several local machinery dealers displayed spreaders, augers and other manure management equipment at Mason's farm.

Besides Simms and Schlossnagle, officials attending included: Dan Bard, Frederick, Maryland Department of Agriculture area coordinator for soil conservation; Betty Bures, University of Maryland's regional director of Extension; Allegany County Extension Agent Charles McVeigh; Ron Hawk, Allegany County SCS district conservationist and his staff; Garrett County Soil Conservation District Manager Shaun Sanders; and the Garrett County SCS and ASCS staff of planners and engineers.

Update on Nitrite Content in Corn

I guess I can't "eye ball" corn and tell if it has a high nitrate content. I got a real surprise this week when I looked at a nice field of corn. I told the farmer that his corn probably didn't have a nitrate problem but since he had already taken the sample we would check it anyway. Tuesday I got a call from the lab that this particular corn was dangerously high in nitrates and if fed to animals could be fatal. The point is, that we can't guess at the nitrate content. If you want your corn checked, bring a coffee can full to my office.

Harvest Season is Here — Be Careful Out in the Fields

Take a minute to read these safety tips from the Illinois Farm Bureau Women and County Companies.

Move Equipment Safely: Moving farm equipment on public roads can be a dangerous proposition unless certain safety precautions are taken.

1. Mount a slow moving vehicle (SMV) emblem as required by law in an unobstructed position on the center rear of the vehicle. Clean and replace emblem periodically.
2. Have a "no riders" policy on farm equipment.
3. NEVER drive left of center.
4. Avoid driving farm equipment during periods of heavy road traffic.
5. If you must drive after dark, equip farm equipment with proper lighting. The law requires at least one flashing amber light mounted as high as practical on the rear; two steady glowing red tail lights; two head lights and a SMV emblem.
6. Slow down before turning. It is easy to lose control over drawn wagons or implements. Beware of the trailing equipment that whips or sways. Realign your load or drive more slowly.
7. Stop at driveways and intersections and look both ways before entering a road. Allow ample time to pull equipment onto or across the road.
8. Operate your tractor at a manageable speed.
9. Wear a seat belt on equipment equipped with rollover protection.

Kids and Farm Safety

No one expects a child to be hurt or killed in a farming accident — and yet it happens every day. Fortunately, many farm accidents involving children can be prevented.

1. NEVER allow children to operate complicated farm equipment.
2. NEVER allow children to operate or ride on tractors. The National Safety Council receives dozens of reports every year of riders falling from tractors. Serious injuries, often fatalities, result from such falls.
3. Fence young children into safe play areas and away from hazards such as machine sheds, chemical and fuel storage areas, roads, barns, ponds, old wells, silos, bins, feed-lots, stock watering tanks, or electrical equipment.
4. Keep children out of work area when using pesticides and other chemicals. Store all unused chemicals out of the reach of children and under lock and key.
5. Three times as many children die at home from drowning as from poisoning. NEVER leave a child unsupervised around any amount of water.
6. Teach children respect for animals.
7. If your child has an all-terrain vehicle, be sure he or she always wears a full face helmet when riding.
8. NEVER transport children (or adults) in the cargo space of a pickup truck.

Operate Tractors and Machinery With Care

Overtures are involved in about half of the fatal farm accidents. Take these life-saving precautions.

1. Use tractors with a roll-over protective system.
2. Slow down when turning, crossing slopes or rough, slick, or muddy surfaces. Avoid ditches embankments, and holes. Stay off steep hills and slopes.
3. Never overload the tractor. Always engage the clutch slowly.
4. Hitch heavy loads only to the drawbar. If the drawbar is on a three-point hitch, set it no higher than a fixed drawbar. Use recommended front weights to balance tractor.
5. Set the wheel tread as wide as practical for the job for maximum stability.

Beware of PTOS

- Getting caught in PTO shafts or augers can be avoided.
1. Be sure all shields and guards are in place before any machine is started. Replace if damaged or missing.
 2. Turn off all equipment before adjusting, lubricating or unclogging.
 3. Keep hands, feet and clothing away from moving parts of farm equipment.
 4. Never use a shield as a step to reach other parts of equipment.

Love In A Jar: That's Elderberry Jelly

by Bernice Kepple

It's elderberry season again, and each year at elderberry time, I remember Grandma. Not that I ever forget her, but at this time of the year, my memories are much stronger.

Grandma lived with us on the farm and helped Mom and Daddy raise the five of us. She continued to cook, bake, clean and go to the barn twice a day as long as she lived. "Keeping going" was what kept her going, she always told us.

As the oldest of the five, I felt very close to her, and I think she taught me more of the "old ways" than any of my brothers or sisters, simply because I was around longer. Grandma was a small, rather frail woman, but very strong willed and able to do anything that needed to be done. Perhaps her only vice as she got older was to sit down after lunch and watch the "soaps" on TV.

Looking back, I appreciate what she taught me — all the little things like making green tomato relish, sour cream cookies, repairing the fence with baling twine, making do or doing without. Maybe her strongest lesson, though, was that through work, you'll receive your reward — be it a clean house, a treat to offer the neighbor kids, or just the satisfaction of a good day's work accomplished when you go to bed at night. I wish I could be more like her.

She knew every inch of the farm; she had grown up there. As a young girl she told me what the neighboring farms had been like when she was a girl, how she and her friends used to walk miles to each others' homes for singings and suppers. I remember standing with her on the edge of an old apple orchard on one of those neighboring farms looking into the foundation of an old, long-gone farmhouse. That, she told me, was where her best friend had grown up. That friend had been dead for many years and the farm had been unfarmed and grown up even longer. She took me back with her in time as we stood there silently seeing pictures of the past in our minds. And strange as it may seem, years later, Grandma's best friend turned out to be my future husband's grandmother.

Elderberry time was always special. Grandma and I would take our kettles and head off for the old semi-reclaimed strip mines on the farm. The damp places on those old strips and their acid soil grew the best elderberries, and the early morning or late evening walks were great. Elderberry jelly was our family's favorite. I never remember a cobbler or a pie because we needed all that juice for elderberry jelly. To stretch it out, make it go farther, and help it to jell, Grandma used an equal part of apple juice for each batch of jelly. The apple juice was only made from the apple "peels" because the rest was used for sauce, or "applesauce" as Grandma called it.

The bag of cooked elderberries hung in the kitchen and dripped overnight. In the morning she squeezed the last drop from it and we began making the jelly. It cooked and cooked, and we tested to see if it was "jelled." Sometimes that was done by spooning some into a shallow dish and placing it on the window sill to cool. That way we could see if the thickness was right. When it was just right, Grandma poured each batch into an assortment of small jars, and before it cooled, a layer of hot wax was poured on top to seal it.

As it cooled, we covered each jar with a square of brown paper and tied it with a red string. I never remember any other color of string, although I'm sure there was. With a blunt-pointed pencil, she wrote in an old-fashioned script, "Elderberry" and the year. It was then carried to the cellar and placed into the jelly cupboard. The jelly cupboard was just a little smaller than the canning cupboard which held all the fruits and vegetables that had been "put up" for winter use. Somehow that elderberry jelly lasted all year, and I know we ate more of it than any other kind.

Grandma died before Howard, the kids and I moved to Maryland. She doesn't know that we moved from our suburban home back to the farm. But every year when I make elderberry jelly, I feel her here with me. It's also my family's favorite jelly, and I make as much of it as I can. The elderberries grow on my own farm now, and it's a joy to pick them. Occasionally, I'll give away a few jars, but only to special friends who I think might be able to feel the love that goes out to them in every jar.

Maryland's Corn Harvest Started

For the second consecutive week the precipitation from scattered showers failed to provide sufficient moisture to change average crop conditions significantly. However, most areas did receive some rain. Topsoil moisture and subsoil moisture improved slightly, but continued to be very short to short according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. During the week ended August 30, the number of days suitable for fieldwork averaged 6.6.

The condition of fieldcorn slipped into the poor to fair range, mostly fair. Most of the corn in fair or good condition was located along the Pennsylvania border and the Southern Eastern Shore. Corn was 99 percent silked, compared to 100 percent for last year and average. Corn was 95 percent in dough, 10 percent above average. Corn was in the dent stage on 70 percent of the acreage, 10 percent more than average. Twenty percent of the corn was mature. The harvest of corn for grain was 10 percent completed, while the harvest of silage was 30 percent completed.

The condition of soybeans slipped to an average of poor to fair. Most of the soybeans in fair or good condition were located near the Pennsylvania border and the Southern Eastern Shore. Some soybeans could marginally recuperate with sufficient moisture. Soybeans had bloomed on 90 percent of the acreage, five percent behind average for this date. Soybeans had set pods on 75 percent of the acreage, equal to the average pace. Ten percent of the soybeans were in the process of turning color. Corn ear worms were present in soybeans in at least six counties. Spider mites and grasshoppers were also present in some counties.

The third cutting of alfalfa hay was 90 percent completed, equal to the average pace. For the week ended August 30, apples were in good condition, with 20 percent of the apple crop harvested. Maryland peaches were 75 percent harvested. Maryland farmers had harvested 95 percent of the sweet corn used for human consumption, equal to the normal pace for August 30. Pastures were in poor to fair condition.

Weather

Weather for the week ended Aug. 28 was cool with varying amounts of precipitation. Temperatures averaged 70.9 degrees, 1.6 degrees below the normal 72.5 degree temperature for the week. High temperatures were mostly in the 90s while lows were mostly in the high 40s to mid 50s.

The past week was the first time temperatures averaged below normal since the week ending July 20. Precipitation averaged 0.67 inches, with most stations at least receiving some rainfall. Precipitation totals for the week ranged from 0.17 inches at Salisbury to a high 2.95 inches at Oakland. Average rainfall for the week at 0.67 inches was the highest average amount received since the week ending July 20 when the average precipitation for the state was 0.91 inches.

PRACTICE
DOWN ON THE FARM

A Fair Share for Farm Safety?
Federal funding for occupational safety and health amounted to almost $475 million in 1985, according to Mark Purschwitz, a research assistant at Purdue University, in Lafayette, Ind. But precious little of it went for farm safety, even though agriculture is one of the most hazardous ways of making a living.
The accidental death rates (per 100,000 workers) for agriculture and mining are very close, but, as there are more farmers than miners, more farmers are killed on the job. (1,600 people were killed in agriculture work mishaps, compared with 500 miners). However, according to Purschwitz, federal funding for mine safety totals an impressive $188 million a year, while the annual federal appropriation for farm safety has been a mere $1,020,000, or $20,000 each for the 50 states and Puerto Rico. And each year since 1980, the Office of Management and Budget has recommended that even this modest funding be eliminated. (Things looked particularly unpromising this time, but $970,000 has been restored for the upcoming fiscal year.)

Stated another way, the federal government spent $189 per mine worker on safety, or $4,719 per disabling injury in mining accidents, or $337,652 per mining death. By contrast, federal funding for farm safety amounted to $0.32 per farm worker, or $6 per disabling injury, or $638 per farming-related death, during the year Purschwitz drew from his comparisons.
The $472 million Purschwitz said was allocated by the federal government for occupational safety and health worked out to $4.44 per U.S. worker, or $236 per disabling injury, or nearly $41,000 per death.
No one suggests that less be spent on safety in mining and other occupations. But farming is definitely behind. The "million-twenty" (now $970,000) federal funding for farm safety goes to help support state extension safety leader programs, with state funds making up the difference. (The U.S. Department of Agriculture also allocates some funds for leadership assistance to the states, Farm Safety Week and public information.)

MODIFIED MACHINE — Doug Fitzwater was a big winner in the Modified Tractor Pulling Contest at the recent Garrett County Fair, taking first place in four of the six classes. The Modified Tractor Pull is always one of the most popular events of the fair, and this year these high-powered machines drew another large crowd. Other first-place winners this year were: George Beal, 4,500 pound class; Roger Curobrs, 5,000 pound class; Wayne O'Brien, 8,500 pound class; and Fitzwater, 5,500 pound, 6,500 pound, 7,500 pounds, and 9,500 pound classes.

Maybe public perceptions have something to do with it, Purschwitz said. "Mining accidents are often front-page news, especially when a number of people are killed or trapped deep underground, a most fearsome prospect. Farm deaths tend to occur one at a time. Perhaps if 20 or 30 people were killed in one fell swoop, the public would demand that 'something be done,' Purschwitz said.
He also said that most industries have unions and other organizations that lobby for occupational safety programs, while farmers tend to be independent and may oppose programs that could bring regulation or other perceived interference.

Farm safety programs, as carried forth by the state extension safety leaders, have been effective. The suppliers of the tools of agriculture have made equipment safer, and the farm operator better informed on their proper use.
"Farm organizations devote resources to farm safety," Purschwitz said, "and I believe that the National Safety Council and their volunteer agriculture safety advisory committee also make an impact. But much more needs to be done... and could be done if agriculture received its fair share."

A City in Celebration!

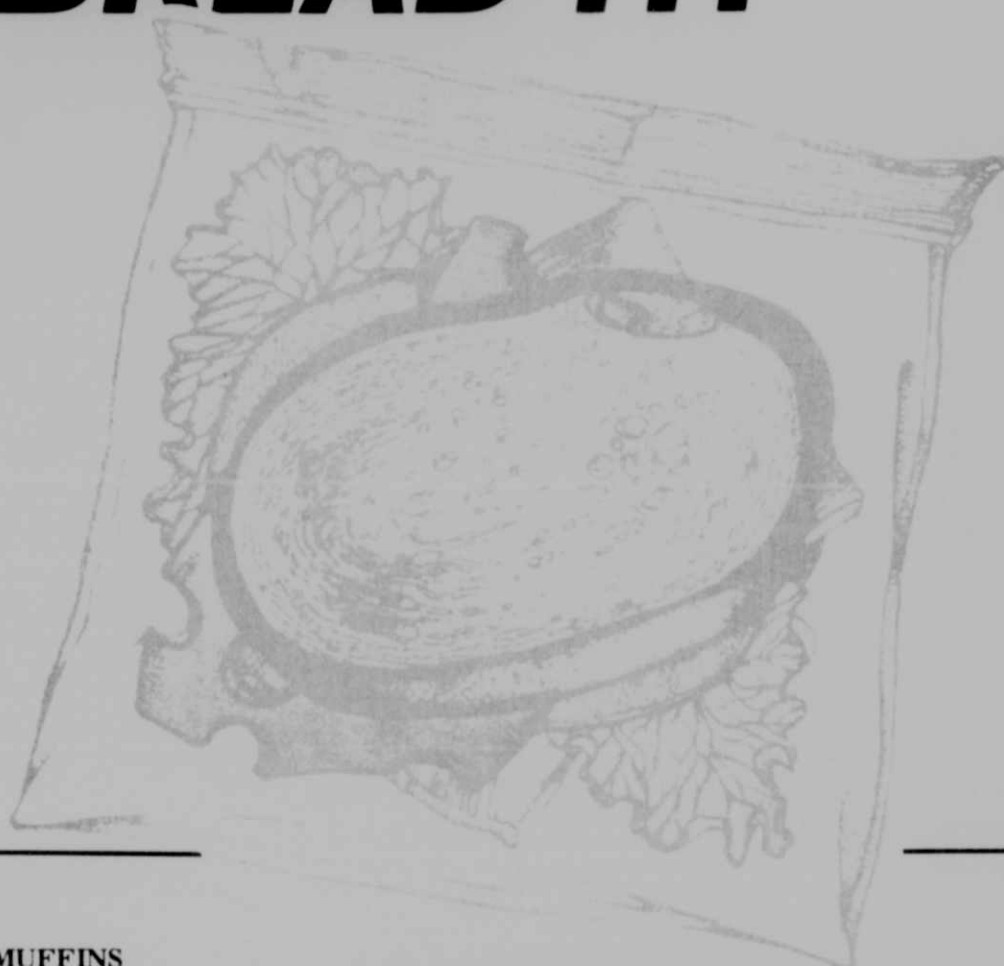

Good Food and how to prepare it!

TWO SLICES OF BREAD ... and so much more!

A well-balanced lunch helps kids to remain alert while in school. Without summer activities to encourage such a naturally vigorous lifestyle, it's all the more vital to bolster their growing bodies and minds with a healthy sack or box lunch that will help them through their school days.

Variety in your child's lunch can be almost as important as making certain it's nutritious. With a little resourcefulness and ingenuity, it's a snap to send them off well provided for.

Here are some easily prepared ideas that are an excellent alternative to the old standbys. Just include some carrot sticks, orange slices and a couple of cookies and you're set.

SALMON-DILL SALAD SANDWICH

- 1 pound salmon fillet, cooked and flaked; or
 - 1 can (15½ ounces) salmon, drained and flaked
 - 1 cup chopped cucumber, peeled and seeds discarded
 - 2 tablespoons snipped fresh dill
 - 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
 - 2 tablespoons unflavored lowfat yogurt
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 - ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - ¼ teaspoon salt (omit if using canned salmon)
 - 1/8 teaspoon white pepper
 - 1 ripe tomato
 - 4 bagels or croissants, split and toasted
- Place salmon in medium bowl. Add cucumber and dill to salmon; stir to mix. In small bowl stir mayonnaise, yogurt, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper together. Blend into Salmon mixture. Cut tomato into 8 slices. Arrange salmon salad and 2 tomato slices between each toasted bagel or croissant. Pack in Ziploc sandwich bags. Makes 4 sandwiches.

ROLLED GRANOLA SWEETS

- ½ cup oatmeal
 - ½ cup wheat germ
 - ¼ cup chopped nuts
 - 1 tablespoon packed dark brown sugar
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
 - ½ cup crunchy peanut butter
 - ½ cup raisins
 - ¼ cup honey
- Preheat oven to 300°F. Combine oatmeal, wheat germ, nuts and sugar in shallow baking pan. Toss to mix. Drizzle with melted butter. Stir and spread evenly over pan bottom. Bake in 300°F oven about 25 minutes until browned, stirring once or twice. Let cool. Transfer mixture to a bowl, add peanut butter, raisins and honey. Stir until well blended. Chill about 15 minutes until firm enough to handle. Roll between palms of hands into 1-inch balls. Store in refrigerator. Makes about 2 dozen.

FRUIT AND NUT MUFFINS

- ½ cup boiling water
 - ¾ cup chopped dried apricots
 - ¾ cup chopped prunes
 - 2 eggs
 - ¾ cup milk
 - ½ cup vegetable oil
 - ½ cup chopped walnuts
 - 2 cups all-purpose flour
 - ¼ cup sugar
 - 1 tablespoon baking powder
 - 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon ground allspice
 - ½ teaspoon salt
- Preheat oven to 400°F. Pour boiling water over apricots and prunes in 1-quart casserole. Set aside. Line 12-cup muffin pan with paper liners. Combine eggs, milk, vegetable oil, fruit mixture and nuts in large bowl. In another bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, cinnamon, allspice and salt. Make a well in center of dry ingredients and add liquid ingredients all at once; mix only until dry particles are moist. Fill lined muffin cups ¾ full. Bake 20 minutes at 400°F, or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove immediately from muffin cups to cool on rack. To store, place cool muffins into sandwich bags. Makes 12 muffins.

CARROT SPICE COOKIES

- ½ cup margarine or vegetable shortening
 - ½ cup sugar
 - ½ cup dark molasses
 - 1 teaspoon ginger
 - ½ teaspoon cinnamon
 - ¼ teaspoon allspice
 - ½ package (16 ounces) frozen carrots, thawed and mashed
 - 2 cups flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1 cup coarsely chopped nuts
- Preheat oven to 350°F. Cream margarine and sugar until fluffy. Blend in molasses, ginger, cinnamon and allspice. Stir in carrots. Sift flour with baking soda, add to carrot mixture. Stir to blend, then stir in nuts. Drop by rounded tablespoons 1½ inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in 350°F oven 12 to 14 minutes until firm to the touch. Cool on racks. Makes about 32 cookies.

CHEESE SPREADS

- Basic Recipe:
- ½ cup (1 stick) butter, softened
 - 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
 - 1 cup (4 ozs.) shredded Cheddar cheese
 - 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
- Beat butter and pepper until light and fluffy. Blend in Cheddar cheese and lemon juice. Yield: approximately 1½ cups. Use as the basis for the following variations. Divide according to your preference. One-third Basic Recipe is used for the variation as given. To make sandwich: Use any kind of bread or roll, spread each slice with about 1 tablespoon cheese spread. Place filling on one slice. Close.

VARIATION:

- ITALIAN CHEESE: Blend ¼ teaspoon Italian seasoning and dash of garlic salt into ⅓ portion of Basic Recipe. Yield: approximately ½ cup. Top one slice of bread with summer sausage, Provolone or Mozzarella cheese, tomato and lettuce. Close. To freeze: Omit tomato and lettuce.

ADD THE MAGIC TOUCH

Although sandwiches are the mainstays of the lunch box, select from these other categories to make that meal-away-from-home a special treat:

1. Pack a munchable or two: Cheese-stuffed celery, cubes of cheese on a wooden pick with pickles and olives; bunch of grapes, cherries or strawberries, stuffed prunes or dates; small bags of corn or potato chips, chocolate covered raisins, marshmallows, candied orange peel, cupcakes or cookies; any whole fruit like apple, pear, orange or banana.
2. Make Ahead and Freeze: Chicken, tuna, cheese and cheese spreads, shrimp or ham salads in sandwiches.
3. Thermos Tactics: Milk, cocoa, flavored milk drinks, buttermilk or skim milk or cream soup. Squat thermos will hold baked custard, puddings, chilled fruit or berry-flavored yogurt, salads, cut up fruits.
4. Surprises: Special occasion card, cartoon, stick of gum or small change for an after school treat.
5. Opt for interesting carry-alls: Fresh, colorful sandwich sacks, denim tote bags, containers flat enough to fit a brief case.

Make-ahead lunches are quick, easy and nutritious!

When you're on the go, it's hard to eat right. But, working women need to make sure that a healthy lunch is part of their hectic day.

Sound difficult? It's not. Here are two sandwiches which can be made up the day ahead of time and frozen. Take one out of the freezer in the morning and pack it into your lunch bag or briefcase. At lunchtime, it's thawed and ready to eat.

Preparing lunch in advance is easy with the Oster Food Processor Accessory. This handy mini food processor fits into Oster and Hamilton Beach Kitchen Center appliances.

If you're making a turkey or chicken sandwich, use the Oster Food Processor Accessory to chop the meat into small cubes. It's easy to clean, too. That's important for the busy working person.

Why not give these Kitchen Helper recipes a try? Lunchtime will never be the same.

TOO BUSY FOR A HEALTHY LUNCH? Not anymore. Thanks to the newest accessory for your Osterizer Blender, it's a mini food processor. Pull this Healthy Turkey Tortilla out of the freezer and tuck it in your lunchbox. It's that easy!

MAKE-AHEAD ROAST BEEF SANDWICH

- 3 ounces cream cheese, softened, cut into 1 piece
 - 1 medium green pepper, cut into 1 piece
 - 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
 - 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
 - 1 pound roast beef, thin sliced
 - 1 pound Colby, thin sliced
 - 12 slices whole wheat bread
1. Combine cream cheese, horseradish, mustard and green pepper in processor bowl. Process until well blended.
2. Evenly spread each of six slices bread with equal amounts of the meat, beef and horseradish sauce. Cover with cheese and the remaining bread.
3. Wrap in plastic wrap. Refrigerate until ready to serve.
4. Sandwiches may be frozen up to five days. Allow to sit at room temperature and unwrap, about four to five hours.
- YIELD: 6 servings.

TURKEY TORTILLA

- 1 cup turkey cubes
 - 1 cup Monterey Jack or Mozzarella cheese cubes
 - ½ medium tomato, seeded and cubed (optional - do not freeze)
 - 1 large ripe avocado, peeled, pitted and cubed
 - 1 medium tomato, cubed
 - 1 one-inch piece onion
 - 4 ten-inch flour tortillas
1. Combine turkey, cheese, tomato (if using) and onion in processor bowl. Process until meat is finely chopped. Be sure tortillas are thawed and are still.

Repeat a different meat (chicken and beef), tomato, onion and cheese.

2. Place remaining ingredients except flour tortillas in processor bowl. Cover and process until smooth.

3. Evenly spread each of the four tortillas with equal amounts of avocado spread, turkey, cheese and tomato. Fold in 1/2 of the onion, onion over the first fold.

4. Wrap in plastic wrap. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

5. Sandwiches, when frozen may be frozen up to five days. Allow to sit at room temperature, not unwrapped, about four to five hours.

YIELD: 4 servings.

RICE AND SHRIMP SALAD CARIBBEAN

- 1 cup raw long-grain rice
- ½ pound small cooked shrimp, peeled
- 1 ripe avocado, peeled
- 1 navel orange, peeled and sectioned
- 4 green onions, white and partial green tops
- 2 tablespoons raisins

Mustard dressing (recipe below)

Prepare rice according to package directions. While rice is still warm, combine in bowl with shrimp. Add Mustard Dressing, stir to blend. Coarsely chop avocado, orange and onions. Add to rice mixture, stir gently but thoroughly to blend. Stir in raisins.

MUSTARD DRESSING: In small bowl combine 1½ tablespoons prepared Dijon-style mustard and 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar. Whisk in 3 tablespoons olive oil, blend well. Makes 4 servings.

Rock 'n' roll's singing King kept topping those charts

By Toni D'Amato

I'd like to know how old Elvis Presley was when he made his first movie, when his mother died and if he had a twin brother. — E.S., Richmond, Va.

Elvis Presley

Born on Jan. 8, 1935, Presley was 21 when he made his first film, "Love Me Tender" (1956). His mother, Gladys Love, died in 1958. Presley's twin brother, Jesse Garon Presley, died in 1945. Here are some interesting statistics for Presley fans.

His first appearance on Billboard's Top 100 pop-singles chart was on March 3, 1956. His last was Jan. 8, 1976. Presley had 149 charted hits and 107 Top 40 hits. Among those hits was "Don't Be Cruel," "Hound Dog." It was in the No. 1

Spot for 11 weeks. Presley died on Aug. 16, 1977.

Please tell me why the series "Father Knows Best" was canceled, who starred in it and when it aired. — J.T., Joplin, Mo.

This TV show aired from 1954 to 1963. It starred Robert Young, Jane Wyatt, Elinor Donahue, Billy Gray, Lauren Chapin and Sarah Selby. "Father Knows Best" began as an NBC radio series in 1949, with Young in the starring role. When it moved to TV, Young was the only member of the cast to go with it. CBS aired the show from October 1954 to the following March before canceling it. Viewer protests were so great that the show was picked up by NBC. The show was canceled because, after 11 years of playing the role, Young reportedly tired of it.

Didn't Earl Holliman star in a Western series in the late '50s or early '60s? — I.M., Weirton, W. Va.

Yes. It was called "Hotel De Paree" and starred Holliman, Judi Meredith, Jeanette Nolan and Aaron Douglas. The show aired from 1957 to 1960.

It's a question of kisses for an actor on 'Y&R'

By Kimberly Redmond

I'd like to know why Eric Braeden (Victor Newman on "The Young and the Restless") never kisses his leading ladies on the mouth. — A.E., Dallas, Texas

Eric Braeden

No one seemed to know the answer to this one. You can ask Braeden himself by writing to him c/o "Y&R," CBS-TV, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90036.

I really like Brian Fitzpatrick, who plays Mitch Beck on "All My Children." Could I get some information about him? — J.L., Albany, N.Y.

Fitzpatrick is a former college football star and also a former police officer. He turned down an invitation for a tryout with the Detroit Lions football team after recovering from knee injuries. Fitzpatrick had quit police work when an agent convinced him to study acting. He had a brief role on "Search for Tomorrow," and was then accepted into the ABC-TV Network Talent Development program. That led to his role on "AMC."

Can you tell me the name of the song that Marilyn McCoo (Tamara Price) sang last February on "Days of Our Lives" for Shane and Kimberly Donovan (played by Charles Shaughnessy and Patricia Presley)? — R.W., Johnstown, Pa.

Marilyn McCoo

McCoo sang the following songs during that time period: "Find Me" by Carol Connors and David Shore, "Slip Away" by Carol Connors and Joe Doler, and "If Only for One Night," recorded by Luther Vandross.

A singer in trouble with the mob (Danny Aiello, r.) receives counseling from Giambone (Jeff Winnett, l.) on "Night Heat." It airs Tuesday, Sept. 8, on CBS.

CINDY SAYS

Will Desi play dad on TV? Glenda is given a degree

By Cindy Adams

"The Mick," Mickey Mantle's bio, is being made into a movie. Author Herb Gluck wants Jeff Bridges as Mantle. Sean Penn as a young Billy Martin. Jack Warden as Casey Stengel and Bruce Willis as Whitey Ford.

Desi Arnaz Jr.

Loni Anderson's daughter Deirdra married a fellow named Charles Hoffman. Loni's live-in, Burt Reynolds, attended. It was good practice. Maybe it'll put him in the habit. Onscreen it's a man's world. There's "Tin Men" (Richard Dreyfuss, Danny DeVito), "Real Men" (John Ritter, Jim Belushi), "Rainbow" (Tom Cruise, Dustin Hoffman), and Norman Jewison's newie, "The January Man." CBS execs want Desi Arnaz Jr. to play his late pa in a TV bio. Junior wants to check the script first.

French literary lioness Francoise Sagan is creating a soap opera for French TV. Sort of "Dynasty." Gallic style. Mrs. Bill Cosby called his "Fatherhood" publishers to get six lifelike cutouts of the Cos. Maybe she wants to cut him down to size. Priscilla Presley's "Elvis & Me" will be a four-hour miniseries. The American Society of Camera Collectors is collecting the late Rudy Vallee's camera collection. Me, I didn't even know there was such a society.

Glenda Jackson

Geraldine Page's final film, "The Single Room" (with Don Ameche), will never be released. There was a difference over the ending, and it didn't get written. Paul Simon and Carrie Fisher have made U-turns. Might even remarry. England's Exeter handed Glenda Jackson an honorary doctorate. The Russians are getting soap operas on their TV. My question is: What'll they call them? Sitcoms? Sorry about that.

Jim (Adam Arkin) and Lindley (Jayne Atkinson) enjoy an afternoon of Christmas shopping in the conclusion of the NBC miniseries "A Year in the Life." It airs Monday, Sept. 7. (Rebroadcast)

CABLE LOG

It's new wave vaudeville and music awards on cable

By Connie Passalacqua

Ed Sullivan may have passed away, but the variety show lives on, at least on cable television. On Sept. 8, The Disney Channel airs "New Vaudevillians Too," a one-hour variety special in the best sense of the term. The program features the acts of a group of so-called "no-vaudevillians," which includes jugglers, puppeteers, ventriloquists, magicians, acrobats and even a hula hoop champion. Ed Begley Jr. (who plays Dr. Victor Erlich on NBC's "St. Elsewhere") hosts the evening, and he says he will demonstrate his own vaudevilian talent — as a roller skater.

The Disney Channel, and featured a slate of acts performed at the annual San Francisco Vaudeville Festival. This year, there's Edward Jackman, a comedian, who between jokes, juggles while balancing a bicycle on his head. Then there are the four Brunson Brothers, who do their own rendition of the William Tell Overture on trumpets. And there's young Phillip Wellford, who enlists an audience member to help him in his clumsy attempts to juggle a sword, a flaming torch and a bowling ball while riding a unicycle. You might call the group the Not Ready for HBO Players.

This week, there's another type of variety show spotlighting performers who have already had their share of the prime-time limelight. It's the "1987 MTV Video Awards," which will be broadcast live Friday, Sept. 11 from the Universal Theater in Los Angeles. Among the acts scheduled to perform are Whitney Houston, Los Lobos and Madonna. And the usual motley crew of celebrity "presenters" will be on hand, including Vanna White and Bob Goldthwaite. Beware of rampant egos.

The nominees for Best Video include "Sledgehammer" by Peter Dinklage, "Boy in the Bubble" by Paul Simon, "Higher Love" by Steve Winwood and "With or Without You" by U2. But who cares who wins? We just want to know what Vanna's going to wear.

Vanna White

The event was taped at the Mayfair Theatre in Santa Monica, Calif. It's a follow-up to last year's much acclaimed "New Vaudevillians," which also aired on

PBS

The lives of three families in the fictitious German village of Schabbach are chronicled in the eight-part PBS series "Heimat." Marita Brewer plays Maria, a member of the village. The series airs Saturday, Sept. 12. (Check local listings.)

BEHIND THE SCENES

New addition to 'Matlock' is ready to give her input

By Frank Lovece

"Matlock" fans might only partially recognize the new law clerk in the cast this season. Most will remember Kari Lizer, who plays Matlock's assistant Cassie, from her bit part last season as an eager beaver law student. But how many will recall Lizer as Angel, the young rock singer from an earlier episode?

Kari Lizer

"I was surprised at getting called back to play Cassie, but I knew I could stretch enough to do her and Angel both," says Lizer. At 24, Lizer has been performing for 13 years. She has had many roles in national commercials and thought she was over the hill at 19. In her "comeback," she's a tough, charming go-getter — a fact that impressed "Matlock" star Andy Griffith enough to call her talent "quite exceptional." Lizer has an equally high opinion of Griffith. "He looks and acts exactly how you'd expect," she says.

And she reports that Griffith, who for years struggled with a paralytic viral infection called Guillain-Barre Syndrome, is over the worst of it. "He had braces on his legs when I started, but they came off almost immediately," says Lizer. "Around the set, he plays his ukulele and even sings and dances."

Lizer, who claims to "need someone to have faith in me so I can relax and do my work," found a staunch supporter in Griffith. "I was worried about doing a TV series; so much is hit-your-marks-know-your-lines," explains Lizer. "But Andy respects my input. It's not just a way of keeping the youngster placated."

Not, she quickly adds, that she's turning into Joan Crawford. "I don't say anything other than about my own character. I still get corrected a lot. But I'm encouraged to express my ideas, right or wrong."

Lizer's character gets the spotlight in an episode which guest-stars Dick Butkus as a bad-guy wrestler called The Annihilator. The sweet Cassie is a big fan of his, screaming at ringside. As for Cassie's future, "I think she wants to become a partner in the firm," Lizer fantasizes. "But she'll realize it's tedious to be a lawyer, so she'll become a private eye." And a good thing — all these TV lawyers are getting to be a crowd.

Several Sentenced In District Court On DWI Charges

During traffic court proceedings, held recently in Garrett County District Court, several motorists were sentenced on driving while intoxicated charges.

Judge Paul J. Stakem handed down a 30-day suspended sentence to Gary Richard Darby, 23, who was found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) under the influence of alcohol. Darby was also fined $150 and placed on one year supervised probation.

He was arrested June 20 on Rt. 42 at Rt. 48 in Friendsville.

Richard Thomas Fornear, 49, was sentenced to 10 days in the Garrett County Jail after Judge Tim Finan found him guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) while intoxicated.

Fornear's sentence was then suspended and he was given a $500 fine which was suspended to $300. He was placed on 12 months supervised probation. Fornear was arrested April 11 on Rt. 42 and Humberson Road.

Owen A. Graham, 53, was also given a 10-day suspended sentence by Judge Finan after being found guilty of driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence.

He was then placed on 12 months supervised probation and fined $500. The fine was suspended to $250. Graham was arrested February 27 on Rt. 495 at Shade Hollow Road.

Judge Finan also sentenced Arthur Rodney Deem, 21, to a 10-day suspended sentence after finding him guilty of driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence. He was fined $500, which was suspended to $250, and placed on 24 months supervised probation.

Deem had been arrested April 18 on Rt. 219 north of Foster Road.

James Edward Quinn, 32, was found guilty of both charges and given a 10-day suspended sentence, fined $145, and placed on 12 months supervised probation. He was arrested May 29 on Rt. 48 east of Green Lantern Road.

Betty Lou Kesner, 39, was found guilty by Judge Finan of driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence. She was then fined $500, which was suspended to $300, and was placed on 12 months supervised probation. She was arrested on Rt. 48 west of Finzel.

David Gerald Griffith, 27, was found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) under the influence. He was fined $300, $100 of which was suspended, and placed on 12 months supervised probation. He was arrested May 9 on Rt. 219 at Deep Creek Lake.

Bradley Keith Yoder, 21, was found guilty of the same charge and was fined $150 and placed on one year supervised probation. He was arrested June 21 at Rt. 219 north of Johnny's Bait House.

Unemployment Compensation Must Now Be Declared

Because of a change in federal tax law, all unemployment compensation received after December 31, 1986, is to be included in gross income, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 repealed the former provision which allowed a limited amount of unemployment compensation to be excluded from gross income for individuals whose income did not exceed certain amounts. Congress believed that unemployment compensation benefits, which are essentially wage replacement payments, should be treated for tax purposes in the same manner as wages, the IRS reported. Therefore, the partial exclusion of unemployment benefits from income was rescinded.

Those who received a substantial amount of unemployment should note that taxes were not withheld from their unemployment benefit checks and may need to make estimated tax payments. Taxpayers who estimate their taxes to be $500 or more must use Form 1040-ES, "Estimated Tax for Individuals", and make estimated tax payments.

Generally, individuals required to make estimated tax payments may pay all their estimated tax at one time or they may make quarterly installments. The next installment is due September 15, 1987, and the final installment is due January 15, 1988.

St. Jude Benefit Bike Ride Slated

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital officials have announced that Mrs. Brenda Marucci will coordinate the hospital's "Wheels For Life" Bike Ride in Oakland. This ride will raise funds to support the hospital's battle against childhood cancer and other illnesses being studied there.

Founded in 1962 by entertainer Danny Thomas, St. Jude Hospital has become the world's largest center for the study of childhood cancer, and is the only institution dedicated solely to the treatment and study of catastrophic childhood diseases. The hospital is non-sectarian and interracial.

In addition to direct treatment of patients from 39 states and 29 foreign countries, St. Jude has provided the world's doctors with the best ways of treating their own young cancer patients. This life-saving knowledge is given freely and with no charge to any other hospital or private physician.

St. Jude Hospital's dramatic progress has been made possible primarily by voluntary contributions raised through events such as the "Wheels For Life" bike rides organized by concerned citizens all over America.

The ride will be held in Broadford Park on September 26 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. A rain date of October 3 has been selected. Riders, as well as sponsors, are needed. Those interested, are asked to call Mrs. Marucci at 334-3099 for further information.

U.S. Service Academy Application Deadline Announced By Byron

Representative Beverly B. Byron announced that young men and women who are seeking nomination to one of the U.S. Service Academies should have all application material completed by November 30, for the class entering the summer of 1988.

Candidates must be U.S. citizens, legal residents of the state of Maryland and the Sixth Congressional District, and have no children or dependents. Applicants must be at least 17 years of age, but not past their 22nd birthday on July 1 of the year of admission. All applicants must take the S.A.T. or A.C.T. examination. S.A.T.s may be taken more than one time. The highest score will be used.

scores, class ranks, grade point average, school records, extracurricular activities, leadership potential, motivation and recommendations.

For additional information concerning the application process, persons may contact Rep. Byron at: P.O. Box 3275, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, (301) 729-0300.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst

NO HIDDEN COSTS

All of us have had the experience of opening a bill and being staggered by the amount. This is often because what we THOUGHT we were paying has been considerably augmented by "hidden costs." — taxes, service charges, surcharges, interest charges, etc.

The great majority of funeral directors adhere to a professional code of ethics which includes provisions for seeing that this doesn't happen. In order to eliminate those hidden costs, you will find that these funeral directors are explicit about the costs of goods and services. In addition, once the family decides on the kind of service desired, the funeral director should provide a written document for the family to review and approve.

This should include a description of the service and the price. Any supplemental charges for merchandise or service should be listed. It should also make mention of any sums which the funeral director will advance on behalf of the family, e.g. newspaper notice.

Retirees Should Contact Social Security Office

People who plan to retire at the end of the year should take some time soon to think about Social Security retirement benefits, Elaine Watson, Social Security manager in Cumberland, said recently.

A person should apply for Social Security benefits two or three months before he or she plans to retire, she said. This way, benefits can begin shortly after income from work stops.

Before applying a person should call 729-3232 before visiting the Social Security office. The office will accept long distance station-to-station collect calls.

"If your business cannot be completed at the time of your first call, an appointment, either by phone or in person, can be arranged at your convenience," Ms. Watson said. "The people there will be glad to help you get the necessary evidence together thus assuring that your first check arrives on time."

The first item a person needs is his or her Social Security card. Next, proof of age is required. Preferred proofs is an official record of birth or baptism recorded before age five. If this does not exist, other proofs can be submitted. The people at the Cumberland Social Security office can explain what kinds of other evidence can be used.

Records that might be used include: school, church, State or Federal census, insurance policies, marriage, passports, employment, military service, children's birth certificates, union, immigration or naturalization. This is not an exclusive list and other records may be acceptable.

Form W-2 or self-employment tax return for the previous year should be provided. These are needed because recent earnings reports may not be in Social Security records.

A husband or wife who also plans to apply should have about the same documents. A marriage certificate may be required, but is not always needed. Information about any previous marriages is also needed.

Birth certificates of any young, unmarried children should be available.

Additional documentation may be required, depending on the particulars of certain cases. A free pamphlet "Thinking About Retiring" will be sent upon request.

The Cumberland Social Security office is located at the Country Club Mall, Winchester and Vocke Roads, LaVale. The telephone number is (301) 729-3232. The mailing address is Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 5545, Cumberland, Md. 21505.

Christmas Tree Retailers Are Sought By MDA

The Maryland Department of Agriculture's Marketing Services office wants to hear from groups and individuals who are planning to operate retail Christmas tree lots this year. The Marketing Services office, in cooperation with the Maryland Christmas Tree Association, has compiled a list of Maryland wholesale Christmas tree growers who have an extensive selection of trees available for this season. The list gives the growers' name, address, phone number, and a description of the trees they have for sale.

Officials in the Marketing Services office advise that wholesale buyers should be shopping now if they want to insure a dependable supply of desired trees before the Christmas season. The "Wholesale Hotline" currently lists 17 growers with over 30,000 trees for sale. A wide variety of sizes and species are offered by Maryland growers.

The Market Research and Development Group will be operating the Christmas Tree Wholesale Hotline from now until Christmas. The hotline is subject to change daily as new growers are added and other growers sell out of trees.

Interested persons should write to: "Christmas Tree Hotline," Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, or phone (301) 841-5770 or, in Maryland 1-800-836-2209.

Local Residents Will Participate In Bike Ride

Three Garrett County residents will be among numerous bikers who will participate in a 125-mile trek around the Chesapeake Bay September 19-21. The event is a fund-raising effort sponsored by the Maryland Chapter of the American Lung Association.

The local residents planning to complete the trip are Randy Crabtree, Oakland, Dr. Peg Kaiser and Eric Tribbey, both of the Pleasant Valley area. Persons wishing to make a donation on their behalf may send checks payable to the American Lung Association of Maryland, c/o P.O. Box 202, Mtn. Lake Park, MD 21550. Persons may also make pledges to the bikers by telephoning 334-8602. Those making pledges will be billed following the event.

All donations are tax-deductible.

CRIME SOLVERS

This week Crime Solvers is seeking information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for the breaking and entering and theft at a storage building owned by the McHenry Community Center on Bumble Bee Road. According to police reports, a John Deere 16 horsepower garden tractor with a 46-inch mower deck was stolen from inside the building.

Openings Remain In GCC Hunter Safety Classes

Openings remain in a number of Hunter Safety courses being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College.

The first course will be held at Bloomington Elementary School September 8 and 17, from 6 to 9:15 p.m.; the second at the McHenry Campus of GCC September 15 and 24 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.; and the third at the Oakland Center of GCC September 22 and October 1 from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

The course is designed for the hunter wishing to gain or increase knowledge and skills related to hunter safety. The course meets the Maryland state law requirement for new hunters in time for the 1987 deer season.

The fee for the course is $5 for Garrett County residents, $5.50 for out-of-county Maryland residents, and $7.50 for out-of-state residents. Youth under the age of 16 will be accepted provided they are accompanied by an adult.

For more information, persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 334-8266 or 334-8447.

Horse Show To Be Held Sept. 13 In McHenry

A horse show, sponsored by the Mt. Top Saddle Club, will take place Sunday, September 13, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

The show will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will feature entries in 29 classes of competition. Cash prizes, trophies, and ribbons will be awarded to various classes including high point pony, English, western, youth, and game classes. The fee for entrants is $3.00 per class.

The competition is open to everyone and the public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge. For more information contact the Mt. Top Saddle Club at (301) 387-4550.

State Launches Amnesty Program For Those With Delinquent Taxes

"Come forward and come clean."

That's what Governor William Donald Schaefer and State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein hope many Marylanders will do during Maryland's Tax Amnesty Program, which began September 1 and will continue through October 31.

"Amnesty is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for individual, business and boat taxpayers to clear up their tax liabilities and accumulated interest without paying a penalty," explained Goldstein. Individual income tax, employer withholding tax, corporation income tax, sales and use tax, admissions and amusement tax and boat excise tax are all included in the Amnesty Program. Those taxes due before December 31, 1986, are eligible. All taxpayers are eligible except those currently under investigation by the attorney general, state prosecutor, or a state's attorney.

Since the Amnesty hotline opened August 19, it has handled 371 calls. The experts who man the phones can do everything from answering questions and mailing out forms to calculating interest due on Amnesty payments. The Amnesty hotline, 1-800-MD TAXES, is staffed from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Walk-in assistance is available at all offices of the State Comptroller during the same hours.

"There are at least three good reasons for Marylanders to take advantage of Tax Amnesty," Governor Schaefer pointed out. "First of all, they won't have to pay a penalty on any delinquent taxes and interest that are paid before October 31. And second," the governor continued, "taxes reported during Amnesty won't be subject to criminal prosecution unless the case is already under investigation or pending in the courts."

"But there is another reason Amnesty is important to the whole state," Schaefer added. "Amnesty is about fairness. It doesn't involve a new tax or a tax increase. It's a way to encourage people to obey the tax laws that are already on the books. If everybody pays their fair share, the burden will be easier on everyone."

After Tax Amnesty, the penalty on outstanding income taxes will increase from 10% to 25% of the tax due, and the stiffer penalty will be retroactive. Criminal penalties for all Amnesty-eligible taxes will increase from a maximum of one year imprisonment to five years, and fines will increase from $1,000 to $5,000 for each violation.

"After Amnesty, the chances of getting caught will be greater than ever," cautioned Goldstein. The Comptroller's Office will have more personnel in the audit, delinquent tax collection and criminal enforcement areas when Amnesty concludes.

The penalty on eligible taxes will be waived in proportion to the amount of tax and interest paid by October 31. If the tax plus interest is paid in full by the end of Amnesty, all the penalty will be waived. If only half of the tax plus interest is paid, half the penalty will be waived.

Although the law doesn't provide for an extended payment plan, taxes can be paid by Visa, Choice or Mastercard, as well as by check, certified check or money order. Credit card payments will be handled through COMCHECK, and taxpayers who choose this option will be charged a fee for this service by their credit card companies.

Delinquent taxpayers who are receiving statements of account from the state can obtain Amnesty just by sending in their payment with one simple form. Other taxpayers may also need to file back or amended returns in addition to the Amnesty form.

The basic Amnesty form is available from tax preparers, some 1,200 banks, 230 libraries, 85 Giant food stores, many post offices and offices of the Clerks of Court. Offices of the Comptroller throughout the state have Amnesty forms and returns, and can also check the status of an account and help a taxpayer compute interest. All offices of the comptroller will be open on Friday, September 11, Defenders' Day, and Monday, October 12, Columbus Day, which are state holidays.

Taxpayers can also get information and request forms for individual and business taxes by calling 1-800-MD TAXES. Forms and information on boat taxes are available by calling 1-800-492-1138. Boat tax Amnesty forms are also available at local marinas and regional offices of the Department of Natural Resources. Telephone service and walk-in assistance are available from the Department of Natural Resources from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Tax Amnesty programs in more than 20 other states have yielded from $150,000 in North Dakota to $400 million in New York. In Maryland, the legislature estimated that Amnesty will raise approximately $20 million.

Back-To-School Event Scheduled At Zion School

A "Back to School Convention," featuring a variety of guest speakers and worship services, will be held next week at the Zion School of Christian Education, Grantsville, according to George S. McDowell Sr., director. All of the services are slated for 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Michael Bell, pastor of LaVale Chapel, Assemblies of God, who has broad education and experience in evangelism, will lead the service on Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Slated to speak on Wednesday, Sept. 9, is Pastor Ross Glatfelter, Grantsville, and Rev. Eli Miller, a retired Mennonite minister from Johnstown, Pa., will conduct the Thursday, Sept. 10, service.

Rev. Ruth Cowgill, who was a field representative of Teen Challenge, will speak Friday, Sept. 11, and Rev. Benny Simmons, pastor and evangelist from Arbovale, W.Va., will be featured Saturday, Sept. 12.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Earl Douglass will minister on Sunday, Sept. 13.

SUNNYSIDE- UNDERWOOD

The Thursday afternoon Bible study group met in the home of Bessie Canan. Devotions were from 1st Kings. Opening prayer was by Anna Cannon. The lesson was taught by Jane Kope, closing prayer was by Sybil Merrill, and table grace was by Florence Hamill. Others attending were Elaine Beckman and daughters, Vicki and Amanda.

Next Thursday's meeting will be in the home of Jane Kope. George Snyder, who is with the U.S. Army and has been on a month furlough, with his mother, Mildred Peterson, is returning to his new assignment in France.

Hazel White, who has been in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, was able to return to her home Saturday.

The event, which kicks off the 1987-88 season of Highland Arts Unlimited, is free to the public and will get underway at 8 p.m. in the Church McKee Arts Center on the PSC Campus. Free tickets (four per person) may still be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Highland Arts Unlimited, P.O. Box 63, Keyser, WV 26726. However, persons who do not obtain tickets are encouraged to report to the Church McKee Center by 7:45 p.m. the night of the concert, at which time the doors will be opened to non-ticket holders for any remaining unfilled seats.

Westvaco Notes Third Quarter Record Sales

Westvaco Corporation, a major producer of paper, packaging, and specialty chemicals, has reported sales and increased earnings for the third quarter of fiscal 1987 which ended on July 31, split its common stock on a 3-for-2 basis, and increased the common stock dividend.

Under the stock split, Westvaco shareholders share for each two shares held on the record date of September 9. The additional shares will be mailed to all shareholders in late September.

The directors also acted to increase the annual dividend rate effective with the dividend which will be payable on October 1. The present dividend rate is $1.00, or 25 cents per quarter. This has been increased by 20 percent to annual dividend rate of $1.20, or 30 cents per quarter, and will result in an annual dividend rate of 80 cents, or 20 cents per quarter, on the new stock after the split.

The board's action on dividends represent the 18th increase in the past 24 years. It also extends to 92 years the company's record of uninterrupted quarterly cash dividends, one of the longest among companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Sales of $481,517,000 during the third quarter increased by four percent, compared to sales of $463,043,000 for the same period in 1986. For the first nine months of the fiscal year, sales were $1,383,522,000, an increase of 5.2 percent, compared to sales of $1,315,230,000 for the same period last year. Sales for both the third quarter and for the first nine months of the year were the highest for any such periods in Westvaco's history.

Earnings for the third quarter totaled $43,162,000, or 60 cents a share of common stock, in the third quarter of last year. For the nine months, earnings totaled $86,956,000, or $2.01 per share, in comparison with $64,848,000, or $1.50 per share, in the same period last year. Adjusted to reflect the three-for-two stock split, third quarter per share earnings in 1987 were 67 cents versus 40 cents in 1986. For nine months earnings per share in 1987 were $1.34 versus $1.00 in 1986.

Rabies Topic Of Safety Meeting For Local Parks

Rabies was the topic of the Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls State Parks and Potomac-Garrett State Forest safety meeting for August.

Rodney Giotfelty, from Garrett County Health Department, was guest speaker. He showed a movie about rabies and then discussed the problems with the group. He noted that the raccoon is the main carrier of rabies and urged all people who have cats or dogs to get them vaccinated to protect them.

Awards were presented to the four top safety employees of the month. Dean Wilkinson, Bill Seeders and Stacy Bell won a pan pizza donated by Pizza Hut, while Roy Thomas won a case of Pepsi donated by the Pepsi Company of Cumberland.

Foster Lewis, regional safety officer, said this was a "useful and enjoyable meeting and group participation was excellent." Lewis and Shaffer again noted their appreciation for the support of the local businesses for the prizes they donated.

Local Franklin Agent Honored

Michael Saturday, District Manager in McHenry for the Franklin Life Insurance Company, Springfield, Ill., has qualified for one of the Company's top sales awards, according to Franklin President Howard C. Humphrey, CLU.

Humphrey said that Saturday qualified for membership in Franklin's 100 $Million Club, comprising a select group of exceptional Company associates who sell one million dollars of life insurance protection within 100 consecutive calendar days.

Saturday's honor club achievement will be featured in the Franklin FIELD magazine, the Company's national publication.

The 103-year-old Franklin is one of the world's largest life insurance institutions, with assets in excess of $3.4 billion and over $21.7 billion of insurance in force.

September 11 To Be 911 Day

Maryland Emergency Number Systems is reminding citizens of Maryland of the emergency number systems available in Baltimore city and the state's 23 counties.

"The Emergency 9-1-1 System offers a statewide network of emergency communications which provide a valuable lifeline of service 24 hours a day, 7 days a week," said John G. Rouse III, Chairman, Emergency Number Systems Board.

Appearing on The Maryland State Police Program, a weekly public service program, Rouse pointed out that during 1986, Maryland's Emergency 9-1-1 system handled more than 2.7 million calls for service statewide. Maryland is one of only three states in the country with a statewide 9-1-1 system. The other two states are Delaware and California.

Governor William Donald

Schaefer has issued a proclamation declaring September 11, 1987 "9-1-1 Emergency Number Day" in Maryland. The National Emergency Number Association is promoting September 11 as "9-1-1 Emergency Number Day" in all 50 states.

Governor Schaefer said that this proclamation brings to the attention of all Maryland citizens that the 9-1-1 emergency line is available throughout the entire state. Anyone living in or traveling through Maryland, including hearing impaired citizens with TDD's, can reach emergency assistance just by dialing "911".

Governor Schaefer said "9-1-1 Emergency Number Day is an opportunity to thank the people who make 9-1-1 successful in Maryland — the call takers in the 23 counties and Baltimore City, the fire and ambulance services, law enforcement personnel, the telephone companies, and the Emergency Number Systems Board," he said. "Maryland is one of only three states having statewide 9-1-1 service and we can be proud of the dedication and cooperation of all those involved in Maryland's system."

For more information regarding Maryland's 9-1-1 system, persons may contact Marilyn Farndon, secretary of the Emergency Number Systems Board, at 764-4009.

Local Students

Receive Honors

At Hood College

Two local students were among those earning convocation honors, recently, at Hood College, Frederick.

Lorie A. Damon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Damon, Oakland, who is a sophomore at Hood, earned a Presidential Leadership Award in recognition of her proven leadership ability in community and extracurricular activities. She will serve as sophomore class Campus Day chairperson. Joell M. Winters, daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Winters, also of Oakland, also was awarded convocation honors and named a Hood Scholar. A member of the junior class at Hood, Ms. Winters holds a Beneficial-Hodson Scholarship and has earned the Beta Beta Beta Freshman Award in Biology and the Chemistry Achievement Award.

Convocation honors were earned by 100 students, with 34 students named Hood Scholars at the annual ceremony marking the beginning of Hood's 94th academic year.

Students must earn at least 24 credits with a 3.5 grade point average or better during the 1986-87 academic year. The average is based on a 4.0 scale. Hood College Scholars are those students who have achieved convocation honors for two consecutive years.

Founded in 1893, Hood is a liberal arts college awarding degrees in 29 fields of study at the undergraduate level and 13 areas of study in the Graduate School.

Roy-Ridder Couple To Wed

Teresa Kay Roy and Curtis Bradley Ridder will exchange wedding vows on Saturday, September 12, at 2 p.m. at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland. A reception will follow in the church hall.

Some invitations have been sent, but all friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

Bartholomew-Adams Couple Will Wed

Sandra L. Bartholomew, daughter of Geraldine Bartholomew, Oakland, and Donald Bartholomew, Laurel, and Edward A. Adams, son of Elizabeth A. Adams, Paso Robles, Calif., and the late Robert E. Adams, have announced their engagement to be married.

Miss Bartholomew is a technical analyst for Oracle Corporation in Bethesda and Mr. Adams is senior sales representative for Signal Technology in Santa Barbara, Calif.

No wedding date has been set.

Correction Noted

In an August 20 article which appeared in The Republican concerning the Freedom Chapel, located along the Bear Creek Road, it was erroneously stated that worship services are held each Sunday at 10:30 a.m. The correct time is 10 a.m. We regret the error.

Melissa Margraff Weds Charles Custer

Melissa Lynn Margraff and Charles Eugene Custer were united in marriage on July 26, in a double-ring ceremony at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, with Pastor Ray Ursin officiating. Organist and soloist was Miss Marcette Danner, of Swanton, who sang: "Ode to Joy," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Edward and Linda Margraff of Accident. The groom is the son of Leo and Janet Custer of Swanton.

The bride chose a gown a corseted English net, with a high beaded Venise lace neckline and yoke enhanced with a deep ruffle and Victorian sleeves, embellished in seed pearls and sequin medallions. The front of the skirt was highlighted with heavily beaded pearls and sequins on Venise lace and ruffles, a picture hat with organza brim, featured Venise lace, a face veil, a pouf bow in the back which fell to a chapel length bridal illusion. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of red and white roses accented with baby seed pearls and sequins, lily-of-the-valley, baby's breath, green fern and coordinating ribbon and lace.

Crystal Thomas, Friendsville, was the bridesmaid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sheila Miller, Grantsville, friend of the bride; Aimee Tichnell, Sykesville, cousin of the bride; and Marsha Custer, Swanton, sister of the groom. The attendants wore red jacquard patterned taffeta gowns featuring a sweetheart neckline set off with short puffy sleeves accented with elasticized ruffles at the shoulders, and a close fitting basque waist and semi-full gathered floor length skirt. The attendants carried arm sprays of red and white roses, baby's breath, baby seed pearls, sequins, green fern and coordinating ribbons and lace.

Ary Bosley, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a white satin floor length gown with a sweetheart neckline, short puffy sleeves accented with a shoulder ruffle. A red jacquard sash completed her attire. She carried a white basket trimmed in baby's breath, red and white roses with matching ribbons and lace.

Richard Lee, Swanton, served as best man. Ushers were Alan Skidmore, Friendsville, friend of the groom; Paul Custer, Accident, and Leonard Custer, Swanton, brothers of the groom. The groom wore a white tux, white pleated shirt, red cummerbund and bow tie. The groomsmen wore black tuxes, white pleated shirts, red cummerbunds and bow ties. Nathaniel Panther, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore black suspender pants, a white pleated shirt with a red cummerbund and bow tie.

The guest registry was conducted by DeVonne Bowman, Somerset, Pa., cousin of the bride, and the gift registry was handled by Sherry Stark, Accident, friend of the bride. Bird seed packets were given out by Tammy and Jeff Wagner, Accident, friends of the bride.

A catered reception was held at the Wisp Resort, McHenry House, McHenry, with approximately 212 guests present. A three tier white wedding cake with a center fountain and five satellite heart shaped cakes were baked and decorated in red and white by Terri Rodeheaver, Friendsville. Two square chocolate cakes, also decorated in red and white were a wedding gift to the bride and groom from the groom's aunt, Hellen Marley. Music was provided by D.J., Barry McKay from radio station Q94, Keyser, W.Va.

Following a trip to the Carolinas, the couple took up residence in Mt. Lake Park.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School, attended G.C.C. and is presently employed by Bausch and Lomb, Oakland. The groom is a graduate of Southern High School, and is also employed by Bausch and Lomb, Oakland.

The bride was guest of honor at showers given by Crystal Thomas, maid-of-honor, Hazel Margraff, grandmother and Karen Burd, aunt.

Bowser-Stonesifer Engagement Noted

Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Bowser, Accident, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Terri Lee, to Ray Daniel Stonesifer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stonesifer, Oakland.

Miss Bowser is a 1987 graduate of Northern High School and is employed by Goodwill Menonite Home.

Mr. Stonesifer is a 1986 graduate of Southern High School and is employed by Belco Construction.

A July wedding is being planned.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Steven J. Tasker, son of Paul J. and Neilda L. Tasker, Oakland, has arrived for duty with the 27th Field Artillery, Fort Sill, Okla.

Tasker, a fighting vehicle system mechanic, is a 1979 graduate of Southern High School.

Cadet Kriss E. Hinebaugh, son of Edward Q. and Janet F. Hinebaugh, Route 1, Oakland, has received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp, Fort Lewis, Wash.

PROMOTED TO PLATOON SERGEANT — Fred E. Lewis, right, a member of Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, Oakland, was recently promoted to the rank of platoon sergeant for the 2nd Platoon of Company C. Lewis has been a member of Company C for 14 years and previously served 10 years of active duty with the U.S. Air Force. He is a resident of Corinth, W. Va., and is employed by J&J Home Sales in Reedsville, W. Va. Pinning on his new stripes in the photo is Captain Dwight Metcalf, commander of Company C.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management and survival training.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army, Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet.

Hinebaugh is a student at Frostburg State University.

Survey Indicates Nation's Housing Market Is Strong

A recently completed national study on American housing released by Better Homes and Gardens sheds favorable light on reasons many financial experts feel the housing market is one of the nation's economic strongholds, announced Karen F. Spiker of A & A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens.

The report, which was issued at the end of June, indicated that over the last two years (March 1985 to March 1987) the annual household growth in the United States has averaged a healthy 1.4 million. "Yet one of the more telling statistics from the study," said Ms. Spiker, "is that while the growth in the number of households is strong, the growth in the number of renters is weakening. In 1986-1987 the increase in renters was only 0.23 million. This is the first drop in renter increase over the last three years and comes after a 1985-1986 rise of 1.05 million. This could be a telling statistic as rents continue to rise sharply."

rate reached an eight-year high of 65.8 percent.

According to the report, 1986 was also a record year for the home construction business. "As the number of households continues to grow," said Ms. Spiker, "so does the size of new homes. The average size of a home built in 1986 was 1,830 square feet, and that is a record. This compares to 1,770 square feet in 1985: a sign that today's new home buyer is looking for more space."

Today's new-home buyer is also looking at more expense, Ms. Spiker pointed out. "Through the spring of 1987, strong single-family activity was led by a 'trade-up demand,' which means that a sizable percentage of the homes being built will be more expensive and contain more of the 'extras' than housing built for first-time buyers."

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

Bloodmobile

The Bloodmobile will be at the Grantsville Fire Hall on September 18 from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. The quota is 130 pints.

Auction

A church auction will be held at the Oak Park Church on Saturday, September 5. All proceeds will go to the Disaster Fund.

Volunteers Honored

The Goodwill Nursing Home gave a dinner at the Cherry Grove Mennonite Church for their volunteers of the home on Tuesday evening. There were some 40 persons present.

Lowell Bender was the master of ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Bender furnished the music for the evening. The Volunteers introduced themselves and their guests. Rev. Oren Bender gave a talk to the staff and Volunteers. The Volunteers were presented a pin with the Motto, "We Care, Even When No One Is Looking." Several Volunteers were recognized for their work.

The table decorations were given to those who had the Motto under their plates, which read, "Love Never Gives Up." The meeting closed with prayer and fellowship.

W.O.W. Dinner

The Maryland Woodmen of the World Lodges held a corn roast and covered dish dinner at the Bittinger Community Building on Sunday afternoon. There were 55 members in attendance. Thomas Bender, president, welcomed the group and Walter Younkin gave the invocation.

After dinner, president Bender called a business meeting to order. A moment of silent prayer was offered for the deceased members. Letters were read by some who were unable to attend.

Robert Rodeheaver introduced the area representative and gave a speech. Steven Moore, Jurisdictional president, presented a Plaque to Lodge 11 for its third place in the National Scrapbook award, and told of his trip to Omaha, Neb., and his experiences and gave regards from Wayne Graham to all the Lodges.

Spencer Graham, who is 93 years old, was recognized.

A report was given on Grantsville's New Lodge Hall, which is now occupied.

The Jurisdictional Convention is planned for April 28-30, 1989, as reported by Steven Moore of Easton.

A thank you was presented to the Bittinger Fire Hall and Lodge 68 for their hospitality.

Barquet plans are as follows: Bittinger Lodge 68 on October 7; Friendsville, October 16; Grantsville Lodge 41, October 17; Oakland Lodge, December 5; and Lodge 6011, Cumberland, on December 12.

W.O.W. Meeting

The Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 met at the Old Woodmen Hall on August 23, with Phyllis Bender, president presiding.

A report was given on the new building and plans to move in on Thursday. The parking lot still needs work.

There were 15 adults and six applications received. Phyllis Bender won the door prize.

Those attending the Woodmen Meeting at Bittinger on Sunday from Lodge No. 41 were Mr. and Mrs. James Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bender, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pope and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin.

Personal

Mrs. Esther Durs spent 10 days visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark and children, John and Jill, in Greenwood, Del.

Legal Aid Bureau Notes September Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc. will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during September in Oakland on September 1 and 15 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Community Action Center in Oakland.

The Bureau has discontinued its monthly outreach in Grantsville. Residents of the Grantsville area are requested to call the Cumberland office at 777-7474 and an appointment will be scheduled.

The Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc. is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland Office, according to Bureau officials.

Local Inventor Reduces T.V. Glare And Keeps The Storm Door Open

Most television owners have problems with glare or reflections on the face of the television picture tube, usually from windows or room lights. On bright, sunny days, the reflections from windows can sometimes nearly blank out the television image. D. Noel Obenshain, Garrett County's inventor, has found a solution to that problem.

Obenshain, a retired Westvaco research engineer, had a very severe problem with a new large-screen television installed in his home, "Danovista," located on Deep Creek Lake.

He tried numerous schemes for minimizing the glare. Fine nettings did no good. A dull-finish clear varnish helped a little, but also reduced the television image. Coarse sandblasting, used in autobody refinishing, was tried, but was not satisfactory.

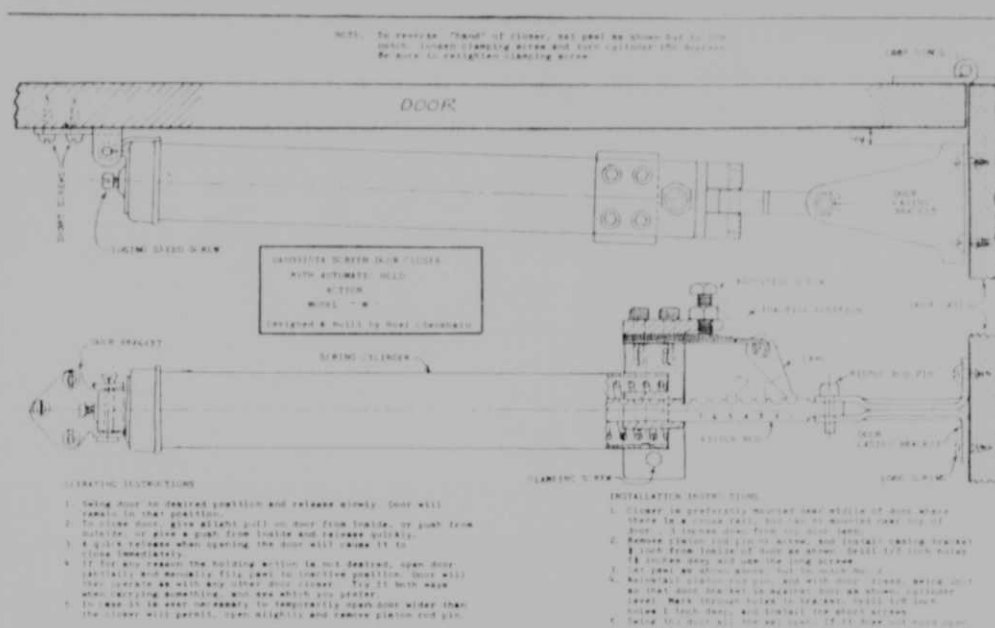

Finally, he tried a strip of "Scotch Magic" tape. To his surprise, it completely eliminated the glare, but let the picture through quite well. Six strips of the tape were applied to the center of the tube, but were tedious to apply and looked unsightly. LePages "Miracle" tape was also tried and gave the same results.

He then contacted the manufacturers of the tapes and found they could only be supplied in maximum one-inch widths.

A friend, noting his experiments, told him about a clear, plastic self-adhesive film available at a local store. It was 18 inches wide and was identified as "Contact" decorative film. He obtained a roll of the three-yard clear film and found that a trial strip looked fine. He then removed the old tape with isopropyl alcohol and cut and applied an oversize sheet of the "Contact."

Since television picture tubes have rounded convex faces, applying the flat film was tricky as it does not stretch easily. Initial contact was made at the center of the picture tube and the wrinkles and air bubbles worked out to the edges, using a small plastic squeegee, such as those made for applying fiberglass repairs to boat and auto bodies.

When the application was finished, the excess edges were trimmed with a sharp knife. The results were quite satisfactory, according to Obenshain.

He said he cannot understand why the manufacturers of millions of televisions have never recognized the problem and provided a dull finish on the glass, such as very fine sandblasting, chemical etching with hydrofluoric acid or removing the glossy surface by other means.

Obenshain said he may file a patent application. He already has 79 U.S. and foreign patents issued, mostly on paper-making machinery, processes and instruments for Westvaco Corporation, his former employer before his retirement in 1971.

After a public exposure, an inventor has one year in which a patent application may be filed. He noted that people may try applying a similar film without prejudicing his patent application.

His most recent patent, "Door Closer Mechanism," was issued February 3, 1987. This device allows opening a screen or storm door to any desired position when coming in or going out. It will remain in that position until a further push or pull is given, after which it will automatically spring fully shut. It is particularly useful when carrying in large packages since nothing has to be touched or manipulated except the door itself.

He stated that, as much as they were needed, he did without screen or storm doors for 30 years at his home. He said that he refused to be intimidated by a screen door every time he entered his house. He started designing the device in 1984 and constructed 12 models before perfecting the final one. His patent is based on the design and potential manufacturers are being contacted.

Brethren Church Slates Auction

The Westminster District of the Church of the Brethren, which consists of over 60 churches in Western Maryland and neighboring sections of West Virginia, will sponsor an auction and flea market at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren this Saturday, Sept. 5, beginning at 9 a.m.

A variety of housewares, furniture, doors and windows, toys, homemade quilts, and handcrafted items will be available. Refreshments and homemade baked goods will also be on sale.

Proceeds from the event will go to the Disaster Fund of the Westminster District, which is used to aid local victims of floods, fire, and the like.

The Oak Park Church is located along old Rt. 135 just across from Southern High School.

THE EFFECTS OF OVERPRICING!

See if you can guess the answer to the following question:

The one person who thinks a house is worth the most money is the home's present owner. TRUE () ; FALSE () .

If you guessed TRUE, you were probably correct. You see, the present owner of a home knows all the benefits of living there, appreciates those benefits, and probably doesn't ever want to sell. Then, when the need arises to sell the house, the owner expects to be well compensated, which usually results in overpricing the home.

Unfortunately for the seller, potential buyers may not agree to pay such an unreasonably high price. Most buyers look at a number of homes before purchasing. They comparison shop, considering such things as features and price.

One of the negative effects of overpricing, then, is that it helps buyers to choose another home. They compare several homes with similar features and benefits, then purchase the home which provides the most value for the least money. More clearly stated, "An overpriced home helps to sell the competition."

By researching homes that are "For Sale" now, as well as those which have sold recently, a professional real estate agent can help you arrive at the "right" price, a fair price which buyers are willing to pay for a home like yours.

We know and understand all the new and innovative finance methods available in this area. Why not call us at 387-5303 or come by our office at McHenry Plaza.

DCL Baptist Notes Schedule For Centennial

The congregation of the Deep Creek Baptist Church invites the public to take part in their 100th birthday celebration September 4-6.

The celebration begins this Friday, September 4, at 7:30 p.m. with a free concert by The Jubilators Quartet of Cumberland. The group consists of Jim Glover, first tenor; Gene Streett, lead; Delford Crowe, baritone; Pete Pritts, bass; Dottie Streett, pianist; and Keith Miller, bass guitar. The Jubilators are well-known in the area and are always booked for return engagements. There will be a free will offering received.

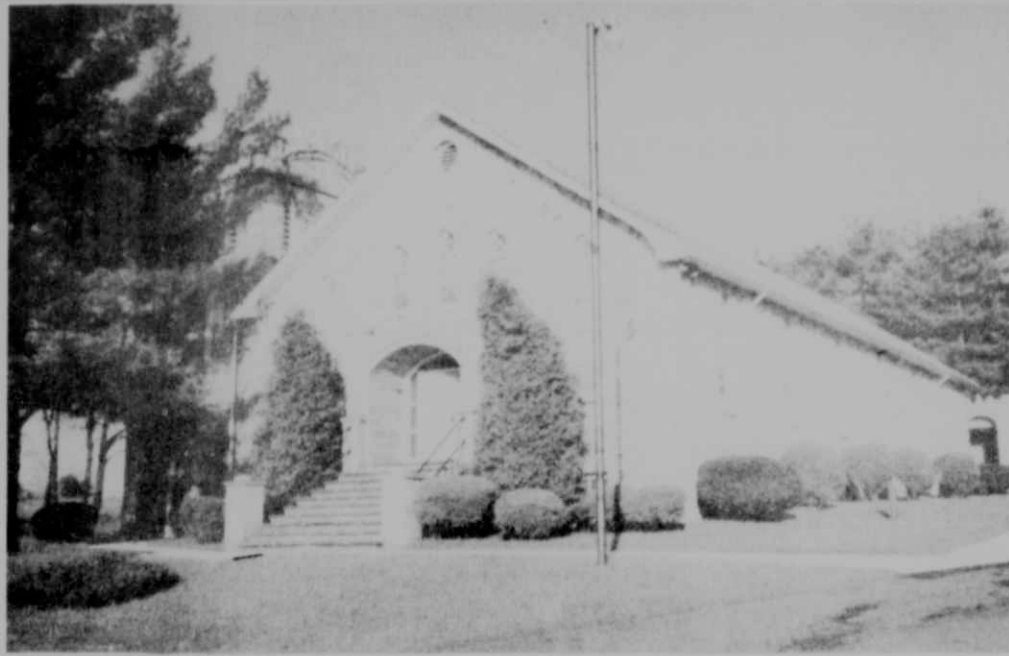

An evening with three of the churches former pastors: Dr. George H. Coker, Rev. Robert Jennings, and Rev. Finney Bragg, will be held Saturday, September 5, beginning at 6 p.m. A challenge and greetings will be extended by The Western Baptist Association Missions Director, Rev. Oscar Ohler, followed by a smorgasbord supper, and a film of the erecting of the present church. The church was built during 1960 and '61.

The community is welcome to attend. The admission to the supper is a dish of food to share. Persons should put their name on the dish for identification purposes.

On Sunday at 11 a.m., the morning worship service will feature keynote speaker, Rev. Charles Clark, from the Convention state headquarters in Lutherville. Rev. Clark is also state director of Evangelism and Men's Brotherhood.

The concluding celebration service, will be Sunday at 3 p.m. The Rev. Tom Crogan family from Markleysburg, Pa., will present a mini-concert of sacred music. There will be further opportunity for spontaneous testimonies and a CELEBRATING A 100TH BIRTHDAY this weekend are the members of the Deep Creek Baptist Church, which was established in 1887. A full schedule of special worship services, social events, and dinners is planned, all of which is open to the general public. Among the activities will be a free concert by The Jubilators, a gospel music group based in Cumberland, pictured below. Members of the Jubilators are: Jim Glover, Delford Crowe, Pete Pritts, Keith Miller, and Gene and Dottie Streett. The concert will be held this Friday, Sept. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

aneous testimonies and a watermelon feast outdoors, weather permitting, will climax the three-day event.

The church is making a limited number of commemorative picture plates available for sale below factory purchase price. Each plate will sell for $8.00. The church has underwritten the additional cost.

The Deep Creek Baptist Church is located along U.S. Route 219 about eight miles north of Oakland. The church is on the west side of the highway next to the Garrett National Bank. For further information persons may call Rev. Don Wilson, pastor at 387-9687.

Two Local Women Jailed, Charged With Auto Misuse

A theft reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department last week resulted in the arrest of two Oakland females, who were subsequently charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Monica R. Mally, 24, and Lisa R. Knox, 22, were incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and released later on $500 bond each following the incident last Thursday when Kenneth A. McBee, Mtn. Lake Park, reported his 1976 Pontiac Catalina missing from his residence.

According to McBee, he met the two women at a Shorty's Bar on Rt. 219 and returned with them to his house. He stated they stole his car from there. The women were later apprehended and the vehicle, valued at $800, recovered by Deputy R.L. Sines on Rt. 39 in Rosedale. Mally, the operator of the car, was also charged with driving while intoxicated.

Gary Rutt, Terra Alta, W.Va., reported that he stopped to help the women in Terra Alta when they flashed their lights at him, and one of them pointed a gun at him.

After four calls in reference to a disturbance of the peace Friday from Deanna K. Everly, Mtn. Lake Park, Sonny R. Bowman, 22, also of Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested.

According to Everly, Bowman was shouting and acting in a disorderly manner in her neighborhood. Deputy C.P. Nolan made the arrest.

A criminal summons was served to Sharon L. Shelton, 27, Deer Park, charging her with assault following an incident

August 22 on Alt House Hill Road. The charge was filed by Nathan C. Rhodes, Oakland. Deputy Russell Drenning served the summons last Thursday.

A theft was reported by Carl M. Trapletti Sr., Jeannette, Pa., that occurred sometime between August 18 and 22 at his summer residence located in the Turkey Neck area of Swanton.

According to Trapletti, a Lorence graph fish finder was removed from his 18-foot Ranger Bass boat docked at his residence. Deputy R.L. Sines is investigating.

Rare Disease Can Result From Tooth Extractions

"If something can go wrong, it will" isn't necessarily true. Among the multitude of people who get teeth pulled, only a few contract endocarditis, an infection of heart valves that can occur when bacteria enter the blood during tooth extractions.

Endocarditis is a relatively rare disease with a vexing trait. The bacteria that cause the disorder should appear in blood culture counts when patients are having various symptoms diagnosed. But sometimes patients with the disease do not have positive blood sample results to show the infection's presence in the bloodstream.

Robin McKenzie, a WVU Medical Center researcher, is examining how Viridans streptococcus, the organism that causes endocarditis, evades detection in blood samples.

"Everybody has lots of this organism in their mouths," McKenzie said. "Usually it does absolutely nothing, but if it gets in the bloodstream and infects the heart valve it can cause real problems."

Resembling bacteria that produce strep throat's misery, the streptococcus that causes endocarditis may infect persons who have had heart valve surgery or rheumatic fever, as well as persons who undergo tooth extractions.

Occasionally persons with apparently normal heart valves will contract endocarditis, and about 25 percent of patients with the disorder have had procedures on the mouth or upper respiratory tract which caused bleeding.

Symptoms of the disorder are many and are caused when the bacteria form a growth on the heart valve which may become dislodged. Fever, prolonged fatigue, back or muscle and abdominal pain, stroke, and many other complaints may suggest the disease's presence. But these symptoms can also point elsewhere.

Because blood culture counts are a common method to find out if a patient with these complaints has endocarditis, the infection's mysterious ability to avoid detection can give doctors a headache.

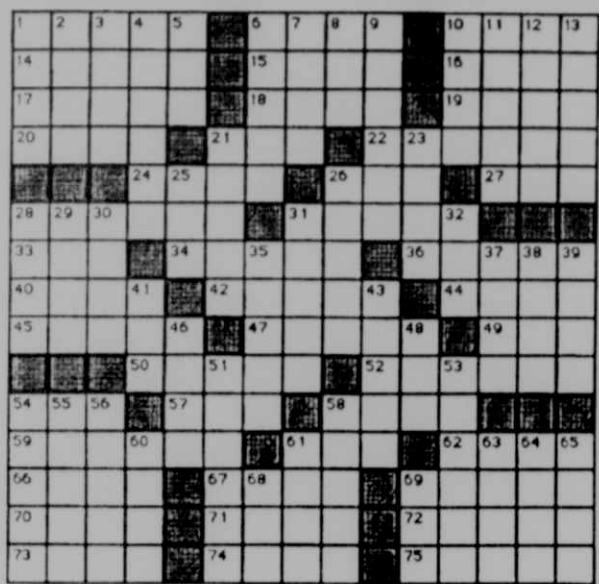

"Almost any ailment could be caused by endocarditis," said Dr. McKenzie, a WVU infectious disease assistant professor. "If doctors suspect endocarditis when a patient is admitted to the hospital, but the blood culture is negative, then they may discount the diagnosis."

"The question I'm asking is, if the organism is right there in the heart valve, and blood goes by the heart valve, why aren't blood cultures always positive?"

The evasive Viridans streptococcus is a sticky microorganism, which may explain why it adheres to the heart valve, McKenzie explained. If undetected, the disease can eventually cause major problems or death.

"The heart valve is a thin leaflet that opens to let blood in and out," McKenzie said. "This bacterial growth can keep the valve from closing so that it would leak, or it can cause an abscess inside the heart, or it can actually tear a hole in the heart."

Working with Steve McCormick, a WVU pathologist, McKenzie is studying the microscopic appearance of the growth to find clues to its ability to infect the heart valve without detection in the bloodstream.

Two feasible possibilities exist, McKenzie said. The bacteria could be enmeshed in a secretion it produces that would isolate it from contact with blood flowing through the heart. Or the body may build up a coating of blood clotting components called platelets and fibrin which would also keep the bacteria apart from the blood.

Law Enforcement Volunteer Week Is Proclaimed

During ceremonies held in Annapolis on August 13, the Governor, William Donald Schaefer, proclaimed August 30 through September 6 as Maryland Volunteer Support For Law Enforcement Week.

In a continued showing of support for volunteer efforts throughout Maryland, Governor Schaefer cited the Maryland State Police Senior Volunteer Support Network as the main focus for issuing the proclamation.

The State Police volunteer project began in January, 1986, and was developed by the Crime Prevention Unit. Initially, senior volunteers were recruited to assist in addressing statewide issues associated with crimes committed against Maryland's ever-increasing older population. As the program grew, senior volunteers began working in numerous other non-enforcement positions within the Maryland State Police.

The program's success is measured by increased demand from Agency Commanders for volunteer support service with over 40 job vacancies existing statewide. Additionally, over 35 volunteers are currently working within the State Police and have provided over 4,000 hours of volunteer service since early 1986.

By enlisting the support of senior volunteers as partners with law enforcement, coupled with the Governor's recent proclamation, it is anticipated by the Maryland State Police that the goal of reducing senior victimization can be realized.

Persons interested in information regarding this program or in volunteer service to the Maryland State Police should contact First Sergeant Daniel

E. Shell, Commander, Crime Prevention Unit, Maryland State Police, at 653-4385.

Post Offices To Close For Holiday

All post offices, stations and branches will be closed on Monday, September 7, in observance of the Labor Day Holiday. Baltimore Division General Manager/Postmaster James A. McDougald announced this week.

There will be no window service, and Post Office box service will be provided on a holiday schedule. Delivery services will be limited to Express Mail and Special Delivery at offices having receipt of mail. One collection will be made from boxes located in front of main offices and where needed at stations, branches, Self-Service Postal Centers, business areas and some residential areas.

Customers may purchase stamps, postal cards, envelopes and insurance up to $20.00 for packages from Self-Service Postal Centers which are open 24-hours daily at the Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park post offices.

OAKLAND

Visiting Mrs. Faye Nally over the weekend were her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Bryon and his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin O'Bryon, from Berlin Heights, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Nauman Davis, from Auburn, Fla. On Monday, Mary Edna Hoffman, from New Castle, Del., arrived to spend several days with Mrs. Nally.

PUBLIC NOTICE
BLASTING OPERATIONS

Notice is hereby given that Patriot Mining Company, Inc., Rt. 12, Box 245, Morgantown, WV 26505, 304-291-1777, is conducting blasting activities on Surface Mine Permit SM 86-406 located in District 8 of Garrett County, near Gorman, Maryland. Blasting will be conducted during daylight hours from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. for the period beginning September 19, 1987 and continuing through September 18, 1988. Public access to the area prior to blasting will be controlled by barricading the access road. Three (3) minutes prior to blasting, three (3) short horn blasts of five (5) seconds duration with five (5) seconds between each blast shall denote the pre-blast warning. The "all clear" signal shall consist of one (1) twenty (20) second sounding of a horn.

As approved by the regulatory authority, blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced without appropriate notification, or in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, other atmospheric conditions, operator or public safety dictate unscheduled detonation.

A resident or owner of a dwelling within one-half (1/2) mile of the permit area may request a pre-blast survey by contacting Patriot Mining Company at the above address, or by contacting the Maryland Bureau of Mines, 69 Hill Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. The request must be written.

Area Agency On Aging Reports On Summer Events

The summer months have been busy for the Area Agency on Aging and the senior citizens who participate in its activities.

Several trips were scheduled to the Mountain Playhouse in Jennerstown, Pa., for dinner theatre performances of "The Odd Couple" and "Brigadoon". The third and final trip is scheduled for September 23 to see "The Prisoner of 2nd Avenue".

Fifty seniors took a trip to Wheeling, W. Va., August 20 to have their eyes tested for cataracts at a clinic operated by Dr. M.F. Anwar. In addition to the free screening, the seniors were able to tour the facility, received a free lunch, and were each presented with a Bible. The clinic also provided transportation at no cost to the seniors or the Agency.

Summer months also provided an opportunity for the Agency to schedule some outdoor activities. A picnic was held at the Pleasant Valley (4-H Camp) picnic area in July and with the assistance of the Oakland/Mt. Lake Park Lions, the seniors had a barbecued chicken dinner at the Fair during Senior Citizens Day.

The Friendsville "Eating Together" nutrition site organized a trip to Pittsburgh for a cruise on the Three Rivers. Approximately 33 seniors from various sites participated.

The Finzel site recently conducted a cruise on the Raystown Lake near Bedford, Pa., with 15 participants in attendance. They are planning a second trip for the near future.

The Agency is awaiting the completion of a new Senior/Community Center in Accident, which is presently being renovated. The Center will enable the Agency the opportunity to expand recreational activities in the northern area of the county, according to an Agency spokesman.

Weekend Apple Butter-Making Demo Slated

An apple butter-making demonstration will be held at Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls State Parks on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 4-6. The demonstration will begin on Friday at 10 a.m. and will conclude at 4 p.m. at Herrington Manor Park Office. The apples will be prepared and cooked down to applesauce.

The process will continue on Saturday at the Herrington Manor Lake area beginning at 10 a.m. At that time, the apple butter will be made and packaged for sale — $25 per cup.

The weekend activity will conclude on Sunday at Swallow Falls State Park with more apple butter-making and selling. According to Joan Norman, park naturalist, the public is invited to attend the demonstration to learn, to watch or to help. Persons desiring additional information may contact Norman at 334-9180.

Deer Park Man Arrested After Motorcycle Chase

A motorcycle chase that began on Rt. 135 and ended in Deer Park resulted in a Deer Park man being arrested and charged with numerous traffic violations by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Charles A. Knapp, 20, is still incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail on a $2500 bond following the incident that occurred early last week. According to Deputy C.P. Nolan, traffic violations included driving while intoxicated, driving without a license, negligent driving and operating an unregistered and uninsured vehicle.

Knapp was also charged with fleeing and eluding a police officer.

In other news from the Sheriff's Office, Bushrod K. Hardesty, 42, Deer Park, was arrested after he was charged with child abduction by Donna L. Bell, Baltimore.

According to Bell, Hardesty left with her two-month-old child while visiting at her residence on Rt. 560. The incident occurred August 30. Deputy David Crossland investigated.

Michael L. Sisler, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on a bench warrant issued by Judge Jack R. Turney after he failed to appear in Garrett County District Court on August 26. He was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and later released on his own recognizance. Deputy P.J. Pratt was the arresting officer.

Diane M. Ringer, 27, McHenry, was also arrested on a bench warrant after she failed to appear in District Court on a charge of disturbance of the peace. She was scheduled to appear September 1. Deputy Russell Drenning was the arresting officer.

A criminal summons was served to Patricia Friend, Oakland, charging her with two counts of battery. The charges were filed by Carol Sample and Dawn Snyder, both of Glen Burnie, following an August 30 incident. Deputy Drenning served the summons.

A criminal summons was served to Dorothy Doyle, Oakland, charging her with battery. The complaint was filed by Merrill K. Doyle, also of Oakland, following an August 30 incident on Rt. 219 at Deep Creek Lake. Drenning served the summons.

James E. Maule, Oakland, was served a criminal summons charging him with assault. The charge was filed by Robert R. McRobie, also of Oakland following a September 1 incident. Drenning served the summons.

Charles G. Trautwein, 53, Mtn. Lake Park, was served a Color Brochure Being Planned To Market Maryland Coal To Europeans

A full-color brochure to market Maryland coal to Western Europe is in the planning stages. Tri-County Council of Western Maryland and Maryland Coal Exporters, Inc. will be working with the Maryland Office of International Trade to produce the brochure. An Annapolis consultant, Forrest Hill and Associates, has agreed to develop the brochure.

Tri-County Council has agreed to provide $10,000 for the brochure and marketing effort, the export group will contribute $5,000 while the OIT has been asked for $30,000. In addition, about $15,000 of in-kind printing and other services will make possible a $60,000 marketing effort which the three groups think will encourage the overseas sales of at least one million additional tons of Maryland coal.

The Maryland Coal Exporters organization reports that European buyers want detailed information about the quality of coal and whether it can best be used for steam production or for other uses such as the production of metals.

Officers of the newly formed organization are James J. Oberhaus, of Jenkins Development Company, president; Donald Jones, Jones Coal Company, vice president; Carmen DeSignore, Buffalo

Coal Company, treasurer; and Albert L. Winter, Winter Brothers Coal Company, secretary. Oberhaus, who accompanied Forrest Hill to Europe last winter to meet with companies interested in buying Maryland coal, said the brochure will "illustrate producer capabilities as well as coal quality and reserves." He said the OIT's Belgium office staff have agreed to translate the brochure, as needed. "They have been very helpful," Oberhaus said.

He said the export company is "in its infant stages" and is "trying to work out the mechanics" of operation. Its initial purpose is to determine if there is a viable overseas market for Maryland coal which can be mined from 26

Snowy Creek Bridge Repairs Delay Explained

Some citizens in the area have been concerned about county roads projects lately, particularly the Snowy Creek Bridge which was closed some weeks ago for major rehabilitation.

At a press conference Tuesday, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners said they had met with various county residents to discuss roads concerns. They had also met with Roads Administrator Paul Shockey for updates on roads projects.

A phone call to Shockey this morning revealed that citizens concerned about the closing of the Snowy Creek Bridge in Crelin should be informed that work is progressing.

Shockey explained that the bridge had been closed before the engineering study had been completed and before supplies had been received for the safety of those traveling the bridge. He felt the inconvenience took precedence over a potential tragic accident at that site.

The administrator did say that the old beams were pulled yesterday and that the deck was to be delivered this week. "If the deck is indeed delivered, we expect to have the bridge completed by the latter part of next week. If it doesn't arrive, that completion date, of course, will be delayed."

Shockey indicated that the department and the commissioners were doing all they could to complete the many roads projects begun this summer.

Deep Creek Lake WCI, St. Heads Octoberfest Set Meet To Discuss Whitewater Aid

The first Deep Creek Octoberfest will be held September 18-20 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

The Octoberfest, in the tradition of the famous German Octoberfest celebrations, will feature German food, ice cold light and dark beer, non-stop polkas and German dancing groups, a wine garden, working craftsmen, a children's Marionette Theatre, a rodeo, and Oompah brass bands.

The festivities will begin on Friday, September 18, at 4 p.m. The beer kegs will be tapped at 8 p.m. and the celebration will continue until midnight.

Saturday's events are scheduled from noon until midnight and will include a children's theatre and craftsman. On Sunday, the Coors Belgian Hitch will help to kick-off the celebration starting at 1 p.m. The rodeo will begin at 2 and will feature a jackpot roping, barrel racing, team roping, and calf roping. Trophies and prize money will be awarded. Sunday's events will continue until 8 p.m.

The Deep Creek Lions Club will provide games and amusements throughout the Octoberfest weekend. For details on the Octoberfest, persons may call 387-5938 or Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550; (301) 334-1948.

Marketing Of Industrial Parks Being Eyed

Garrett County Development Director Tom Jones, Development Corporation President Ralph Burnett, and the Board of Garrett County Commissioners met this past week with state officials from the Maryland Business and Industry Office. The meeting was the result of a request by county officials to Governor William Donald Schaefer for marketing options for the county's three industrial parks.

James Peiffer and James Belch, director and assistant director from the Maryland Business and Industry Office, along with Harold Phillips, Western Maryland representative of that same agency, were the state officials attending the business luncheon.

The county heads outlined details of the sites and what they had to offer to potential busi-

Jobless Rate Steady For State, Lower In County

Following a small uptick in June, Maryland's unemployment rate in July held steady at 4.2 percent, according to estimates released by the state's Department of Economic and Employment Development. This July's jobless rate, which is running slightly below that of 4.4 percent recorded last year, marks the lowest level for a July since the 3.4 percent posted in July 1970.

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate dropped from 8.6 percent in June to 8.2 percent in July, significantly lower than the July 1986 rate of 9.9 percent.

Labor market trends over the month showed that approximately 10,000 fewer Marylanders were employed with most of the decline traceable to temporary layoffs of educational personnel. Almost 90 percent of these laid off workers withdrew from the labor force, causing the civilian labor force to drop by nearly 8,900 persons from June. The actual number of workers on the jobless rolls did rise, but only by an estimated 1,150 persons.

In Garrett County there were only 13 fewer persons on the unemployed list, 1,013 in July compared to 1,027 in June. However, the labor force increased from 11,975 in June to 12,394 in July, with 10,948 employed in June and 11,381 employed in July.

For the first time since February, Maryland's nonagricultural payrolls declined over the month. Losses, primarily in government, dragged down wage and salary employment by an estimated 1,300 jobs. The full impact of these declines was cushioned somewhat by continued job gains in the construction, trade and service industries.

Regionally, unemployment remained relatively stable with the exception of the Eastern Shore. Employment in the region, although expanding by 2,063 persons lagged considerably behind labor force growth causing the jobless rate to rise from 4.9 percent in June to 5.4 percent in July. In the Baltimore metropolitan area, the jobless rate remained stable at 4.5 percent.

In Maryland's D.C. suburbs, the rate edged up marginally from 3.1 percent in June to 3.2 percent in July. Countering this increase was a slight drop in Western Maryland's jobless rate from 8.0 to 7.8 percent.

Locally, unemployment rates ranged from a low of 2.4 percent in Howard County to a high of 10.7 percent in Allegany County.

Proposal For School Construction Financing Opposed By Co. Officials

The Task Force on School Construction Finance, recently created by the State Board of Public Works, has submitted a proposal and county officials are not happy about it. If approved, the plan could be fatal to the proposed Southern High School renovation.

The task force has agreed to preliminary recommendations concerning state and local funding obligations and have forwarded the proposal to the governor, the comptroller and the treasurer, who comprise the Board of Public Works.

A public hearing is set for Wednesday, September 16, at 6:30 p.m. in the Joint Hearing Room of the Legislative Building in Annapolis where comments will be taken regarding the proposal. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage plans to testify against the proposal and one of the County Commissioners will likely attend and testify.

The plan calls for a maximum state contribution of 75 percent of construction costs, while local jurisdictions would kick in at least 25 percent — that computes to a $1.4 million cut for county government for the Southern High School renovation project. That cost does not include architectural and engineering costs and furnishings, which the county must also supply.

The recent renovation completed at Northern High School cost the county approximately $450,000 which included revenue sharing monies. That local share paid for architectural and engineering fees and asbestos removal.

In developing recommendations, Donald P. Hutchinson, chairman of the task force, said his committee followed a two-fold approach, examining state and local expenditures for school construction, as follows:

1. State Funding Level — The Task Force reviewed the school construction program's funding history and current funding levels within the context of locally identified school construction needs. They also examined other state and local capital construction demands and limitations on state debt obligations. Based on that information, they strongly recommended that the state authorize $60 million for each of the next five years for the school construction program.

This funding level is consistent with recommendations made by the 1985 Task Force. It is also considered to be within the constraints of the state's debt and would represent a modest increase over FY 1988 funding. Based on their preliminary recommendations for additional local funding, the state commitment could assure that the highest construction projects are funded during the next five-year period.

2. Local Funding Obligations — The Task Force recommends that the counties and Baltimore City assume a greater responsibility for the construction and renovation of elementary and secondary schools. Only by additional local fiscal commitment will critical school construction be met.

The state would underwrite a minimum of 50 percent of the eligible construction costs of all projects and provide an additional share in those jurisdictions with lesser fiscal capacity. The maximum state contribution has been proposed at 75 percent. The level of state support beyond 50 percent would be related to the state share for basic current expenses in the school aid formula. This concept of state support is currently used in the allocation of capital funds for community colleges.

The Task Force estimates that the school construction program during the next five years would approximate $500 million. The state share would be approximately $300 million and the local share approximately $200 million.

In addition to further analysis of the preliminary recommendations, the Task Force will continue to review other aspects of financing school construction. The group said they would explore in greater detail the possible creation of a school building authority, proposed and developed by Task Force member, Lawrence Shubnell, which would assist Maryland counties with lesser fiscal capacity to borrow funds for school construction.

They also plan to study a proposal made by Baltimore City School Superintendent Alice

Annual Autumn Glory Kick-Off Event Scheduled

The traditional kick-off event will be presented by the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Committee on Thursday, October 7, at the Silver Tree Restaurant, beginning at 8 p.m.

This year, once again, a special Honorary Golden Ambassador will be honored during the reception. Tickets for this event will be $125.00.

Those supporters of the Festival, known as "golden ambassadors," will be entitled to the following: admission for two to the Autumn Glory Kick-Off Reception; admission to Friday and Saturday night entertainment; admission to the 14th Annual Civic Club Antique Show and Sale at the Armory; reserve seating at the Grand Feature Parade; public recognition as special patron supporters of the Autumn Glory Festival; a pin designating one as a 1987 Golden Ambassador of the Autumn Glory Festival; priority for purchase of 1988 Golden Ambassador tickets, and prize give-aways during the reception.

The selling of tickets will be limited to 125 patrons and no guest tickets will be given. Persons who wish to purchase a ticket are encouraged to respond as early as possible by mailing all checks to the Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550, or call (301) 334-1948.

The Festival is slated for October 8-11.

MALONE WINS STATE CONTEST — Chad Malone, 17-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Malone of Finzel, won first place at the Maryland State Fair 4-H Tractor Operators Contest. There he competed with 25 other youth for the state title. Malone earned the honor of attending the state contest by winning the same contest at the Garrett County Fair. He will now represent Maryland at the regional contest in Richmond, Virginia, on September 28-30. Malone, a member of the Finzel 4-H Club, polished his driving skills while working on his grandfather's farm in Finzel. He is attending Frostburg State University this fall and works at Wright's Auction Service of Frostburg, who sponsored his trip to the Maryland State Fair. Garrett County has not had a state winner in the Tractor Operators Contest since the late 1950s when it was won by George Bishoff of Hoyes.

HONORED FOR SAVING A LIFE — Three Garrett County Boy Scouts were honored last week by the Boy Scouts of America and the Board of Garrett County Commissioners. Scouts Greg Eichorn, C.J. Getson and Randy Lucas were given awards of commendation for their efforts on June 22, the day the three saved a boy from drowning at Broad Ford Lake. Nearly 80 scouts were attending a camp at Broad Ford when Joseph Dever, who was swimming in the lake, panicked and went under water. The boys saved the young scout from drowning and took him to safety on the shore. Pictured, left to right, are Garrett County Commissioners Ernest J. Gregg Jr. and Elwood L. Groves II, Dever, Commissioner John G. Braskey, Eichorn, Getson, Lucas and Brad Burr, scout executive, Potomac Council.

Several Injured In Area Traffic Mishaps Recently

Several persons were treated and released at area hospitals after receiving injuries in traffic accidents this past week.

John W. Suter, 30, Friendsville, was treated and released at Garrett Memorial Hospital after he was injured in an accident Saturday at 1:35 a.m.

According to investigating officer, Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, Maryland State Police, Suter was operating a 1971 Chevrolet Impala north on Rt. 42, just north of Hoyes-Sang Run Road, when he failed to negotiate a curve and ran off the right side of the road.

The vehicle then struck a utility pole, causing the pole to break in half, and continued through a field. It then came to a rest against a tree.

Broadwater charged Suter with negligent driving, failure to use a seatbelt and failure to drive in a single lane. Suter was taken to the hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad.

Two Frostburg residents were taken by the Northern Rescue Squad to Frostburg Community Hospital where they were each treated for injuries and released following an accident Saturday at 12:10 a.m. on New Germany Road.

Robert J. Hawkins, 17, and

A CHECK FOR $4,000 was presented recently to Randi Rae Rodeheaver, daughter of Donald and Sharon Rodeheaver, Friendsville, by Robert Georg, president of Branch 585, Aid Association of Lutherans, Accident. Young Randi was born in February at Meyersdale Hospital and required immediate surgery at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, where she remained in intensive care for six weeks. In order to help her family with the extremely high medical costs, a benefit dinner was sponsored by Branch 585, assisted by the Evening Women's Group of Zion Lutheran Church, Accident. Many area churches participated in the drive, which netted $2,000 and was matched by AAL. Also in the photo is Earl F. Haentfling, AAL district representative. AAL is the nation's largest fraternal benefit society, with nearly $39 billion of life insurance in force. The home office is located in Appleton, Wis.

Wilmer L. Day, 19, was traveling northbound when Hawkins failed to negotiate a left curve, causing the 1979 Ford Futura Fairmont to spin around and travel down an embankment backwards. The vehicle then struck a large rock and overturned, coming to rest against a large tree. Cpl. Richard Graham investigated.

An accident that occurred Monday at 1:45 p.m. resulted in a five-year-old York, Pa. youth being injured. He was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, where he was treated and released.

James A. Kuhn III was a passenger in a 1984 Oldsmobile Custom Cruiser being driven by James A. Kuhn II, 45, also of York, along Rt. 48 near Friendsville, when the car hydroplaned, according to the driver.

Kuhn then reportedly lost control of the vehicle at that point and slid off the right side of the road into an embankment. Investigating officer, Tfc. R.J. Resh charged Kuhn with failure to obey the speed limit.

Kuhn and other passengers in the car, Zachary O. Kuhn, 3, and Trudy O. Kuhn, 37, both of York, were reportedly not injured.

An accident Saturday at 9:30 a.m. resulted in a 12-year-old youth from Pittsburgh being treated for injuries at Garrett Memorial Hospital and released.

Scott V. Blank was operating a 1979 Honda ATC three-wheeler eastbound on private property near Cranesville Road when he failed to negotiate a curve and overturned. He was then ejected from the vehicle.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated. Jorgette T. Shields, 28, Glen Burnie, was injured Sunday when the 1984 Honda 250 she was operating overturned, causing her to be ejected from the vehicle.

According to Tfc. L. Rosage, investigating officer, the vehicle was ascending a slight hill in a grassy field and struck a mound of dirt causing the driver to lose control. Shields was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released following the 4:50 p.m. mishap.

Bloodmobile To Visit Grantsville

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will pay a visit to the Grantsville Fire Hall next Friday, Sept. 18, according to Lela Bender, Blood Services chairman for Northern Garrett County. Blood will be collected from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. and a quota of 130 pints has been set.

"The American Red Cross supplies all of the blood and blood products used at Garrett County Memorial Hospital," Mrs. Bender said. "In order to maintain an adequate inventory in our local hospital, we encourage all eligible persons to respond to this visit and donate the greatest gift of all, the gift of life."

Mrs. Bender noted that all persons who are 17 or older, weigh at least 110 pounds, and are in generally good health may donate a pint of blood. The procedure takes only about one hour from start to finish, she said.

Officials Report No Hazardous Chemical Leak

No leak of hazardous chemicals was found in a tractor-trailer parked at Keyser's Ridge truck stop last Thursday, according to officials from the Maryland Department of Environment. Waste Management and the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office, Hazardous Materials Unit.

According to First Sgt. Bill Graham of the Maryland State Police, it had been feared that a hazardous chemical was leaking from the truck, owned by PIE Trucking Company, Buffalo, N.Y. As a result, patrons at the truck stop and about 100 area residents were evacuated and parts of nearby Rts. 40 and 219 were closed to traffic Thursday evening.

Initial investigator, Sgt. Dan Moore, Maryland State Police, noted that police were alerted to the situation after the driver, Robert Turner, 43, Cincinnati, Ohio, was taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was treated and released after he reported that he inadvertently touched one of the drums.

Officials, however, confirmed that no leak existed of any of the five chemicals the truck was carrying, one of which was identified as a chemical used in the manufacturing of fireworks. It had been feared that the chemical, if leaking, would explode.

On the scene were two expert advisors from Ecology and Environment, Inc., Buffalo, and three clean-up crewmen from AMO Pollution Services, Inc., Canonsburg, Pa., along with State Police officials, Garrett County Fire Marshal, Guy Carolla, Accident and Grantsville Volunteer Fire Departments, Garrett County Air Cascade Unit, and Northern Rescue Squad. Addison, Pa. firemen were on hand for crowd control, Garrett Central Alarm handled communications.

Attention Investors:

Hunting for the Highest Yielding Investment?

Consider the "bear" facts!

Almost all non-bank investments have charges associated with them. For instance, you may be charged a LOAD FEE for your investment. This is a fee you pay directly to your broker for investing your money. Other fees may also be added such as MANAGEMENT FEES, SALES COMMISSIONS, MIDDLEMAN FEES, etc. And, oftentimes these fees are only disclosed in the fine print.

Investment related fees will decrease your original profit potential. When you deduct these fees from your rate of return, you may discover your net yield to be much lower than the big rate first offered.

So, if you're shopping the financial jungle, remember to look at the "bottom line" of your investment. Then you'll realize where your hard-earned dollars should be invested — at First United National Bank & Trust.

Oakland Youth Arrested, Charged On Many Counts

The Maryland State Police this week reported the arrest of a 17-year-old Oakland youth, charged with several criminal and traffic violations including driving while intoxicated.

According to Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, the youth was stopped along Sand Flat Road, north of Rt. 135, Tuesday at 12:38 after Broadwater received reports of a person in a red pick-up truck who was driving recklessly.

Broadwater charged him with driving while intoxicated, failure to keep to the right side of the road, turning off vehicle lights to avoid identification, failure to display license, attempting to flee and elude a police officer and resisting arrest.

A search of the vehicle led to the discovery of suspected marijuana seeds, a rifle, spotlight and knife. He was also transporting a deer in the bed of the truck. He was subsequently charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance by State Police and with possession of an illegal deer by the Department of Natural Resources. Police, according to State Police files.

Broadwater was assisted in the arrest by Deputy C.P. Nolan and Deputy David Stoner, Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

In other MSP news, Larry D. Hoffman, 27, Bayard, W.Va., was arrested and charged with felonious theft.

The charge was filed by police after Richard L. Robinson, Deer Park, reported the theft of a Remington .243 calibre rifle from his residence on July 27.

Local Man Pleads Guilty To B&E. Theft Charges

In five separate cases heard by Judge Fred A. Thayer in Garrett County Circuit Court last Thursday, a McHenry man pled guilty to three counts of breaking and entering and stealing and two counts of day-light housebreaking.

Donald E. Oates, 28, was charged in the cases by various members of the Maryland State Police following incidents during December of last year when Oates reportedly broke into and stole property located at one business establishment and four cottages at Deep Creek Lake.

Five charges of theft, five charges of destruction of property and one handgun violation were also filed against Oates as a result of the incidents. Lawrence V. Kelly was the defending attorney.

LISTEN SPARKY, YOU'LL GET A TURN NEXT WEEK. MAYBE. My picture is scheduled to appear in this week's issue of The Republican so that I can be adopted. The people here at the Garrett County Animal Shelter asked me to say that I'm a mixed Golden Retriever and that I'm not even sure how old I am. They also wanted me to say that anyone who wants me can call the shelter at 334-3553. Hold on. They're here to take my picture now. Sorry, Sparky.

Several Thefts Investigated By Md. State Police

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment are investigating several thefts that occurred this past week in Garrett County.

Robert T. Turner, Cincinnati, Ohio, reported the theft of several items from his tractor-trailer truck parked at Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop Friday. Turner had been treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital Thursday after he burned his hand on a tank filled with a hazardous material that was believed to have leaked from his vehicle. (See separate story.)

According to Turner, an Escort radar detector, a 12-volt stabilizer and a mounting blanket were removed from the dash of his truck while parked outside the truck stop. Total loss value was reported at $276.90. Sgt. Dan Moore investigated.

A breaking and entering and theft was reported by Harry R. Weimer, Lonaconing, that occurred last Thursday at a storage shed located on the Avilton-Lonaconing Road.

The following items were reported missing by Weimer: a bench drill press, a three eighth inch Sears Craftsman hand

Elmer J. Wright, Frostburg, that occurred last Thursday at his residence on Old Frostburg Road. Wright stated that a gasoline-powered grass and weed trimmer and a Guardian I Bug Whacker were removed from his carport. The total value of the items was reported at $150. Tfc. L. Rosage is investigating.

Info Booth Closes After Busy Weekend

The Garrett County Information Booth along U.S. Route 219 south of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge is now closed for the season, according to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Over the four-day Labor Day Weekend, 335 visitors stopped at the booth seeking information about Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County attractions, historic sites, restaurants, accommodations and events. Since the booth opened on Memorial Day weekend, it has been visited by 7,438 travelers, a significant increase over the number of visitors in 1986.

The Youghiogheny Overlook Information Center along U.S. Route 48, three miles east of Friendsville, was visited by more than 2,100 travelers during the recent Labor Day weekend. The Center offers travel information to visitors on the State of Maryland and is open seven days a week year around, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the winter months and 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. in summer. That Center has also experienced a significant increase in the number of travelers during 1987, according to the Council.

drill, a Black & Decker three-eighth inch hand drill, a Sears Craftsman hand saw, a Sears Craftsman belt sander, a Sears Craftsman circular saw and miscellaneous other hand tools. Total value of the loss was estimated at $270. Tfc. R.J. Resh is investigating.

OCPD Arrests Oakland Man On Battery Charge

The Oakland City Police Department reported the arrest of an Oakland man who was charged with one count of battery this past week.

Milton C. DeWitt, 35, was arrested late Monday morning by Chief John K. Sines and was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail. He was later released on his own recognizance.

The charge was filed by Donna DeWitt, also of Oakland following an incident Sunday night at their residence when Mr. DeWitt allegedly assaulted and battered Mrs. DeWitt. The incident was investigated by Cpl. Ernest Alexander.

In other Oakland City Police news, a destruction of property was reported by Cheryl Y. Peterson, Oakland, that occurred Sunday evening on Water Street.

According to Peterson, an eight-to-10-foot long tree branch fell onto her 1983 Renault Alliance parked there that resulted in approximately $2000 worth of damage. Chief Sines investigated.

Another destruction of property was investigated that occurred Sunday evening on Oak Street and resulted in approximately $168 worth of damage.

According to the victim, Carol A. Giotfelty, an unknown person(s) struck the passenger window of her 1985 Ford Escort with a blunt object. Cpl. Alexander investigated.

A theft was reported by Kay Offutt, Oakland, that occurred last Thursday evening at her residence on Second Street. Offutt stated that a double wooden ladder, valued at $200, was removed from the side of her dwelling house. Chief Sines investigated.

Md. State Police Note DWI Arrests

Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, reported the arrest of the following persons who were charged with driving while intoxicated over the Labor Day weekend.

Floyd S. Henry, 45, McHenry, was arrested by Tfc. Dale K. Williams Friday at 12:43 a.m. while traveling northbound on Rt. 219 near Lake Shore Drive.

John P. Carper, 19, Looneyville, W.Va., was arrested Friday at 4:47 p.m. while traveling on Rt. 48 west of Rt. 495. Arresting officer was Tfc. R.J. Resh.

David K. Vineyard II, 25, Left Hand, W.Va., was arrested by Tfc. R.J. Resh Friday at 4:46 p.m., at the same location as Carper.

Stephan C. Newcomb, 34, Deer Park, was arrested

Friday at 9:58 p.m. by Tpr. Paul R. Brown. Newcomb was at the intersection of Rts. 135 and 560 at the time.

Rodney A. Tissue, 23, Williamsport, was arrested Saturday at 12:50 a.m. while northbound on Rt. 219 at the Deep Creek Lake information booth. Arresting officer was Cpl. G.D. Broadwater.

Francis G. Shine, 24, Mason, Pa., was arrested Saturday at 11:47 p.m. by Tfc. Dale K. Williams. He was at the intersection of Rts. 219 and 40 at the time.

Robert E. Downton, 42, Grantsville, was arrested Saturday at 10:53 on Rt. 40 in Grantsville by Cpl. G.D. Broadwater.

Richard C. Browning, 38, Friendsville, was arrested Sunday at 1:30 p.m. while at the scene of a property damage accident on Maple Street in Friendsville. Tfc. L. Rosage was the arresting officer.

Kevin C. Gloeckl, 33, Pittsburgh, Pa., was arrested Monday at 6:48 p.m. by Tpr.

R.T. Wilson. He was traveling northbound on Rt. 219 at the Deep Creek Lake information booth.

Project In Jeopardy . . .

County government was informed this week of a potential snag, a major one, in the progress toward the renovation of Southern High School in 1989.

It seems that the method of funding for all school renovation projects throughout the state is going to be drastically changed if a proposal by a group called the Task Force on School Construction Finance is approved by the Maryland Board of Public Works. The bottom line of the proposal is that the state will cover a maximum of 75 percent of the funding and local government will have to cover the remaining 25 percent.

What this means for the Southern High project is that local government would have to come up with $1.4 million just for construction, not to mention another $500,000-plus for architectural and engineering fees and furnishings. An extra $2 million is simply not available in the county budget and if the proposal is approved, it appears that the badly-needed Southern project will have to be scrapped.

The county commissioners were under the impression that the funding method for the Southern project would resemble that which was used for the Northern High School project, for which the county kicked in $450,000. That sum included not only architectural and engineering fees, but even the cost of asbestos removal.

We sincerely hope the Board of Public Works, which is composed of Governor Schaefer, Comptroller Goldstein, and Treasurer Maurer recognizes our county's inability to finance the project if the Task Force proposal is adopted. We do not have the population base to do it and hopefully these three will offer local officials some viable options. Apparently, only the Board's approval, and not that of the legislature, is needed for implementation of the proposal.

It is interesting that the state government would grant approval of the Southern High renovation project and then, mid-stream, change the method of funding which will most likely kill the project.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I do not usually write letters to the editor, but I feel this needs to be said. This is in regard to the comments by Louise Harvey in her letter to the editor on September 4, 1987. She started her letter by stating "I have been appalled at the number of accidents and deaths recently. I wonder besides speed and carelessness how much alcohol or other drugs may be involved." — such an uncaring and unfeeling person. What business is it of yours unless you are willing to do something about it?

My son was one of the young men who has died this summer. He was killed in an accident on July 28, and I can say NO drugs, alcohol, speed nor carelessness was the cause of it. He was a young man who did not drink, take any form of drugs or even smoke cigarettes. He was a young man who had a wife he loved very much and two young children he loved and adored. He was on his way home from work when he was killed.

If some of our young people are dying as a result of abuse of drugs and alcohol, can we as "adults" and "Christians" say we are "blameless"? Let's not look down our noses at our teenagers and young people. Pious attitudes will not help our young people in this world, but a true example of right living and not hypocritical living is what is going to make an impression on them. God tells us to love them. LET'S DO IT!

Thank you,
William and Kathy Paugh
Kittmiller, Md.

To the Editor:
Thank you for the splendid coverage in your newspaper of the Garrett County Fair. I would like to thank the Garrett County Fair Board members for the many improvements to the fairgrounds this year. Also, I would like to thank the Farm Bureau Women's Committee for sponsoring the Garrett County Farm Queen Contest, and the wonderful opportunity I had representing Garrett County in the Maryland State Fair Contest.

Often we think of the recreation Garrett County has to offer, but agriculture is the number one industry. Farmers are providing our livelihood. This is the time of the year for farmers to join Farm Bureau and let it be their voice in agriculture. Garrett County has the largest percentage of farmers as Farm Bureau members than any other county in Maryland. Farm Bureau is a non-profit, non-governmental, volunteer membership organization. In Garrett County there are three Safemark dealers who sell high quality products at a reduced price to members. Group Insurance is available through the Farm Bureau. And Jack Miller is our full-time legislative liaison in Annapolis.

I am proud to be a farmer's daughter and eager to represent Garrett County farmers in agriculture.

Sincerely,
Lori Dodge
1987 Garrett County Farm Queen

To the Editor:

What a glorious day it was, July 30th, 1987.

The temperature was around 80 degrees, and the sunshine sparkled on beautiful Deep Creek Lake. Around 2:00 p.m. I rented an outboard motor boat for two hours to cruise the lake.

It wasn't long until my every day cares were replaced by splendid panoramas of neatly manicured lawns, well kept lake front cottages and homes, lush green woods and spectacular mountains. Everything was perfect and serene.

And then, suddenly, the "COBALT" started to pass me on the left, fifty to seventy-five feet away, piloted by a raven-haired, well-tanned young woman in a canary yellow bathing suit. Her long hair, pulled back in a pony tail, flipped briskly in the breeze. As she passed, she looked my way, and in response, I waved, somewhat tentatively. To my surprise, she waved back, and continued under the old bridge and to the left.

Thank you, "Miss Cobalt," and thank you, Deep Creek Lake.

What a glorious day it was, July 30th, 1987!

Sincerely,
Ernest W. Sheppard
Olney, Maryland

To the Editor:
The abortion rights advocates have gotten their way over the last 14 years. Twenty million children have been put to death. I say it's time for the Pro-Life advocates to get their way over the next 14 years. Let the next 20 million children live.

I can assure you that those 20 million souls whose lives hang in the balance with the confirmation of Judge Bork to the Supreme Court are praying and lobbying fervently for his confirmation. Won't you?

These children, like the 20 million before them, cry out for justice. This time, let them be heard.

Sincerely,
Steve S. Showers

To the Editor:

As Band Booster president of Northern High School, I would like to thank each and everyone who helped to make our week at the Garrett County Fair a successful one. It took lots of hard work and long hours for some. To each parent and grandparent who helped, many, many thanks. To all band students and also chorus students, thanks for your unselfish time. You were a great help.

I would also like to thank the people who were so very generous in their donations to our band. It was greatly appreciated. Without all your kindness and thoughtfulness, we, the Northern Band, could not have made our band booth a success at the fair this year. Your time and hard work was greatly appreciated. I will be looking forward to working with you again.

Thanks to all associated with the fair, who helped us in any way. We appreciate you very much.

SORRY, MR. LINDBERGH... WHAT WITH ALL THE DELAYS, OVER-BOOKINGS AND LOST BAGGAGE, I'M AFRAID YOUR FLIGHT'S BEEN CANCELED... BUT THIS DOES ENTITLE YOU TO A COMPLIMENTARY DRINK.

I also would like to thank those of you who helped make the days go by quickly with all the laughter. It was fun!

Sincerely,
Gail Broadwater

To the Editor:

There were several misleading and incorrect statements in last week's issue (9/3) on page A-2 in your picture caption.

Camp Hickory did not receive that check as was stated in bold-face type.

Cindy Downton is not the director of Camp Hickory. The Camp Phon-a-ton each June does not benefit Camp Hickory.

During alternate summers there is a Special Education Resident Program held at Camp Hickory. That entire caption was in reference to this program which was held August 3-7, 1987. However, the caption did not read that way.

I had a number inquiries over the weekend as to what was happening at Camp Hickory and what I am doing now.

What a difference the omission of a couple words makes.

Sincerely,
Joseph L. Winters

WCI indicated that the meeting was held in closed-door session because of the nature of the personnel and sponsor matters being discussed.

A WCI spokesman said he felt the meeting was "productive" and that the exchange between the local and state officials finally "pinned down what WCI expected of the state."

Our Turn

Misplaced, Not Forgotten
by Pam Ashby

When one of my best friends presented me with a beautiful little tin filled with memo paper the other day, I graciously thanked her and panicked inwardly. "Now what have I forgotten that would prompt her to give me these?" I thought to myself.

I searched every nook and cranny of my disheveled mind and came up blank. The process was not totally in vain, though, because other important bits of once vital information surfaced in the search. Many of the things I recollected were much "after the fact" but there was renewed hope for me that those tidbits hadn't escaped me — they were simply hiding among the dust and cobwebs that tend to accumulate in my old belfry.

Miraculously, I remembered that Pi equalled 3.1416, a pertinent fact that had wandered off sometime in the first semester of the ninth grade which, in my mind, kept me off the honor roll for three years.

I remembered several birthday parties my son was to have attended when he was six years old. He is now almost 16!

At one point during my revelation, I had an uncontrollable urge to run to the A&P Store to buy bread, milk and eggs. I wondered how many times I had forgotten at least one of those items when mom had sent me on those responsibility-building errands. I wondered even more how many years it had been since this little hamlet housed an A&P Store.

To my surprise, I scurried into my closet and retrieved the long-lost christening outfit of my almost 16-year-old that I thought had long ago been discarded. It was a tearful reunion.

Before long, I was scrambling all over the house collecting the misplaced treasures of my youth. My mind was spewing data so fast I feared I would blow a

W.Va. Railroad Heritage Festival Begins Today In Grafton

The West Virginia Railroad Heritage Festival begins today in Grafton, W. Va., with a Railroad Queen Contest, Little Mr. and Little Miss Railroad Contest, carnival rides, a variety of stage shows and train excursions.

The festival will begin with a Firemen's Parade at 7 p.m. followed by an awards program, the Flemington High School Band on stage, and dancing to "Pure Sounds" with Bobbie Lee.

Events will go on Friday evening beginning at 5 p.m. when the carnival rides open. Also scheduled for 5 p.m. is the "Little Mr. and Little Miss Railroad" Contest. A stage act will follow at 7 p.m., with the queen's pageant at 8 p.m. Five girls will vie for the title of Railroad Queen with competition in three categories: gowns, railroad regalia, and street clothes. At 9:30 p.m. "The Country Five" will perform on stage.

Saturday's activities will begin at 7 a.m. when passengers board the train for the excursion from Grafton to Cowen, W. Va. The train will pull out of the station at 8 a.m. Passengers on the excursion will see 17 stone-cut tunnels on the 12-hour round trip. Tickets cost $75 for VIP and $40 for coach, and are available at Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland or can be reserved by calling 304-265-1957. Passengers names should be on the manifest to assure a reserved seat.

Events continue at noon with the country-western group "Old Habit" on stage and the opening of carnival rides. At 3 p.m., the annual John Henry Spike Driving Contest will take place. The DeLawder Family, a West Virginia gospel group will perform at 6 p.m. A special awards presentation will take place at 8 p.m., followed by MacDonald's newest character, MacTontie, performing.

Sunday will begin with another train excursion; this one from Grafton to Cumberland with a stop in Oakland at approximately 10:15 a.m. Passengers will board the train in Grafton at 7, with the train pulling out at 8 a.m. Tickets, again, are available at Englander's Pharmacy or can be reserved by calling 304-265-1957.

Sunday afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m., the Annual West Virginia Banjo and Fiddle Contest will be held at Grafton High School, with an admittance charge of $3 for adults and $1 for students. Approximately 125 contestants are expected to compete in the two contests. At 3 p.m. the Chudester Family Gospel Group will perform on stage in Station Square and closing ceremonies will take place at 5 p.m., the time of the expected arrival of the train returning from Cumberland.

All stage shows, with exception of the Banjo and Fiddle Contest, will be on the Station Square stage and free of charge. A 50-cent chair donation will be collected for all events, however.

This is the sixth year for the West Virginia Railroad Heritage Festival, and for the first time, the festival, run by a non-profit organization, will offer mugs with the festival logo, other train mugs, caps and tee-shirts for sale on the festival grounds and on board the train. Requests can be made by mail and should be sent to West Virginia Railroad Heritage Festival, Box 66, Grafton, W. Va. 25354. The two-hour long video will cost $24.95 plus $1.95 postage.

A SLICE OF GARRETT COUNTY HISTORY is depicted in this photo of the Oakland Hotel which was opened in 1876 and closed in 1907. Currently on display at the Ruth Enlow Library which depicts the history of the Oakland and Deer Park hotels. The display is a collection of photos and data gathered by local school teachers, Robert Boal and Marianne Green, who are hoping to generate the public's interest in the project. Piazzas, 16 feet wide on the front, 12 feet wide on the ends and nine feet wide on the rear, extended around the building and wing of the hotel. The original hotel housed 110 bedrooms, with 82 being added later. According to information gathered by the teachers, both the Oakland and Deer Park hotels were filled throughout the season to capacity and thousands of applications for accommodations were refused by the managers.

Church News
Holy Communion will be celebrated at each local Lutheran Church this Sunday, September 13.

Emmanuel's LCW will meet on Friday, September 11, promptly at 7:30 p.m. at the church for a business meeting. At 8 p.m. all LCW members of St. John's and Zion are invited to join for a special program.

This Saturday, September 12, the first Communion Class will begin at 10 a.m. for 5th grade students. Pastor Louise Knotts requests that all youth 7th grade and up who attend Catechism class attend these last Communion Classes. Catechism class will follow.

An Adult Study Class entitled "When the time had fully come" will begin on Thursday, September 17, at 7 p.m. at Emmanuel.

The choir at Emmanuel held a surprise birthday celebration for Martha Glatfelter following choir practice on Wednesday evening. A birthday cake and punch were served to the choir and children of the Junior Choir.

Mrs. Elmer Maust reports that a series of films is being shown at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, running for five more weeks. This Sunday night's film is entitled, "How to energize your mate in 60 seconds," with Jerry Smalley as the speaker. Two weeks ago the film was entitled "The incredible worth of a woman."

Cindy Stanton entertained her Sunday School class with a picnic at her home on Sunday. The class is studying contemporary topics. There were 26 attending the picnic.

All items for the newsletter are to be in to Sharon Lowery by September 10.

Zion's LCW Meets
The LCW of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, met in the church on September 4 for their monthly meeting. Pastor Louise Knotts and five members attended.

Leota Baker led a discussion of the topic, "Understanding and managing conflict in the congregation." A Bible study provided Scripture advice for relationships. Devotions closed with a hymn.

Mrs. Nellie Yommer presided over the business meeting.

Minutes of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Constitution Convention of the Women of ELCA and the introductory kit was received from Marjorie Wolf, newly-elected president of the Synodical organization, which was held July 31-August 1, at Morgantown, W.Va.

An invitation was extended from Emmanuel's LCW to attend their meeting on September 11. Linda Buckel plans a slide presentation of the Constitution Convention of the ELCA held in Milwaukee in June.

A gift offering was given by Mrs. Ethel Hetrick as a tribute to the memory of her husband, Howard Hetrick. This offering will be forwarded to the Lutheran Church Women, designated for Youth Ministries.

Donations of wash cloths from LCW members and Miss Jane Wiley and Mrs. Joseph Lewis totaled 135. These gifts will be sent to the Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa.

The meeting closed with the missionary benediction, and Pastor Knotts led the group in singing, "How Firm A Foundation."

The next meeting is scheduled for October 6.

GRANTSVILLE

The area Women's Fellowship will hold its 20th annual covered dish dinner on September 16, at 6:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Grantsville. The United Church of Christ will be in charge of the program. Church Women groups are asked to hand in names for the Memorial service. All women and pastors are invited.

The Grantsville Firemen's Auxiliary will hold its next meeting on September 7 at 8 p.m. at the Grantsville Fire Hall. All members are urged to attend.

The Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 will hold its next meeting on September 14, at 8 p.m. at the new building on Miller Street in Grantsville.

Visitors to Lulu Brown were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Inhoff and granddaughter, Debbie and husband, Eric, from Alexandria, Va.

The Grantsville Senior Citizens are planning a trip to Holiday House, Monroeville, Pa., for a show and lunch. The show is "Hawaii International" and is on October 14. Anyone wishing to go should contact Lulu Brown at 895-5692.

Harold Resh had triple bypass heart surgery at the Cleveland Clinic and has returned home.

The Mars Hill Homemakers Club met at the home of Hilda Sturtz on September 8. Norma Bowser had the opening devotion and prayer. Mary Kamp read the Scripture, and Marlene Beachy read the thought.

Roll call was answered by: What is Your Best Diet Secret? The demonstration was "You Are What You Eat."

IS THAT AN ARSONIST disguised in that fireman's gear?

No, it is an unidentified Bittinger volunteer firefighter pouring a flammable liquid on a heap of lumber during a training exercise on the former Luther Beckman farm near Bittinger. The blazing farmhouse in the background was purchased recently from the Roy Miller family, who wished to have it removed. Local firefighters obliged August 29 by using the structure for a day of training. Fires were set repeatedly in the house and crews of masked firefighters were sent in to extinguish the blazes, which provided a realistic environment for less experienced firemen. The effort was coordinated by Milton Canan, chief of the Bittinger VFD, and assistant chief, Delmar Yoder. Firefighters from several Garrett County VFDs participated. Among the 100-plus spectators was Luther Beckman, pictured below left, who was born in the house in 1926. Photo courtesy of Charles Robert, Thousand Acres.

Ruth Stanton presided over the business session. Dues were paid and Pennies for Friendship were collected.

The next meeting will be October 13 at the home of Esther Stanton.

Those attending were Almira Stanton, Martha Beachy, Marlene Beachy, Ruth Stanton, Hilda Sturtz, Linda K. Upole, Clara Wiley, Karin Durst, Esther Stanton, Ruth Kinsinger, Karin Durst and Mary Kamp.

Cumberland Bicentennial Cachet Available

In observance of the Cumberland bicentennial celebration, a special "birthday" cachet for philatelists will be made available by the Tri-State Stamp Club.

The commemorative rubber stamp logo will be applied to any envelopes submitted for the special philatelic handling.

The U.S. Postal Service in Cumberland has requested authorization for use of a distinctive slogan postal cancellation. The envelopes will be mailed on the first day of postal use of the bicentennial postmark. Collectors may send in prepared envelopes, which will be dispatched via USPS when the slogan cancellation is used by the post office.

To obtain the historical documentation in observance of the 200th anniversary of the City of Cumberland, persons should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope postage paid (22 cents) or a 14-cent postal card. The cachet will be applied on the front left-hand portion of the envelope. Addresses should be in the lower right corner. There is no cost for the services.

Prepared envelopes should be submitted to the Tri-State Stamp Club by mailing to TSSC-Post Office Box 55, Luke, Md. 21540.

Invest in Maryland and get triple tax-free income

T. Rowe Price Maryland Tax-Free Bond Fund

Now T. Rowe Price offers Maryland taxpayers a way to keep more of their investment income. Our new no-load Maryland Tax-Free Bond Fund seeks to provide high current income that is 100% exempt from your Federal, State and local taxes by investing primarily in Maryland municipal securities.

Triple tax-free investing makes more sense than ever

The new tax act makes returns on a municipal bond fund hard to beat. Since many tax shelters have been eliminated under the law, municipal bonds are one of the few ways left for you to shelter income.

And only Federal tax rates have been lowered. Maryland State and local tax rates remain unchanged and therefore will now take a proportionately larger bite of your income. So it makes more sense than ever for Maryland residents to invest in our triple tax-free state fund.

Higher quality securities and professional management

The Maryland Tax-Free Bond Fund invests primarily in long-term municipal bonds rated in the top four credit categories. Stringent credit analysis, plus active management, should help enhance investor return while reducing risk. Of course, as with any bond fund, yield and share price will vary.

Maryland's only tax-free bond fund with no sales charges!

This is the only Maryland tax-free bond fund with no sales charges or redemption fees. And, you get free check-writing and free exchange among funds at the then current net asset value. The minimum initial investment is $1,000.

For information, visit our Investor Center at 100 East Pratt Street weekdays 9am to 5pm.*

Southern High Back To School Night Scheduled

Southern High School will hold a "Back to School Night" for parents on Tuesday, September 15, from 6 to 8 p.m. A special bell schedule will allow parents to spend 10 minutes in each of their child's classes.

All parents are encouraged by principal Arthur Refesco to come to meet the school staff and administration and to become acquainted with classroom rules, grading policies and course descriptions. Letters are being sent home to parents explaining the bell schedule for the evening. Period one classes will begin promptly at 6 p.m. for interested parents.

A special feature of the evening for the parents of students in the 11th grade will be the opportunity to order class rings. A representative from Josten's will be in the cafeteria to take orders between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Students whose last name begins with A-C will order rings between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.; D-G from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.; H-L from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.; M-R from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.; S from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.; T-Z from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. The representative will return to the school at a later date for any orders which are not placed during the evening session.

A video tape presentation entitled "Dealing with Drug Abuse - A Video Guide for Families" will be shown from 8 to 9:30 p.m. for any interested parents.

Refreshments will be available in the cafeteria throughout the evening.

"Back To School" Dance Stated At G.C. Teen Center

The Garrett County Teen Center will be sponsoring a "Back to School" dance this Saturday, September 12, at the Oakland Fire Hall from 8 p.m. to midnight.

All teens are welcome. Admission is $3 per person. Disc jockey, Scott Werdebaugh, will be playing Top 40 hits. No alcohol, drugs nor readmittance are permitted at the Teen Center.

Persons desiring additional information may contact Dave Terlizzi, coordinator, at 334-9398 evenings.

Story Sharing Circle Planned

A "story sharing circle" will be held by Dr. Gail Herman at her home in Sky Valley on Sunday, September 20, at 7 p.m.

Dr. Herman, who resides in Garrett County, worked for many years with Traveling Artists and Performers Company (TAPCO) and the Creative Arts in Education Program at the Eugene O'Neill Theater Center in Waterford, Connecticut. She received a PhD in curriculum and instruction at the University of Connecticut; a master's in education degree from the University of Massachusetts; and a BA degree in elementary education from Paterson State College.

All parents, teachers, counselors and librarians are welcome to attend to take part in the story sharing circle or just to hear and learn some new stories. For directions, call Dr. Herman at 387-9199.

RECENT GRADUATE OF THE U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY, San Antonio, Tex., was Senior Airman, Thomas D. Ashby, 25, of Oakland. A son of the late Dorsey T. Ashby and Evelyn A. Ashby, Oakland, Ashby received a degree in Administrative Management. According to his evaluators, his specific achievements include a high level of administrative competence and an effective documentation program. Ashby also developed an effective system for maintaining and tracking an average of 150 work orders monthly. He was also commended on his qualities of communication, authority and enthusiasm. Ashby is shown above receiving his diploma.

National Mine Rescue Contest Slated Next Week

The Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) will hold its biannual Mine Rescue and First Aid Contest for the coal mining industry September 16-18 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center, Louisville, Ky.

The 1987 contest will be the 31st in the history of the coal mining industry. The first was held in Pittsburgh in 1911, with President William H. Taft in attendance.

The contest, known as the "World Series of Safety," will pit the top mine rescue and first aid teams of the mining industry, including one from the Island Creek Coal Company, Potomac Division, against each other to select the finest teams in the nation. The contest's purpose is both to sharpen the skills of all of the teams that may be called upon to locate and remove injured miners after a mine accident and to select the most effective mine-rescue team in the industry. An individual contest for "benchmen" also will be held to test skills in maintaining and repairing equipment used by mine-rescue teams.

The mine-rescue contest will be limited to 100 teams, with each mining company permitted to enter one team from each of the MSHA subdistricts where coal is mined. The first aid contest will be limited to 30 teams.

The coal mine-rescue contest, held in alternate years with the metal and nonmetal (non-coal) mine-rescue contest, will hold elimination events for the first two days. From these contests, 20 teams will be selected for the finals, and from these teams the champion team will be chosen. For both the first aid teams and the benchmen, one test will determine the winner.

Participants will pay entry fees to help defray the costs of the contest which are shared with MSHA.

More than 1,000 contestants are expected to enter the various competitions. Winning teams in each category will receive trophies, to be presented at a banquet after the contest. Other awards donated by MSHA, the states and equipment manufacturers include a $5,000 scholarship presented by the Anslu Corporation, manufacturer of fire-suppression equipment. MSHA and state mine safety agencies will provide the judges.

Program Will Address Health Care Issues

The dramatically rising health care costs, hospitals' advertising for patients, and the often confusing information about new health insurance plans and options will be among the topics covered in a special program next week in Oakland.

Ingard R. Koscielniak, agent for the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service, will shed some light on why all this is happening in a program held at the Extension Office meeting room in Oakland, Third Street, on Thursday, September 17 from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and repeated from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

"Health Care - An Unsolved Agenda" will not only explain what is happening with medical costs and care, but also distribute charts that ease medication insurance selection for those approaching or over 65 years of age.

For more information, persons may call Ms. Koscielniak at the Cooperative Extension Service, (301) 334-1990.

Umw Meeting Dates Announced

The United Methodist Women of the Romney District Fall meeting will be held September 19 at Keyser First Church, Keyser, W. Va.

Registration will be at 9:15 a.m. and the meeting will begin at 10. The "Curses For Mission" for the annual meeting in October need to be in at this time.

Participants should bring a sack lunch. A nursery will be provided. All pastors are welcome.

The Annual Meeting of the United Methodist Women of the W. Va. Conference will be held October 9-10 at Snowshoe Mountain Resort, W. Va.

The next executive meeting for the officers of Romney District will be Wednesday, October 21, at 9:30 a.m. at the Piedmont Trinity United Methodist Church. Participants should bring items for the newsletter.

Huskies End Losing Streak With Resounding 34-0 Win

It had been two years since Northern Husky fans had tasted victory on the football field, but that long deprivation came to a resounding end Friday night at the Cove when Tom Vent's more experienced squad hammered visiting Immaculate Conception, 34-0.

"We really needed this," Vent stated after the game, every phase of which was dominated by his players. It was the first Northern win ever by Vent, who took over the head coaching job from Jack Settle last year, only to suffer through a winless season.

Senior tailback Rodney Lapscomb provided his usual solid performance, as he has for three years at Northern, recording 100 yards of rushing on the evening. But the surprise for Northern fans was the effort of junior fullback Ed Tabor, who not only rushed for 105 yards, but scored four of the Huskies' five touchdowns on the evening.

While Vent was obviously pleased with Tabor's game, he was quick to point out that

Tabor has earned his statistics "with a lot of hard work." "Ed and Rodney worked so well together back there," Vent said. "Their good runs were often because of the good blocking they were providing for each other."

Tabor opened the scoring by racing 32 yards to paydirt early in the first quarter and Danny Sines booted the extra point to give the Huskies a 7-0 lead.

The next kickoff was a costly one for Northern, as starting quarterback Ed Lytle went down with a knee injury that sidelined him for the rest of the game. Junior back-up Gerry Durst took over the offense, however, and was able to move the ball all evening.

Northern went on top 13-0 still in the first quarter when a drive was culminated by a one-yard scoring drive by Tabor.

The Husky defense held the visitors once again, this time deep in their own territory, and Northern added two more points on a safety by Durst.

Tabor concluded the first half of scoring with a 44-yard jaunt to give the Huskies a 21-0 halftime lead.

The momentum remained with the Huskies after intermission, as junior Todd Wagner connected with Darren McKenzie on a 50-yard pass for a touchdown.

Tabor recorded his fourth TD to wrap up the Huskies' scoring of the evening by racing 35 yards to the end zone late in the third period. The fourth period was scoreless, as Vent was able to substitute freely.

Defensive standouts for the Huskies were senior linebacker Jeff Rounds, who had three solo tackles and four assists, and nose guard Kevin Wassel. Wagner and McKenzie each finished with an interception.

"Our whole defense played an outstanding game," Vent said. Immaculate Conception was held to a total offensive output of 95 yards, while the Huskies finished with 275 yards, despite losing 80 on penalties.

AN ALL-AMERICAN FOOTBALL SCOREBOARD was placed into service at the Northern High School football field last Friday night, courtesy of the Central Coca-Cola Bottling Company and the Garrett County Board of Education. Members of the Northern High Athletic Department and the Board of Education maintenance staff spent many hours in making sure the scoreboard would be operating in time for the Huskies game against Immaculate Conception, of Washington, Pa., last Friday. The only portion of the scoreboard that has not been tested in a game situation is the visitors' score panel, since Immaculate Conception failed to score against the Huskies, who won the game, 34-0. Pictured left to right are Bill Hesen, regional manager for Central Coca-Cola; Ed Green, principal of Northern; Tom Vent, head football coach; and Harv Speicher, athletic director.

By virtue of his performance, Tabor was named the Player of the Week by the Cumberland Times/News, which selects such honorees out of about 20 area high school teams each week of football season.

"That was a real boost, not only for Ed and for our school, but for Garrett County," Vent said, noting that it is rare that the Cumberland newspaper selects a Garrett County player to receive the weekly award.

Vent admitted that the next outing will be a more difficult test for the Huskies, as they travel to Central Preston this Friday evening for a 7:30 p.m. game. The Cavaliers are back with a sound program this season and are always tough to defeat on their own turf.

"I don't want to take anything away from our opponent last Friday night, or from the importance of that win, but there is no question that we have our work cut out for us this week," Vent said.

Central Preston, under Coach Jeff Zigzag, are currently 1-1, having lost their opener in triple overtime to Notre Dame of Clarksburg and then crushing East Preston last week, 31-8.

The Cavaliers are led by their quarterback, Jason Corbin, 6-2, 195, who is also a defensive standout; flanker Shawn Jennings, who rolled up 73 yards on the ground last week against East Preston; and tailback Dustin Gidley, who has been im-

Listed as doubtful this week for Northern is Lytle and 6-1, 272-pound Tom Savage, who was able to play last week, is questionable as he continues to nurse a knee injury.

"We've had a good week of practice," Vent said last night, "and we're real anxious to get over there and start playing."

Jets Top Steelers In Youth League Season Opener

The Oakland Jets opened their Mt. Top Youth Football League season in the rain, but with a victory Saturday night at the Southern High School field, by blanking the Northern Steelers, 18-0.

Ritchie DeWitt ran for two Jet touchdowns, one in the second quarter and another in the fourth, while teammate Jason Rinker ran for the third score in the third period.

DeWitt also led the Jets in rushing, although Rinker and Shane Skipper also recorded considerable yardage.

Defensive standouts for the Jets were DeWitt, Rinker, Jerry Welch, Dave Biser, and Garth Glotfelty. DeWitt and Mark Metz each were credited with a fumble recovery.

The Jet defense held the Steelers to one first down.

Men's Singles

At Deep Creek

Among the competitive events on the Mountaintop during the Labor Day weekend was a tennis tournament that began at McHenry and was completed at the Rawlings Heights Racquet and Fitness Center, Rawlings.

Pat Weaver, Frostburg, won the A Division men's singles competition by topping Jeff Bell, McHenry, 6-4, 6-2, in the finals.

Weaver and Paul Lail, Cumberland, captured the men's doubles title by stopping Bell and Fred Yost, Cumberland, in the finals, 6-3, 6-0.

Taking the B Division men's singles championship was Bob Teets, Terra Alta, who edged Darrell Gregory, Mtn. Lake Park, 7-5, 6-4.

Winning mixed doubles was the team of Bill Tritt, Mtn. Lake Park, and Janet Phillips, Hyndman, Pa., who defeated Gregory and Barbara Bowers, Morgantown, W. Va., 6-3, 6-0.

The tournament began at the courts located along Deep Creek Drive, between Bryz Rendezvous and McClives Restaurant and Lounge, but had to be moved indoors because of foul weather. Prizes were donated by Bryz, McClive's, and Tips Up Ski & Sport, all of McHenry.

Volleyball League Meeting Scheduled

The Mt. Top Volleyball League will hold an organizational meeting Wednesday, September 16, 7:30 p.m., at the Broad Ford Elementary School cafeteria.

League officials request that representatives of all teams planning to participate in the 1987-88 season, both former teams and interested new ones, be present at this meeting.

Rams Overcome Sluggish Start To Defeat Beall

After a sluggish, error-filled first quarter, the Southern Rams took control of their season opener Friday night at home against Beall and went on to defeat the Mountaineers, 13-7.

The Rams dominated the statistics of the game, but failed to capitalize on two opportunities in the second half when they had the ball deep in Beall territory.

The brightest spot for Coach Tom Woods and his staff was the performance of his defensive unit, which, after faltering in the opening moments of the contest, re-grouped and completely stymied the Mountaineer offense. After Beall marched 52 yards for a touchdown on the opening drive, their first points against Southern in two years, the Rams tightened and allowed the Mountaineers only 28 more yards of offense the rest of the game.

The opening kickoff went only to the Beall 41-yard line and was returned to the 48. Included in the eight-play drive to paydirt was a costly 15-yard penalty against the Rams. Shannon McKenzie capped the march with a 24-yard run right through the center of the Ram defensive line. Ryan Davis' conversion kick gave the Mountaineers a 7-0 lead and it appeared that the Rams and their fans were in for a long evening.

However, veteran quarterback Zack Gibson began to engineer a Southern drive in the second quarter, which ended with a one-yard plunge by Gibson for the touchdown. John Milligan's kick knotted the score at 7-7 with just seconds remaining in the first half.

The second half was all Southern's, even though the Rams managed to put only six more points on the board. Fullback Mike Bittinger got the call and capped a third-quarter drive with a one-yard dive. Milligan's kick for the conversion went wide to the left.

One of the failed attempts for more Southern points was a 30-yard field goal try by Milligan, as the ball fell just a few yards short.

The Mountaineers ran only 12 plays the entire second half and finished with only 78 yards in total offense. McKenzie was the leading ground-gainer with 22 yards.

The Rams recorded all but one of their 205 yards on the ground, with J.R. Bosley, one of the area's top running backs, gaining 128 yards on 30 carries. Bittinger, Brent Sanders and Randy Tichnell also carried the ball successfully for the Rams.

Besides being pleased with the efforts of Bosley and Gibson, Tom Woods also noted the performances of guard Gordon Savage and tackle Gary Long on the line, plus the downfield blocking of Richard Mann and Jamie Colaw. Defensively, he was pleased with the leadership of linebacker Bobby Bernard, who is the only returning starter among the linebackers.

"This started out as the most error-prone opening game in my 11 years at Southern," Woods said. "We're really not sure why, but assume it had something to do with the fact that we have a lot of new players, plus a scrimmage we had scheduled with Allegany was cancelled by them, which would have really helped us."

Woods biggest disappointment was the inability of his offense to score on two occasions when they had the ball inside the Beall 10-yard line. "One of the trademarks of our teams over the years is being able to capitalize in these situations," he said. "We just assume that, if we can get inside the 15, we are going to score, period."

Coming into the game, Woods had hoped to use a more open offense, with more passing and deception. However, it was the "bread and butter" off-tackle plays with Bosley carrying the ball that the fans witnessed most of the evening.

"We really tried to open things up in the first quarter," he said, "but it simply was not working, so it only made sense to switch to a more basic approach."

Woods is hoping that his defense will continue to play with swarming aggression this Saturday afternoon at Bishop Walsh.

The Spartans are possibly the largest in physical size that the Rams will face this season, but because of their size they sacrifice a lot of team speed. They are currently 0-1 on the season, having been blanked 28-0 two weeks ago by powerful Frankfort.

Leading the Spartans in rushing are senior fullback John Shaffer, 5-11, 192; and junior tailback Kevin Kirby, 5-9, 202; while senior tackle John Twigg, 6-1, 207, and sophomore tackle Ray Spriggs, 5-9, 266, anchor the BW line.

Bishop Walsh runs 5-2 and 6-2 defensive formations and utilizes an off-balance I-formation on offense, which has Woods somewhat concerned.

"Since they didn't play last week, we suspect they may have made some offensive changes that we don't know about," Woods said. "An unbalanced offense always represents a challenge and our defense is going to have to take advantage of our better team speed and really hustle."

The Rams were the underdog in last season's meeting with Bishop Walsh, but proceeded to destroy the Spartans, who did not win another game the entire season. They had come into the Southern contest with a 2-0 record and finished the season at 2-7.

Kickoff is slated for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Bishop Walsh field.

Southern Jayvees Begin Season With Two Wins

The Southern High Jayvee football team, after completing an undefeated season last year, is continuing its winning ways by capturing a pair of wins this past week.

Coach Jim Bosley's team opened with a 21-8 win over visiting Northern Saturday afternoon and then whipped Beall last night, 31-20, in Frostburg.

Marshall Pike led the Rams' rushing against Northern with 107 yards on 15 carries and scored two touchdowns.

Pike opened the scoring with a 42-yard punt return in the first quarter and ran 31 yards from scrimmage in the second quarter to give Southern a 14-0 lead.

Mike Hornyak added the third TD with a one-yard plunge in the third stanza.

The Huskies got on the board in the fourth period on a run by Pete Bittinger, who also ran successfully for the two-point conversion.

At Beall Wednesday night, Pike took over the quarterback duties in place of injured Mike Fulmer and Mike Dever proceeded to run for 172 yards on just 12 carries and recorded three touchdowns.

It was a deja vu as Pike again opened Southern's scoring with a 51-yard punt return in the first quarter. A 42-yard jaunt by Dever gave the Rams a 12-0 advantage.

Beall came back with a one-yard scoring run by Jason Bittner and Brian Thomas' conversion run made the halftime score 12-8.

The Rams came back fired up to open the second half and put the game out of reach for Beall by scoring 19 points in the third quarter. Dever scored on runs of four and 66 yards, while Billy Welch reached the end zone on a 20-yarder. The 31-8 advantage allowed Bosley to be substituting freely throughout the final period.

Beall scored twice in the fourth stanza, once on a three-yard run by Bittner and then on a 31-yard run by Danny Dixon. Leading the Rams' defensive effort were Chuck Graham and Doug Lewis. Dixon and Johnny Cutter paced the junior Mountaineers on defense.

The Rams will take their 2-0 record to Central Preston on Monday for a 7 p.m. game.

New Volleyball League Forming

A new volleyball league, with matches to be played at Northern Middle School on Monday nights, is being formed, according to Becky Harvey, spokesman.

Anyone interested in playing on a six-women or six-men league may call 746-5075 or 746-5996 before Friday, September 25, in order to schedule a meeting. The entry fee is $60 per team and mixed league rules will be observed.

Women's Golf Results Noted

The Women's Golf Association of the Oakland Country Club is presently playing its final tournament of the season. The "member-member" tourney began August 25 and will continue through September 24, with the best two-out-of-three rounds determining the winning team.

"Old Yeller" was the play for the day on August 25 and two teams tied for first place with scores of 80. They were the team of Betty Humberston, Ginny Lohr, Martha Lou Ashby, and Gloria Miller; and the team of Betsy Polce, Louise Beckman, Louette Funkhauser, and Louise Messenger.

The second place team, with a score of 82, consisted of Reta Humberston, Anne Grant, Mary Lambert and Helen Nordeck, while the third place team, well back at 99, was composed of Nancy Helbig, Caryl Doe, Mildred Foster and Mary Pollock.

Four teams were disqualified for losing "Old Yeller." Caryl Doe and Margaret Moran tied for low putts with 30.

In a two-player best ball event September 3, Betsy Polce and Sandy Kremer carried a net of 61 to win. The team of Alice McGreevy and Judy Johnson tied with Marianna Naylor and Sue Pagenhardt for second place at 63.

In fourth place with 64 was the team of June Bray and Helen McHenry, while the teams of Shirley and Lena Long, and Rita Humberston and Anne Grant tied at 66.

June Bray won low putts with 29.

Oakland Settles For Runner-Up Title In Pen-Mar League Playoffs

The injury-riddled Oakland Oaks made it to the finals of the Pen-Mar Baseball League championships again this year, but the defending champs turned over the title to Tri-Towns Saturday afternoon in the 1987 playoff finals.

Tri-Towns, the runner-up to Oakland last season, took the first two games in the best-of-three finals, nipping Oakland in the first game, 4-3, and taking the second one, 3-0. The series was played at Allegany Community College in Cumberland.

The Oaks assumed a 2-0 lead after two innings of the first game, one of which was scored on a double by Lawrence Nesselrodt.

Tri-Towns Donnie Raines Jr. responded with a two-run single in the bottom of the third to tie the score, but a sacrifice fly by Phil Carr in the fifth which plated Keith Cain gave Oakland a 3-2 advantage.

Brian Cueva, who is a former player for Lawrence Nesselrodt, head coach at Garrett Community College, dealt a blow at his former mentor's squad with two outs in the sixth with a double. Raines then stepped up and knocked the ball over the fence to give Tri-Towns the winning margin.

Ron O'Reilly went the distance for the winners, giving up six hits, no walks, and recording five strike-outs. Mark Rodeheaver, who also tossed all seven innings for Oakland, yielded seven hits and was tagged with the loss.

Cueva opened the scoring for Tri-Towns in the second game by rapping an RBI single in the fourth inning. He then came home later in that inning on a wild pitch by Oakland's Stan Fitzwater.

The insurance run came in the top of the seventh when Steve Spitzer tripled and then came home on Cueva's sacrifice fly.

Fitzwater went the distance for Oakland and gave up only four hits. Kevin Kessecker started for Tri-Towns and did not allow a hit until the fifth inning when Oakland's Randy Cirillo recorded a single. A sore shoulder forced Kessecker to the side lines and O'Reilly took the mound to complete the contest.

Doctors also find these people are irritable and prone to temper outbursts, which can damage professional and personal relationships. Health may suffer, since body substances that contribute to people's immune systems and to tissue growth are produced during deep sleep. As a result, those with chronic fragmented sleep may be more susceptible to illness and less able to recover from disease.

"Choppy" Sleep—Why You May Feel Out of It

By Martin A. Cohn, M.D.
Chief Sleep Disorders Center
Mount Sinai Medical Center,
Miami, Florida

Some people awaken feeling as if they've dug ditches all night. Yet the clock assures them they've slept eight hours.

At work, they go zombie-like through the motions. When a co-worker asks if they've submitted forms, they're not sure, even though it was done only a few minutes before. While driving, they may be slow to respond when the unexpected occurs.

What has put them in this trance? Why don't they feel refreshed by sleep?

One possibility, according to sleep researchers, is fragmented sleep. Without a person's even being aware of it, he or she may be awakened briefly hundreds of times throughout the night. The effects may be the same as not sleeping at all.

As people age, sleep interruptions increase. Pauses between breaths become longer. Older people also tend to snore because of upper airway blockage—in fact, half of those over age 60 do so regularly. In both situations, the need for oxygen startles the sleepers. They're aroused briefly as they take deep breaths. Others, with a

YOUGH MOUNTAIN

A meeting of the Youghiogheny Mountain Lake Property Owners Association will take place at the resort clubhouse on Saturday, September 12, at 7:30 p.m.

According to the association's president, Lucille F. Monar, an agreement has been reached with Piney Mountain Corporation and the lawsuit brought against Piney Mountain Corp. by the Property Owners Association has been closed. "The agreement was signed by the plaintiffs, Piney Mountain Stockholders, and Judge Thayer of the Circuit Court of Garrett County making it binding on all concerned," she said.

Discussed at the September 12 meeting will be a new agreement with Piney Mountain Corp. and finalization of plans to become a "home owners association." Monar related that the state legislature recently passed a new home owners law that gives those buying into a development such as Youghiogheny Mountain Lake some legal protections. "Thus," she said, "we are revising our association charter and by-laws to conform to that law."

New officers installed at the August meeting were: Lucille F. Monar, president; Larry Deemer, vice president; Thomas Sampson, secretary; Phil Sapovchak, treasurer; and Charles Walters, board member. They will serve for the next two years.

The Labor Day Social, an annual corn-soup and corn-roast picnic was a huge success, according to Monar. "Although the rain fell, all of the participants had a grand time," she said.

Smoke Stoppers Class To Begin September 28

"Wellness Together" coordinators Mikal Moomau and Elizabeth Rees Gilbert have announced the beginning of a new Smoke Stoppers Class on Monday, September 28, at 6:30 p.m. in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board Room. This introductory class is free and provides an opportunity for interested people to hear about the program and to ask questions.

"Quit smoking? It's easy; I've done it 100 times." So said Mark Twain and many people have echoed that phrase with more truth than they might care to admit. The problem is "staying quit," say Moomau and Gilbert.

Smoke Stoppers is an unique approach that has helped solve that problem for thousands of Americans. The five-week smoking cessation program is divided into 3 phases: 1) Preparing to stop; 2) Learning to stop; 3) Staying stopped.

While preparing to stop, people discover some of the whys and whens they smoke, becoming aware of behaviors and attitudes and becoming more physically and psychologically ready to stop, they said.

Learning to stop involves education; becoming aware of the relationship between some foods and cigarette urges; learning how to lessen and cope with urges; coping with withdrawal symptoms; understanding the physical effects of smoking; recognizing potentially difficult situations; managing stress; changing behaviors and attitudes - learning new behaviors and responses.

"Staying stopped is integrating new behaviors with a normal life-style and planning ahead," Ms. Moomau said. "People have an increased awareness of their own ability to improve the quality as well as the quantity of their life."

Smokers are invited to attend the introductory class on September 28 and find out about the program, then decide if they wish to participate. "Bring your cigarettes with you and relax," Ms. Gilbert said. "To pre-register, please call Wellness Together at 334-2155."

Oakland Chapter Of Eastern Star Meets Recently

Oakland Chapter, No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, held their first fall meeting on Tuesday, September 1, at 8 p.m., at the Masonic Temple in Oakland.

The Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland were greeted with 23 in attendance. The president, Mary Alice Millholland, and vice president, Wilbert Mowen, were escorted to the East. Two grand representatives, Muriel Ballases, to the state of Kansas, and Isabel Moses, to Texas, were also greeted as were other officers, members and one visitor.

Worthy Matron Geraldine Teats' opening thought was "Live Today." She then greeted the following guests: Mildred Martin and Rosalie Shobe; three appointed grand officers, Mildred Martin, grand lecturer; Joy Lou Fogel, Grand Ruth; and Wilda Hile, Grand Martha; four deputy Grand Lecturers, Elizabeth Mullenex, Alta Lee Mowen, Isabel Moses and Margaret Flurshutz.

The altar was draped in memory of Harry Beck, Past Grand Patron of Maryland. Secretary, Betty Foy, informed

THREE VIEWS OF THE DEER PARK HOTEL show that it was, indeed, one of the most glorious in the eastern United States. A current display at the Ruth Enlow Library is the result of a project in progress by local school teachers, Robert Boal and Marianne Green, who are still interested in adding to the collection of photos and facts and figures about the Deer Park and Oakland hotels. The original Deer Park hotel included 104 sleeping rooms, a 21 by 36-foot kitchen, a bakery, a laundry room, the group that the Triennial would be held in November, 1988, in Atlanta, Ga.; that grand visitations would be held in Cumberland, No. 56, on September 11, and in Parkton, No. 42, on Saturday, November 14. Signs and passes were reviewed with the Worthy Patron, Robert Paugh, assisted by Conductress, Charee Reckner.

The Worthy Matron's closing thought was "Three Little Words — Faith, Hope, Love." A program was given in honor of the Caravan entitled, "A Three-Ring Circus." Refreshments were served by Esther Householder and her committee.

The next meeting, "Chapter Birthday," will be held on Tuesday, September 15, with a covered dish dinner at 6:30 p.m. followed by an 8 p.m. meeting.

Pedestrians watch from the ground.
They sweat hard hours of the day.
Erecting steel to earn their pay.
Their iron wills can handle weight.
Their skill and mettle joins it straight.
America proudly says, "I can!" —
She has it done by an Iron Man.

a billiard room, four bowling alleys, two swimming pools and a music pavilion. A total of seven chefs were on the staff there at one time. Professor Charles Zimmerman of the U.S. Naval Academy, who stayed at the hotel for many summers and provided music for daily concerts and Saturday night balls, wrote the famous song, "Anchors Aweigh," while staying there. Two annexes were added to the hotel in 1881, doubling the accommodations.

water-saver shower head, which will cut our water consumption significantly."

Water certainly isn't free to city dwellers. During a dry summer like this year's, when dusty creek beds show how scarce water can get in rural areas, conserving this resource becomes a concern.

Most old-model toilets use about five or six gallons for every flush, but the new TERAD fixtures use only one. Available in many retail stores, is looks similar to other models. But inside the tank, which contains the usual amount of water to create sufficient pressure, is a device limiting the actual amount flushed.

The new showerhead costs only eight dollars and simply reduces the amount of water that flows through the sprinkler. "It works just as well as the old water guzzler," Hider said. "But it uses about half as much water."

DeVore said that energy conservation today "is a dollar and cents issue." For people entering the housing market, energy cost is a weighty consideration, he said, and savings on utility bills could mean the difference between owning a house or not.

Funding from the National Center of Appropriate Technology and hours of work by WVU students and faculty have made the dwelling a center for housing research.

Tours of the TERAD house can be arranged by contacting the WVU Technology department at (304) 293-3803.

1929 Structure Is Housing Research Center At WVU

A 1929 mail-order Sears and Roebuck house on University Avenue in Morgantown used to look like many West Virginia houses, with a full-length front porch and a comfortable sunroom on the side.

However, since it was acquired in 1977, the West Virginia University TERAD (Technology Education Research and Demonstration) house, as it is named, has been transformed into a showcase of solar passive heating and cooling, and is a center for housing research.

Every month visitors from across the country and from overseas visit the TERAD house. "The purpose of the TERAD house is to show energy conservation applications in a real setting," said Paul DeVore, a WVU technology education professor.

"Credibility is one important reason for a house like this. There it is, it does work to conserve energy, and people living in the house can tell visitors about actual operation of the natural, convective wall system or a solar greenhouse or hot water system."

Like a periscope protruding through the roof, a thermal chimney atop the house uses sunlight to heat air within a chamber so that an updraft is created. This pulls hot air from the attic and cools the house without electrical fans.

That's part of what passive solar technology is — it requires no additional energy such as gas or electricity. Another passive system is the solar greenhouse. The house's original sunporch lost its roof, which was replaced with transparent panels to let in a maximum amount of sunlight.

Shelved along one wall of the greenhouse are scores of gallon milk jugs filled with dark-colored water. These are easily constructed solar collectors.

During the day, sunlight heats the liquid inside the jugs, and at night this energy seeps out as radiant warmth. Not enough, perhaps, to make the room toasty, but it does make a difference in the total energy self-sufficiency of the house.

Water conservation has been a recent pursuit of TERAD house student-resident Glenn Hider. He spent several days doing what the technology education people call "retrofit" in the TERAD house bathroom.

"The fixtures that were in this bath, like most in the state, used water as if it were free," he said. "I installed an extremely efficient toilet and a

Public Forum On Transportation Set In Annapolis

A public forum is scheduled for September 15, in Annapolis, to discuss Maryland's future transportation needs with government officials and community and business leaders from around the state.

The day-long forum called Transportation 2020, will run from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Joint Committee Hearing Room of the Legislative Services Building in Annapolis.

Maryland's forum is part of a national effort by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) to determine our surface transportation needs into the next century," said Maryland Transportation Secretary Richard Trainor.

"AASHTO will be gathering information in the next two years to develop a national program to submit to Congress," said Trainor. "Each state will also focus on its own transportation needs to guide them in their work with local elected officials." Maryland is the second state to conduct a forum. Nebraska held one last month.

The Transportation 2020 program will seek the cooperation of all the major public and private interest groups associated with transportation issues. Surface transportation needs will include discussions of topics such as highway design, mass transportation, rail lines, commuter problems, traffic congestion, interstate corridors and access to state recreational areas.

"We've sent information to over 1,800 people in Maryland," according to Clyde Piers, MDOT's director of Transportation Planning. Piers also serves as AASHTO's Secretary/Treasurer. "The public, as well as transportation professionals, can participate in the forum. We'll also have a distinguished panel of experts and elected officials moderating the days' discussions."

Jon Spelman To Perform At PSC

Area residents are invited to take a journey back in time to the days when their grandparents held them spellbound with their stories of "life when I was a child," or recounted the old fairy tales, complete with their own personal interpretations, as noted storyteller John Spelman performs Tuesday, September 29, at 8 p.m. in the Church McKee Arts Center, Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va.

There will be no advance ticket sale for this Highland Arts Unlimited program; tickets may be purchased at the box office the evening of the performance for $2.00 per person student or adult.

Master storyteller Jon Spelman, a 20th-century bard, compiles oral histories, legends, jokes and folk tales and then spins them "up, down and across America." In "Three Stories Tall", Spelman carries on the tradition of the wandering minstrels with his "jump tales, how tales, talkin' tales, African tales, American stories, riddles and tall tales."

With degrees in both American literature and theatre, he worked as an actor and director in professional theatre and was, for seven years, artistic director of his own company, The Florida Studio Theatre. Spelman has performed at The Kennedy Center, Wolf Trap Farm Park, New York's Art Park, the Smithsonian and The National Archives and has been featured on public radio. He can be seen on his own television program, "Three Stories Tall," broadcast on channel 4 in Washington, D.C.

About Spelman's work, the Baltimore Sun has written: "Exceptional... done with such wit and imagination. The viewer is enthralled." After his appearance at The Kennedy Center, The Washington Post wrote: "Enchanting... a full house responded with delight to this spellbinding melange." Spelman was invited to tell

THESE COUNTRY SCENES and others by Jim McNeil are on display this month in the Garrett Community College Art Gallery. McNeil, a native of Maryland, classifies himself as "a realistic painter who stops short of photographic realism." Most of his watercolor landscapes and seascapes are based on identifiable locales, and may be viewed at the GCC gallery in the Administration Building anytime during operational hours. The artist and his wife, Nelda, who mats and frames his watercolors, spend most of the summer and autumn months in the mountains of Garrett County, while their permanent home is in Columbia.

Bike-A-Thon Set For Benefit Of Research Hospital

A Bike-A-Thon to raise money for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital will be held in Friendsville on Saturday, September 26, with Saturday, October 3, reserved as a rain date. The Bike-A-Thon is open to children and adults of all ages, and will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 2 p.m.

The course will be the half-mile circle between the Methodist Church and the Yough Bridge in Friendsville. Forms for collecting pledges for the ride may be obtained at Humberson's Store in Friendsville, or by calling 746-5110 or 746-5186 for information.

St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital is constantly involved in research which they make available to be used by all institutions. They specialize in childhood cancer, and work with the families of these children to help them deal with their situation both physically and emotionally. Patients are not turned away due to lack of money or insurance.

Refreshments will be available at the event at no charge. Any teens or adults wishing to help on event day should con-

In Loving Memory Of

Allen Andrew Uphole

Who passed away September 13, 1986

Your gentle face and patient smile,
With sadness we recall.
You had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true.
Ah, bitter was the trial to part,
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one,
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

THINK BEFORE YOU LIFT

If there's a box to be moved at work, you just move it. You seldom think about how to do it properly. Right?

If there's a piece of furniture to be moved at home, you just move it. You seldom wait until you can get help. Right?

It's this tendency to want to get the obstacle out of the way as quickly as possible, and the erroneous belief that you can manage anything you can lift, that causes most back injuries. Sprains and strains of the back are the third major cause of activity limitation, superceded only by heart conditions and arthritis/rheumatism conditions.

It is estimated that well over a million men, women, and children suffer back injuries each year, mainly because they lift without thinking.

In addition to the agonizing pain that is experienced by the victims, it should be noted that temporary and permanent disablement from back injury accounts for millions of hours of lost time, millions of dollars in lost salaries, and tens of millions of dollars in lost production. Such a pitiful waste of energy and money!

Most disabling back injuries come from falls and careless lifting. They occur on the job, and at home as well. Thus, it is important to protect your back by learning, observing, and teaching preventive habits.

Following are the "Rules for Lifting" as recommended by doctors of chiropractic, who are specialists in treating health problems related to the spine and nervous system.

1. Size up the object to be lifted. Decide how to best get a good grip on it.
2. Plant your feet about ten to twelve inches apart and solidly close to the object to be lifted. Squat down, keeping the spine straight.
3. Lift up with the big muscles of your legs, thighs, arms, and shoulders, NOT with the back. Keep the load close to your body.
4. Use mechanical lifting devices for moving heavy objects. Get help for large, bulky, awkward, or extra heavy loads.
5. Use rhythm, both alone and in a team effort. Let the load help lift itself.
6. Be sure you can see where you are going.
7. Keep floors clear of hazards which could cause you to trip or fall.
8. Setting the load down is just the reverse of lifting. Keep the back straight, let the legs bend slowly, and set the load down easy.

Prevention is the best way to avoid a back injury. However, if a strain or back injury should occur, no matter how minor, it is wise to visit a doctor of chiropractic immediately. Spinal problems must not be neglected as they can cause or contribute to disorders which appear at many other parts of the body.

The majestic Coors Belgians Draft Horse Team takes us back to the time when draft horses delivered Coors fine beer.

Today, this powerful team serves as a vivid reminder of that bygone era and symbolizes the unsurpassed tradition of quality synonymous with Coors.

So, remember, for the best in beer and draft horse teams, Coors is the one.

Applications For Pre-Kindergarten Being Accepted

The pre-kindergarten class at Red House School, sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education, is now accepting applications for the 1987-88 school year. According to the Garrett County Board of Education, priority will be given to children residing within the school's boundaries; however applications made by those outside the area will be taken. Transportation for out-of-area placements must be arranged by parents.

Only one of 330 sites validated by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, the Red House pre-kindergarten is operated as part of the Extended Elementary Education Program, and is coordinated locally through the Board of Education by Sandra J. Nesline. A full-time certified teacher, Susan Lear, and paraprofessional, Patricia Wilt, work with a maximum enrollment of 20 children. The class follows the regular county calendar and is in session during regular school hours. Children must be four by December 31, 1987, to register; there are no other entry restrictions.

Interested parties are invited to visit the school and observe the pre-kindergarten in session. Further inquiries may be addressed to Sandra Nesline at 334-8926 or Gary Galloway, school principal at 334-3654.

Northern GOP Women Convene

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met recently at Hill Top Inn, Grantsville, and was presented a program on the Lutheran Braille Workers, Inc.

Cora Bowser introduced Carl Haentfling, who represents the corporation, which is a non-profit organization that produces the Bible in braille for blind persons in over 100 nations. There are 200 work centers in the United States, including one in Accident.

Haentfling announced that there will be a turkey dinner served November 7 at Northern High School as a fund-raiser for the local work center.

Evelyn Younk, president, conducted the business meeting. Revised by-laws were read by Zeola Robeson, parliamentarian, and approved. A nominating committee was appointed and consists of Cora Bowser, Helen Keller and Orpha Miller.

Members present were: Twila Mae Fike, Lois Rowe, Zeola Robeson, Louise McKenzie, Clara Layman, Helen Keller, Cleda Baker, Mary Broadwater, Jennie Stark, Orpha Miller, Cora Bowser, and Lulu Brown, who is a new member.

The next meeting will be September 29, with a county official as speaker.

COORS BELGIAN HORSE TEAM TO APPEAR — The Coors Belgian draft horse team, which features six of the world's largest and most beautiful horses, will visit Garrett County. This team has performed in front of thousands at rodeos, parades, fairs and special events across the country and will make a special appearance at the first Deep Creek Lake Oktoberfest, September 20. McHenry Fairgrounds, from 1 to 5 p.m. Each horse averages approximately 2,000 pounds, stands 18 to 20 hands, and is meticulously groomed and cared for by the traveling team of operators. "We've been attempting to get the Coors Belgians for some time," said Bob Lohr, president of Lohr Distributors, Inc., Oakland. "They are truly remarkable animals because of their tremendous size and beauty. You've got to see them to believe them." The big teams of horse drawn wagons were a common sight in the late 19th and 20th centuries as breweries delivered their beer by draft horse teams. In fact, the word "draft" means "to pull" and traces its origins to draft beers as they are "pulled" from the keg. After 1930, delivery trucks entered the scene and the Belgians were kept more as pets than working horses. As a result, the breed has been streamlined and has developed weight, action and quality of color. In America today, Belgians are the most plentiful and popular of the draft horse breed. Pictured below is Coors' teamster, Dick Sparrow.

SUNNYWIDE- UNDERWOOD

Bible study was held this Thursday afternoon in the home of Jane Kope. Opening prayer was by Elaine Beckman, closing prayer was by Sybil Merrill, and refreshment grace was by Myrtle Fulk.

Those attending were Wilma Waybright, Elaine Beckman and daughter, Amanda and Bessie Canan.

The next meeting will be at the home of Wilma Waybright.

The annual Ford reunion was held this weekend in the Ford Memorial park and pavilion. A memorial service was held for those who died during the past year with a candle lighting for each one. George Morava of Athens, Greece, presented the message. His daughter accompanied him home from Greece to be present at the reunion. He is the son of Grace Ford Morava.

The Annual Homecoming at the Underwood Church will be Sunday, September 13, with a carry-in dinner at noon and a program in the afternoon. Everyone is welcome.

A birthday dinner was held Saturday evening with Keith Cummings as the honored guest. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Myron Lee Newell, son, Scott, Jean Noel and daughter, Joyce, State line; Ervin Shreve and daughter, Susie; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holler and family, Kenneth Cummings and family, A.D. and Mrs. Virginia Cummings, Mildred Peterson, Sheril Cosner, Mike Bernard and Boyd Johnson.

Sunday guests of Bessie Canan were her nephew and niece, Eugene and Evelyn Hebb of Adrian, Mich., and Kathryn Berger of Blissfield, Mich. On Monday Jeanette and David Tracey were visitors of Mrs. Canan.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Knotts visited the Hick Fair near Parsons, W.Va., a couple of days this week.

Milton Canan spent an evening last week visiting his aunt, Mrs. Vernon Lantz.

Library Corner

The Kitzmiller branch of the Ruth Enlow Library will be open through September 15 in its present location. It will then close for about three weeks and will re-open in early October in its new location in the library of the Kitzmiller School. The new schedule of hours, which will include early evening hours, will be announced at that time.

Another large print collection has been received by the Accident library as a gift of the Deep Creek Lions Club.

Movies to be shown at the library in Oakland on Saturday, September 12, include "Teacher's Pet", "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", "Mole and the Green Star" and "Turned Around Clown".

DEER PARK

The United Methodist Women met at the home of Mrs. Mary DeBerry September 3. Mrs. Pleasant Thrasher presented the lesson. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Paul Browning played bag pipe music and Barbara Browning read a poem during the opening exercises at the United Methodist Sunday School September 6.

Following the Sunday School hour, a going-away party was held in the class room. The cake was decorated "God Bless You." Paul is attending Frostburg State University this season.

Continuing Ed. Classes Offered By Garrett CC

A variety of Continuing Education courses is now being offered by Garrett Community College. Persons desiring more information about the courses should call the Oakland Center of the college at 334-8266.

Preparing For College

A course entitled Preparing for College Entrance Exams is being offered at three locations by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. The first offering will be held at Southern High School. Sessions will be each Wednesday, beginning September 23 from 3:30 to 5:10 p.m. for a total of 12 sessions. The second offering will be at Northern High School beginning Thursday, September 24, from 3:30 to 5:10 p.m. and will continue for a total of 12 sessions. The third offering will be at the McHenry Campus of the college on Saturdays and will begin on September 26. This offering will be held each Saturday from 9 to 11:15 a.m. for a total of 9 sessions.

If you are planning to go to college then this class will be very beneficial to you. College entrance exams, such as the S.A.T. and A.C.T., are required for admission purposes by a majority of colleges and universities across the country. This course will help you prepare for these tests by reviewing verbal and mathematical skills and test taking strategies. The course will conclude with a practice test and evaluation of test results.

Classic Literature II

A Classic Literature II course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. Sessions will be held every other Wednesday beginning September 23, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college for a total of 15 sessions.

The class is designed to increase knowledge of classic literature from an historic, philosophical and literary context. Politics, history, government and fantasy by authors like Plato, Melville, Shakespeare and Thoreau will be reviewed. Introduction to Classic Literature is not a prerequisite.

Hospice Holds Successful Luau

As Fund-Raiser

Hospice of Garrett County held its first Hawaiian Luau on Friday, August 14, at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake.

Over 100 people attended the outdoor event and shared the Hawaiian Cuisine prepared by the staff of the Silver Tree Inn. The dinner was followed by dancing in the Tiffany Green Room to the music of Dan Daniels, local disk jockey.

Hospice netted approximately $750 from the fundraiser, according to Wayne R. Johnson, executive director of Hospice. These funds will be placed in the general account for operating expenses.

"We would like to thank all who attended and supported the affair," Johnson said. "A special thanks to Flowers by Webers, the Flower Basket, Wards Package Liquors, the Trading Post, and the Silver Tree Inn for their contributions to help make this first luau a successful one."

ACCIDENT

Blaine Fazenbaker, Najemoy, recently spent a weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ranza Fazenbaker and attended his class reunion at Holiday Inn, Grantsville.

Sunday afternoon and evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ranza Fazenbaker were Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Brien and sons, Chad and Shawn, Cresaptown; Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien, Grantsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne O'Brien, Swanton. Ranza, Edward, James, Chad and Shawn visited John Stephens at his new home site on Oak Hill later in the evening.

In Loving Memory Of Our Tara Lynn Tasker

who passed into Heaven Sept. 7, 1983

Although you're far away it only takes a thought to bring you near so often, little things we see and hear remind us of you. And suddenly, the nicest kind of feelings warm our hearts. If things aren't going our way, remembering you can turn our day around. We wish with all our hearts that someday we'll all be together.

It's lonesome here without you, we miss you more every day that passes. Somehow life doesn't seem quite complete since you were called away. It broke our hearts to lose you but you didn't go alone, because a part of us went with you the moment God called you home. Flowers are placed with tender loving care, only God knows our heart aches when we turn to leave you there. You are constantly in our thoughts and prayers and the remembrance of you will keep us until we're all together in God's heavenly home.

Dearly loved, Sadly missed by are now ready to enter into a "sound marketing program" and indicated that Jones will continue working out strategies with state government.

Other Commissioner News

Also Tuesday the commissioners conducted a public agricultural preservation hearing. Approved for inclusion in the Agricultural Preservation Program was the Larry Sebold farm consisting of 171.9 acres, located in the central western quadrant of the county.

Q I work in construction, and my foreman says I have to wear a hard hat. It's hot and uncomfortable. Can the company force me to wear it?

A Yes, you must wear a hard hat. OSHA rules designed to protect you from falling debris and other hazards on the construction site require every one to wear protective head gear.

Over the past 15 years, the construction industry has been one of the most hazardous to workers in the U.S. economy. We'd like to see these conditions improve and greater attention to work place safety can make the difference.

Wearing appropriate protective gear is one step you can take to reduce your risk of injury. It's worth the discomfort to prevent a potentially fatal blow to your head. Wear your hard hat.

Good Food and how to prepare it!

Hooked on Fish!

No one food has had a greater influence or made a bigger splash at our dinner tables than fish. There was a time, not long ago, when fish was eaten only on Friday — something bland and white that we forked up with what could best be described as modified rapture. But as our nutritional consciousness was raised, we learned that fish played an important role in our diet. It turned out to be healthful: high in protein; low in fat, cholesterol, sodium, and calories; vitamin rich; and easy to digest. What's more, fish tastes wonderful. It can be fried, poached, steamed, broiled, marinated, or stuffed, and it's a catch made in heaven for the microwave. It can be homey and humble or sleek and sophisticated. Though more and more fresh fish is available coast-to-coast, today's flash-freezing techniques guarantee great flavor and quality. So try these recipes that make it easy to turn simple fish into great entrees.

PERCH OLE'

- 1 cup cocktail vegetable juice
- 1½ cups water
- 1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
- ¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1 cup long grain rice
- 1 lb. frozen or fresh perch fillets
- 1 cup cocktail vegetable juice
- ½ cup water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 bunch green onions, tops and greens, coarsely chopped
- 1 large green pepper, coarsely chopped
- 1 can (16 oz.) tomato wedges or 2 fresh tomatoes cut in wedges

In covered skillet or saucepan, combine 1 cup cocktail vegetable juice with 1½ cups water, salt and hot pepper sauce. Bring to a boil, add rice, cover and cook over low heat 25 minutes or until liquid is absorbed. About 10 minutes before rice finishes cooking, place perch fillets in skillet with 1 cup cocktail vegetable juice, ½ cup water, salt and bay leaf. Bring liquid to boil, then reduce heat, cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes. Halfway through cooking time, gently separate fillets with fork. Fluff hot cooked rice with fork and stir in green onions, green pepper and tomato wedges. To serve, arrange hot poached perch fillets on seasoned rice.

BAKED TUNA LOAF

With Cucumber Sauce

- Two 6½ or 7 oz. cans tuna packed in water, drained
- ¾ cup finely chopped celery
- ¾ cup oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
- ½ cup skim milk
- ¼ cup egg substitute or 1 egg
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Heat oven to 350°F. Coat 8x4-inch loaf pan with vegetable oil, cooking spray or oil lightly. Flake tuna, add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Pat into prepared pan. Bake 40 minutes, let stand 5 minutes before slicing. Serve warm or cold with Cucumber Sauce. 8 servings.

Cucumber Sauce

- One 8-oz. container (1 cup) plain yogurt
 - ½ medium cucumber, finely chopped
 - 2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill or 1 teaspoon dried dill weed
 - 1 tablespoon minced onion
- In small bowl, combine all ingredients, mix well. Chill. 1½ cups.

POT-A-STEW

- 1 can (46 oz.) chicken broth
- 3 cans (10¾ oz.) cream of shrimp soup
- 2 lbs. frozen cod, pollock, perch or sole fillets
- 1 onion sliced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon savory
- 4 ears corn cut in thirds or 1 can (12 oz.) corn
- 1 can (15 oz.) baby carrots
- 1 can (1 lb.) tomato wedges or 2 fresh
- 2 large green peppers cut in 1" pieces

Combine chicken broth and cream of shrimp soup in 5 qt. Dutch Oven or large cook-kettle. Bring to boil, then reduce heat and add frozen fish, sliced onion, salt and savory. Cook covered, over low heat until fish defrosts (approximately 4-6 minutes). Separate fillets with a fork and break into large pieces. Add remaining vegetables, cover and cook another 6 to 8 minutes or until corn is tender. To serve, remove vegetables from broth with slotted spoon and ladle broth into individual cups, or serve fish, vegetables and soup together in large soup bowls. Makes 8 servings.

TUSCAN WHITE FISH

- 1½ cups pitted California ripe olives, drained
- 1 medium tomato, seeded and finely chopped
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- 1½ teaspoons oregano, crumbled
- Few dashes pepper
- 1 to 2 bunches fresh parsley
- 4 servings sole, cod or other white fish (about 1¼ lbs.)
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ cup dairy sour cream
- 1 medium clove garlic
- 1 tablespoon dry basil
- ½ cup vegetable oil
- Tomato wedges, for garnish
- Lemon slices, for garnish

Reserve ½ cup olives. Chop remaining olives and combine with tomato, celery, oregano, pepper and ½ cup minced parsley. Spoon equal amounts onto fish fillets. Roll fish around filling. Place seam-side down in shallow 1½-quart baking dish. Cover and bake in 400°F. oven for 25 minutes or until fish is done.

Meanwhile, make sauce:

Combine 1 cup (packed) parsley sprigs with cheese, sour cream, garlic and basil in electric blender. Whir on and off fashion until pureed. Scrape sides with rubber spatula when blender is off. While blender is running, slowly add oil, whirring until smooth and blended. Turn into saucepan. Heat gently until warm but do not boil. Spoon over fish to serve. Garnish with reserved olives, tomato wedges and lemon slices. Serves 4.

ZIPPY BROILED RAINBOW TROUT

- 6 boned or dressed trout, 5 ounces each
- ¾ cup salad oil
- ¼ cup wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- Pinch each oregano, thyme, basil, rosemary and sage

Marinate trout in remaining ingredients at least 30 minutes. Broil about 4 inches from heat 4 minutes. Brush with marinade, turn and brush with marinade. Broil 4 minutes longer or until fish flakes when tested with fork. NOTE: Trout may be marinated in bottled Italian dressing. Or brushed inside of trout with lemon juice, sprinkle with salt and pepper and brush with Italian dressing before and during broiling. Makes 6 servings.

BAKED STUFFED TROUT

Cook chopped mushrooms, onion and parsley in butter until onions are soft but not brown. Toss with bread crumbs, add seasoning. Stuff trout cavities and place in greased baking pan. Brush with butter, bake in 400 degrees F (hot) oven 25 to 35 minutes. Serve at once on heated dish.

BROILED TROUT

Place buttered trout seasoned with salt, pepper and paprika next to each other in pan. Place pan four inches below heat and broil until done without turning. A good test is to split one of the trout along the backbone and if the trout is done, the meat is juicy and white. It will take about 8 minutes cooking time to broil the trout. A sauce of parsley or watercress butter adds a flavorful touch. Serve at once on heated dish. Trout may also be broiled on electric rotisserie.

PAN FRIED TROUT

- Large skillet, 4 servings
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- ¾ cup cornmeal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 4 whole pan-dressed trout
- 1 lemon, cut into 8 wedges
- Butter
- Fresh lemon juice

Slightly beat egg and lemon juice in shallow dish. On foil mix together cornmeal, salt and pepper. Dip skin-side of trout in egg mixture, then in cornmeal. Place 2 lemon wedges inside each trout. Close with wooden picks. Melt ¼ cup butter in skillet, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Over medium heat fry as many trout as skillet will accommodate, about 8 minutes on each side. Add additional butter and lemon juice as needed.

CREAMY SALMON MOLD

- 1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup cold water
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons catsup
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon dried dill weed
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- Salad greens
- Parsley, carrot curls for garnish

Drain and flake salmon, reserving liquid. Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat until dissolved. Blend sour cream, mayonnaise, reserved salmon liquid, catsup, lemon juice, dill weed and salt. Stir in gelatin. Fold in celery, onion and salmon. Turn into oiled 3-cup mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce-lined plate. Garnish with parsley and carrot curls. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BACK TO THE FUTURE may be the best way to describe this young lad's first day at school. He is apparently looking forward to his graduation which will occur in the year 2000. Pictured with Broadford Elementary School Principal Thomas Fowler is Beau Fowler, son of Leif and Linda Piper, Mtn. Lake Park. Beau is a kindergarten student of Randee Sell. School opened in the county last week with minimal problems and all the students are reportedly now in the school assigned to them and most of them know their bus numbers.

Fund-Raiser For Wildlife Program Now Underway

Governor William Donald Schaefer, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, Salisbury businessman, Frank Perdue, and "Dallas" TV star, Deborah Shelton, have joined forces to kick-off this year's campaign for the Maryland Nongame and Endangered Species Fund.

Wild animals in Maryland are cared for at the State level through six major programs. These conservation and management programs oversee different animal species, from bears in the forests of Western Maryland, to urban wildlife in Baltimore, the migratory birds that breed on the marshes of the Eastern Shore. Program plans are carried out by a team of wildlife managers, biologists, technicians, college students and volunteers. The Nongame and Endangered Species program works directly with threatened and endangered wildlife (such as bald eagles, peregrine falcons and Delmarva fox squirrels), as well as about 100 types of reptiles and amphibians, over 300 kinds of birds, and 50 other nongame mammals that live in or visit this State.

For three years, DNR's Forest, Park and Wildlife Service and renowned Anne Arundel County artist, John "Bud" Taylor, have created a series of stamps and prints to benefit nongame and endangered animals. This year, Governor Schaefer, Goldstein, Perdue and Ms. Shelton have endorsed the "Bluebird Stamp and Print" with "great enthusiasm," according to DNR spokesman.

The bluebird was selected for the 1987 Nongame and Endangered Species Stamp and Print because government and citizen action in Maryland have helped bluebirds make a visible comeback here. Careful management strategies, hundreds of bluebird houses constructed by the State, and untold gardeners, bird-watchers and clubs have increased the numbers of these birds from the 1960s when they were scarcely seen. Bluebirds, affected by DDT and other pesticides, also lost habitat as land use changed in Maryland.

The 1987 Bluebird Stamp and Print is on sale now at DNR Regional Service Centers (Bel Air, Centerville, Cumberland, Mechanicsville and Salisbury) and through DNR Licensing and Consumer Services, Tawes State Office Building, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, MD 21401, (301) 974-3211 or 3776 or 3195. Prints are 11 inches by 15 inches and sell for $35.00 each. They are signed and numbered by the artist. Stamps are $5.00 each and are numbered. (To order by mail or telephone, include $2.50 for print shipping and handling. There is no additional handling charge for stamps.)

Previous stamps and prints for this program feature the Baltimore Oriole, Maryland's State Bird (1985) and Ruby-throated Hummingbirds (1986). They may be purchased on request.

Proceeds from the sale of Nongame and Endangered Species Prints and Stamps are used only for the programs which protect and manage these animals, the DNR said.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst

DIRECTOR

FUNERAL COST PREPAYMENT

If you wish, you may choose not to do anything at all about prepaying your funeral expenses. Let the money come out of your estate's assets when you die. If it's obvious that there will be money in your estate—in the form of savings, insurance, cashable stocks or bonds, or other liquid assets—that's probably all the protection your survivors need. The money you would otherwise tie up for funeral payments could be invested or put into savings instead. The disadvantage of this course is that your estate may never be so large as to cover the funeral costs adequately. Another possibility is that even if you are well off now, your financial fortunes may change to such a degree that there won't be much money in the estate when you die. In such cases, your survivors would be under great financial strain to meet the cost of your funeral and burial. It may require going into insurance money or other resources more urgently needed to live on.

'Scarecrow' star now has a promising film career

By Toni D'Amato

Can you tell me who starred in the movie "April Love," and also if Bruce Boxleitner was in the movie "Passion Flower"? — B.M., Statesville, N.C.

Bruce Boxleitner

The 1957 musical "April Love" starred Pat Boone, Shirley Jones, Dolores Michaels, Arthur O'Connell and Matt Crowley. In this typical '50s love story, Boone goes to Kentucky and falls for Jones.

Boxleitner, whose career is soaring now that "Scarecrow and Mrs. King" has completed its TV run, starred in the TV movie you mention. He also appears in the upcoming TV movies "Angel in Green," opposite Susan Dey and "The Gambler Part III," with Kenny Rogers.

I'd like some details on Lena Horne, such as her birthplace and date of birth, her family history and her accomplishments. — A.D., Waupaca, W.I.

This gifted singer and actress was born Lena Calhoun Horne on June 30, 1917 in Brooklyn, N.Y. Her mother, Edna Calhoun, was an actress. Horne was married to Louis Jones from 1937 to 1944. They had two children, Gail and Terry. In 1948 she married musician Lennie Hayton and they had one son, Leonard. Hayton died in 1971. Horne appeared in such films as "Panama Hattie" (1942), "Cabin in the Sky" (1944), "Words and Music" (1948), "Meet Me in Las Vegas" (1956) and "Death of a Gunfighter" (1969).

I'd like to know what Clint Eastwood is doing and where I can write to him. — E.A., Elk hart, Ind.

He's working as mayor of Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif., while continuing his work in the entertainment industry. Send mail to Eastwood in care of his production company, Malpaso Productions, 4000 Warner Boulevard, Burbank, CA 91522.

Candy gives Sydney a gift; Winters writes his tales

By Cindy Adams

Candice Bergen, who's "The Mayflower Madam" on CBS come fall, went to the south of France for R&R with husband Louis Malle. Her parting gift to Sydney Biddle Barrows was a caricature of Candy and Sydney side-by-side in identical debutante-like ballgowns. The Santa Fe Film Festival features a retrospective of 30 John Huston films. For the gala's theme, "Come As Your Favorite John Huston Character," director John Huston himself will dress as a horse.

Candice Bergen

Placido Domingo's first straight dramatic job will be the movie "Puccini." Since Placido is not exactly an Academy Award actor, he will sneak in a song. Or two. At worst, he'll hum.

The weird thought processes of Jonathan Winters will produce a book called "Winters' Tales: Stories and Observations of the Unusual." It's about a one-armed man, his one-time dance partner, a friar who is murdered by Persians and a transsexual in drag who dates his own grandfather. Any questions?

Jonathan Winters

Ann Richards, Australian star of the '40s who appeared in Hollywood films like "Love Letters," was recently scanning "The Film Encyclopedia." Its cover calls it: "The most comprehensive look at cinema in a single volume." Says Ann: "It is so comprehensive that even I am amazed. According to this book, I died in 1982."

With Johnny Carson wed again (there's no truth to the rumor that his marriage license was a Xerox), his lawyer Henry Buskin, also divorced, may go next. She's Mary Hart of "Entertainment Tonight." Henry took Mary to Wimbledon. She's crazy about him. It's a heavy-duty romance now.

Ted Koppel (L.), David Brinkley (C.) and Peter Jennings co-host ABC's "The Blessings of Liberty," a special that traces the history of the Constitution. It airs Wednesday, Sept. 16.

CABLE LOG

In this HBO Vietnam saga, acting and talent triumph

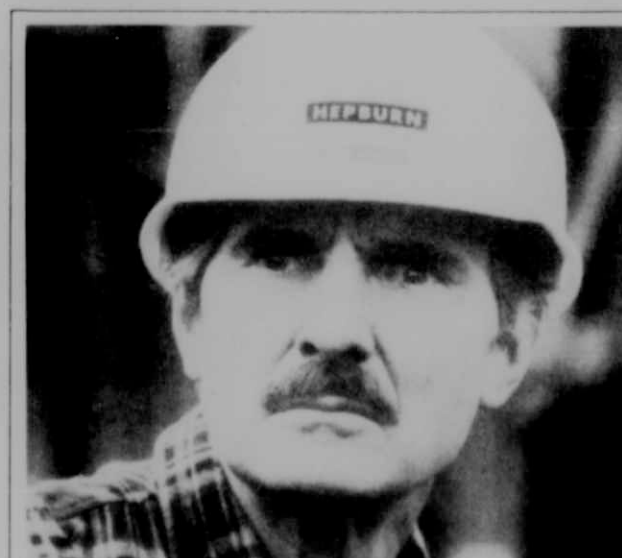

By Connie Passalacqua

"HBO Showcase: Vietnam War Story," airing Sept. 13, isn't "Platoon." That's good, because it doesn't mean to be. It doesn't seek to explain the war or generate sympathy for veterans, nor is it an excuse to fire off guns. Here, war is a background to serious character study.

Eriq La Salle

Consisting of three half-hour segments, each playlet focuses on a set of three main characters. Attention is forced on them not only because each episode is dramatic in human terms, but because this has been made on a cable-TV budget, and production values are next to nil. The sets look like "M*A*S*H" rejects, and the '60s background music, so predominant in Vietnam movies, is rationed to one authentic recording per episode. Writing and acting are all. But the segments are so engrossing, that's enough.

In ABC's "Bluffing It," Dennis Weaver stars as a factory foreman who hides the fact that he is illiterate. The movie airs Sunday, Sept. 13.

In "The Pass," three soldiers meet in a club that caters to Americans by day and Viet Cong by night. When one soldier decides he's seen enough combat, he decides to go AWOL by staying after hours. An inexperienced officer who is naively combat hungry agrees to stay with him, both men later face the inevitable.

In "The Mine," a soldier recovering from a rifle wound must wait hours for help to arrive and defuse the mine he's standing on. And he must depend on two formerly despised men to help him make it.

"Home" focuses on the bitter residents of a rehab hospital, and one soldier whose sense of humor shows them the reason to live again. Each episode is reportedly based on the experiences of real soldiers.

Because of time limitations, the characters must explain their motivations succinctly. Much of it is done in monologues that are sometimes too long, but always superbly delivered; Eriq La Salle's remembrance of his first shooting in "The Mine" is brilliant. While all three stories manage to be moving, the introduction of new talent is the strongest point. All the actors who play soldiers are unknowns — but not for long. Nicholas Cascone, as the pokerist in "Home," has a face only a mother could love. But he imparts his character with such an infectious personality, it haunts long after the character's death.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

This 'SB' actress started her career on PBS drama

By Kimberly Redmond

Can you tell me something about Marcy Walker, the actress who portrays Eden Capwell on "Santa Barbara"? — L.T., Fredonia, N.Y.

Marcy Walker

Walker's acting career began when she went to New York from Illinois to audition for a role in the PBS production "Life on the Mississippi." She got the part and went on to appear as Lara Colby on "All My Children." She appeared in that part for over three years before she gave it up and moved to California. Almost immediately, she landed the role of Eden on "SB."

Walker is married to Billy Warlock, who plays Frankie on "Days of Our Lives."

Where can I write to Deidre Hall since she's no longer portraying Marlena Brady on "Days of Our Lives"? — M.L., Rochester, N.Y.

You can write to Hall, who now co-stars on the NBC series "Our House," c/o Lori Mar, 3970 Overland Ave., Culver City, CA 90230.

Deidre Hall

Can you tell me why Lisa Brown (Iva Snyder on "As the World Turns"), gave up her role as Nola Reardon on "Guiding Light"? — S.H., Baton Rouge, La.

At the time Brown had decided to give up her role of Nola, "GL" was going through a change in head writers, so the character was phased out of the show. Ironically, Douglas Marland, the head writer of "ATWT," created both Iva Snyder and Nola Reardon for Brown.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

BEHIND THE SCENES

Comedian Stuart Pankin: Necessarily a funny guy

By Frank Lovece

Now that HBO's "Not Necessarily the News" has gone from a half-hour every month to an hour four times a year, does this mean the "NNTN" troupe has grown tired of biting satire and topical humor? As funnyman Stuart Pankin points out, "Not necessarily."

Stuart Pankin

"The one-hour specials themselves are gonna be here at least through this year, with four shows, and through '88, with five," asserts Pankin. "Whether any or all of us will be along for the whole ride isn't real certain — I mean, who can tell now what's happening in late '88? Not Gary Hart or George Bush! Most of us are committed show to show. Personally," he says, "I have a ball with the shows."

The vagaries of cast members aside, it's nice to know "NNTN" will be around in one form or another.

Through the Reagan years, the show almost single-handedly kept political humor on TV. And lately, that particular field has grown ripe. How ripe? "You can plant seeds and get a tree tomorrow, the ground's so fertile," Pankin jokes.

Pankin received a master's degree in theater from Columbia University and has done Shakespeare both in the park and out. He says he thinks of himself more as an actor than a comedian, but the hefty performer admits that "because of my size and my attitude, I've always done comedy. I ended up doing a lot of it early on out of necessity — you're a young actor in New York, you don't turn down work."

These days, Pankin is a little more selective. He's lined up for the next two "NNTN" specials — "Not Necessarily Entertainment" and "Not Necessarily the Year in Review." He will also appear in the upcoming movies "Fatal Attraction," starring Michael Douglas, and "Burnin' Love," an improbable comedy about the Salem witch trials. And he's just starred in his own Cinemax special, which unfortunately met with downbeat reviews.

Like many comedians, Pankin yearns to do "serious stuff." But he's philosophical about comedy. "Laughs can help people," he figures. "Comedians aren't doctors or lawyers, but I think we do help people. And we certainly don't charge as much."

PUNTING IS NOT THE SOLUTION...

Some years ago a football player and his co-ed bride married in the college chapel. They had asked permission to re-write some of the wedding ceremony.

At the conclusion of the actual wedding vows, the young football star pledged, "Nancy, I promise you that I will not punt on fourth and ten, even with my back against the goal line."

What a commitment! Any football player knows that when your back is against the goal line, and it's fourth down and ten yards to go for a first down, you punt. You get out of the situation the best way you can.

That pledge should be written into every wedding ceremony. It should become a part of the marriage vows.

It speaks volumes! It says that nothing in life will cause a couple to "give up the ball." It says that they have taken the "ball of marriage" seriously and will together find ways and means to work out of any crisis that comes down the field.

Such a commitment enables a couple to search for solutions, knowing that happiness lies not only on the other side of struggle, but precisely in the struggle.

Background Scripture: Genesis 4:1-16
Devotional Reading: 1 John 3:11-18

I've never written before on the story of Cain and Abel that I haven't concentrated on Cain's jealousy and violence toward his brother or his eternally loaded question: "...am I my brother's keeper?" But this time I want to direct your attention to a portion of the story that is often overlooked and neglected: the consequences for Cain.

Condemned by God to be a "fugitive" and "wanderer," Cain cries out: "My punishment is greater than I can bear" (4:13). Cain fears that he will be a target for violence wherever he goes—how interesting that he fears the very thing that he has done! But God assures him, "Not so! If anyone slays Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold." Genesis goes on to tell us: "And the Lord put a mark on Cain lest any who came upon him should kill him" (4:15).

THE MARK OF CAIN

What does all this mean? No one can say for sure, but there are various interpretations of this story and its significance. Some have regarded it as meaning that, despite his heinous crime, Cain was still "special" to the Lord. Others have interpreted God's response as a way of prolonging Cain's punishment. But to me, it is essential that we understand the meaning of this story.

tially about judgement and redemption.

Cain has sinned—jealousy, anger, resentment, violence, deception—and according to God's judgement, there will be consequences to pay. Even if Cain is still "special" in God's sight, as some have suggested, God will not set aside these consequences. (If God had slain Cain on the spot for this cold-blooded murder, we would have a good proof-text for capital punishment—but he didn't!)

So, Cain is condemned to live with his sin. Life will be hard for him from this time forth, but not impossible. With God's "mark" upon him, he can still do something worthwhile with his life. And Genesis tells us, "Then Cain dwelt in the land of Nod, east of Eden" (4:16).

Isn't that where all of us dwell—because of sin, no longer in Eden, but "east" of it in the land of Nod where we may still know God's redemption while living with the consequences of our sins, mistakes and failures? In that sense, perhaps all of us wear "the mark of Cain," a symbol that reminds us of both God's judgement and his redeeming love.

Goldstein's Office Seeks To Return Unclaimed Funds

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has announced there are 8,530 citizens of Maryland who are due uncollected insurance benefits or unclaimed funds from banks or other businesses.

"We're trying to reach these individuals through newspaper ads which will be appearing throughout Maryland over the next two weeks," Goldstein said.

The ads ran the week of September 7 and are running again this week in The Republican.

The comptroller noted that approximately $1.8 million in insurance benefits and bank accounts is waiting to be claimed by the individuals being sought or their legitimate heirs. "The unclaimed insurance benefits generally result from matured endowment policies taken out on children while they were young," he said. "Sometimes, the payments are not kept up, but the policy still has a cash value that may be claimed."

Goldstein noted that, while most of the unclaimed funds are insurance benefits, his office is also seeking the apparent owners of some unclaimed bank accounts, such as checking or savings accounts where there has been no activity for five years. Fiscal year 1987 set records as $1.7 million in unclaimed funds was reunited with 2,116 rightful owners. Increased audit efforts by the Comptroller's Office and greater awareness by holders of accounts about reporting requirements contributed to this success. Financial institutions and insurance companies are required to report these items to the State Comptroller's Office if they remain unclaimed for five years. "We advertise the names of the apparent rightful owners in the county of last known address," Goldstein said. "However, Maryland's law is custodial, meaning that there is no time limit under which the property or its monetary equivalent may be claimed."

THE JUBILATION GOSPEL QUARTET will appear at the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, McHenry, on Sunday, September 20, at 7 p.m. The group began singing in 1966 and they all agree that they "feel a definite call from God to go out and spread the gospel in song." They fill approximately 110 engagements a year at churches, civic organizations and fairs, traveling more than 12,000 miles. The spouses travel with the quartet as much as possible. Members of the group include: Jim Glover, first tenor; Gene Street, lead; Delford Crowe, baritone; Pete Pruitt, bass; Dottie Street, pianist; and Keith Miller, bass guitar.

The comptroller also noted that his office is sending notices by mail to 3,071 individuals for whom an address is available. "The next two weeks are a good time to keep an eye on your mailbox and on the ad pages of the newspaper," he said.

Tax Amnesty Offices To Be Open Friday

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced that Tax Amnesty offices in all 15 branches of the State Comptroller's office will remain open to help taxpayers on Friday, September 11, while most other state offices will be closed in observance of De-fenders Day.

All of the offices, plus the toll-free Amnesty hot line - 1-800-MD TAXES, (301-974-3758 outside of Maryland) will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

"Maryland's Tax Amnesty is a one-time opportunity for taxpayers to clear up unpaid tax obligations for certain liabilities without civil or criminal penalty. Since Amnesty has less than two months left - through October 31, 1987 - we want to keep our offices open on the holiday so that more Marylanders will have the chance to come forward and come clean," said Comptroller Goldstein.

Yoder Resigns As Choral Director

The Casselman Valley Choral Society announces the resignation of John Yoder, conductor of the choir since its founding in 1975. Members of the choir were notified last week.

The choir's Board of Directors has no plans to dissolve the organization at this time, and is seeking a conductor to succeed Yoder. While no concert is planned for this fall, it is hoped that rehearsals can resume in 1988 in preparation for a spring concert.

Tax Amnesty Has Successful Start, Says Goldstein

"With $50,000 rolling on 'day one', Maryland's Tax Amnesty Program got off on the right foot," according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

The eleven taxpayers who filed for tax amnesty on September 1, the first day of the program, ranged from a College Park resident who paid $23 in tax and interest on a 1985 income tax liability, to an individual who forked over more than $18,000 for five tax years.

One taxpayer, who paid some $1,100 in amnesty-eligible tax and interest for four years, discovered, with the help of state income tax experts, that he is entitled to a refund for other years.

Individual income taxpayers weren't the only ones to "come forward and come clean" under tax amnesty. Payments of over $17,000 came in from sales tax accounts.

Phone calls were also coming in hot and heavy, according to the comptroller.

A total of "113 phone calls came in to our toll-free 1-800-MD TAXES hot line on September 1," Goldstein said, "bringing the total to almost 500 calls since the line opened on August 19. The lines have been getting busier and busier, indicating that more and more Marylanders are aware of tax amnesty, know that amnesty has started, and think they can take advantage of it."

The comptroller reminded taxpayers that tax amnesty covers the following tax obligations due prior to December 31, 1986: individual income tax, including the local piggyback tax; employer withholding tax; corporation income tax; sales and use tax; admissions and amusement tax; and boat excise tax.

"I also want to remind folks that tax amnesty ends on October 31, 1987," Goldstein said. "And I urge taxpayers who think they are eligible for amnesty not to wait until the last days to file."

"If you need help filing your returns, or if there is a discrepancy that needs to be corrected, you may be too late to obtain amnesty. So call 1-800-MD TAXES in Maryland or (301) 974-3758 outside Maryland, or visit one of our offices, today."

Marylanders can find tax amnesty forms and information at the 15 offices of the State Comptroller, the six regional offices of the Department of Natural Resources, banks, libraries, Giant Food stores, and many Post Offices around the state.

W-4A Deadline Drawing Near

There is less than one month left to comply with the new tax law requirement to file a new 1987 Form W-4A, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate. Workers must submit a completed form to their employer by October 1, 1987.

Employers who do not receive a new withholding certificate from their employees by the October 1 deadline are to automatically withhold on the basis of one allowance if the person is single or a maximum of two allowances for married taxpayers, even though the employee may have been allowed more allowance had they submitted the new W-4A form.

Because of changes in the tax law brought about by the Tax Reform Act of 1986, the tax being withheld from employees' pay may no longer be correct.

Many of the deductions and credits taxpayers used in the past to claim additional withholding allowances have been either reduced or eliminated.

In addition, more accurate withholding is necessary because the new law requires taxpayers to pay at least 90% of their tax during the year through withholding or estimated tax payments. Under prior law, taxpayers had to pay in only 80%. If less than 90% of the tax liability has not been withheld or paid by the end of the year then the taxpayer could have a significant tax bill plus a penalty. There is no penalty for over withholding that results in a refund.

Employees may obtain a W-4A from their employer or from their nearest IRS office.

Two Sentenced In District Court By Judge Tourney

During Garrett County District Court proceedings this past week, two men received one-year suspended sentences from Judge Jack R. Turney.

Robert Piles, 23, McHenry, received the sentence after he had been found guilty, in a previous hearing, of battery. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered at the time. He was also placed on 24 months supervised probation.

The charge was filed by Jerry D. Chess, Accident, following a May 3 incident in McHenry in which he reported that Piles had ignited his gasoline-soaked shirt sleeve after Chess had spilled the liquid on himself while working underneath a car.

Chess stated that he suffered second- and third-degree burns as a result and required medical treatment. Piles was represented by Lisa C. Thayer.

Adrien Spiker, 43, Friendsville, also received a one-year suspended sentence after having been found guilty, in a previous trial, of battery. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered.

Spiker was then placed on 18 months supervised probation and ordered to pay a $100 fine and court costs.

William M. Riley, Deer Park, filed the charge as a result of a June 7 incident of last year when Spiker reportedly assaulted and battered him causing lacerations to his leg. Riley reported that he required surgery as a result. The incident occurred at Deep Creek Lake. Michael R. Morrisette represented Spiker.

In other court news, Wilda E. Dillsworth, Aurora, W.Va., was given six months unsupervised probation before judgment after she was found guilty of battery in a previous hearing. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered at the time. She was also ordered to pay a $25 fine and court costs.

Wilma A. Armstrong, Oakland, filed the charge against Dillsworth following a May 12 incident in Bloomington when she was reportedly assaulted and battered by Dillsworth.

Joanne L. Morgan, 39, Keyser, W.Va., was found guilty of forging a private document and was placed on six months unsupervised probation as a result. She was also fined $5 and ordered to pay court costs.

She was charged by Sgt. R.E. Friend of the Maryland State Police after she reportedly forged a personal check July 22 in the amount of $250 at the Accident branch of Garrett National Bank.

A charge of uttering a false document was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement. John R. Toston, public defender, represented Morgan.

David Wayne Troshack, 29, Deer Park, was found guilty of one count of breaking and entering and one count of destruction of property, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. A second count of breaking and entering was not prosecuted.

The charges were filed by

Alice Guthrie, Oakland, following an incident in Oakland when Troshack reportedly broke into Guthrie's residence, damaging a door frame and door chain there.

A pre-sentence investigation was also ordered for Carroll Lee Uphold, 42, Oakland, after he was found guilty of two counts of battery. The charges were filed by Barbara A. Uphold, also of Oakland, following a June 22 incident at their residence.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered after Elizabeth A. Reed, 26, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of disturbance of the peace. The charge was filed by Jennie Mayle, also of Mtn. Lake Park, after a July 27 incident there when Reed allegedly disturbed the neighborhood by making loud and unseemly noises. Toston was the defending attorney.

A total of six counts filed against Rodney J. Uphold, 24, Oakland, were not prosecuted because of insufficient evidence. Uphold had been charged with assault with intent to murder, destruction of property and assault by Jeffrey G. Meyers, Oakland, in one case, and with assault with intent to murder, battery and assault by Rhonda R. Uphold, also of Oakland, in another case.

The charges were filed following an incident June 20 in which the complainants reported that Uphold chased them in his vehicle, shooting at them twice, and passed their vehicle, a 1983 Chevrolet S10 pick-up truck, damaging it. Toston was the defending attorney.

A charge of battery, filed against Douglas D. Hinebaugh, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, was placed on the Stet Docket after the complainant, Shari L. Hinebaugh, Oakland, did not wish to pursue the charge.

A bad check charge, filed against Mary Crosby, 22, Deer Park, was also placed on the Stet Docket after the check was made good. The charge was filed after she reportedly wrote a check at Brownings, Inc., Oakland, May 17.

Office On Aging Deputy Director Visits County

Richard F. Kirchner, Deputy Director of the Maryland Office on Aging, made a visit to the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging on August 26.

During his visit, Kirchner discussed several aging issues which are of concern to the state office as well as local agencies.

In addition to meeting with the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging Director, Adina Brode, Kirchner met with Duane Yoder, executive director of the Community Action Committee, Inc. Among the topics of discussion were the efforts undertaken by state and local officials to increase services to the elderly of Garrett County.

Kirchner toured the Oakland Senior Citizen Center and the future Senior/Community Center in Accident, which is presently undergoing renovation.

The new center in Accident is located in the Old Accident School and is expected to be completed in approximately six months.

AURORA-EGILON NEWS

Hear Indian Expert
The Mountain Lions Club had as a guest Richard Spencer at the September 3 meeting held at the Aurora Community Building with the Aurora Extension Homemakers serving the dinner.

Spencer, an employee of Island Creek Coal Corp., participates in rendezvous held throughout West Virginia. Dressed in Indian costume of loin cloth and breast plate, he described the making of costumes and accessories which he completes for his own use. He has done thorough research into primitive Indian ways to be sure that all is authentic. His Indian name is Turkey Toes, derived from his breast plate made of turkey claws.

Mr. Spencer gave a lot of background information about the American Indian gleaned from his research and showed how to light fire by using a flint.

He also displayed a scrapbook of pictures taken at previous rendezvous.

Receives National Recognition
Woodland Works, a local craft shop operated by the Newberry family — Ivan, Teresa and Rachel — has been asked for permission to advertise their products in a gift brochure prepared by Stars and Stripes, and intended for military personnel stationed in remote areas to use in selecting gifts for their families.

They were contacted last week by Bill Murdock of the Stars and Stripes Chicago Office. The offer came about as a result of an ad placed in Country Sampler, a publication of craft items available, earlier this year. They also have been contacted by a North Carolina firm who wishes to photograph some of their items for inclusion in their publication.

Woodland Works is located near the Brookside intersection of U.S. 50 and Rt. 24 on which it is located. They carry a variety of craft items, but with an emphasis on wooden ware mainly in the country theme.

Potato Festival
On September 12 the Mt. Grove VFD is sponsoring the annual Potato Festival with crowning of Queen Farina, Little Miss Farina and King Potato, potato contests, entertainment, food, and activities slated for all day at the Mt. Grove Community on U.S. 219 south of Silver Lake.

Homemaker News
Egion Extension Homemakers learned from their study topic, "Talking to Your Doctor," several ways of improving communication with their doctor. Their meeting was at the Egion Memorial Building on September 1 and Rebecca Teets was director of the discussion pertaining to the subject. Included in her presentation was a skit with patient and doctor, showing an effective way to communicate.

Opening devotions for the meeting were read by Mary Rembold, the hostess. Her theme, "Take One Step at a Time," was followed by a poem read by Sandra Hauser on "School Days," appropriate for the first day of school.

The committee to give fund raising suggestions reported and it was decided to make the final commitment to Preston Memorial Hospital by out-pocket donations. Membership dues were paid, including monies for Pennies for Friendship and Student Fund. The condolence committee asked that some guidelines be formed and it was determined that gifts would be purchased only for members and not immediate family.

The hostess showed a bird feeder made by her father-in-law and her son and served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Avenell Parsons, whose birthday was that day. A new member, Norma McCombs, was welcomed to the club.

Concluding with The Club Collect, announcement was made that the next meeting will be October 6 with Lettie Bonner and Lillian Knotts as hostesses and Linda Lewis presenting the topic, "Altering to Fit."

In attendance were Nina Layman, Mildred Wilt, Lorraine Fike, Ardis Teets, Ruth Teets, Brenda Hartsell, Jean Winters and children, Allen Hartsell, Craig Rembold and Sara Lewis, in addition to those previously named.

Personal Mention
Melody Stemple, daughter of Erwin and Mary Stemple of Stemple Ridge, is now a freshman student at Fairmont State College. Entering Bridgewater College in Bridgewater, Va., last week was Elizabeth Whitehair, daughter of Walter and Jeanne Whitehair, Youghiogheny Forest.

Ellis and Marie Teets visited last week for a few days with their daughter and family, Martha and Merlin Reish, Micah, Matthew and Marilyn. Carl and Cynthia Bachtel of Horse Shoe Run, were guests of Vermeer Manufacturing Company at their Des Moines, Iowa, plant for a factory tour and dealer school the first week in September. Carl is a local dealer for the Vermeer round balers and other products.

Robert and Eva Middleton departed August 27 from the home of her sister, Lydia Harsh, at Aurora. They were taken to Akron by their nephew, Melvin Harsh, where they were met by Mrs. Middleton's son for the return trip to Mio, Mich.

Beulah Hardesty has returned to her home on Mt. Top after being a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital last week.

Donald Wotring of Mt. Top has been transferred from Preston Memorial Hospital to a Morgantown hospital.

Kevin Shahan remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital but is improving and hopeful of returning soon to his home.

Raymond Frantz Sr., was released Tuesday from Garrett County Memorial, as were Claude Harsh and Nellie Harsh this past week.

Palma Garrett of Egion, underwent surgery September 2, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she is recuperating.

Word was received of the death of Beulah Evans Myers of Ridgeley, on September 2, born in Davis, September 25, 1924, she was a daughter of Laura V. Roth Evans of Cumberland and Ray B. Evans. She was a former resident of Horse Shoe Run and attended Aurora High School. Also surviving is her husband, James R. Myers, two brothers and five sisters. Services were on September 5, at Bethel U.M. Church and interment was in Texas Cemetery, Horse Shoe Run.

Durben Awarded Merit Scholarship

Christopher L. Durben, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Durben, Oakland, has been awarded an Academic Merit Award to attend Frostburg State University. The scholarship, given to Maryland residents who have demonstrated outstanding ability in high school, is based solely on academic merit and not financial need.

Durben will receive free tuition for his freshman academic year and will be eligible to participate in the University's Honors Program. Eligibility requirements for the award include a combined Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) score of 1100 or more, a Test of Standard Written English (TSWE) score of no less than 50, and a minimum high school cumulative average of 3.25 on a 4.0 scale.

Durben was graduated last spring from Southern High School where he was a member of the National Honor Society and involved in the society's tutoring program.

He plans to study mathematics at Frostburg.

CONSTANT RINGING
The term "tinnitus" refers to hissing, ringing, buzzing or clicking noises inside the head. Loud and continuous tinnitus is a terrible affliction because there is no respite from it. Tinnitus is a symptom of injury or disease. Consequently, treatment begins with thorough medical and hearing evaluations. Quite often, tinnitus and hearing loss occur together. Hearing aids sometimes give relief from tinnitus, and much has been done with tinnitus "maskers". Tests are first done to define tinnitus frequencies. Then, an appropriate masker is chosen. This provides a "white noise" set at the proper frequency which masks the offending ringing sound. Some, but not all, sufferers find this helpful.

If you suffer from hearing loss ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES, offers the hearing assist devices that allow a return to the sounds that are important to your lifestyle and happiness. To learn more about available resources for your hearing difficulties, we urge you to call ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATE today. Payment plans arranged.

Loud noises and some drugs such as aspirin in large doses and quinine cause ringing in the ears.

Maryland AIDS Cases Expected To Rise 20-30%

The number of reported Maryland AIDS cases is expected to increase by 20 to 30 percent as a result of the Centers for Disease Control's (CDC) revised definition of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), according to the AIDS Administration of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The revised AIDS case definition was published in the August 14 supplement of CDC's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report during mid-August and was implemented nationally on September 1.

"The expanded definition should provide a more accurate depiction of the scope and impact of the AIDS epidemic in Maryland and the United States," said Cyrus Hamidi, epidemiologist for the AIDS Administration. "The revised AIDS case definition will help the AIDS Administration in planning for the needed services."

In brief, the AIDS case definition has been expanded to include persons in whom the central nervous system is directly affected by Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), the virus that causes AIDS, persons who have severe involuntary weight loss caused by HIV, and persons who have tuberculosis in body locations other than the chest or lungs. In order to meet the criteria for the definition, the patients must also test positive for HIV.

Prior to the revised AIDS definition, persons who tested positive for HIV having the aforementioned conditions were diagnosed as having AIDS Related Complex (ARC) and were not reportable under Maryland law.

The "Maryland AIDS Update," the State's monthly AIDS statistical/epidemiological newsletter, will begin to reflect the additional AIDS cases in the September 30, 1987 issue, according to Hamidi, who is also the editor of the "Maryland AIDS Update."

In Maryland, health care providers, including physicians, hospitals and medical examiners, are required by law to report confirmed AIDS cases to local health officers.

Beer Wholesalers Meeting At Wisp

The Maryland Beer Wholesalers Association will hold its Annual Conference this weekend, September 11-13, at the Wisp Resort, McHenry.

Executive Director of the association, George N. Manis, explains the gathering brings together Maryland Beer Wholesalers, their suppliers, local representatives of major breweries and several state legislators to participate in panel discussions on issues facing the industry. The conference's keynote speaker will be Benjamin Steinman from the publication Beer Marketer's Insight. He will detail the "State of the Beer Industry."

Besides the business program, the annual meeting will feature a golf tournament and the many recreational activities available at the Wisp Resort.

County Native Self-Publishes Book Of Poetry

A former Mtn. Lake Park resident has recently published a book of poetry entitled, "Is It The Onions Making Life Pungent?" The book is available locally at Eileen's Country Market, Mtn. Lake Park.

Marijane (Gnegy) Ricketts, the author who now resides in Kensington, was born and reared in Mtn. Lake Park and was a 1942 graduate of Oakland High School.

She is married to Aubrey E. Ricketts and they are the parents of two grown children, David and Jeni. They have also earned the status of grandparents as each of their children has a child.

Mrs. Ricketts says she wrote poetry for years but kept it hidden during the years she was rearing her family and working full time for Montgomery County schools.

She didn't begin publishing her works until 1983. Her retired husband helps with the housework so she can continue writing.

In the beginning, she said her poems sold for a pittance and came out in print completely restructured. She stopped marketing her poems and entered poetry contests instead to seek evaluation of her poetry and to gain self-confidence. As her confidence grew, she considered self-publication.

Of her self-published book, she remarks, "If there's an overall theme in the book, it might be that life doesn't have to be perfect to be satisfying — nor do people; that annoyances sometimes turn into blessings if we can allow ourselves another perspective."

Dr. Dave Arnold To Lead Services At Local Church

Evangelist Dave Arnold will be in revival services with the Mtn. Lake Park Independent Baptist Church during the week of September 13-18. The services will be held nightly at 7:30 p.m. plus 11 a.m. on Sunday. The public is invited.

After graduating from Bob Jones University in 1967 with a bachelor of arts degree in Bible, Dr. Arnold was called to pastor the Bible Baptist Church in Kreamer, Pa., (a small town of 200), where he served for 14 years. The church grew from a beginning average attendance of 20 to almost 600 under his leadership.

Dr. Arnold is the founder and president of Pennsylvania Association of Accelerated Christian Education (PACE). He is also on the Executive Committee of Pennsylvanians for Biblical Morality and is on the Board of Directors of Baptist Bible College in Puerto Rico.

In 1980, he received a doctor of divinity degree from Fairhaven Baptist College, Chester, Ind.

Dr. Arnold now makes his home in Chambersburg, Pa., with his wife, Gloria, and their three children: David, Rebecca and Peter.

School Hearing Tests Scheduled In Grant County

Hearing screening will be conducted in the Grant County Public School System beginning September 16 for the following children: kindergartens and referrals from grades 1-12.

This screening will be conducted by Elaine McPeake, Wendy DeCass and Cynthia Harman, speech and language pathologists.

Hearing screening will consist of pure tone measurements and a test of middle ear function.

To obtain pure tone measurements, the child listens to three pitches in each ear presented at approximately half the loudness of normal conversational speech.

During middle-ear testing, a soft, small rubber cuff attached to the measuring instrument is placed in the outer ear canal. Mild air pressure and a tone will be applied to the ear to measure the movement of the eardrum.

Children suspected of having problems may be rescreened within 21 days.

Parents who do not wish to have their children tested should notify Becky Hammer at 257-1011 before September 16.

Two Found Guilty, Sentenced On DWI Charges

Two persons were sentenced recently during Garrett County District Court, traffic court proceedings, after Judge Jack R. Turney found each of them guilty on driving while intoxicated charges.

Cecil Cyrus Simmons, 62, received a 90-day suspended sentence and was placed on 18 months supervised probation. He was also given a $500 fine and ordered to pay court costs.

Simmons was arrested April 15 on Rt. 50 west of Table Rock Road.

Francis Paul Weber, 36, received the same sentencing, probation and fines after he was found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) while intoxicated. He had been arrested June 7 while traveling southbound on Rt. 219 at Hoes Road.

The following persons were found guilty of driving while intoxicated and were each fined $500 ($300 of which was suspended) and placed on 12 months supervised probation.

Donald William Falkner, 36, was arrested May 23 on Rt. 39 west of Oakland.

Michael Curtis Fitzwater, 28, was arrested April 18 while traveling eastbound on Rt. 135 at Boiling Springs Road.

Barbara Jean Moe, 41, was arrested April 22 while southbound on Rt. 219 south of Mayhew Inn Road.

John Arthur Edge, 32, and Ernest Wayne Welch, 24, were each found guilty of driving under the influence of alcohol, fined $500 ($300 of which was suspended) and placed on 12 months supervised probation.

Edge was arrested February 25 on Rt. 560 north of Gorman and Welch was arrested April 17 on Rt. 135 at the Southern States parking lot.

Donald Ray Park, 27, and Dixie Diane Spear, 45, were each found guilty of violation of probation after they had been found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Park was given an extended probation time of 18 months and Spear was given an extended probation time of one year. Franklin Paul Skipper, 25, and Clifford Ray Bittinger, 26, were found guilty of violation of probation charges but no sentencing was incurred.

A charge of driving (or attempting to drive) while under the influence of alcohol, filed against Joseph Greco, 65, was not prosecuted because of insufficient evidence. He had been arrested May 9 on Rt. 42 north of Rt. 219.

Pleasant View To Host Veterans

Local veterans will be honored this Sunday, September 13, at 10:45 a.m. during the worship service of the Pleasant View Baptist Church.

The disabled American Veterans Mountain Top Unit 25 and auxiliary will be present for their annual "Forget-Me-Not Day". All veterans are invited to come and be recognized for their service to the country.

Pleasant View is located two miles south of Oakland along U.S. Rt. 219. For more information, persons may call 334-8515.

Will There Be A Milk Shortage This Fall? Well, Maybe; But Maybe Not

Although a nation-wide milk surplus still exists, regional milk shortages are being anticipated this fall by dairies in the east and southeastern United States. A list of reasons is being blamed for this expected shortage, including the Dairy Termination Program, additional Class I sales by some dairies, a general economic exodus from the dairy industry, and the drought which hit many parts of the east and southeast this summer for the second year in a row.

Several local dairy reps see the anticipated shortage differently. Edgar Dashiell, assistant manager of Potomac Farms in Cumberland, feels that it is too early to tell. "There may be (a milk shortage), there may not be. It's kind of a wait and see situation," he said.

Potomac Farms shippers reside within a 100-mile radius of the plant, including such areas as Garrett County and Frederick in Maryland, Petersburg, Romney and Martinsburg in West Virginia. Dashiell explained that when the federal order goes up, dairies pay more; when it drops, they pay less. "We'll keep our fingers crossed," he said.

Al Murray, dairy rep for Fikes Dairy in Uniontown, Pa., says that this area is not experiencing that great of a shortage now, and what shortage exists is from the drought more than anything. "I don't know that the buyout (Dairy Termination Program) has hurt any milk production (in this area)," Murray said.

Murray did say, however, that 95 trailer loads of milk from the mid-west have been sent to the eastern and southeastern states, and "that is unheard of this time of year." Looking ahead to the fall and winter, Murray said that milk prices will probably go up but not much before the later part of November and December. He doesn't see consumer prices rising, however, not in the near future, at least.

Eugene Matthews, manager of Tablelands Milk Producers, Inc. in Oakland, says the situation looks a little worse to him. "There's going to be a tremendous shortage of milk," he said. Tablelands, a Class II dairy, ships milk to a plant in Virginia which normally takes in 40 tankers of milk a day and is now only receiving six tankers.

His answer is for the government to get out of the dairy industry and stay out. "The industry should rely on supply and demand. When tators are cheap, don't plant them," he said.

Jim Fitzwater, field rep for Dairymen, Inc., reports that a meeting was held with Dairymen's fluid milk customers to deal with the shortage that has already started showing up in the southern states. The company's board of directors also approved a "fall incentive program," which is aimed at rewarding those producers who increase their fall production in proportion to their spring production.

Dairymen is telling their shippers, "this is an ideal time to consider increasing production or encouraging a neighbor to begin shipping milk to Dairymen."

All-Game Horse Show Planned

An All-Game Horse Show, sponsored by the United Saddle Club, will be held at the Island Creek Park on Saturday, September 12.

The show will begin at 6 p.m. at the park, located between Bayard and Thomas, W.Va., with prize money, ribbons and trophies.

The public is invited to attend free of charge.

GARRETT COUNTY Cooperative Extension Service FARM-O-GRAM

by Jim Simms
Extension Agent, Agriculture Science

Be On The Lookout for Johnson grass!

Tuesday, the Maryland Department of Agriculture contacted me that they found Johnson grass growing in the Friendsville area. This is one pest problem we certainly don't need in Garrett County. In all likelihood the seed was imported into the county through purchased grain. MDA said the grass had been growing and spreading for at least a couple of years. They sprayed the area with a herbicide. If you find Johnson grass anywhere the MDA will spray with herbicide free of charge.

Update on Nitrates in Corn

I feel we are over the "hump" on nitrates. All of the rainfall has helped the corn plant to use up the excess supply of nitrates. Most of the samples tested are coming back negative or very small amounts of nitrates.

Potash on Alfalfa

Dr. Les Vough's research at the University of Maryland over the past few years has shown that potash promotes winter hardiness in alfalfa plants. Since alfalfa has been on a severe stress from dry weather and the potato leafhopper, an application of 20 lbs. of potash per acre would be beneficial.

Did You Know That . . .

—Every bushel of corn leaves 56 lbs. of plant residue behind in the field. A 100-bushel-per-acre corn crop produces 5,600 lbs. of residue per acre (4,760 lbs. of dry matter). Grazing beef cattle on corn residue in the field will result in approximately 35% recovery of the residue. At an expected dry matter intake per cow of 17 lbs., each acre of corn residue could support the grazing of a 25 cow herd for approximately four days.

—A 56 lb. bushel of corn provides enough high-fructose corn syrup to sweeten 275 cans of cola and enough corn oil to make two pounds of margarine.

Americans consume an average of 58 pounds of chicken a year per person.

Farming In Maryland

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

BEEF DONATED TO BURLINGTON HOME — The Buffalo Coal Company, Bayard, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hanlin of Mt. Storm, W. Va., joined together to donate a 1400-pound Black Angus cross steer to the Burlington United Methodist Home. "George" was auctioned off on August 8 at the 1987 Tri-County Fair in Petersburg, W. Va. The Buffalo Coal Company purchased the beef for 91 cents a pound and was represented at the auction by Mrs. Karen Keppeler of Keppeler Lime Company, Maysville, W. Va. "George" was raised and provided by Wallace and Frances Hanlin. Wayne Kitzmiller of Mt. Storm exhibited the animal. Burlington Home Administrator Gary Wilson said, "We are very grateful to the Buffalo Coal Company, and to Mr. and Mrs. Hanlin for making it possible for the Home to receive such a fine and needed contribution. We serve nearly 40,000 meals per year to our children. Needless to say, we consume a lot of meat. "George" will serve us well. Pictured left to right with George are: Karen Keppeler, representing Buffalo Coal Co.; Wilson; Andrea Kedrick, 1987 Queen of the Tri-County Fair; and Kitzmiller.

NEW OUTBREAKS OF POTOMAC HORSE FEVER ALARM HORSE LOVERS AND EXPERTS

The sudden death of a valued horse to Potomac Horse Fever is more than a financial hardship for owners, it's the loss of a cherished friend. Owners believe that horses are safe from this swift, terrifying disease because they don't live in known "pockets" of infection could have tragic consequences. With the vector (the insect transmitter) unknown, detection difficult, and horses traveling widely, equine experts are concerned.

Spreading rapidly

Potomac Horse Fever has now been confirmed in 29 states and fatal cases have broken out recently across the nation, catching many people unaware. In Spokane, Washington, disease outbreaks struck two stables, causing one death; as veterinarians await confirming tests, they are treating for PHF. In Michigan, a horse came down with PHF symptoms and had to be destroyed, leading to the last minute cancellation of a Hunt Club horse show and a scramble for vaccine. In New York, there have been confirmed outbreaks in a half dozen farms.

According to Dr. Jean Sessions, a Maryland veterinarian and one of the most active PHF educators, widespread testing is turning up large numbers PHF-positive horses in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

"Blood testing has confirmed the disease in more than 150 horses in the four-state area," she reports. "Although aggressive vaccination has cut the number of active cases compared to last year, there have been at least eight deaths this year."

Colic, respiratory problems now seen as symptoms

The classic symptoms of PHF include depression, lack of appetite and fever followed by the sudden, acute onset of "pneumonia" diarrhea, which may lead to laminitis or "founder."

However, with wider availability of confirming tests, many cases of PHF are being diagnosed among horses with different symptoms. Dr. Sessions recently confirmed PHF in an New Jersey stable where horses were ill with an unknown respiratory disease. In Spokane, Washington, several cases of apparent colic are now believed to be PHF, on the basis of response to tetra-cycline therapy. This leads experts like Dr. Sessions to worry that many cases of PHF are going undetected.

Vaccination provides peace of mind

Until the method of transmission is discovered, it will be virtually impossible to predict accurately what horses are at risk for PHF. With vaccination often less expensive and more rapid than current testing methods, many practitioners and equine experts are now recommending widespread vaccination, as well as close monitoring of horses for symptoms during peak summer months, as the best way to prevent this killer from claiming more lives.

"So God Made A Farmer"

Editor's Note: The following poem, by an unknown author, was submitted by Garrett County's 1987 Farm Queen, Lori Dodge.

"And on the eighth day, God looked down on his planned paradise and said, 'I need a caretaker.' So God made a farmer."

"God said, 'I need somebody willing to get up before dawn, milk cows, work all day in the field, milk cows again, eat supper, then go to town and stay past midnight at a meeting of the school board.' So God made a farmer."

"I need somebody with arms strong enough to wrestle a calf and yet gentle enough to deliver his own grandchild. Somebody to call hogs, tame cantankerous machinery, come home hungry, have to wait lunch until his wife's done feeding visiting ladies, then tell the ladies to be sure and come back real soon and mean it." So God made a farmer.

"God said, 'I need somebody willing to sit up all night with a newborn colt and watch it die, then dry his eyes and say, 'Maybe next year.' I need somebody who can shape an ax handle from a persimmon sprout, shoe a horse with a hunk of car tire, who can make harness out of hay wire, feed sacks and shoe scraps. Who during planting time and harvest season will finish his 40-hour week by Tuesday noon and then paining from tractor back, put in another 72 hours.' So God made a farmer."

"God had to have somebody willing to ride the rats at double speed to get the hay in ahead of the rain clouds and yet stop in mid-field and race to help when he sees the first smoke from a neighbor's place. So God made a farmer."

"God said, 'I need somebody strong enough to clear trees and heave bales, yet gentle enough to yean lambs and wean pigs and tend the pink-combed pullets, who will stop his mower for an hour to splint the broken leg of a meadowlark.'"

"It had to be somebody who'd blow deep and straight and not cut corners. Somebody to seed, weed, feed, breed and brake and disk and plow and plant and tie the fleece and strain the milk and replenish the self-feeder and finish a hard week's work with a five-mile drive to church. Somebody who'd bale a family together with the soft, strong bonds of sharing, who would laugh, and then sigh, and then reply with smiling eyes when his son says that he wants to spend his life doing what Dad does. "So God made a farmer."

FARM News & Notes

Be Protected From The Unexpected

The men and women who feed America face more than their fair share of on-the-job hazards. Studies show. Agricultural work accidents resulted in about 1,000 deaths and 170,000 disabling injuries last year. Many other farm and ranch residents and workers suffered related illnesses. Here are some safety tips from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) for National Farm Safety Week.

• A roll-over protective structure (ROPS) and safety belt should be integral parts of your farm tractor. The combination of these devices is a proven life-saver.

• Machinery guards can protect operators from the unexpected. Unplug machinery before unloading or servicing.

• Personal protective equipment (PPE), including hard hats, safety shoes with steel toes and skid-resistant soles, safety glasses, and acoustic ear muffs or inserts can prevent many injuries.

• Conduct periodic safety checks in and around buildings and lots and remove or protect hazardous materials. Not only is a well-maintained place safer, it also makes work easier.

Schaefer Honors Md. Agriculture

Maryland agriculture was recognized by Governor William Donald Schaefer as he honored conservation, preservation, and promotion programs in Frederick County on Tuesday, August 18, on the "Do It Now" bus.

The governor was accompanied by Maryland's Secretary of Agriculture, Wayne A. Cawley Jr., on a whirlwind mini-trip to the David Dotterer farm near Woodsboro. There the governor presented Dotterer with a four-foot check in partial payment of the 2,000th project completed under the Maryland Agricultural Cost-Share Program. They also visited the Catoclin Mt. Orchards, Inc. in Thurmont.

While at the Dotterer farm, Governor Schaefer also honored the 10th anniversary of the Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation, a Maryland Department of Agriculture program, which has permanently protected more than 60,000 acres of prime Maryland farmland since 1977, and has been recognized by the American Farmland Trust as the best program of its kind in the nation.

Presenting a proclamation declaring August 18 "Farmland Preservation Day" to Board of Directors Chairman William Guy, Governor Schaefer praised the program and the dedication of those farmers who participate in order to keep the Maryland farmland in agriculture.

Dotterer, who has been farming in Frederick County all his life, and is a participant in the preservation program, thanked the governor and invited him to take a look at conservation measures used on the 118-acre farm.

AG LAND PRESERVATION'S 10TH ANNIVERSARY — Governor William Donald Schaefer recently honored the 10th anniversary of the Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation while on an agricultural tour. Accompanying the governor, left to right, were the foundation's executive director, Gerald F. Talbert; board members T. Alan Stradley, Leonard Lowry, Erna Chapman, W. Max Buckel; Governor Schaefer; Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr.; and Board of Directors Chairman William I. Guy.

TELL ME YOUR STORY!

Once the sellers have decided to let a real estate professional handle the sale of their home, a very important process takes place. That process involves the agent's creating a plan to market the home which will result in the widest possible exposure to prospective homebuyers.

But, there's more to it than that. Before an agent can begin to target particular groups of possible buyers, the agent must know WHY buyers would be interested in the home. And that's where the sellers' story is so important.

One important bit of information helpful to your agent will be your own reasons for purchasing the home in the first place. "What features attracted you?" "What did you like best about the neighborhood?" "What was right about the location?"

Other information needed by your agent might be a profile of the other homeowners in the area. Are they predominantly families with children? Career couples? Young newly marrieds? Retirees?

You see, buyers for your home will probably have some of the same needs and interests as you had when you first purchased the house. Hearing what those needs and interests were, first hand from you, can be critical in formulating a plan to attract buyers now. Plan to share as much of this information as possible with your agent. It can give you a decided advantage!

Understanding real estate dilemmas and their solutions is our business, and we'll happily share our knowledge with you. Why not give us a call at 387-5303 or drop by our office at McHenry Plaza.

Dotterer then accompanied the governor to the top of a hill where Schaefer was shown grassed waterways, strips, and contours. "I don't know a thing about farming," said Schaefer, "but I'm here to learn. I see a lot about farmers polluting," said the governor, "but they are doing a lot to clean up the Bay. I'm proud of what we're doing here in Maryland," he said.

The governor then proceeded on to Catoclin Mountain Orchards in Thurmont, accompanied by Secretary Cawley, along with Martin Walsh, secretary of the Department of the Environment, where he welcomed the Harry Black family as the newest participants in the "Maryland With Pride" promotion.

Presented with a Catoclin Mt. Orchard tee-shirt sporting the "Maryland With Pride" logo under a luscious red apple, the governor remarked that Maryland peaches were the best, and he was proud to have this family-owned and operated business as part of the "Maryland With Pride" team and presented Black and his family a logo-bearing paperweight in honor of the occasion.

In the back of a red, stake-bodied truck, the governor was taken on an orchard tour, picked a bushel of peaches and learned about growing apples, nectarines, and plums.

"I want all of you to buy some of this good Maryland produce while we're here," said Governor Schaefer as the tour ended. "We must give our wholehearted support to people like these farmers who make our economy work," he concluded.

Speicher-Brown Couple United In Double-Ring Wedding Ceremony

Kristina Lynn Speicher and Douglas Ross Brown were united in marriage June 21 at St. John's United Church of Christ, Grantsville. Rev. William L. Borch officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The organist was Mrs. Patty Zimmerman and vocalists were Gerald and Sue Beachy, cousins of the bride. Charles Speicher, uncle of the bride, Laurel, read the scripture.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Speicher, Grantsville, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Vena L. Beachy, Grantsville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Brown, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an ivory gown of angel skin satin with a schiffli embroidered illusion bodice. The slightly rounded front neckline, extending to a deep "V" in back, and the short gathered sleeves and waistline were edged in scalloped lace. The gathered skirt featured a large back bow and long modified peplum. The bride's waist-length veil of illusion fell from a large, satin hair bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of light and dark pink roses, white mini-carnations with baby's breath and assorted greens.

Connie Butler, Grantsville, served as her friend's maid of honor. Laurie Hahn, cousin of the bride, Gaithersburg, was flower girl.

Douglas A. Fikse, Pittsburgh, served as his brother-in-law's best man. T. Austin Brown, nephew of the groom, Pittsburgh, was ring bearer.

A dinner reception was held at the Holiday Inn, Grantsville, following the ceremony. The three-tier cake, featuring a fountain, was baked and decorated by Mrs. Shelly Gable and served by Carol Speicher, aunt of the bride, Laurel.

Following a trip to the Bahamas, the couple now reside at Hidden Valley, Somerset, Pa.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and attended Garrett Community College. The groom is a graduate of Upper St. Clair High School and is self-employed as a general contractor.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the bridegroom at the Silver Tree Inn on Deep Creek Lake. The bride was the guest of honor at a brunch and bridal shower given by the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Martha Brown, at her home in Pittsburgh.

McKenzie-Beal Couple To Wed

Harold and Dolores McKenzie, Frostburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Connie Ellen, to Terry Lynn Beal, son of Barry and Doris Beal, Grantsville.

Miss McKenzie is a senior at Northern High School. Mr. Beal is a 1986 graduate of Northern High School and is currently attending his second year at Allegany Community College in the Media Technology program. He is also employed at Southern States and Casselman Restaurant, Grantsville.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Wilt To Wed Mr. Haines

Beverly S. Wilt, daughter of Mamie Wilt, Swanton, and the late Lawrence E. Wilt, and Jeffrey L. Haines, son of Peggy Haines, Mtn. Lake Park, and the late Arlo Haines have announced their forthcoming marriage.

The wedding is slated for this Saturday, September 12, at Paradise United Methodist Church on Sand Flat Road. A reception will follow at the couple's new home along Glendale Road.

Although no invitations were sent, the couple invites all friends and relatives to attend the ceremony and the reception.

Miss Savage To Wed Mr. Horner

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Savage, Oakland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Tracey, to Donald Horner Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Horner Sr., Deer Park.

Miss Savage is a senior attending Southern High School.

Mr. Horner is a 1987 graduate of Southern High School and is presently employed at Bausch and Lomb.

No wedding date has been set.

Richard Glatfelys Celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Glatfely, Oakland, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on August 29.

Richard and Geraldine W. Nordeck were married in 1937 at the former Lutheran Church parsonage on Pennington Street. Pastor Charles A. Shulke officiated with Ann and Minners Schoch as their attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Glatfely have lived in Oakland all of their married life. They have two daughters, Barbara Lee Glatfely Kolb (deceased), and Willard Ann Glatfely Coker, Plymouth, Mich. They have four grandchildren.

Mr. Glatfely was owner and operator of the recently-closed Glatfely's Restaurant in Oakland.

The couple was honored at a family gathering at their home along Memorial Drive.

"I PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG..." — Local students were among the millions of Americans who paused yesterday with President Reagan and recited with him the Pledge of Allegiance. The event kicked off what will actually be a four-year observance of the 200th anniversary of the signing and ratification of the U.S. Constitution. Former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Warren

Burger is the chairman of a committee which began working over a year ago to bring national awareness to the importance of the Constitution, and to better educate all citizens as to its history and contents. The photo above was taken at Dennett Road Elementary School, where students also shared patriotic skills and an enormous American flag cake (see other photos in today's issue).

County Officials Testify Against Funding Proposal

At a press conference Tuesday, Commissioner John Braskey announced that he would be going to Annapolis with Garrett County School Board officials to testify against the proposed restructuring of school construction funding.

The commissioners learned recently that a task force appointed by the Board of Public Works had proposed that, among other things, each county would be responsible for at least 25 percent of school construction projects. If the Board of Public Works approves the plan, the proposed Southern High School renovation would become a financial impossibility for the county.

The county's original cost of approximately $1.1 million would grow to nearly $2.5 million.

In his testimony yesterday, Braskey told the task force that Garrett County is "one of the least wealthy sub-divisions of the state."

"The proposal would be financially devastating to our short- and long-range goals to improve our educational facilities," he stated.

Braskey also spoke of the county commissioners' commitment to improve the quality of education and to provide facilities that many areas of the state already have.

The commissioner said the approval of that proposal could prevent the SHS renovation from being an affordable project for our county. "For us to proceed with such a project, we have to either reduce, freeze or provide minimal increases to the Board of Education's operating budget," he continued.

"What we, as a board, find most disturbing is the changing of the formula, subsequently the funding level on such a short notice. If our jurisdiction had been aware of this upcoming change, very likely no commitment would have been made to proceed with the renovation of Southern High School. Why? Because it's not affordable to a county with an annual budget of less than $14 million," he concluded. "The cost of $2.5 million equates to $.69 on the county tax rate."

Braskey went to Annapolis with Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County schools, and John Morris, assistant superintendent. All expressed the same sentiments about not changing the funding formula and how it would adversely affect the county.

Jennifer Golden To Be Crowned 20th Annual Autumn Glory Queen

Miss Jennifer Golden, Grantsville, will be crowned the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Queen, according to the Festival Committee.

Miss Golden is a senior at Northern High School, where she is active in a variety of school activities. She has served as chairman of the Public Relations Committee at the high school, served on the Student Activities and Junior Prom committees, was a Student Council member, served as Junior Varsity cheerleader, 1987 Heart Fund Queen at Northern, Homecoming Queen candidate for 1987, and Snowball Princess Candidate for the past three years.

Jennifer is currently 4-H Club president, Grantsville chapter, Varsity Cheerleading Captain and member of the Cheerleading Club, and a member of the National Honor Society and Who's Who Among American High School Students. She plans to attend college and major in business economics. Her hobbies include skiing and cheerleading and she has participated in Northern High School's Children's puppet theater in the play "The Emperor's New Clothes." She resides in Grantsville with her parents, Edward and Sonja Golden.

Jennifer will be crowned at the Autumn Glory Kick Off Reception Wednesday evening, October 7, and will be featured in the Firemen's Parade which begins at 7 p.m. Thursday, October 8, and the Grand Feature Parade, at 1 p.m. Saturday, Oc-

GCC Administrative Restructuring Being Eyed By Board Of Trustees

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees met for over three hours Tuesday night to discuss numerous topics, including the possible restructuring of the college administration schematic.

GCC President Dr. Stephen J. Herman presented to the board a proposal of basic organizational schematic of line and staff relationships to the board for their consideration and eventual approval.

The chart calls for the abolishment of the position of dean of student affairs to be replaced with a dean of college development and institutional research.

Current Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. Nancy L. Priselac would be recommended for that deanship because of her background in grant writing and program development.

The chart shows that the dean of academic affairs and controller, as well as the athletics coordinator, student services director, continuing education director and marketing personnel would report directly to the president, at least for the remainder of the year.

Dr. Herman said he is currently compiling job descriptions for all the positions listed. The board is expected to act on the proposal at the next regular meeting.

The president stressed the importance of college development and seeking out new sources of funding.

Staff Presentation
Dean of Academic Affairs Dr. Lillian Mitchell introduced to the board, business and economics instructor, John Gould, who gave a staff presentation.

Gould is beginning his third year at GCC and teaches a wide variety of business courses, including macro- and micro-economics. He was also responsible for coordinating the

MSP Confirms No Plane Crash. Search Ended

A search to locate a downed airplane in the Frazee Ridge area north of Friendsville was ended Tuesday at 2 p.m., according to First Sgt. H.W. Graham, Maryland State Police, after it was determined that the plane, in fact, did not crash.

The search was begun late Monday following an area resident's report that a small plane went down near Frazee Ridge along Rt. 42. Efforts were resumed Tuesday morning by Pennsylvania State Police until about 11 a.m. at which time Maryland State Police continued with their search until approximately 2 p.m.

Sgt. Graham stated that the woman who reported the downed plane saw flames shooting from underneath which, Graham said, could have been back-fire. Reports were also received by MSP that other residents in the area heard a loud noise at the time or saw the flash of light but a house-to-house survey in that area did not confirm that report.

Also at the scene were State Police officers, Tfc. Dale K. Williams and Tpr. R. T. Wilson, Maryland and Pennsylvania State Police helicopters, the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Rescue Squad.

As of late Tuesday afternoon, the Air Force Base in Arizona and the Federal Aviation Administration at Martinsburg, W. Va., had received no reports of downed aircraft or calls for help from that area, said Graham.

DNR To Hold Special Meeting Concerning Lake

The Department of Natural Resources will conduct a special public meeting this Saturday, September 19, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Garrett Community College auditorium, McHenry. The meeting has been entitled the Deep Creek Lake Carrying Capacity Study and Regulations Comment Forum.

Don MacLauchlan, director of the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, will give a welcome at 1 p.m. and introduce Don Detwiler, of the Urban Research and Development Corporation, who will give an overview of the lake carrying capacity study. He will explain the main purpose of the study and its progress to date and then field questions and comments from those in attendance.

There will be a break from 2:30 to 2:45, after which MacLauchlan will serve as moderator for the regulations comment forum. This portion of the meeting will offer the opportunity for persons to comment on current lake regulations.

Among the comments and concerns already received on the regulations are: boat ramps and dry storage facilities; commercial landowner use of the buffer strip; boating and lake uses, including speed zones, restricted areas and unmuffled exhaust; and common dock facilities.

Adjournment is expected at 4:45 p.m.

GCMH Receives Child Abuse Prevention Grant

To bolster Maryland's child abuse prevention efforts, Ruth Massinga, Secretary of Human Resources, has announced grants totaling $79,624, awarded by the Social Services Administration, to eight public and private agencies throughout the state.

Funded through the Community Grant Program established by the General Assembly as part of the Governor's Children and Youth Initiative, the grants will allow local agencies to initiate or expand community education projects aimed at preventing child abuse. Many of the funded projects are focused on the prevention of sexual abuse and are targeted to at-risk populations.

Governor William Donald Schaefer, commenting on the Boyfriend Charged Woman Killed While Enroute To Check Critically Injured Child

A Mtn. Lake Park woman was killed Sunday morning in an automobile accident while rushing home to check on her two-year-old son who is currently a patient at West Virginia University Hospital, Morgantown, in "critical" condition. As a result of the child being taken to the hospital, a Mtn. Lake Park man was charged with child abuse, and is being held in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Christine Louise Hedrick, 29, was killed when her 1985 Plymouth Horizon struck a tree while eastbound on Baltimore Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park. She had been working at the Sheetz convenience store in Oakland when she was called home shortly before 7 a.m. to check on her son, Blake, who reportedly fell from a crib.

Investigating officer, Tfc. Larry Rosage, Maryland State Police, stated that he was not certain how fast the car was traveling but that it was demolished on impact. Hedrick was not wearing a seatbelt at the time of the accident.

David O. Mosser, 29, Hedrick's live-in boyfriend, was arrested on charges of child abuse and battery by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department at about 3:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Mosser's bond was originally set at $25,000 but was increased to $100,000 Monday morning by Garrett County District Court Judge, Jack R. Turney. According to investigating officer, Detective Larry E. Gnevy of the Sheriff's Office, Garrett Memorial Hospital officials notified his department that the child's injuries might have been caused by child abuse.

The child, Blake E. Hedrick, was taken to WVU Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. Hospital officials declined to specify the extent of the child's injuries but informed sources indicated that the child has suffered brain damage.

Ms. Hedrick was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Herbert Leighton, Garrett County medical examiner. Autopsy results released Tuesday revealed that Hedrick died of multiple injuries.

Born in Cumberland, October 2, 1958, Ms. Hedrick was a daughter of Richard E. "Ted"

Special Request To Be Heard By Zoning Board

According to Peggy Jamison, Planner II, Garrett County Planning Commission, a public hearing will be held next Thursday, September 24, by the Deep Creek Water Shed Board of Zoning Appeals to hear a zoning appeal made by George Brodak, Oakland.

Brodak is scheduled to make his appeal under the Special Exceptions and Variance Requests section of the zoning law for an establishment owned by him on Rt. 219 located in the lake residential zone. That zone, according to Jamison, allows for the operation of a private or membership club or lodge. Brodak's appeal will be made on the premise that his establishment is similar in character, use and impact.

The Planning Commission reviewed Brodak's application at their regular meeting, held last Wednesday, September 16, and will make recommendations regarding that request at the upcoming public hearing.

The public hearing is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Garrett County Commissioners' conference room at the Court-

SUMMER'S LAST HURRAH — Inside today's issue are some rare views of hummingbirds as they were captured by the world's foremost photographer of hummingbirds, Robert Tyrrell. (The pictures above were NOT taken by Tyrrell.) From time to time, one hears of physical contact occurring between hummers and humans, although the phenomenon rarely is documented on film. Some fortunate exceptions, above, were captured at the Vena Beachy residence in Grantsville with lots of patience and considerable film. Hummingbirds' fearlessness near humans stems from their aerial agility, unmatched by any other birds. In fact, the feeding birds pictured here were perched on an observer's hand, their wings resting folded, when the camera's shutter button was pressed. At the sound of the shutter beginning to open, the birds responded so quickly they were well into retreat by the time the film was fully exposed, and even top shutter speed could not totally avoid the blur of wing tips on film. For that matter, no photographer ever had been able routinely to "freeze" a hummingbird's beating wings flawlessly — until Robert Tyrrell pioneered the techniques that make it possible. Samples of his internationally renowned work, graciously provided by Tyrrell and his wife, Esther Tyrrell, appear inside. The photos do indeed represent summer's last hurrah, for hummingbirds locally are now turning south with the turning of the seasons.

PSC Approves Potomac Edison Rate Reduction

The Public Service Commission Wednesday approved an application from Potomac Edison to reduce its base rates by $7.9 million effective October 1, 1987. At the same time the commission approved a temporary fuel surcharge to allow the company to recover $5.5 million in uncollected fuel charges. The surcharge will expire in two years.

Potomac Edison's Western Maryland customers will receive an overall decrease of about one percent in total rates.

Residential customers using electric heating will receive a one dollar a month bill reduction while non-heating customers' bills will drop about 40 cents monthly.

The commission's approval of the rate reduction is the culmination of an investigation and settlement agreement undertaken by the PSC staff and office of people's counsel.

Public service commissioner Linda M. Thomas, Frostburg, stated, "The PSC's prompt action in approving Potomac Edison's rate reduction request will insure that residents of Western Maryland receive in utility rates the benefits of the federal tax reform act and Potomac Edison's lower capital costs."

Rev. Ridenour Earns Doctor Of Ministry Degree

At graduation ceremonies held on August 8 in Evansville, Ind., the Reverend Allen C. Ridenour was awarded the Doctor of Ministry degree, summa cum laude, from Trinity Theological Seminary, Newburgh, Ind. This was the culmination of almost three years of study.

Dr. Ridenour's undergraduate studies were completed at West Virginia University, Morgantown, with a B.A. degree in sociology in 1970. His previous graduate work was completed at The Divinity School of Duke University, Durham, N.C., with a master of divinity degree in 1974.

The Reverend Doctor Ridenour has served United Methodist churches in West Virginia and North Carolina during his 20 years of ministry. He has served since 1981 as pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

He is married to the former Rita Rae Cox and they have three children: Misti, Brian, and Jason. He was born and reared in Preston County, W.Va., and is the son of Clyde and Helena Ridenour, Fellowsville, W.Va.

Koscielniak Is New Garrett Co. Extension Agent

Irmgard R. Koscielniak began serving as the new Extension Agent, Home Economics to the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service as of September 1.

Born in Austria, she received an Associates of Science Degree in Home Economics and Small Farm Management before coming to the United States. She held responsible positions pertaining to dairy science and dental technology and spent five years managing a sheep farm. She has extensive experience in raising animals for their fiber (angora, mohair, wool, doghair) and processing them by spinning and weaving. Also, she taught all types of arts and crafts, sewing, tailoring and energy conservation in night school to groups and private clubs.

She was employed by the Cooperative Extension Association in Belmont, New York, as an energy educator, but time was also spent on clothing and textiles and in horticulture. Her bachelor's degree from Buffalo State University College was completed in 1981 in family studies and consumer economics. She received her master's degree from Hood College in Frederick in May 1986.

For the past five years, she has worked as home economist in Allegany County, working closely with the Extension Homemakers Clubs, but she also taught and made presentations to other groups, organizations and the general public. The program areas included human development and financial resource management.

Her current emphasis in Garrett County is placed on financial resource management, including financial counseling and coping skills, stress management, assertiveness training and improving self-concept, areas of growing importance to prepare for the future.

Koscielniak's utmost concern is increased self-sufficiency and independence of the general population which she feels can only come through enjoyment in education. She feels the Cooperative Extension Service offers her the greatest opportunity to work toward this goal. She is available as speaker on the diverse subjects and welcomes requests for programs and workshops at the Cooperative Extension Service, 202 S. Third St., Courthouse, Oakland 21550, or phone 334-1990.

Deep Creek Lake Cleanup Slated For October 3-4

The Deep Creek Lake Management Program will be sponsoring a drive to clean up the Penelec buffer strip and land around Deep Creek Lake the weekend of October 3-4, according to Eric C. Schwaab, lake manager.

Through a cooperative effort with the Deep Creek Lake Businessmen's Association, Milford Beckman and the Garrett National Bank, the Garrett County Roads Department, and the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, the Lake Management Program hopes that this will continue to be a yearly effort which will insure the beauty and integrity of the shoreline surrounding the lake, Schwaab said.

"The most important contributor to the success of this project, however, will be the efforts of the individual landowners who have property around the lake," Schwaab said. It is hoped that all landowners in the lake area will take the time to gather up any trash or debris around the lake shoreline and transport it to the county landfill located four miles north of Oakland along the Oakland-Sang Run Road. For this weekend, the landfill will be open on Saturday from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For those persons around the lake who do not have vehicles capable of hauling the larger articles of debris, such as barrels or scrap lumber from docks, a group of volunteers will travel the roads adjacent to the lake with suitable vehicles for the pick-up of such articles. These volunteers from the Property Owners' Association and the Businessmen's Association will pick up only articles of debris of a convenient size which can be lifted by the average person. Those items which the volunteers will pick up include old dock flotation, separated pieces of lumber from old docks, and empty barrels, provided holes have been punched in both ends of the barrel. Such articles should be placed on the lake side of roads immediately adjacent to Deep Creek Lake. It should be noted that the volunteers will not pick up leaves, brush, tires, household litter, stumps or driftwood.

The roads that will be followed by the volunteers on Sunday, October 4, include the following: Marsh Hill Road, Deep Creek Drive (old Route 219), Lake Shore Drive, Mayhew Inn Road (Lake Shore Drive to breast of dam), Lake Forest

CENTRAL GARRETT INDUSTRIAL PARK OFFICIALLY OPENS — The official opening of the Central Garrett Industrial Park at Accident occurred Tuesday. Although a small portion of the 65-acre tract has been formerly served with utility systems and access, Tuesday marked the opening of approximately 50 acres of the park with the completion of a new industrial access road and water sewerage systems. Ten new lots, ranging in size from three to 10 acres, are now available for industrial placement. The project, sponsored by the Garrett County Commissioners and supervised by the Garrett County Sanitary District in cooperation with the town of Accident, will continue to be operated and maintained by the town of Accident. The successful completion of the project was performed by the local company of Frank Arnold Contractors, Inc. Total project cost was estimated at $307,000, with the primary funds coming from the U.S. Department of Commerce, Economic Development Administration. Current occupants in the park are American H.V. Test Systems, Inc., and a manufacturing building owned by Appalachian Construction Company. A marketing effort is now underway to target companies with assembly operations as prospective occupants in the new industrial park. Shown above are those who were on hand for the ribbon-cutting ceremony. Left to right, are Wendell Beitzel, Sanitary District administrator; John G. Braskey, Garrett County commissioner; Owen Graham, comptroller, American H.V. Test Systems; Ernest Gregg Jr., G.C. commissioner; Charles Strauss, councilman, town of Accident; Fred Kahl, town resident; Frank Vitez, production manager, American H.V. Test Systems; Richard Kolb, former mayor; Marjorie Fratz, town clerk, and Tom Jones, G.C. Economic Development director.

Central Garrett Industrial Park Formally Opened

The official opening of the Central Garrett Industrial Park in Accident was held on Tuesday and many county officials were on hand for the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Although a small portion of the 65-acre tract, owned by Garrett County, had been served formerly with utility systems and access, Tuesday marked the opening of approximately 50 acres of the park with the completion of a new industrial access road and water and sewerage systems.

Ten new lots, ranging in size from three acres to 10 acres, are now available for industrial placement.

The project was sponsored by the Garrett County Commissioners and supervised by the Garrett County Sanitary District, in cooperation with the town of Accident.

Continuing operation and maintenance of the roads and utilities will be assumed by the town of Accident.

The successful completion of the project was performed by the local labor of Frank Arnold Contractors, Inc. The total cost of the project was approximately $307,000. The primary funding agency was the U.S. Department of Commerce's Economic Development Administration. Current occupants in the Park are American H.V. Test

Fall Term Grand Jury Convened: County Agencies, Facilities Toured

The September term of the Grand Jury of the Circuit Court of Garrett County convened on Monday and Tuesday to hear various county officials and to tour county facilities. Six indictments were also returned. (See separate story.)

County Treasurer

Garrett County Treasurer Pat Glover presented an overview of the county accounting policies and procedures and plans for computer operations.

She prepared and distributed a general information sheet on the current status of financial income, disbursements and investments.

It was suggested that the treasurer investigate the First Federal Bank for possible interest yields and terms for county investments.

Glover indicated that the Deep Creek Lake expansion will increase the number of taxpayers in the county and that it is expected to dramatically increase county income.

Sheriff's Department

Sheriff M. Van Evans described sectors in which the county is divided and how those areas are patrolled. The impact of county growth on the staffing pattern of the department was also discussed.

The indications are that the workload is increasing and that there was a need for additional staff.

The question of salaries for staff was raised by the Grand Jury. The Sheriff explained a survey he had completed regarding salaries across the state. It was discovered that the local staff are the second lowest in salary scale.

Evans noted that the county commissioners had begun a salary survey with recommendations due by January 1, 1988. The jury expressed its concern about the low law enforcement officers salaries.

County Hospital

Larry Beck, hospital administrator, spoke to the jury about hospital/medical staff and services.

He explained, in response to a question from the jury, that Garrett County Memorial Hospital is a designated emergency facility to screen potential psychiatric patients to clear them of medical problems and arrange transfer to appropriate agencies for treatment.

In reply to questions from Grand Jurors concerning AIDS, Beck explained the benefits of the hospital's emphasis on infection control precautions as a preventative measure.

Beck noted that the hospital maintained approximately a 70 percent occupancy rate.

Roads Department

Paul Shockey, administrator of the Garrett County Roads Department, described the facilities, staff and the summer roads projects which included 62 miles of upgraded roads.

The administrator stated that the impact of lake development on the Roads Department would be significant.

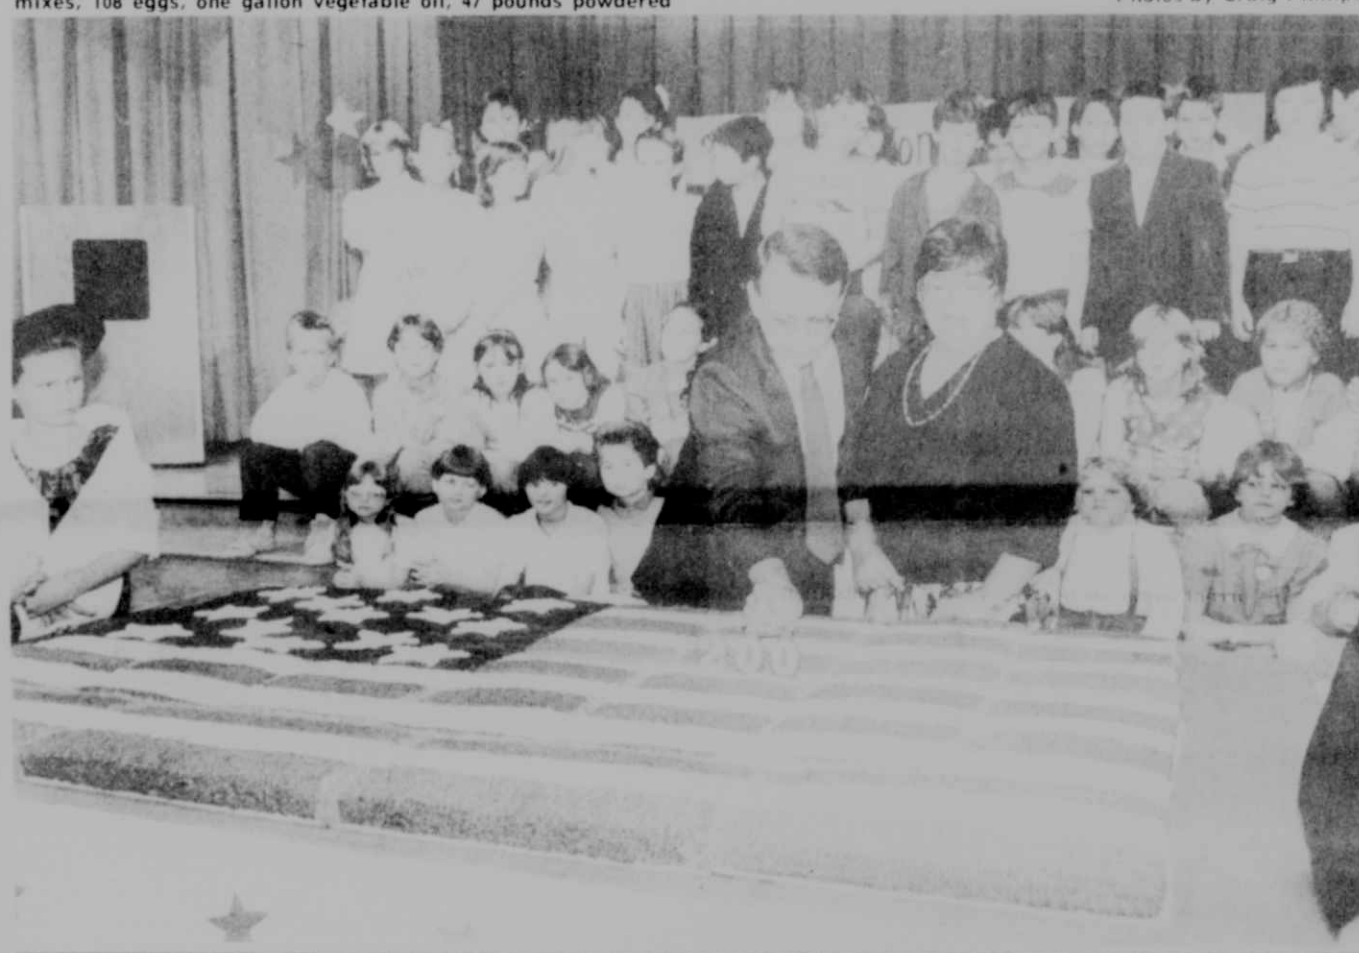

He also commented on winter road treatment and noted that no chemicals are used in treatment. The Grand Jury agreed with that policy and felt it should be continued. It was noted that the Roads Department receives 25.7 percent of the county budget.

The landfill and hazardous waste disposal was also dis-

HAPPY BIRTHDAY U.S. CONSTITUTION — Fifth graders at Dennett Road Elementary School celebrated the 200th birthday of the United States Constitution this week by serving birthday cake to all the students, faculty and staff at the school. The 76-inch by 52-inch flag cake was baked and decorated by fifth grade parents: Mrs. Denise Haines, project coordinator; Mrs. Pat Bowser; Mrs. Carolyn Germain; Mrs. Leanne Boal; Mrs. Barbara Ryan; Mrs. Barbara Wolf; Mrs. JoAnn Ashby; and Mrs. Edna Sanders. The ingredients contained in the cake (36 cake mixes, 108 eggs, one gallon vegetable oil, 47 pounds powdered sugar, four three-pound cans of vegetable shortening, 14 ounces red food coloring, six ounces blue food coloring and four ounces vanilla) would have fed the Revolutionary Army at Valley Forge. The fifth graders also presented a program for the third and fourth grades. Mrs. Linda Fleming, Mrs. Pat Bonafield and Mr. Harold Hudnall were the teachers who directed the class activities. Pictured below, Principal Clark Sharpless and Director of Elementary Education Dr. Charleen Evans Thomas light the candles on the birthday cake. Photos by Craig Phillips

County Commissioners

Among the topics discussed with the Board of Garrett County Commissioners was the impact the World Whitewater Championships would have on the county.

The Grand Jury also plans to further study the functions and responsibilities of the Liquor Control Board.

The question of Sheriff's Department salaries was raised by the jury. The commissioners reported that they began the reviewing process of the county pay structure last January and that the survey is expected to be complete by December 1 of this year.

Staffing for the Communications Center was also discussed. Commissioner Gregg indicated that he monitors that situation closely and is considering options for the department.

Timber management and the revenue it provides for the county was also reviewed.

Maryland access to the Jennings Randolph Lake was discussed. The commissioners said there are no current plans for increased access, although they said they would support it if the citizens so requested it.

Regarding the master plumber law, the commissioners noted that they are working with state officials to establish a testing and education program for local plumbers to bring the county in compliance with the state regulations.

The jury questioned a county-wide fire code in regard to lake development and access roads. The Commissioners agreed to discuss those concerns with the fire marshal.

The jurors also questioned the right to post peat bog property against hunting and fishing, since approximately 75 percent of funding was provided by the state of Maryland.

Facilities Toured

The Court House tour was conducted by Gary Mullich, supervisor of general services. The jurors visited the Court House, jail area, communications center and county offices.

The jury found that the expansion of the jail kitchen had been implemented and was termed a "definite improvement." One area of concern was a lack of adequate food storage space.

The communications center was found to be "extremely efficient" but as noted by the 1986 Grand Jury, there appears to be a need for additional staff. It was indicated that this year alone, 11,233 calls have been question of transfer of mental patients to the Finan Center was addressed. The sheriff explained that this problem no longer exists as the police need only transport a patient with psychiatric problems to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment or transfer.

The committee then toured the Garrett County Roads Department. The jury indicated that it was in satisfactory working condition and operating efficiently.

Shockey reported that the department had hired a full time engineer and have obtained a heavy-duty all-wheel-drive truck which is used for all three districts. He is also investigating the possible purchase of two additional trucks.

The tour continued to the Garrett County Board of Education. John Morris, assistant superintendent of Administrative Services, conducted the tour.

The jury noted that many repairs and improvements have been made to the building, but still expressed concerns for ceiling leaks, cracked windows and the disrepair of the fire escape.

The renovation project at Southern High School was discussed. Morris said that because of changes in the funding laws, the plans are questionable at this point and that he and other county officials are to meet with state officials in Annapolis this week.

The hospital tour was conducted by Larry Beck. Various departments were toured and the jury said they were impressed by the facility and its "professional and dedicated staff." The jury noted that the county is not involved in the funding of the facility, although the commissioners are represented on the Board.

Shelby Paugh conducted a tour of all agencies of the Garrett County Health Department. She noted the growth in the department, especially mental health.

She explained the renovations of the old hospital building that now houses the new Health Department facility.

The Johnson Building offices now house the Addiction Services which moved to provide additional space for the expansion of mental health outpatient services.

It was agreed that the Grand Jury meet more frequently and file a final report at the end of the term.

Tourism Meeting Slated Tonight

A meeting of regional associates from Garrett and Allegany counties, the Laurel Highlands in Pennsylvania and Tucker, Grant and Preston counties in West Virginia is slated for tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the commissioners' meeting room at the Garrett County Court House, according to Tom Jones, Garrett County Development Director.

Some 40 individuals have been meeting regularly to discuss tourism options in the area, said Jones.

The public is invited to attend tonight's meeting.

Nucleus Of Liberty . . .

It was 200 years ago on this day, in a small, sweltering room in Philadelphia, that a group of men affixed their signatures to a document; a document that would serve as the nucleus of liberty in what would become the greatest, most powerful nation ever known to man.

The debates leading to the signing were lengthy and intense, and it took four more years of similar exchange before the U.S. Constitution was ratified. In the years since the signing of the Constitution and Bill of Rights, 16 more amendments have been added to strengthen the original document and adjust for the changes in society over time.

Although nothing man-made is without flaws, the U.S. Constitution is indeed one of the greatest strokes of genius in history. Its very survival over 200 years, making it the oldest constitution in the world today, indicates its might and inherent durability.

We believe that the Constitution has survived, and that our nation has thrived under its guiding light, because the major premise of the document is that each and every citizen is entitled to certain rights and privileges, and that no other entity, no matter how powerful, shall be permitted to take away those freedoms.

For the next four years there will be a variety of ceremonies and observances in commemoration of the signing and ratification of the Constitution. The joint recital of the Pledge of Allegiance yesterday by millions of Americans was one of them. Another will be the flying of a special U.S. flag over Philadelphia this week. The flag was aboard the ill-fated Challenger space shuttle, having been presented to the astronauts by a Boy Scout troop. Miraculously, the flag was later discovered, in perfect condition, among the shuttle debris on the ocean floor. It was returned by NASA to the scout troop members, who were then invited to bring the flag to Philadelphia this week.

This "survival" story, we believe, best symbolizes the survival of our nation to date. For she has been in the midst of fire and strife on many occasions, both in wartime and in the form of internal controversy and conflict, but she has continually arisen above it all. Why? Because she is built upon such a solid foundation of liberty, believed in by millions who are willing to make great sacrifices to defend her.

How do we keep our nation alive and well? By putting into practice the freedoms granted to each one of us by the Constitution and its amendments; by speaking out, by voting, by working, by worshipping, by taking advantage of the educational opportunities afforded us, and by getting involved.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Regarding the letter from Steve S. Showers of Newbury Park, Calif., advocating the appointment of Judge Bork to the Supreme Court. Whether the Judge is confirmed or not will not affect the number of abortions done in this country. It will probably affect the number of legal abortions. If he is confirmed and if he is able to overturn the present law, in reality all he will do will be to force rich women to travel to countries where safe abortions can be done in the sterile conditions of hospital surgeries; poor women will be forced back to the abortion butchers up dark alleys. To Mr. Showers I ask one question: Have you ever seen a woman, desperate to be rid of an unwanted pregnancy, after she has been butchered by an illegal abortionist? Thirty years ago, as a young social worker, I saw far too many.

No amount of moralizing is going to reduce the number of unwanted pregnancies which occur each year. Many of the young women who became pregnant were themselves unwanted babies, who grew up lacking love and security. Many, far too many, parents who abuse their children, were themselves abused as unwanted children.

Sexual relations and conception involve many complex emotions, which most young people don't know how to handle, they receive little or no help from family and society. It is an unfortunate fact of life that so many people opposed to abortions are also opposed to sex education. Yet it is only through education that young people can learn to understand and thus control their physical and emotional feelings. It is only through education that responsibility can be taught towards pregnancy and the nurturing of children.

The problems of unwanted and abused children are very serious and a grave burden to society. Many hospitals in large cities are faced with babies born with serious illness and birth defects who are abandoned by their mothers. Many unwanted babies are placed by their mothers in very unsuitable foster homes. The abuse and neglect received by these children far too frequently results in poor mental, emotional and physical health. The pain of being unwanted and unloved remains with them all their lives. Rather than waste our energies of working for or against Judge Bork, let us use our energies to educate men and women towards greater responsibilities for their lives. Let us teach young men and women of their responsibilities to love and nurture their children. Let us do all we can to prevent the abuse of children. Let us educate to prevent unwanted children.

Sincerely,
Margaret Beadle

To the Editor:

A nation does not just evolve out of a communist police state into a democracy. In all of recorded history, it has never happened. At some point the people will have to fight. The question is where and when.

The answer in Nicaragua is now, before the police state has a chance to become further entrenched, before the cost in lives rises higher than the people are willing or able to pay.

Sincerely,
Steven A. Showers
Newbury Park, Calif.

To the Editor:

As members of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club, working women and subscribers to individual rights and human rights, we are going to pursue a campaign to urge our senators to vote against the confirmation of Robert H. Bork as Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Judge Bork has been quite clear, quite outspoken and quite consistent in his narrow views of the U.S. Constitution as it applies to individual rights in general and to the civil rights of women and minorities in particular.

Judge Bork masquerades his narrow and rigid interpretation of the Constitution as striving only to adhere to the "original intent" of the framers of that document some 200 years ago.

Judge Bork has opposed Constitutional provisions that would require the desegregation of public facilities; he has declared Roe v. Wade (the 1973 Supreme Court ruling overturning state prohibitions against abortion) an "unconstitutional decision;" and has said the principle of "one man, one vote" runs "counter to the text of the Fourteenth Amendment."

Judge Bork also spoke out against a 1965 decision in which the Supreme Court struck down a Connecticut law banning the use of contraceptives even by married people in the privacy of their own homes. He also opposed the Equal Rights Amendment on the grounds that it would give judges authority to decide political and cultural issues.

Judge Bork has clearly gone on record in opposition to several landmark Supreme Court decisions guaranteeing civil rights and has made clear his position if he is confronted with decisions in those areas of law.

We say now is not the time for Judge Bork, who wants to return to the idealogies of yesterday.

We will be contacting our senators to urge they reject the nomination of Judge Bork. We urge all members of our community who truly want to see our liberties maintained — not a return to the stone ages — to do likewise.

Education Board Looks At Opening Of School Data

An opening of school report was presented to Garrett County Education Board members at their first regular meeting held during the 1987-88 school year, with attendance and enrollment data and a summary of personnel changes and appointments being given.

Acting superintendent of Garrett County schools, Albert Ringer, indicated that enrollment at the kindergarten level at Accident, Broad Ford, Crellin, Friendsville and Rt. 40 Elementary Schools had increased from the previous school year. He noted that Accident and Broad Ford had each already added a kindergarten teacher in anticipation of the increase, and that one was added at Friendsville this year to handle the increase in enrollment there.

Ringer stated that all schools in the Garrett County System were within the recommended student-teacher ratio of 25 to one, with a 21.04 to one average for the whole county.

According to information received concerning personnel appointments, it was noted that 31 of the available 33 teaching positions throughout the county had been filled, with a special education-preschool position soon to be filled and a hearing-impaired teaching position still vacant.

It was also noted that of the 31 teachers hired, 21 are Garrett County residents. Ringer stated that, in many of the cases of teachers being hired from outside the county, either no Garrett County native or resident had the certification needed for the position or positions were offered to Garrett County natives or residents but were declined by them.

Also at the meeting, held last Thursday afternoon, supervisor of vocational education, Kenneth Bittinger, along with Jim Kuhn, building trades instructor at Southern High School, were on hand to present information about a project that will be undertaken by Mr. Kuhn's students this school year.

Bittinger explained that the students will be constructing a modular home at a site behind

"Water, Water Everywhere . . . But Who Can Make It Drinkable?"

An Editorial Opinion
by Senator John N. Bambacus
(R-Allegany, Garrett)

Almost within earshot of North America's best competition whitewater river, Maryland families must stand in line for their daily drinking water.

It is a compelling irony. The need for a safe, dependable water supply in the western Maryland mountains has reached a crisis proportion only fifteen miles from the site of the 1989 World Whitewater Championships. Despite years of planning, funding requests and financial repackaging, water problems in the communities served by Piney Dam now threaten both public health and a revitalized local economy if a solution is not quickly developed.

In the case of the Frostburg/George's Creek water system, the State of Maryland runs the risk of perpetuating a growing disparity between the "haves" and "have nots" within our borders. Western Maryland's future is linked to a balance of recreational resources, industrial development and quality of life. Lack of a basic human need in the fastest growing portion of Allegany County is a crippling circumstance that has prevented new construction there and may force Frostburg State University to bring water in by truck just to open for the Fall semester.

It does Maryland no good to claim a mountain playground within our borders if a large portion of it becomes uninhabitable by modern health standards.

The Piney Dam project is only one example of a growing category of non-metropolitan infrastructure issues that must be addressed in the 1988 General Assembly. Despite the efforts of the Schaefer Administration on Piney Dam, Maryland simply does not have a mechanism to effectively fill critical infrastructure needs outside its most affluent and populous subdivisions. If Maryland is to remain as beautiful as our television commercials says we are, we must create such a mechanism.

The Federal government will never again be in the local infrastructure business as it was in the heyday of ARC, EDA and UDAG. The impact of that fundamental change puts the burden of large scale public projects back at the state level.

Today, when large projects become necessary in subdivisions where there are enough people, enough taxing potential or enough metropolitan political support, State and local governments can shoulder that initiative. But when the need occurs in rural areas, a limited tax base combines with basic geography and the cost of civil engineering to make local funding impossible and extensive State funding difficult to steer through the Legislature.

Western Allegany County's water supply is a classic example. Because of limited capacity at Piney Dam, thousands of households at the headwaters of the Potomac suffer an annual cycle of water rationing. Every summer they boil their drinking water on the advice of regular and expected news releases. Hundreds of households in a beautiful region of one of America's most affluent states have no running water in their homes at all. There are seventeen households that may be even further removed from healthy living standards when work on a much-needed county landfill begins at a nearby site. The estimated cost of bringing safe water to these seventeen homes alone exceeds $400,000. Piney Dam costs are estimated at $9,000,000.

It is impossible to place the burden on the threatened residents themselves. The cost of this project spread across several thousand taxpayers would force them to simply move or invite condemnation of their property. Nor is it practical to spread the cost across the thirty thousand households that comprise Allegany County. Nor can Uncle Sam be expected to go beyond the portion of the cost already committed through Federal funds.

The answer? Certainly not to depopulate 100 square miles in one of Maryland's oldest and proudest groups of communities because we cannot supply them with safe water.

The present Administration has taken an important first step toward a solution by commissioning a study of the water situation at The Johns Hopkins University. The Western Maryland Delegation to the General Assembly has called for an immediate hearing to discuss preliminary findings. The findings of this study must be promptly reviewed and the question of what should be done must be quickly settled. The time to act is now.

The George's Creek water crisis demands a specific remedy. Because of the growing risk to public health and economic stability, the combined efforts of State, Federal and local governments will likely develop such a solution during 1988, but Marylanders need to look at the funding of rural infrastructure as a broader issue that will never go away.

It is our diversity that allows Maryland to claim that we are America in miniature. If we are to preserve the lifestyle of our rural communities, keeping them available as good places to live and work, as markets for our metro-based goods and services, and as places to explore and vacation, then the 1988 General Assembly must seriously consider creation of a systematic non-metropolitan infrastructure funding program. Maryland must persist in pursuit of this concept until we have a mechanism that will prevent our rural county lines from becoming boundaries between the "haves" and the "have nots."

the carpenter shop at SHS which will then be sold to a local buyer for $12,000. Bittinger said the class hopes to make a profit of $400.

Kuhn emphasized that this project (which will hopefully continue through the years) will give students an "overview of the construction trade as it really is." He added that students will also be made aware of how their mistakes could cost money.

Kuhn informed board members that there would be a six-member advisory committee to work with the students on the proposed project.

Information at the meeting was also given concerning the Maryland State Department of Education's proposed by-law on AIDS prevention education. According to Ringer, if the law is passed, AIDS prevention education will be taught to students in grades three through 12.

In addition, said Ringer, an in-service program would be required of all employees of the Garrett County Board of Education and a yearly program would be offered to all Garrett County residents. The program would be co-sponsored by the Board of Education and the Garrett County Health Department.

A follow-up report on corporal punishment was given by John Morris, assistant superintendent of administration, who responded to questions previously raised by the board Potomac Edison Company to a seventh-grade classroom there. Ringer indicated that several million dollars for the program has now been approved for use in Maryland schools and that it is set to become operational in September of 1988.

Kitzmiller Elementary School was suggested by several board members as a possible site for the program which provides instruction via computer, and in which the teacher serves only as a monitor.

Finally at the meeting, an update on the Needs Assessment Study resulted in Al Ringer requesting information that Dr. Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, requested the scope and goals of the study be defined before a committee meets to begin the study. The board agreed to meet Friday, September 18, at 11 a.m. for that purpose.

Nelson-Rees Survey

Would you vote for a black for president?

(Readers can participate in this survey by calling one of the telephone numbers below.)

No

The United States will someday have a black president, but I don't think 1988 is the year it should or will happen. I'm not a white supremacist. I simply feel that if a black were elected president right now it would prove divisive for the country.

Our growing black population has come a long way since those marching days in Selma, but the fact is many Americans—black, yellow, red AND white—remain stubbornly bigoted. Busing is still a volatile issue in many areas, and true integration remains largely an idealized notion in spite of federal laws and employment guidelines.

Many black men—and women—are undoubtedly capable of doing a good job as president. Unfortunately, no president can perform well unless he has the majority of the voters behind him. For most white voters, I suspect the specter of a black president triggers nightmares of ghetto violence and deep-seated, if not wholly rational fears. Too many recall the tumultuous 60's, when black Americans militantly struggled to shed second-class citizenship.

Reverend Jackson, the most likely black candidate to date, has himself been involved in civil disobedience. I don't think the average voter finds this comforting.

If a black should succeed in winning our highest office next year his effectiveness would be crippled by a prejudiced electorate. The time will come for a black president. But not yet. It will take another generation to erase the racial distrust that has poisoned American minds for centuries.

If you agree the time is NOT yet right to elect a black president, call:

Call 1-900-400-2505*

Clair Rees

Yes

Not only would I vote for a black, I would vote for an Indian or a woman, even a Jew or a Moonie—if I felt the person I was voting for would be the best president.

There seems to be a deep-seated racial and religious bigotry in this country that refuses to die. I think having a black president would do more to kill racial prejudice than anything else we could do. Electing a black president would tell the world that the United States really is a land of equal opportunity, and that most of us are trying damn hard to overcome our past prejudices.

With Jesse Jackson leading the pack of Democratic candidates there's a good chance we will be faced with a black candidate in the upcoming presidential election. Recent polls show Jackson far ahead of the other Democratic candidates.

If I could pick my own black candidate for president, I wouldn't be Jackson, however, or even Michael Jordan, but Bill Cosby. I've read his book, watched his show, laughed at his jokes, and think he would be a wonderful president. Imagine Cosby sitting at a big table facing a row of stern Soviets in arms negotiations, or even better, trying to explain the Iran-Contra affair on national television. He would be a breath of fresh air in this country would never forget. After a peanut farmer and a retired movie star, why not Cosby?

If you would vote for a black for president, assuming you felt he were the best man for the job, then call the number below. Join with me in letting Clair Rees and all the other red necks know that it's time to end racial bigotry in this country. Remember, the call-in period for the Nelson-Rees Survey has been extended to 2 p.m. Central Time, Saturday, September 26.

MAYORS SIGN PROCLAMATIONS — As part of a project by Oakland Lodge 2481, BPO Elks, the mayors of four Garrett County communities this week signed proclamations to dedicate today, September 17, 1987, as United States Constitution Day. Today is the 200th anniversary of the signing of the U.S. Constitution. Above, left to right, are: Russell B. Alexander, mayor of Mtn. Lake Park; Harvey D. Swartzentruber, mayor of Oakland; Charles H. Tressler, mayor of Loch Lynn; and William Livengood, Exalted Ruler of Lodge 2481. Below is Jack Hinebaugh, mayor of Deer Park. In conjunction with the proclamations, the Elks have requested that all church bells in the communities and across the nation ring for 200 seconds (3 minutes, 20 seconds) beginning at 4 p.m. today.

Sheriff's Dept. Arrests Local Man On Theft Charges

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week reported that an Oakland man was arrested and incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail after having been charged with a total of eight counts of theft.

Michael C. Guthrie, 28, was served two arrest warrants last Tuesday, September 8, by Deputy R.L. Sines after charges were filed by Larry E. Liller and Jeffrey Liller, both of Oakland.

The charges were filed by the complainants after they reported that a total of $19,380 was stolen from them by Guthrie on July 7 and August 8. Guthrie has since been released on his own recognizance. No information regarding the mode of operation was available.

In other news from the Sheriff's Department, Patti J. Giotfelty, 18, Deer Park, was served a criminal summons charging her with assault. The charge was filed by Gary G. Giotfelty, also of Deer Park, following an incident September 2 at their residence. Deputy Russell Drenning served the summons.

Valerie K. Morosko, 31, Oakland, was served a criminal summons charging her with theft after she reportedly stole a blanket from Dreamland Motel, Oakland, while a patron there on August 29. Complainant in the case is Kiyo M. Dolan. The summons was served by Detective L. E. Gnegy.

Jeffrey E. Cosner, 19, McHenry, was served a criminal summons charging him with operating a septic disposal system without a permit. Edgar H. Harman, Garrett County Health Department, filed the charge after he learned of the violation on August 3 at a mobile home on Sang Run Road. Deputy Sines served the summons.

Area Man Charged With Sex Offense, Held On Bond

Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, reported the arrest this week of a Swanton man, charged with fourth degree sexual offense and battery.

Joseph W. Maus, 21, was arrested Tuesday by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater and is being held in the Garrett County Jail on a $10,000 bond. The charges were the result of an incident involving a 14-year-old female. No other information was available from the arresting officer's report.

A criminal summons was served to Kenneth F. Failing, 27, Grantsville, who was charged with assault and battery following a September 4 incident. The complainant is Kathy M. Failing, also of Grantsville. Tfc. R.M. Hershberger served the summons.

In other news from the State Police, thefts totaling $1700 from Bill's Marine Service, Harvey's Peninsula, are under investigation by Sgt. R.E. Friend.

According to the officer, seven radio-cassette players and one set of speakers were removed from various boats stored in a storage yard there sometime between September 8 and 9. The make and model of the items are unknown at this time.

A breaking and entering and theft was reported by Deborah M. O'Donnell, Grantsville, that occurred sometime between August 30 and September 9 at a vacant building on alternate Rt. 40 in Grantsville.

According to O'Donnell, the building was entered and an electric grill and two fuel tanks (each 275 gallon capacity) were taken. The items are valued at $300. Tfc. L. Rosage is investigating.

Receives Grant

Continued from Page A-1 awards, said, "No more urgent task confronts us than finding ways to protect Maryland's children from abuse and neglect. It is especially gratifying to be able to help local communities to address this disturbing problem."

In addition to the State community grants, seven Maryland agencies, including Garrett County Memorial Hospital, received child abuse prevention grants from the HELP Resource Project of the Social Services Administration through federal funds provided by the National Center on Child Abuse and Neglect.

Garrett County Memorial will receive $24,789 to involve parents of pre-school children in activities aimed at breaking the cycle of abusive family relationships and preventing the abuse of children.

LOCAL W.O.W. SCRAPBOOK WINS NATIONAL HONOR

A scrapbook prepared by members of Lodge 11, Woodmen of the World, Crellin, recently was awarded third place in the national Woodmen of the World scrapbook contest. The local book captured first place in the Maryland Jurisdictional contest, which qualified it to compete in the national contest. Among the categories of judging are the scrapbook's attention to civic, patriotic, fraternal, and social activities carried out by local Lodge members. Marcette Danner, Asa McCain, and Charles (Buck) Trautwein, members of Lodge 11, assembled the scrapbook and made the cover. Ms. Danner and McCain are pictured above receiving a trophy for winning first place in the Maryland contest. Wayne Graham, a former resident of Garrett County and executive vice president of the Woodmen fraternity, presented a certificate to the Maryland Jurisdictional president for the national honor.

Evening High School To Open For Third Year

The Evening High School conducted by the Garrett County Board of Education will open this week for its third year of operation, according to John A. Ledden, coordinator.

Beginning on Thursday evening, classes will be offered at Southern High School. The Evening High School offers courses that follow the Board approved curriculum. Completion of these courses earns credit toward graduation requirement for a regular Maryland High School diploma. Last year five Evening High School students met their requirements and received their diplomas at the Southern and Northern High School graduations.

Classes meet each Monday and Thursday evening beginning at 5:40 p.m. during the school year. A student may take only one course or may earn up to five credits within the year. The final course offerings are determined on the basis of student needs. So far, the following courses have been offered: English, U.S. history, science, math, career employability, cooperative diversified education, and physical activity.

Students interested in attending Evening High School this year should contact Ledden immediately by calling 334-8913.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, emphasizes that the Board of Education considers the Evening High school as one of the alternative opportunities provided to Garrett County Residents to enable them to earn their high school diploma.

What Gary H. Did On His Summer Vacation

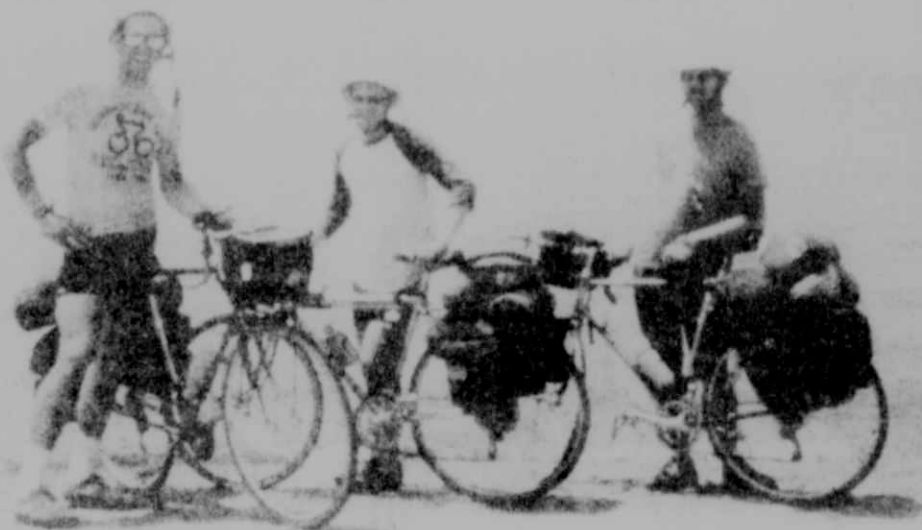

by Sherry Frantz

The opportunity to travel across the United States comes to far too few of us in our lifetimes. The challenge to travel that breadth by bicycle is taken by even fewer.

Gary Heginbotham of Mtn. Lake Park is one of those who took that challenge, and added an experience to his life that was enriching, educational and self-fulfilling.

With relatively little training (several short trips and stationary cycling in his home last winter), Gary and two college friends from Frostburg State College began their trek on May 21 after flying to Seattle, Wash. and ferrying across the Puget Sound to the West Coast.

Gary, on his 18-speed French touring bike, and his friends then headed south to Oregon. For the most part, they followed a route established by an organization known as Group

Bike Centennial but mapped out some of their own route, taking mostly secondary roads to avoid traffic. Subsequently, they were frequently isolated — especially in the plain states.

From Oregon, they headed east toward Idaho and Montana, and south through Wyoming (and Yellowstone National Park) and Colorado, and east again through Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky. Their trip finally ended, 4,629 miles later, on July 19 in Williamsburg, Va.

With few exceptions, the trio was met with good weather, generosity and hospitality. At one point in their travels (in Oregon), they became lost, and when they finally got to civilization — a golf course — they encountered a family who took them into their home and treated them to refreshments, a comfortable retreat and a place to make repairs on their bicycles.

Gary's summer adventure produced some rather amusing, and sometimes alarming (but always interesting) anecdotes. One encounter in Appalachian Kentucky probably provided Gary's second wind during the last leg of the journey.

While waiting in a small town there for his friends to catch up with him one morning, Gary was approached by what appeared to be a cast member from "Deliverance." He was bluntly asked what he was doing there. When Gary politely (and cautiously) began to relate his adventures, the man told him to get moving. Gary nonchalantly looked at his wristwatch and replied, "Gee, where does the time go?"

Gary quickly left. One of the most amusing encounters also took place in Kentucky when a man (being perceptive enough to see that the three were on some kind of bike trip) asked where Gary was from.

"Maryland," answered Gary. "Do you mean to tell me that you traveled all that way on a bicycle?" said the awe-struck man.

Gary and his pals did not have a perilous trip. They were not met with inclement weather (except for a few rainy days). They did not meet with starvation, pestilence or cruelty.

But it's a good guess their encounter with nature and self-reliance turned out to be one of their most memorable life-experiences, and was an accomplishment that has surely helped them become self-actualized adults.

Four Injured In Two Separate Traffic Mishaps

An accident that occurred last Tuesday, September 8, at 1:25 p.m. resulted in a Deer Park woman and three-year-old youth being taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital where they were treated for injuries and released.

According to Maryland State Police officer, Tpr. Paul R. Brown, the accident occurred when Victoria V. Tasker, 24, and Michael L. Tasker were traveling in a 1979 Ford Thunderbird southbound on White Church-Steyer Road and ran off the right side of the road, continuing for approximately 240 feet before re-entering the roadway.

The vehicle then skidded sideways for approximately 71 feet before running off the left side of the road and striking an embankment and fence. It finally came to rest against a tree. The two were transported to the hospital by Southern Rescue Squad.

Two persons were injured in a two-car accident that occurred Saturday at 1:20 p.m. when the 1987 Jeep Comanche they occupied struck another vehicle.

Martin S. Wilhelm, 23, Columbia, operator of the jeep, and Thomas Meadows Jr., 24, Baltimore, a passenger, were taken by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released following the accident that occurred along Rt. 219 near the Accident-Bear Creek Road.

The accident occurred when the Wilhelm vehicle was traveling southbound in the slow lane ascending a hill and crossed over to the fast lane, across the center line and sideswiped a 1986 Dodge Caravan, driven by Esther L. Cook, 57, Mt. Airy, who had pulled onto the southbound shoulder.

Both vehicles then hit the guardrail and the Wilhelm vehicle jumped the guardrail and overturned. Wilhelm was charged by Tfc. L. Rosage with failure to keep to the right side of the roadway.

Cook, her passenger, Harvey Richardson, nine, also of Mt. Airy, and Richard Hynson, 23, Glen Burnie, another passenger in the Wilhelm vehicle, were reportedly not injured.

We're Hear To Help

by Pamela A. Martin, CCCA

TELEPHONE TALK

A hearing-impaired person must not only be able to hear the telephone ring, he must be able to hear the person calling. One device that helps in this respect is the T-coil. Hearing aids with T-coils pick up magnetic voice signals from some telephones and certain group listening systems or personal listeners. To activate T-coils, a switch is moved to the T position and the volume is nearly always turned higher, as needed to pick up signals from suitable phones. If this T-switch does not work on a particular phone, search for a phone that is compatible. Or, ask about a slip-on adaptor which creates its own magnetic field. These adaptors are most beneficial for vacations or other away from home situations when one might encounter an incompatible phone.

AT ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES our experienced staff is ready to take the time necessary to assist you in the selection and fit of the hearing assist device that will help return the world of sound to you. We have the friendly people with the know-how to serve your needs. Come in soon and "hear" what we mean.

Telephone answering machines remove much of the surprise and pressure of listening on the telephone.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN, TEACHER? — The Mt. Top Chapter 29 Disabled American Veterans (DAV) Auxiliary presented each Garrett County first and second grade student with a small booklet explaining the pledge to the country's flag. The booklet, "What Does 'Pledge Allegiance' Mean, Teacher?", pictured below, was developed by the American Farm Bureau Women's Committee and distributed by the American Farm Bureau Federation. Breaking the "Pledge of Allegiance" down by phrases, the booklet tells the children that "I PLEDGE means I promise; ALLEGIANCE means my support, my love, my devotion, my loyalty, my pride; TO THE FLAG means a red, white and blue star-spangled banner whose broad stripes and bright stars symbolize our land of freedom; OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA means an independent nation of 50 self-governed states, bound in brotherhood to the principles of equality, justice and humanity; AND TO THE REPUBLIC means a government of the people, by the people, for the people and whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; FOR WHICH IT STANDS means our flag, which represents a proud history and on whose rippling folds we look with pride, wherever it waves; ONE NATION means our country, united in freedom and dedicated to the human goals of peace, security and happiness; UNDER GOD means acknowledging the loving presence of our Supreme Being, creator of all we survey; INDIVISIBLE means unified in an unbreakable bond of fellowship through citizen responsibility; WITH LIBERTY means liberty is God-given, but hard-won granted only to those who are willing to guard it and defend it; AND JUSTICE means equal and exact; FOR ALL means each and everyone!" Pictured above with copies of the booklet, left to right, are: Roberta Manning, DAV senior vice commander; Wilda Sanders, DAV Americanism; Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County schools; Arveta McCrum, DAV commander; and Dr. Charleen Evans Thomas, director of elementary education for Garrett County schools. The booklets were presented to the students in time to celebrate the 200th birthday of the United States Constitution, today, September 17.

MLP Council Meets, Discusses Congested Area

The regular monthly meeting of the Mtn. Lake Park town council was held last Thursday where a concern by Dr. Walter Price was heard regarding a congested intersection in that town.

The intersection where Dennett Road meets Broadford Road and Deer Park Avenue, along with the nearby intersection of Pittsburgh Avenue and K Street is, Dr. Price believes, the problem area — especially with several school buses traveling into that intersection from three different directions.

The council followed Dr. Price's comments with discussion which resulted in councilman Ellis Ellifritz inspecting the intersection the following day. Mayor Russell Alexander agreed that a head wall and grate were needed for a culvert there and will instruct the town to install them.

MSP Increase Parking Violation Enforcement

First Sgt. W.H. Graham of the Maryland State Police has announced an increase in parking citations and warnings in small towns, notably Grantsville and Friendsville, because of recent complaints from citizens and officials in those towns.

According to Sgt. Graham, a number of motorists are violating both the "No Parking" signs and the correct parking procedure by parking in the wrong direction on two-way streets. He noted that all vehicles should be parked along those streets in the same direction as the flow of traffic. The right wheels of a vehicle should be adjacent to and within 12 inches of the right curb or edge of the roadway, he said.

Graham added that although there have been no complaints from residents in the town of Accident, there has also been increased enforcement of the parking laws there because of the overflow from other towns.

Hours For Boat Ramp Use At Park Extended

Anglers at Deep Creek Lake will now have more access hours to use the boat ramp at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Also, in coming months, more access hours will be assured by a cooperative grant arrangement between two units within the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

During September, the boat ramp will be open for use from 5 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays Monday through Thursday, and continuously from 5 a.m. Fridays until 8 p.m. Sundays.

In October ramp hours are 5:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily while the daily hours in November are 6 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Donald MacLauchlan, director of the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, and Paul Massicot, administrator of the Tidewater Administration, announced that a $5,000 grant from Tidewater will enable the Forest and Park Service to hire additional staff for ramp operation.

Ramp hours from December 1 to February 28 are from 10 a.m. until sunset. From March 1 to May 30 boaters may launch from 5:30 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. From June 1 until August 31 as well as Fridays and Saturdays in September, the ramp will be open on a 24-hour basis.

Ward Ashby, superintendent of Deep Creek Lake State Park, reports that the bass fishing in Deep Creek Lake is "always good" and that later in the fall walleyes will be active again.

For additional information, anglers and boaters may call Deep Creek Lake State Park at (301) 387-5563.

Homemakers To Hold Achievement Night

The Garrett County Extension Homemakers will hold their annual Achievement Night on September 22 at the Garrett Community College auditorium from 7 to 9 p.m.

The Casselman Valley Homemakers Club will host the annual event and serve refreshments. The program will recognize Homemakers Club members' contributions to the community, personal achievements and support for their organization. A special presentation by Patty Silcott, entitled "History of Hats," will be featured. All Homemakers Club members are welcome.

Special Services Scheduled At Oak Park Church

Special evangelistic services will be held at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren September 20-23, beginning at 7:15 p.m. each day.

The guest speaker will be Rev. William E. Walters, Shippenburg, Pa., who has held nearly 50 preaching missions in five states over the past 34 years.

After serving in the U.S. Air Force for one and a half years, Rev. Walters attended Lancaster Business College, then elected to the ministry, licensed in 1953 and was ordained in the Florin, Pa., congregation in 1954. He briefly attended Elizabethtown College and then began pastoral work in Mansfield, Ohio, in 1955. He served four congregations in Ohio before moving to Shippenburg in 1982.

Rev. Walters is married to the former Dorothy Shearer and they are the parents of two sons.

The public is invited to the services. The church is located on Church Street in Oak Park, across from Southern High School.

Mickey Ball Is TDEC Employee Of The Month

Mickey Ball was named "Employee of the Month" for September at the Data Entry Company, Inc., in Oakland, according to Wanda Dawson, vice president.

Mrs. Ball was presented with a cash award and a letter of recognition for her "high quality work performance." She has been employed with TDEC since October 15, 1979.

Mrs. Ball resides in Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., with her husband, Vernon, and their children, Darla and Duane.

Terrant Named B&L Employee Of The Month

David Terrant has been named the Employee of the Month for September at the local Bausch & Lomb plant, according to John Sheltra, plant manager, and Geni Guseila, manager of Plastic Manufacturing.

Terrant joined B&L in December 1986 and is currently a hand operator in Department 9918. His duties include lens inserting of the Balorama product. According to his supervisor, he was chosen Employee of the Month for "his hard work, initiative, and good attention to quality."

Terrant resides in Oakland with his wife, Cindy, who is also a B&L employee.

Southern GOP Women To Meet

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women will meet at Garrett Community College in Room 159 on September 22, at 7 p.m., according to Ann Groves, club spokesman.

Joan Crawford will be in charge of the events for the evening, which will focus on the theme of Americanism. A film will be shown about the Constitution entitled "The Compromise That Made A Nation," in commemoration of the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

The public is invited to attend.

Birthday remembrance for our son, brother and uncle

Glenn D. Reese

whose birthday was Sept. 6

From hospital bed to heavenly rest.
God took you home to be his guest.
We lived in hope and prayed in vain.
That somehow you'd be well again.
But God decided we must part.
He eased your pain, but it broke our hearts.
And while you sleep in peaceful sleep
Your dear sweet memory we'll always keep.
We'll tend your grave with loving care.
For it's our hearts that are buried there.

HERO Hero Advocates AIDS Education, Need For Understanding

by Pam Ashby

"Let's do something to save the people in this country. . . AIDS doesn't play games — it takes lives," were some of the opening remarks of Jim Rowe, R.N., regional director for Health Education Resource Organization (HERO), who spoke to some 50 concerned residents on the AIDS epidemic Tuesday evening at Garrett Community College.

Rowe proved to be a dynamic speaker because of his dedication to educating the public on the disease that claimed over 500 lives in Maryland last year.

The seminar was sponsored jointly by Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. and the Continuing Education Department of Garrett Community College.

Rowe has been a nurse for 14 years and has a background in geriatric, psychiatric, medical-surgical and home health nursing.

He first became involved in AIDS education in 1985 when he set up the first AIDS unit in a private nursing home. After seeing the need for more intense community education, he resigned his position as director of nursing of the 310-bed nursing home. He has since been directing HERO in Western Maryland.

In the past three months, he has educated over 6,500 people in five counties.

Rowe feels that no human being should die alone and without dignity. "I am committing my life to the goal of helping those in need with AIDS," he said.

Wayne Johnson, director of Hospice of Garrett County, introduced Rowe and expressed his disappointment in the small number of citizens in attendance. "I guess it's a start, though," he commented.

Rowe said one of the biggest fears associated with those who have contracted AIDS is that people refuse to touch the person and feel compassion for him. "I must admit that when I was first asked to open an AIDS unit, I was scared to death. When I saw another hospital staff person hug and then kiss an AIDS patient on the cheek, I changed my views. The AIDS patient said that was the first time anyone had touched him since he had contracted the disease."

The HERO director said his efforts to help AIDS patients were met with disapproval by some of his family members at first. "That was because they were not educated about the disease. That is what I want to accomplish. The media has had a field day with the disease and have even reported untruths about the disease. No, you cannot contract AIDS from a mosquito!" he stressed to the audience.

As a public service to those who did not attend the seminar, listed are some of the answers to the more commonly asked questions regarding AIDS and the virus, human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), that causes the disease. The answers are direct, but as Rowe said, "Direct and truthful answers are the only way to educate the public."

WHAT IS AIDS?

AIDS is characterized by a defect in the natural immunity against disease. People who have AIDS are vulnerable to serious illnesses which would not be a threat to those whose immune systems were functioning normally. These illnesses are referred to as "opportunistic" infections or diseases.

WHAT CAUSES AIDS?

Investigators have discovered the virus that causes AIDS. Different health groups have given it various names, but according to Rowe, the virus is now being called HIV. Infection with the virus does not always lead to AIDS. Preliminary results of studies show that most infected persons remain in good health; others may develop illness varying in severity from mild to extremely serious.

HOW IS AIDS TRANSMITTED?

AIDS is spread by sexual contact, needle sharing, or less commonly, through transfused blood or its components. The risk of infection with the virus is increased by having multiple sexual partners, either homosexual or heterosexual, and sharing of needles among those using illicit drugs. The occurrence of the syndrome in hemophilia patients and persons receiving transfusions provides evidence for transmission through blood. It may be transmitted from infected mother to infant before, during or shortly after birth (probably through breast milk).

"WE MUST CONTROL FEAR," said Jim Rowe, R.N., Tuesday night at Garrett Community College during an educational seminar on AIDS. "Fear is good if it's constructive," he stated. Rowe is the regional director of Health Education Resource Organization (HERO) and is attempting to educate the public on the "true facts" not the "hyped myths" regarding AIDS.

WHO GETS AIDS?

Ninety-five percent of the AIDS cases have occurred in the following groups of people:

- Sexually active homosexual and bisexual men.
- Present or past abusers of intravenous drugs.
- Persons with hemophilia or other coagulation disorders.
- Heterosexual contacts of someone with AIDS or at risk for AIDS.
- Persons who have had transfusions with blood or blood products.
- Infants born to infected mothers.

Some patients do not fall into any of these categories, but researchers believe that transmission occurred in similar ways. Some patients die before complete histories can be taken.

WHAT ARE ITS SYMPTOMS?

Most individuals infected with the AIDS virus have no symptoms and feel well. Some develop symptoms which may include tiredness, fever, loss of appetite and weight, diarrhea, night sweats and swollen glands (lymph nodes) — usually in the neck, armpits or groin. Anyone with those symptoms which continue for more than two weeks should see a doctor.

HOW LONG AFTER INFECTION WITH HIV DOES A PERSON DEVELOP AIDS?

The time between infection with HIV and the onset of symptoms (the incubation period) seems to range from about six months to five years and possibly longer. Not everyone exposed to the virus develops AIDS. Some people are only carriers of the virus and never contract the disease themselves.

HOW IS AIDS DIAGNOSED?

There are no clear-cut symptoms that indicate the loss of immunity. The diagnosis of AIDS depends on the presence of opportunistic diseases. Certain tests which demonstrate damage to various parts of the immune system, such as specific types of white blood cells, support the diagnosis. The presence of opportunistic diseases plus a positive test for antibodies to HIV can also make possible a diagnosis of AIDS.

WHAT IS THE GEOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION OF REPORTED AIDS CASES?

Thirty-five percent of the cases in the U.S. are reported from New York State and about 23 percent from California. AIDS cases have been reported in all 50 states (and in Garrett County), the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and more than 35 other countries. Central Africa now has an extremely high AIDS epidemic, according to Rowe.

HOW CONTAGIOUS IS AIDS?

Casual contact with AIDS patients or persons who might be at risk for the illness does not place others at risk for getting the illness. No cases have been found where the virus has been transmitted by casual household contact with AIDS patients or high-risk persons. Infants with AIDS or the HIV infection have not transmitted the infection to family members living in the same household.

Rowe emphasized that although the AIDS virus has been found in saliva and tears, there have been no cases in which exposure to either was shown to result in transmission. Ambulance drivers, police and firefighters who have assisted AIDS patients have not become ill. Nurses, doctors and health care personnel have not developed AIDS from caring for AIDS patients. Several health care workers in the U.S. have developed antibodies to HIV following careless needlestick injuries.

Health care and laboratory workers should follow standard safety procedures carefully when handling any blood and tissue samples from patients with potentially transmissible diseases, including AIDS. Special care should be taken to avoid needlestick injuries.

IS THERE A DANGER OF CONTACTING AIDS FROM DONATING BLOOD?

No. Blood banks and other blood collection centers use sterile equipment and disposable needles. The need for blood is always acute and people who are not at increased risk for getting AIDS are urged to continue to donate blood as they have in the past.

IS THERE A LAB TEST FOR AIDS?

As with many other diseases, there is no single test for diag-

CHILD CONTRACTING AIDS FROM PLAYMATES?

No. AIDS is difficult to catch, even among people at highest risk for the disease. The risk of transmitting AIDS from daily contact at work, school or at home, apparently is nonexistent. In virtually all cases, direct sexual contact or the sharing of IV drug needles has led to the illness. Rowe is shocked at the way children who have tested positive for HIV have been treated — by their peers, school officials and the community.

HOW IS AIDS TREATED?

Currently, there are no antiviral drugs available anywhere that have been proven to cure AIDS, although the search for such drugs is being pursued vigorously. Some drugs have been found to inhibit the virus, but these have not led to clinical improvement. Though no treatment has yet been successful in restoring the immune system of an AIDS patient, doctors have had some success in using drugs, radiation and surgery to treat the various illnesses of AIDS patients. Therapeutic agents are needed for all stages of AIDS infections to block action of the virus once infection has occurred, and to restore full function in patients whose immune systems have been damaged.

Eventually, a combination of therapies to combat the virus and restore the immune system may be the most effective treatment.

CAN AIDS BE PREVENTED?

Yes. The Public Health Service recommends that the following steps be taken to prevent the spread of AIDS:

—Do not have sexual intercourse with AIDS patients, with members of the risk groups or with people who are positive for the AIDS virus. If you do, use a condom and avoid sexual practices such as anal intercourse that may injure tissue. Rowe indicated that a condom is only 90 percent safe and recommended also the use of a spermicide called "Oxy-9."

—Do not use IV drugs. If you do, do not share needles. Don't have sex with people who use IV drugs.

—Women who are sex partners of risk group members or who use IV drugs should consider the risk to their babies before pregnancy. These women should have an HIV antibody test before pregnancy. If they elect to become pregnant, they should have a test during pregnancy.

—Do not have sex with multiple partners, including prostitutes (who may also be IV drug users). The more partners you have, the greater your chances of catching AIDS. Rowe can't emphasize enough the importance of abstinence of sex in teenagers. "And if they can't control themselves they must use condoms and Oxy-9 since they have no way of knowing if their sexual partner has been exposed to the AIDS virus," he stated.

—People at increased risk for AIDS should not donate blood, organs or sperm.

Further information about AIDS may be obtained from the local health department, physicians or the AIDS Hotline (1-800-342-AIDS).

Other groups interested in Jim Rowe's educational and enlightening program on the facts about AIDS may contact Tom Kierstead at the Continuing Education Office of GCC at 334-8266.

As a final note, HERO provides the following services for AIDS patients: counseling and referrals, support groups, financial and legal assistance, advocacy, education and an information and referral hotline (1-800-638-6252).

Bosley Leads Rams In 28-13 Win Over Spartans

An outstanding performance by senior tailback J.R. Bosley highlighted a 28-13 victory by Southern High over host Bishop Walsh Saturday afternoon, the second win in as many starts for the Rams.

Bosley scored a pair of touchdowns and rolled up 201 yards on just 18 carries, most of which occurred in the first half of the game. Some as-yet-undetermined breathing problems kept him out of most of the second half of the afternoon contest.

For his efforts, Bosley was named Player of the Week by the Cumberland Times/News, becoming the second Garrett County to be so honored this year. Last week Northern's Ed Tabor was selected.

Bosley now has 339 yards on 48 carries in just two games this season for an average of seven yards per carry. The first-team All-Area back led the Rams in scoring and rushing last season with 824 yards on 154 carries (5.6 average), scored 80 points, and racked up 252 more yards on just 10 kickoff and punt returns.

His 201-yard total at Bishop Walsh is a personal one-game record, and was not only accomplished in just over two quarters of play, but also on a soft, muddy field.

The Rams amassed 392 yards in total offense, compared to 185 for the Spartans, however both teams became bogged down in the second half because of a muddy field. After a dry start, the rains came in the second quarter and continued throughout the rest of the game. The wet conditions resulted in a total of 13 fumbles on the afternoon, seven by BW and six by the Rams.

The Spartans took an initial lead, as Dan Lindner was on the receiving end of a 70-yard pass/run play from Mark Yokus. The Rams had taken the opening kickoff and marched to the Spartans' nine-yard line before Southern quarterback Zack Gibson fumbled the snap and the ball was recovered by Bishop Walsh. The Spartans then moved the ball to their own 30 and, on a third and five, Yokus hit Lindner with the scoring pass. Pat King booted the conversion point.

The ensuing kickoff was taken by Bosley on the Rams' three and returned to their 28. After a gain of four yards on the first play from scrimmage, Bosley broke loose for a 68-yard touchdown run. John Milligan's kick knotted the score at 7-7.

Bosley's scoring run was on an inside reverse play, where Gibson took the snap, tossed the ball to Brent Sanders, who then pitched to Bosley who was coming from the left side.

Gibson engineered another successful drive in the second quarter, as the Rams moved 64 yards in ten plays for a touchdown, with Bosley going in from the 13 yard-line. Milligan again kicked the extra point.

Bishop Walsh then took the ball from their own 39 to the Southern 49. John Shaffer got the call on the next play and carried the ball to the Southern 39, only to fumble it back to the Rams.

Another Southern drive, highlighted by a 20- and a 10-yard run by Bosley and a 14-yard pass from Gibson to Sanders, resulted in a touchdown as Randy Tichnell broke two tackles on his 10-yard run to the end zone with 2:22 remaining in the first half. Milligan's boot gave Southern a 21-7 halftime lead.

Three offensive series by the Rams were halted in the second half by fumbles, one of which occurred on their own 14-yard line resulting in a fourth-quarter Spartan touchdown. Scott Mahle connected with Joe Ross on an 11-yard scoring toss, but those would be the final BW points of the game, as King's kick for the conversion failed.

The Rams added an insurance touchdown by moving 78 yards on the next drive, led by Tichnell who gained 54 of those yards and scored his second touchdown of the afternoon, this time from seven yards out. Tichnell finished with 79 yards on a dozen carries.

The Southern defensive unit yielded only 63 yards on the ground, but gave up 122 in the air. All but 23 of Southern's yards were recorded on the ground.

The loss dropped the Spartans to 0-2.

"I really wasn't overly pleased with our performance at the time," Coach Tom Woods stated. "But after looking at the films, we did play a pretty good game, especially considering the conditions. We were really dragging by the fourth quarter, mainly because of the mud."

Besides noting the performances of Bosley, Gibson, and Tichnell, Woods also commented on the effort of Mike Bittinger, who gained 41 yards on 12 carries and provided much of the blocking for Bosley.

Defensively, Woods stated that his team played "real well" in the first half, but noted concern about his secondary giving up 122 yards. "We just don't have a whole lot of depth in our secondary," he said.

Once again, Woods said that he hoped the Rams would be able to throw the ball more, "but the conditions just wouldn't allow it after the first quarter."

The only Ram injury reported by Woods was to Jamie Colaw, who has been experiencing back spasms. Woods said he is listed as "probable" for this Friday's game.

The next opponent for the Rams will be Central Preston, a team which is currently 2-1 on the season, having lost in triple overtime to Notre Dame of Clarksburg in the season opener and then winning their last two games. The Cavaliers defeated Northern last Friday in Kingwood.

"Central is not as big as Bishop Walsh, but they are quicker," Woods said. "We expect them to throw the ball 15-20 times and they have a very impressive kicking game."

The Cavaliers are led by junior quarterback Jason Corbin, 6-2, 195, who also handles the punting and kicking duties. "He is a real threat inside the 20-yard line," Woods said, referring to his field goal potential.

Other offensive standouts are junior tailback Dustin Gidley, 5-8, 150; senior flanker Shawn Jennings, 5-11, 157; and senior guard Loren Wolfe, 5-10, 175.

Linebacker David Hatcher, 5-11, 180; defensive back Tracey Ware, 5-8, 135; and tackle Shannon DuVall, 6-2, 200, anchor the Central defensive unit.

The Cavaliers utilize the I-formation and are an outside-oriented team, which allows them to use their speed in various sweep and option plays. Defensively, they run from 5-2 and 5-3 formations.

Central Preston is under a new head coach, Jeff Zigray. Former head coach Fred Nestor is now an assistant, along with Mike Contie.

The kickoff at the Southern field is slated for 8 p.m.

Dr. Pope, 50, Participates In 50-Mile Event

Dr. William Pope, Garrett County Health Officer, observed his recent 50th birthday by competing a 50-mile trail race this past weekend in Punxsutawney, Pa. Pope, who has been an avid runner for several years and has participated in over 20 marathons (26.1 miles), finished the 50-mile event with a time of nine hours, 29 minutes, which was good for 44th place out of 90 runners.

Pope stated that there were several runners in the event who were older than he, but most were younger.

The race is called the Groundhog 50-Mile Endurance Ride and Run, and is rather unique in that, in addition to the runners, there were 10 cyclists on mountain bikes and 30 horses and riders on the same course. The fastest runner completed the race in six hours, 24 minutes, the fastest cyclist in four hours, 10 minutes; and the fastest horse and rider in three hours, 30 minutes. The runners were given a two-hour head start, and the horses had to stop along the course for check-ups by veterinarians, so a few runners finished the course before any horses did.

Pope explained that trail races are more relaxed than road races, with a softer running surface, slower pace, greater variety of terrain and regular stops to eat and drink. Most runners walk up the hills, he said, and run the flats and downhills. Even the cyclists and horseback riders had to dismount, he said, to make it up some hills of the course.

"In trail races, the participants have more opportunity to converse with one another than in road races," Pope said. "and the cyclists whizzing by and horseback riders at a run or gallop added excitement and variety to the run."

Women's Golf

Results Reported

The Women's Golf Association of the Oakland Country Club completed the second round of its member-member tournament last Thursday. The final round will be played September 24, which will conclude the season for the Association.

Play for the day included low team putts, with the team of Wid Brown, Mildred Foster, Gerry Smith, and Helen Nordeck recording a 23.

At 24 was the team of Karen Browning, Pat Filsinger, Alice McGreevy, and Judy Johnson. Carding a 25 was the team of Martha Lou Ashby, Ginny Lohr, Peggy Kitzmiller, and Kathy Refosco.

Two teams tied with 26, including Anne Jesnak, Annie Colaw, Marie Nelson, and Cel Lascaris; Pearl Daniels, M.L. Shaffer, June Bray, and Helen McHenry.

The Association will hold an awards luncheon and gift exchange Thursday, October 1, at 12:30 p.m. at the club house. Officers for the 1988 will be elected. Members are asked to make reservations for the luncheon no later than Sept. 29.

Huskies Fumble Away A Victory To Central Preston

While the Northern High won the game of statistics last Friday evening in Kingwood against Central Preston, critical errors by the Huskies resulted in an 18-6 defeat to the Cavaliers.

Six fumbles resulting in three turnovers, two of which were inside the Cavaliers' five-yard line, plus a blocked punt in their own end zone proved too costly for the Huskies, who dropped to 1-1 on the season. It was the second win in three starts for Central Preston.

Dustin Gidley was the star for the Cavaliers, as he scored all three of his team's touchdowns, the first of which came in the second quarter when he broke through the Husky line, blocked Rodney Lipscomb's punt, and recovered the ball. The run for the conversion failed.

The Huskies came back in the third quarter to even the score when Todd Wagner broke loose on a 40-yard run to pay dirt. The run for the conversion was unsuccessful, leaving the score tied at 6-6.

Central Preston went ahead for good later in the same period when Gidley raced 70 yards for a touchdown and, following a Husky fumble, crashed into the end zone from the two-yard line for the final points of the evening. Both conversion attempts again failed.

The Huskies finished with 242 yards of total offense, compared to 230 for the Cavaliers, while each team recorded eight first downs.

Lipscomb led the Huskies in rushing with 80 yards on 14 carries, while Wagner finished with 78 yards on eight attempts. Pacing the Husky defense was Jason Rush, who was credited with 13 tackles, including five solos and eight assists.

"We were our own menace," said Coach Tom Vent. "In general, we played well, but our few big letdowns gave them ideal field position and they capitalized on it. That's a sign of a good football team."

Ed Tabor, who had a big rushing game for the Huskies the previous week, was well-contained by the Cavalier defense, which seemed to key on him. "Sometimes I think kids try too hard," Vent said, "and I believe that may be what happened with Eddie. He'll be back, though."

The bright spot of the contest for Vent and the rest of the coaching staff was the performance of their defense. "They really played a super game," he said.

GOLF FOR HEART WINNERS — The 10th annual Golf for Heart Tournament was held recently at the Oakland Country Club and raised over $350 to benefit the American Heart Association/Western Maryland Division community programs and research. Pictured above left are the members of the first place team, which carded a 66 (five under par). They are, left to right, Henry Trickett, Peggy Kitzmiller, Pat Bobo and Gary Daniels. Each received a trophy donated by Stewart's Funeral Home, Oakland Clothing Warehouse, Rudy's Department Store, Beachy Lumber Company, and Helbig's Jewelry, all of Oakland. Above right are the second place team members who carded a 67.

The Huskies will attempt to rebound this week with their homecoming game against Petersburg. The Vikings are currently 0-2, having lost to Berkeley Springs and Franklin, and did not play last week.

The Vikings have more speed than size and are a pass-oriented team, with several talented receivers. Among them are junior split end Mike Meek, 6-0, 175; senior tight end Brian Ginder, 6-2, 185; and senior wideout Eric Allen, 5-10, 150.

Throwing the aerials will be senior quarterback Scott Smith, who, although only 5-9 and 140 pounds, is experienced and has proven to be effective.

The backfield also includes junior fullback Jeremy Wheeler, 5-11, 175, and junior tailback Jamie Berg, 5-11, 165.

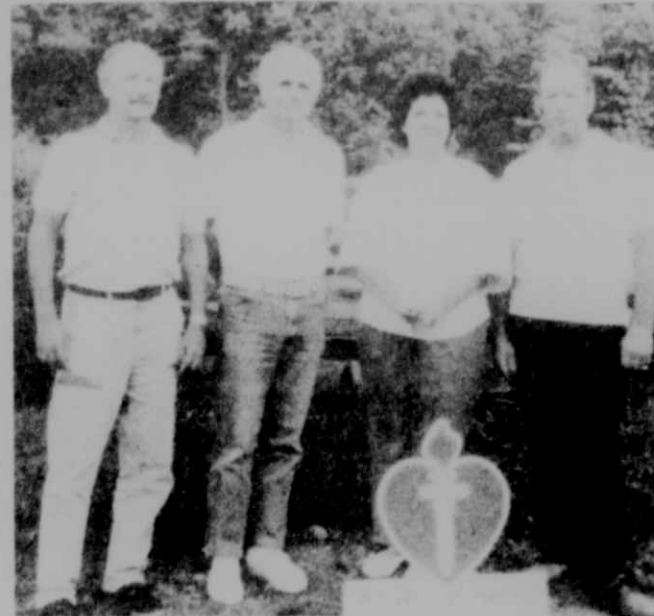

Anchoring the Viking offensive line will be senior John Crites, 6-1, 190, and junior Larry Wratford, 5-11, 210. Crites and Brad Helmick, 5-11, 185.

"We've had a good week of practice and we'll be ready," Vent said. "Our biggest problem right now is a lack of consistency, but it takes time to develop consistency and I really believe we're getting there."

Listed as doubtful this week for the Huskies is starting quarterback Ed Lytle, who was injured in the first game of the season and is still nursing a sore knee. Northern's huge lineman Tom Savage is expected to play this week, but is facing knee surgery the following week.

The kickoff for Friday's game will be at 7:30 p.m.

Southern Girls Fall To Indians. Defeat Allegany

The Southern girls varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams opened their seasons this past week, losing to perennial powerhouse Mt. Savage last Wednesday night on the Indians' court and then defeating Allegany last night in Cumberland.

Coach Helen Rostovsky's varsity was stopped 15-2, 15-11, and 15-7, however the coach said her team "played better than the scores indicated."

Debbie Bateman led the Rams' scoring with eight points and Cheryl Wilt recorded five.

"We had lots of good digs and excellent spikes," she said. "Now we are working for better floor coverage and more power in our spiking."

The Southern jayvees, after also losing to Mt. Savage, topped Allegany in the preliminary match last night, 15-7, 15-11, with Amy Friend and Stacy Beckman leading the team with eight points each. Cindy Beckman and Jenny Friend each added seven.

The varsity girls dropped the first game of their match, 15-9, but re-grouped to sweep the next three, 15-9, 15-3, and 15-13.

A strong performance was given by Debbie Bateman, who finished with 20 points, including 11 ace serves. Kendra Wagner accounted for nine points, Cheryl Wilt and Katie Grove scored seven each, and Tabitha Slinger finished with six spike points, as did Grove.

Kay Speir led Allegany's scoring.

The Southern girls will travel to Valley this evening and then host Northern in their first home match next Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Beneficiaries Of Arrowhead Tourney Each Given $1,000

Three local non-profit programs will each be awarded $1,000 as a result of the third annual Arrowhead Golf Tournament, which was held Friday at the Oakland Country Club. The beneficiaries are Hospice of Garrett County, Habitat for Humanity, and the basketball program of Garrett Community College.

Wayne R. Johnson, executive director of Hospice; Russell Sines, representing the board of directors for Habitat; and Dennis Gibson, head coach of the GCC Lakers, noted their appreciation this week to Greig Johnson, manager of Arrowhead Deli & Grocery, Deep Creek Lake, for sponsoring the tournament.

They also expressed appreciation to: Bill's Marine for offering a Bayliner boat to any player who hit a hole-in-one on the No. 9 green; Butcher & Singer Stockbrokers, represented by Rob Sharps, who provided golf balls for raffling; the Oakland Country Club pro, Jim Kreyenbuhl, and staff; and to Dave Martin, Mary Pollock, and Ethel Ridder who collected $81 on No. 17 from players betting they could hit and stay on the green.

The event will be held again next year at the Oakland Country Club, according to Johnson.

Jayvee Rams Victorious Over West Preston

The Southern High junior varsity football team ran its record to 3-0 on the season Monday night by blanking visiting West Preston, 14-0.

Mike Dever scored both touchdowns for the junior Rams and Tom Ritchey passed to Sean Ryan for a two-point conversion.

The victory was the 13th straight for Coach Jim Bosley's squad, which went undefeated last season.

Dever's first touchdown came in the first quarter on a three-yard run. After a scoreless second period, the Rams came back after intermission to record their second touchdown, this time on a five-yard jaunt by Dever. The pass for the conversion was incomplete.

Dever finished with 111 yards on 13 carries, while Bill Welch added 69 yards on 14 attempts. Marshall Pike, the team's leading rusher, has been sidelined for at least three weeks with a broken foot.

The Rams will travel to Northern on Monday for a 7 p.m. game.

Near shady wail a rose once grew,
Budded and blossomed in God's free light.
Watered and fed by morning dew,
Shedding its sweetness day and night.
As it grew and blossomed fair and tall,
Slowly rising to loftier height.
It came to a crevice in a wall,
Through which there shone a beam of light.
Onward it crept with added strength,
With never a thought of fear or pride;
It followed the light through the crevice,
And unfolded itself on the other side.
The light, the dew, the broadening view,
Were found the same as they were before; And it lost itself in beauties new.
Breathing its fragrance more and more,
Shall claim of death cause us to grieve
And make our courage faint or fail?
Nay, let us faith and hope receive;
The rose still blooms beyond the wall,
Scattering fragrance far and wide,
Just as it did in the days of yore,
Just as it did on the other side,
Just as it will forever more.

Mt. Top Youth League Football Results Noted

Two teams remain undefeated in Mt. Top Youth League football, as the Oakland Jets whipped the visiting Terra Alta Dolphins Sunday, 29-6, and the Thomas-Davis Rams nipped the Northern Steelers in a defensive struggle at Northern, 2-0. The Jets and Rams will face each other at Northern this Sunday.

In another game Sunday at Southern, the Oakland Raiders got back on the winning track by blanking the Parsons Vikings, 13-0.

Jets/Dolphins

Shane Skipper passed for two touchdowns, rushed for one, kicked two conversions passed for a third in the Jets' win over Terra Alta.

Richie DeWitt was on the receiving end of both touchdown passes and also led the Jets in rushing with 99 yards.

Skipper ran for a 46-yard touchdown and connected with DeWitt on scoring passes of 72 yards each, while Jason Rinker added a 51-yard touchdown run. Rinker also was on the receiving end of a conversion pass from DeWitt.

Defensive standouts for the Jets were Jerry Welch, who led in tackles and had two fumble recoveries; DeWitt with two fumble recoveries, and Galen Glatfely and Rinker with one recovery each. Others with strong defensive performances were Jeremy Lewis, Skipper, Mark Metz, and Scott Meyers.

The undefeated Jets will face the Thomas-Davis Rams at Northern this Sunday afternoon.

Raiders/Vikings

Jeremy Bosley led the Raiders' offensive effort, scoring both of his team's touchdowns, the extra point, and recording 120 yards of rushing.

Others gaining yardage for the Raiders were Nathan Dixon, Gary Upole and Josh Woods.

Defensive standouts were Preston Sharps, Michael Stewart, Joe Welch, Bosley and Dixon. Sharps and C.J. Getson each had a fumble recovery.

The Raiders will play again this Saturday, Sept. 19, at Terra Alta against the Terra Alta Dolphins. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Raiders will have a hoagie sale October 8. For information, persons may contact Bunny Shank at 334-4607 or Debbie Getson at 334-9127.

Steelers/Rams

The Northern Steelers dropped to 0-2 on the season, despite their outstanding defensive effort against the undefeated Rams.

The only points of the contest came with five minutes remaining in the game when Steeler punter Lamon Thomas received a bad snap from center and was tackled in the end zone by the Rams' Sean Cutright for a safety.

On the preceding series, the Steeler defense produced a goal-line stand against the Rams, stopping them on the three-yard line. The Steeler offense managed to move the ball only to the eight-yard line before being forced to punt, which led to the safety.

Steeler Coach Larry Breneman also noted the strong defensive effort by the Rams.

The Steelers will host the Parsons Vikings this Sunday afternoon.

Arrowhead Golf Tourney Held At Oakland Course

The third annual Arrowhead Pro-Am Golf Tournament, an event which benefits local non-profit service organizations, was held Friday at the Oakland Country Club.

Beneficiaries of the tournament this year were Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Inc., and Hospice of Garrett County.

Taking first place in the five-player team tourney with a score of 53 was the team of Ray Lancianese, pro; Henry Trickett, Fred Stough, Jamie Gayorset, and George Kusevich.

Two teams tied for second place with scores of 55. They were: Perry Lancianese, pro; Ken Maloney, Bill Weisgerber, Don Hubert, and Mike Pihony; Bill Dudich, pro; George Evans, Luke Stewart, Don Long, and Jerry Zawalski.

In third place with a 56 was the team of Rick Harris, pro; Rob Sharps, Jim Bailey, Jerry Meyers, and Lee Pentak.

Jeff Orr won low gross with a 74 and Sam Givitate won low net with a 62.

Winning closest to the pin were: George Evans, no. 3; Milford Beckman, no. 9; Dennis Gibson, no. 10; Sam Givitate, no. 13; and Lew Sapp, no. 17.

Low scores by the professionals were: 69 by Harry Toscano and Bill Dudich; and 71 by Chuck Scally and Dave Petrella.

Host pros for the event were Jim Kreyenbuhl, of Oakland Country Club, and Ray Lancianese, Wisp.

Visiting pros from the tri-state area, other than those previously mentioned, were Eli Marovich and Jeff Day.

Sportsmens Swap To Be Held At Youghiogheny Lake

A sportsmen's swap (yard sale) of new or used items of interest to hunters or fishermen will be featured at the 14th annual National Hunting and Fishing Day festivities to be held on Saturday, September 26, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Youghiogheny Lake Outflow Area, Confluence, Pa. Anyone is welcomed to set up a table and sell their wares. Merchandise should be limited to sporting related items of interest to hunters, trappers, fishermen, etc. There will be no set up fees or commissions.

Additional activities which will take place throughout the day include fishing, archery and flintlock rifle contests, displays of mountain man equipment, roots and herbs, taxidermy and sporting goods, and demonstrations of poisonous snake handling, turkey calling, electro-fishing, and apple cider making. For further information, persons may call (814) 395-3242.

Laker Women Finish Second In Tournament

The Garrett Community College women's volleyball team opened its season Saturday at the New Kensington, Pa., Campus of Penn State by finishing second in a four-team tournament.

The Lakers, under Coach Margaret Quinn, reached the finals of the round-robin tourney with a 5-1 record, as did Penn State Altoona. New Kensington finished with a 0-6 mark, while the fourth team, Potomac State, finished at 2-4.

The Lakers were topped by Altoona in the best-of-three finals, 17-15 and 15-4. "I thought we executed very well for a season opener," Coach Quinn stated.

Returning sophomores Chris Gregory, of Southern High School, Karen Frank, of Northern, and Gail Aldridge give the Lakers a strong nucleus. "Chris' consistency is a valuable asset to our team," Quinn said, "and Karen, Gail and Stacy Sines are providing good sets for kills."

Other members of the Laker squad are freshmen Lorretta Spruill, Krista Staley, Sherry Yost, and Sonya Yelovich, another Northern graduate. The Lakers will travel back to New Kensington for a match today and then host its first home match Friday against Cecil Community College, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Northern Jayvees Top East Preston

A pair of touchdowns by Eric Frantz highlighted an 18-6 victory by the Northern High Jayvee football team over visiting East Preston Monday night.

Frantz raced 30 yards for one score and 10 for another, while teammate Pete Bittinger scored the other Husky touchdown on a 45-yard run. Stacey Fike grabbed an interception for Northern.

The junior Huskies will return to action Monday at home against undefeated Southern, and will seek to avenge an earlier 21-8 loss to the Jayvee Rams. Kickoff is slated for 7 p.m.

stated that work is currently being done along the Little Yough between Agway and Third Street for the main interceptor line and work is being done along Oak Street toward Southern High School. France said that expected delays are being experienced because the existing system is not well mapped and "we're groping around under ground." France praised the cooperation received from the town's merchants and citizens in relation to the project, and Boal commended the Jack Bell Construction Company for their fast work on Third Street. "Everyone including the police, fire company, State Highway Administration, Water Resources Administration, they've all been 100 percent behind the project," France said. A meeting is being held at 1 p.m. today for a presentation of detailed progress reports on the project. The plane was piloted by Jimmy Sisler of Cranesville, W. Va.

Autumn Glory Fest Princesses Also Selected

Autumn Glory Festival Princesses have been selected from Northern and Southern high schools to accompany Festival Queen Jennifer Golden during the activities of the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, scheduled for October 8-11.

From Northern High School, Shelli Bittinger was selected as princess. The daughter of Mike Bittinger and Linda Oester, Grantsville, Shelli is a senior who has been a member of the Student Council and served on School Improvement, Student Activities and Junior Prom committees, was 1985 Snowball Princess, 1986 Snowball Candidate, and currently a varsity cheerleader and member of the Cheerleading Club, the National Honor Society, and Who's Who Among American High School Students. She will attend the National Youth Leadership Council in Washington, D.C. and will be a representative at the Maryland Student Council Convention in Oxon Hill. She is a member of Christ Lutheran Church, Grantsville, and plans to attend college and major in Biological Science.

From Southern High School, Shelli Terlizzi was selected as princess. The daughter of David and Darlene Terlizzi, Oakland, Shelli is a senior who is president of the National Honor Society at Southern High School, editor of the school yearbook, a member of the Girls' Athletic Association and the Quill and Scroll, as well as statistician for the boys' basketball team. She has served on the Student Council and was on the Junior Prom Committee, attended a mock United Nations Security Council meeting in Morgantown, W. Va., in spring 1987, a member of the Maryland Governor's Youth Advisory Committee, and is a member of Who's Who Among American High School Students. Shelli is a member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, and she plans to attend college and major in social work or psychology.

GCC Board

first small business workshop at GCC last year and plans another "as opportunity permits." His ultimate goal is to make GCC a small business center for the community.

The business instructor compared business and technology courses to the "feast or famine" concept. While most of the traditional business classes are full, many technology courses were cancelled because of low enrollment. He also noted the decrease in course offerings, which helped to fill those available.

He went on to say that part time enrollment was down significantly and felt that the thriving economy could be a factor in the drop since many prospective students are now working full time. "Hard times for the county mean good times for the college and vice versa," he theorized.

Gould also cited the reduced selection of courses and admission testing evaluations for new students as possible factors in the reduced enrollment. He informed the board that two "college of the air" classes were full since students could view the videotapes of their classes at their convenience. Testing is conducted at scheduled times, though.

He concluded, "With lower enrollment, the revenue we miss will be an expense we don't incur. This is the price we may have to pay for investing in quality."

Academic Report

In her report to the board, Dr. Mitchell reviewed the fall semester course schedule noting that of the 98 courses offered, there were 118 sections. Of those sections, 54 are in arts and sciences, 42 in business and technology and two in the college of the air mentioned by Gould.

She said a total of 21 sections reached maximum enrollment. Only seven courses were cancelled because of low enrollment, six of which were in technology.

Dean Mitchell indicated that 15-25 classes are normally cancelled in any given semester. She contributed that to the fewer number of courses offered.

"WILL YOU BE MUCH LONGER WATCHING YOUR CARTOONS, ORVILLE? HECTOR WANTS TO WATCH THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS."

The dean told the board that two classes were also being offered at Bausch and Lomb (Introduction to Business and English Composition I) for employees and the general public.

Although the college lost one English instructor last year, Dr. Mitchell said there are no plans to hire another at this time and that existing faculty "were pleased to fill the gap."

She said the writing lab position was made a full time job this year and that Jack DeBose would continue in that position. "He is working closely with the students and administering placement tests," she stated.

"Beth Hurley is working with developmental studies on an individual basis with the students in remedial areas."

Mitchell commended the faculty for their willingness to "pitch in" to continue giving students a "quality education."

Student Report

Dr. Prisela introduced three members of the Student Government Association, Rob Germain, president; Kyle Martz, treasurer; and Patrick Mitchell, sophomore representative. They outlined plans for the association and told of their reasons for attending GCC. All three cited "individual attention."

Dean Prisela stated that 138 FTE's had been computed as of Tuesday, but that the figures could change, as September 25 is the last date for computing FTE's.

She said FTE's are off slightly from last year, although there are 213 full time students enrolled, thus far, as opposed to 202 last year at this time. Enrollment for part time students decreased sharply from 329 to 227. "Part time students are taking more credit hours, though," said Prisela.

Financial Report

In his financial report, Comptroller John Culp revealed the cash flow forecast for the year, indicating only one or two short-term borrowing periods for the year.

He further stated that 14 percent of the budget has been expended this fiscal year, which is 2.67 percent under even spending.

Other GCC News

Dr. Herman thanked the Trustees Tuesday for reviewing the current state of the college and determining the president's goals for 1987-88.

The goals include: achieving not less than a qualified three-year accreditation status, presenting by February '88 a comprehensive five-year plan, achieving substantially improved internal relations, increasing Fall 1988 Credit FTE enrollment by not less than five percent, establishing a research base for grant writing, developing "boilerplates" for grant writing, submitting not less than two grants, organizing a college foundation and raising not less than $10,000 in gifts.

Dr. Herman responded, "I will do my utmost to meet and exceed your expectations."

A discussion then ensued on the new student advising center

and it was agreed that although there were some problems, it was "vital" to the students.

Placement testing also appeared to be a point of contention or apprehension with some of the students — full and part time.
"Hopefully, the students will come to appreciate the testing system for what it is," said Dr. Herman. "It's important for the students to have common preparation so other students are not at a disadvantage if all the material for a course isn't covered. The testing and evaluation may cost a couple of hours of time in the students' lives, but it's also the most important investment in their lives."

The board and administration also spoke of the high standards the faculty had for the students.

Also Tuesday it was announced that a library director had not been hired because of the salary structure.

Board Chairman Wayne Hamilton said he was not surprised that the college didn't get anyone because of the low salary. "We can't avoid the salary picture here anymore," he stated. "We have to hit it head on."

Hamilton noted that college salaries were lower than high school salaries. "We have to remember that constraints have been imposed... it's the reality of the political situation."

Dr. Herman said he felt the county commissioners understood the salary situation and have helped, to a small degree, but "we need a quarter of a million dollars to come in line with other state institutions."

The group is also hopeful that the state will also consider seriously the salary situation and "come through with more aid."

Finally, the board approved a gas and oil lease with Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation at the rate of $3.25 an acre.

Tasty Cheese Snacks

Whether it's hungry kids just home from school or football fans gathering to watch the game, here is an assortment of recipes to get you in and out of the kitchen fast. Some are simple enough for your older children to prepare themselves.

FESTIVE APPETIZER QUICHE

- 9-inch unbaked pie shell
- 1½ cups (6oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- 1 can (4½ oz.) shrimp, well drained, chopped
- 3 eggs
- 1½ cups light cream OR half and half
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- Dash nutmeg
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Sprinkle cheese, then shrimp over bottom of pastry shell. Beat together eggs, cream, chives, salt, dry mustard and nutmeg. Pour into pastry shell. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake in preheated 375°F. oven 30 to 35 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let stand 20 minutes before serving. Cut into squares. Serve warm or chilled. 16 appetizer squares.

CHEDDAR PEANUT BALL

- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese, at room temperature
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped red onion
- 1/8 teaspoon curry powder
- ½ cup chopped salted peanuts

Beat together Cheddar and cream cheese until well blended. Stir in onion and curry powder. Shape to form a cheese ball. Roll in peanuts. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Serve at room temperature with assorted crackers. Yield: about 2 cups cheese spread.

SOUTHWESTERN BEAN DIP

- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter
- 1 can (15½ oz.) refried beans
- 1½ teaspoons chili powder
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- ¼ teaspoon cumin seed, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1 can (4 oz.) sauce for tacos
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

Melt butter, stir in beans. Stir in chili powder, garlic powder, cumin seed, hot pepper sauce and sauce for tacos. Cook over medium high heat about 5 minutes. Stir in cheese. Serve warm as a dip with corn chips. Yield: about 1½ cups.

CHEDDAR BLUE CHEESE

DIP FOR FRUIT

- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese, at room temperature
- ½ cup (2 oz.) Blue cheese
- 1¼ cups dairy sour cream

Beat together cheeses until well blended. Beat in sour cream until fluffy. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Serve with honeydew melon, pear and apple wedges, pineapple chunks and green grapes. Yield: 2 cups.

HOT MONTEREY DIP

- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, cut in chunks
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 teaspoons instant minced onion
- 5 drops hot pepper sauce

Combine cheeses, milk, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, onion and hot pepper sauce in a heavy saucepan. Heat over low heat, stirring occasionally, until cheese melts and mixture is hot. Serve warm and garnish with chopped chives or parsley. If mixture becomes too thick, stir in additional milk. Use as a dip for fresh vegetables. Yield: 2 cups.

SNAPPY CHEESE-SAUSAGE ROLLS

- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese, at room temperature
- 3 tablespoons dairy sour cream
- 6 slices summer sausage, ¼ inches in diameter

Combine cheese and sour cream. Remove casings from sausage. Spread a scant 2 tablespoons cheese mixture on each slice of sausage. Place one slice of sausage on top of another, overlapping one half of the way. Roll sausage firmly, wrap and chill. Repeat twice to form 3 rolls. To serve, cut in ½-inch slices. Yield: 18.

SMOKY SWISS SPREAD

- 1 cup (4 oz.) finely shredded Provolone cheese
- 1 cup (4 oz.) finely shredded Swiss cheese
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
- ½ teaspoon instant minced onion
- 2 tablespoons white grape juice
- 2 tablespoons milk
- ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire OR hot pepper sauce

Allow cheese to come to room temperature. Cream together Provolone, Swiss and cream cheese with minced onion. Gradually add grape juice, milk and Worcestershire sauce, beat until thoroughly blended. Pack into 3 individual ½ cup salad molds or cheese crocks. Cover and chill several hours or overnight to blend flavors. Unmold onto greens. Yields: 1½ cups.

CHEESE-SHRIMP FONDUE

- 1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of shrimp soup
- 2 teaspoons finely grated onion
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- 1 cup cooked cleaned shrimp, chopped*
- ¼ cup dry sherry or white grape juice

Heat soup and onion in heavy saucepan. Add cheese. Cook and stir over low heat until cheese is melted. Add shrimp and sherry; blend. Transfer to fondue pot. Keep warm over low heat. Do not overheat. Serve with raw vegetable dippers, crackers or chunks of French bread. Yield 2¾ cups.

*If using frozen shrimp, thaw completely and drain on paper towels.

CHEESY BEAN DAGWOOD

- 6 slices Cheddar cheese
- 6 slices Italian OR white bread, toasted, buttered
- 1 can (1 lb.) baked beans, drained (about 1½ cups)
- 6 tablespoons catsup
- 6 slices tomato
- 6 slices cooked crisp bacon (optional)

Cut cheese slices in half diagonally to make 12 triangles. Spread each slice toast with about ¼ cup drained beans, 1 tablespoon catsup, 1 slice tomato, 2 triangles cheese and 1 slice bacon. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat until cheese is melted and sandwich is heated through. 6 open-face sandwiches.

THE CLASSIC REUBEN

- Russian-Style Dressing*
- 8 slices large size rye bread
- ½ cup well drained sauerkraut
- 8 slices corned beef
- 8 slices Swiss cheese
- Butter, softened

Spread about 1 tablespoon dressing on each slice bread. Spread about 2 tablespoons sauerkraut on each of 4 slices bread; top each with 2 slices corned beef, 2 slices Swiss cheese and remaining 4 slices bread. Butter outside of each sandwich generously and grill until browned and cheese begins to melt. 4 sandwiches.

*Russian-Style Dressing: Combine ½ cup dairy sour cream, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish and ¼ teaspoon salt, blend until smooth.

COOL RACHEL SANDWICH

- Yogurt Slaw*
- 8 slices large size rye bread
- Butter, softened
- 8 slices corned beef
- 8 slices Swiss cheese

Spread bread with softened butter. Spread a generous ¼ cup yogurt slaw on each of 4 slices bread, top each with 2 slices corned beef and 2 slices Swiss cheese. Close sandwiches with remaining bread. Slice diagonally. 4 sandwiches.

*Yogurt Slaw: Blend together ½ cup plain yogurt, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, ½ to 1 teaspoon seasoned salt and ½ teaspoon finely grated onion. Toss with 1½ cups shredded cabbage. Chill to blend flavors. Yield: 1¼ cups.

BLUE CHEESE SPECIAL

- 1 cup small curd cottage cheese
- ¼ cup crumbled Blue cheese
- 4 slices whole wheat toast, buttered
- Lettuce
- 4 slices chicken OR turkey breast
- 4 slices canned pineapple, well drained
- Avocado slices

Combine cottage cheese and Blue cheese. Top each slice toast with lettuce, chicken and pineapple slices. Top with about ¼ cup cottage cheese mixture and avocado slice. 4 open face sandwiches.

BROILER CHEESE-ONION HEARTIES

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup thinly sliced onion
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 English muffins, split, toasted, buttered OR 6 slices rye toast, buttered
- 6 tablespoons chili sauce
- 6 slices Cheddar cheese

Melt butter, saute onion until tender but not browned. Add salt. Spread each muffin half with 1 tablespoon chili sauce. Divide onion evenly among the 6 muffins, reserving a few for garnish. Top onion with cheese slices and garnish with reserved onion. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat until cheese is melted and sandwiches are hot. 6 open face sandwiches.

CHEESE PEANUT CRISPIES

- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese, at room temperature
- ½ cup (1 stick) butter
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/16 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- ½ cup finely chopped salted Spanish peanuts

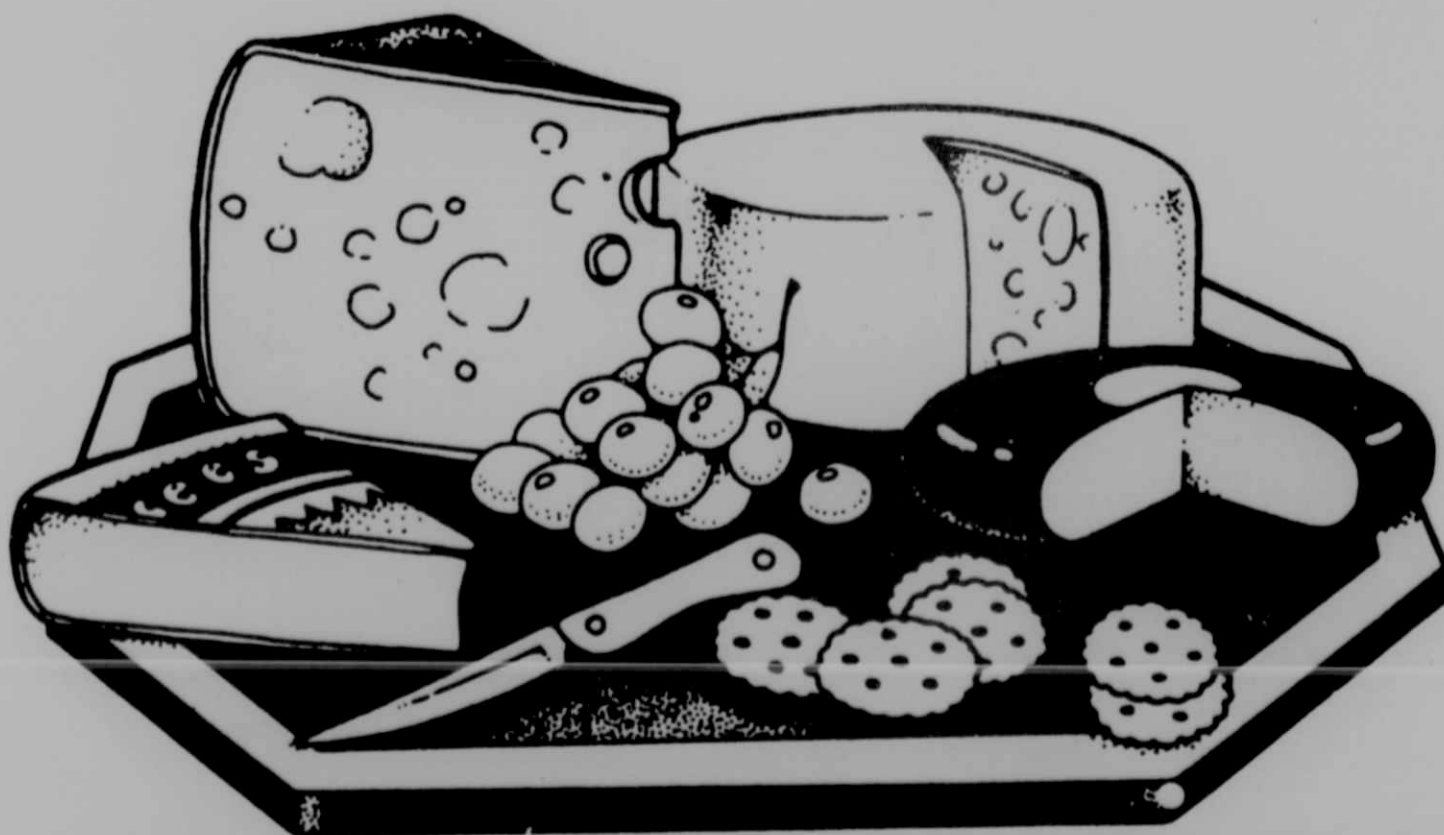

Beat together cheese and butter until fluffy. Blend in flour and cayenne until smooth. Chill dough for ease in handling. Form into 1-inch balls, dip balls in peanuts and place on cookie sheet, nut side up. Bake in preheated 400°F. oven 12 to 14 minutes. Yield: about 20 appetizers.

CHEESE OLIVE PUFFS: Omit peanuts. Shape teaspoonfuls of dough around well drained medium stuffed green olives, covering completely. Bake as directed above.

PIZZA POPCORN

- ½ cup butter
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- ½ teaspoon crushed oregano
- ½ teaspoon crushed basil
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon onion powder
- 10 cups freshly popped popcorn

Melt butter, add Parmesan cheese and seasonings. Pour over popcorn in shallow baking pan, stir to mix. Heat in preheated 300°F. oven 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Yield: about 10 cups.

MAYBE AUTUMN ISN'T COMING THIS YEAR!

My six-year old came to me and asked, "How do you know the leaves will turn color after summer? Maybe autumn won't come this year."

What a silly fear! I reassured him, "Of course autumn will come after summer, it always does. The changing of the seasons is an event that we can always count on."

God is the reason that fall and winter, spring and summer always come. I explained, "God set certain laws into effect when he created the world. God is faithful to his creation."

My son was satisfied, but I kept thinking about how no one ever doubts the changing of the seasons. Seeing the faithfulness of God in creation tells me something about his nature. It reassures me that God is faithful to his promises to me in the Bible. God will do what he has said.

To know what God has said, I turned to the Bible. Nature's picture of God's faithfulness was written out in these words:

Holy Bible

"Because of the Lord's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail. They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness." (Lamentations 3:22)

Every family needs this kind of solid reality in their lives to give meaning and strength in today's difficult times.

Take your family to worship Sunday!

ALWAYS A REMNANT?

September 20, 1987

Background Scripture: Genesis 6 through 9:17
Devotional Reading: Genesis 9:8-17

The picture of God that we get in the story of Noah and the ark is certainly a pre-Christian one. In it we see a God who is "sorry that he made man on the earth and it grieved him to his heart" (6:6). We thus see a God who believes he made a mistake in making human beings in the first place.

We see also a God who changes his mind, first planning to "blot out man whom I have created from the face of the earth" (6:7), then, making an exception because of Noah's righteousness: "But Noah found favor in the eyes of the Lord" (6:8).

THE FIRST REMNANT
Because of the gross widespread corruption throughout the earth, God planned to obliterate human life. "I have determined to make an end of all flesh; for the earth is filled with violence... behold I will destroy them with the earth" (6:13). But not Noah, nor his family, nor even all the beasts of the earth. This is the first of many, many times in the Bible when great evil brings great destruction. But it is also the first time that the idea of a remnant appears.

In the Bible, the "remnant" is always a person or persons who are sufficiently faithful and righteous so that God determines that they shall be excluded from the tragic coming events. But it is not just that they do not deserve this destruction, but that they are needed by God to carry on his purpose after the destruction is over. In the case of people of Israel in the days of Isaiah, there was to be a remnant to carry on as God's chosen people. In the case of Noah, however, it was to be nothing less than carrying on the whole human race, not to mention the animal kingdom.

ALWAYS AN ARK

It is hard for Christians to think of God making a mistake in his work of creation or changing his mind. But in this story of Noah and the ark we see also a theme that is repeated again and again in both the Bible and in human history: no matter how much human beings may seem to delay the plan of God, no matter how much we may seem to deserve obliteration for the corruption of God's planet, he has never failed to provide for himself—and human kind—an ark, so that his plan is carried forward despite our efforts at self-destruction. At least, he has so far.

Based on a sermon by Lawrence W. Althouse, Secretary for the Department of Christian Education, American Bible Society, New York City.

BEHIND THE SCENES

'Tour of Duty' producer takes on war and Cosby

By Frank Lovece

Zev Braun's heart is in the right place. Unfortunately, his series may be in the wrong place—opposite "The Cosby Show." That's where CBS has stationed "Tour of Duty," the new series about the Vietnam war that premieres Thursday, Sept. 24.

Yet their success may depend less on the drama itself than on the allure of the subject matter. As film and TV subjects go, Vietnam is hot right now.

Braun, of course, asserts the project was in the making prior to the release of "Platoon" and "Full Metal Jacket." He became involved with the series after having worked on an aborted miniseries called "Saigon" in the early '80s. "We didn't hop on the bandwagon," says Braun. "We helped build it."

Another concern of Braun's was the 8 p.m. (ET) time slot, traditionally the "family hour." Since kids have a great say in what the family watches, will "Tour of Duty," a graphic drama keep families away? "I have a nine-year-old daughter," says Braun, "and she was fascinated by the pilot. She didn't know what the war was about. That's frightening, isn't it?"

Finally, though the series seems to have won the approval of veterans' organizations, how can a producer successfully navigate the politics of a war that many Americans believe we should not have waged? "The show isn't political," Braun insists. "All these guys want to do is exist. By telling it from the grunts' point of view, we're able to avoid political entanglements. We have a tremendous responsibility," Braun says. "We don't want to screw it up."

Zev Braun

"Well, it's certainly an alternative to 'Cosby,'" says Braun, the executive producer. "Terence Knox ('St. Elsewhere') starts as your standard issue, tough sergeant. He leads a young cast into battles a lot grimmer than anything Sonny Crockett has to face. 'We're dealing with reality,' Braun insists. "Characters that you've invested in emotionally will die. If we don't take that risk, we're simply breaking faith."

One has to give Braun and his co-producers credit for attempting to redefine some

Actor who was on on 'C&L' wasn't a driver of 'Car 54'

By Toni D'Amato

Recently, my husband and I were watching "Car 54, Where Are You?" and one of the police officers resembled the actor who plays Cagney's father on "Cagney & Lacey." Did he appear on "Car 54"? What is his name? Where can we write him? — E.N., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dick O'Neill

Dick O'Neill portrayed Charlie Cagney on "Cagney & Lacey" until this past season, when the character passed away during the season-ending episodes. O'Neill was not a regular on "Car 54." He starred in the very short-lived sitcom "Empire" (it aired from Jan. 4 to Feb. 1, 1984) and in "Rosetti and Ryan," a law drama that lasted only slightly longer (it aired from Sept. 22 to Nov. 10, 1977). He was also a cast regular of the law-detective drama "Kaz," which aired from September '78 to August '79. He was also in the extremely short-lived CBS series "Better Days," in 1986. Although he hasn't had a long run as the star of a TV series, it is no reflection on his work—he's a very talented actor.

Send mail to O'Neill in care of Orion Television, 1875 Century Park East, Los Angeles, CA 90067.

I say Jennifer Cooke, who starred in "Friday the 13th Part VI," also played Elizabeth in the TV series "V." My friend says it was someone else. Who is right? — C.H., Oniro, Wis.

You are. In 1986, Cooke starred with Tom Mathews in part six of the never-ending saga of Jason. She also starred in NBC's "V."

I would love to have an address for Elizabeth Taylor. — E.V., Kingsland, Texas.

Send mail to this legendary actress in care of Chen Sam Associates, 315 East 72 Street, New York, NY 10021.

Chris Evert is my favorite tennis star. Where can I write her? — A.C., Newfoundland, Canada.

This 'Y&R' actress started acting in Canadian theater

By Kimberly Redmond

I'm a fan of Jess Walton, who recently took over the role of Jill Abbott on "The Young and the Restless." Can you tell me something about her? — S.S., Danville, Va.

Jess Walton

Walton became interested in an acting career in high school, where she won her first show business by appearing in school theatrical productions.

She grew up in Toronto, Canada, and spent three years with the Toronto Workshop Productions repertory company. She has appeared in the Canadian Broadcasting Company television films "Tom Jones," "Diary of a Madman" and "Nurses in Paradise." Her feature film work includes "The Peace Killers" and "Monkeys in the Attic." She guest-starred in such American TV series as "Rockford Files," "Marcus Welby,"

M.D. and "Ironside." Walton portrayed Kelly Harper on the canceled daytime soap "Capitol."

Can you tell me if Kim Zimmer, who portrays Reva Shayne on "Guiding Light," has ever appeared on another soap? — T.W., Turkey, N.C.

Zimmer played Nola Dancy on "The Doctors" from 1979 until 1982.

Christopher Walken

Is it true that Christopher Walken once appeared on "Guiding Light," and if so, what role did he play? — D.M., Houston, Texas.

From 1954 until 1956, Walken portrayed Michael Bane on "G.I." At the time he was known as Glenn Walken.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 300 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

A federal agent (Sam Jones) receives help from his government contact (Claudia Christian) in the action/adventure movie "Highwayman." It airs Sunday, Sept. 20, on NBC.

This Showtime romance is out-and-out fantasy

By Connie Passalacqua

What's the difference between a network soap opera and a "Harlequin Romance Movie" on cable? A whole lot of money!

Kathleen Quinlan

When American Shannon O'Hara went to Scotland in search of a home romantic prince on the daytime soap "As the World Turns," a rinky-dink castle was re-created in the show's New York studio and her "prince," Duncan MacKenzie, was played by a California actor complete with phony burr. When American artist Sarah McAllister (Kathleen Quinlan) goes to live in a Scottish castle in "Dreams Lost, Dreams Found" (Showtime, Sept. 21), the camera really goes to Scotland, and captures our heroine in an authentic castle, amid breathtaking scenery and her bonnie prince, Ross Fleming, is played by an authentic Scottish actor, David Robb.

Scriptwise, though, "Dreams Lost, Dreams Found" is familiar territory to American soap fans. The two lovers, of course, must surmount obstacle after obstacle before finding final happiness. And boy, have we ever seen these standard soap plot machinations before! There's the old one where our heroine finds out her lover is unfaithful by "accidentally" stumbling on the Other Woman coming out of his bedroom wrapped in a towel. And then there's the obligatory "You're telling me that you had an affair with my dead husband—but you're my sister!" scene.

This being a Harlequin romance based on a novel by Pamela Wallace, there are some outrageous flights of fantasy even a daytime soap couldn't get away with. When Ross and Sarah see each other for the first time across a crowded room (of course) at a party, their eyes lock for an eternity. Without even an introductory word, Ross chases her into a deserted staircase and kisses her passionately.

Hey, we girls can dream, can't we? As long as "Dreams Lost, Dreams Found" is viewed purely as fantasy, it's pretty good soap opera. The acting, particularly Quinlan's as the stubborn, independent Sarah, is better than on any daytime soap. And Robb, as our gorgeous hero/fantasy object, is bonnie, too.

PBS

Peter Jennings hosts PBS's "We the People," a four-part series celebrating the 200th anniversary of the Constitution. Part one airs Tuesday, Sept. 22. (Check local listings.)

CINDY SAYS

Sammy: A cane and in pain Jane: Her past comes back

By Cindy Adams

Actress Jennifer Tilly, Meg's kid sister, had assorted jobs before nailing five upcoming movies ("He's My Girl," "Inside Out," "Remote Control," "Rent-A-Lip," "Johnny Be Good"). One employment was waitressing in a chowmeiny. Says Jennifer, "But I never got tips. Customers thought I was one of the Chinese who owned the place." There must be something about this creature that absorbs her surroundings. She answered a call for an all-black cast and, says Jennifer, "I got the part."

co "Mother Teresa" is selling out. On it she is asked what happens when there are no more poor in the world. She answers, "I will be unemployed."

Jane Fonda

Jane Fonda doesn't know it, but a book called "Matter of Survival: The War Jane Never Saw" is about to be published. The author is Chris Noel, a one-time Hollywood starlet who was an Armed Forces Services deejay broadcasting nightly to our servicemen from '66 to '70. Chris said that she met Jane Fonda at a Hollywood rally, and that Chris had become "really upset listening to her," and that Chris rose and challenged Fonda. Is the book all about Jane Fonda? "No. Although I have one chapter called 'Traitor,' which is totally documented. It has segments on Axis Sally, who went to jail, and Tokyo Rose, who went to jail, and Hanoi Jane, who is a movie star."

Sammy Davis

Sammy Davis Jr., using a cane and in pain, may require a new hip replacement. Says Sammy, "When I was boozing, nothing was wrong with my body. Now I'm living a clean life, everything's going wrong." Mother Teresa is a boffo showbiz attraction. The vid-

Miss America, Kellye Cash of Tennessee, will crown her successor during the 34th live telecast of "The Miss America Pageant." It airs Saturday, Sept. 19, on NBC.

The Maryland State Department of Education, Division of Instructional Technology, is offering the GED on TV, part of a program to give adults a second chance to earn their high school diploma. More than 400,000 Maryland residents over the age of 25 have not completed high school.

The GED on TV, a series of adult education courses in reading, writing, and math will be broadcast on Maryland Public Television starting on September 21. The GED on TV will be available throughout Maryland on the MPT station network of channels 22 Annapolis, 28 Salisbury, 31 Hagerstown, 36 Oakland, 62 Frederick and 67 Baltimore. Air times are 6:15 a.m. Monday-Friday and 11:30 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

GED television programs feature a variety of formats and illustrate skills needed by students who are preparing for the GED test. GED on TV students practice skills by completing exercise in workbooks obtainable from the Maryland State Department of Education. Students are also provided information about where to go locally if they need additional, in-person assistance. GED testing will be conducted at various local official testing sites.

Educators state that the TV courses are not for everyone. Some adult learners may function better in a learning center where help is always at hand and where there is an opportunity to socialize with other students. However, the GED on TV is ideal for those who are homebound or whose work schedule conflicts with regular classes.

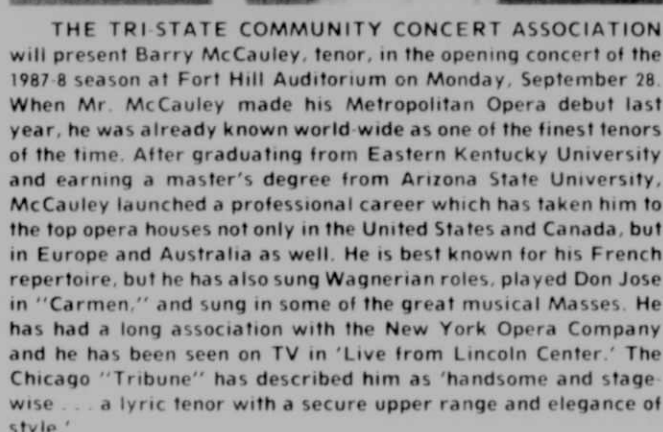

Persons who want to enroll in GED on TV should contact the Maryland State Department of Education, Adult Education Programs, at (301) 333-2373.

Oak Grove Church Sets Homecoming, Music Program

The Oak Grove Mennonite Church will hold its annual Music Day Program and Homecoming celebration this Sunday, September 20.

The 2 p.m. session will include a program in conjunction with the homecoming, participants will largely represent former and present members of Oak Grove Church.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Five Maryland Projects Receive Funding Approval

Maryland Senators Paul Sarbanes and Barbara Mikulski announced this week that the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development has approved $67 million in funding for five Maryland projects.

"These projects are vital to Maryland's economy. They are investments in our future," said the two Maryland Senators, who worked jointly to secure subcommittee approval of the projects. Senator Mikulski worked as a member of the full Appropriations Committee.

"This bill puts money where it will pay dividends. Into harbor dredging for our port economy. Into beach restoration for our shoreline economy. And into drought management to keep our farmers and watermen working hard," said the two Senators.

The projects included in today's action, subject to final approval by the full committee and both Houses of Congress, are:

*$65.4 million for deepening of the Baltimore Harbor and Channel from 42 to 50 feet dredging in the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal to maintain a 35 foot depth, and maintaining existing channels in Baltimore Harbor. This secures a legislative effort begun in the last Congress by Sarbanes and Mikulski to get funding for both a 50 foot deep channel for bulk cargo and a 35 foot deep channel for container cargo.

*$800,000 for the beach restoration project in the Ocean City area, and language instructing the Army Corps of Engineers to proceed with its hurricane protection project as soon as the state's portion of the beach restoration is completed.

$453,000 for the second phase of an Army Corps of Engineers study on Chesapeake Bay shoreline erosion.

*$285,000 for the continuation of an Army Corps of Engineers study on fresh water manage-

The nationally-known Kingston Trio will appear in concert at Fort Hill High School Auditorium, Cumberland, Tuesday evening, October 13, at 8:00 p.m. The concert is sponsored by Fort Hill High School and the Allegany Arts Council.

The original trio was formed in 1957 when three Menlo College students got together and started singing in coffee shops around San Francisco. They quickly became local favorites, and with the recording of "Tom Dooley," became nationally famous as the country's paramount folk singers. In 1959, the Trio received a Grammy award for the best country music group, since there was no folk category.

During the 1960s, the group disbanded, reforming in 1972 under the direction of original member Bob Shane. They continued singing many of the songs that had made them famous such as "MTA," "It Takes a Worried Man," "Scotch & Soda," and also added new songs to their repertoire.

The group now consists of Bob Shane, George Grove, and Bob Haworth, a former member of "The Brother's Four."

Early bird tickets are available at the Mary Carol Chop, Frostburg; all branch offices of the First United National Bank & Trust; at the Allegany Arts Council office in the Western Maryland Station Center, Cumberland, and by mail. Persons ordering by mail should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with a check to: Allegany Arts Council, Western Maryland Station Center, Cumberland, MD 21502.

Remaining tickets will be available at the door the night of the concert.

For further information regarding ticket prices, persons may call the Allegany Arts Council office at (301) 777-9137 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The Health Facilities Association of Maryland (HFAM) has released a new, model agreement for the admission of patients into nursing homes throughout the State of Maryland. The model admission agreement is the product of intensive discussion between HFAM and the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

HFAM initiated this effort over 18 months ago and will be recommending to its membership that the model agreement be used as the standard for reviewing all admission agreements currently in use. In practice, nursing home patients would receive the admission agreement and a package of other materials, including the Patients' Bill of Rights, a statement of costs and charges and a list of health care professionals offering services at the nursing home.

After an exhaustive analysis, the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene has stated that the model admission agreement complies with all legal requirements governing the admission of patients into nursing homes. The model admission is not being published by the Department as a mandatory rule or regulation and no nursing home is required to use it, so long as any agreement in use is legally sufficient.

HFAM intends that the model admission agreement be used as the framework for nursing home patients and their families to be fully informed of their rights and responsibilities and as the foundation for a clear understanding of the mutual obligations of nursing homes and their patients.

HFAM says the initiative is "a great part of its ongoing efforts as a strong and active advocate for the delivery of high quality health care throughout the nursing home industry."

Chartered in 1948 as the Maryland Nursing Home Association, HFAM members now include 140 of the 210 nursing homes in the State, representing 17,000 licensed long-term care beds. The model agreement will be distributed to HFAM's members at its annual meeting in Ocean City, during September 9-11, 1987.

Taming Will-O'-The-Wisp

by R. Craig Speicher

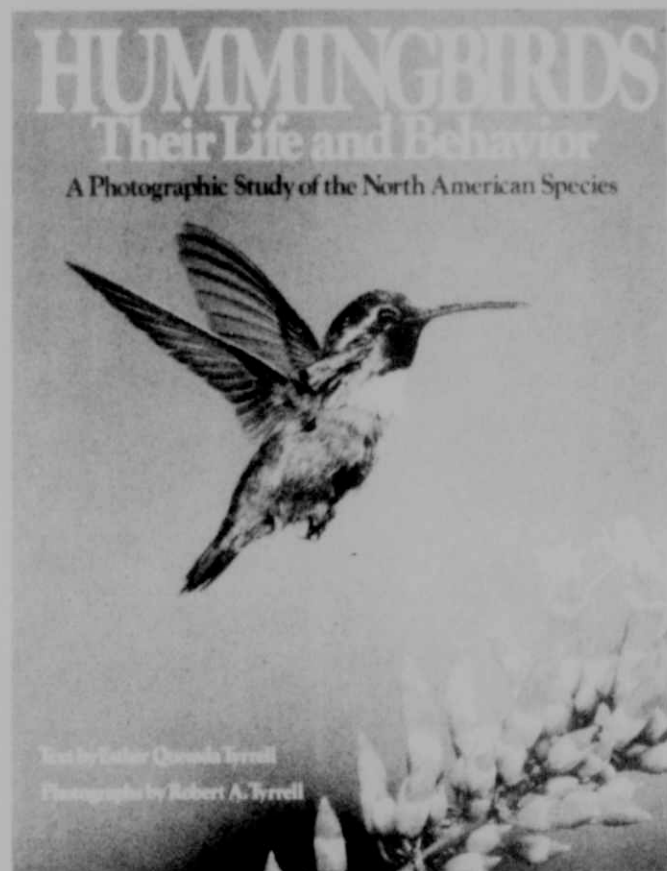

For years, nature photographers have chased that will-o'-the-wisp, the hummingbird in motion, who poses for none, always indifferent to the most sophisticated cameras. Now, California photographer Robert A. Tyrrell and his wife, Esther Quesada Tyrrell, have tamed the previously elusive ideal — beating wings "frozen" on film without the slightest blurring — affording us a sure-to-be-classic book with unprecedented privileged views of these seemingly gentle gems.

In their book, HUMMINGBIRDS: Their Life and Behavior, the Tyrrells describe the first hummingbird they tried photographing: "... Her wings beat at an incredible rate and seemed to make 'stopping' them on film next to impossible."

To illustrate, the female Ruby-throated Hummingbird beats her wings about 50 times a second, or once every 20/1000 second. Even a camera operating at its typically maximum shutter speed of 1/1000 will record 1/20 of the entire back and forth beat pattern, far too much motion to avoid blurring on film.

Thus challenged, the Tyrrells consulted a Mass. Institute of Technology professor who ultimately developed the high performance equipment that has defined the technology of hummingbird photography.

The book's few references to cameras mention the fundamental strobe, which produced a brilliant flash of short duration synchronized with film

Front cover jacket design for "HUMMINGBIRDS: Their Life and Behavior," by Esther Q. Tyrrell, with photographs by Robert A. Tyrrell. Reviewed in today's Republican, the book is an unprecedented collection of hummingbirds photographed with high speed photography, and a matching text. exposure. The book notes that accurate study of hummingbird flight was difficult until equipment incorporated a strobe flash of 1/100,000 second, equivalent to ten-millionths of a second — indicating the technical sophistication needed to freeze hummingbird wings.

HUMMINGBIRDS' 235 full-color photographs reveal North American hummingbirds in phases and angles of stationary positions, flight and motion our ancestors never dreamed of seeing. Fortunately, Robert and Esther Tyrrell are as generous as they are gifted, as they graciously provided from California several of their world renowned photos, requested by The Republican for reproduction here.

(As much as The Republican would like to print more of these phenomenal photos, limitations of space make it impossible. Readers can, however, see the entire book's pictures in color: HUMMINGBIRDS: Their Life and Behavior, published by Crown Publishers, Inc. at 225 Park Ave. South, New York, N.Y. 10003, is available through Book Mark'et, Oakland, and most other book stores. Also, libraries loan the book. Check it out.)

Pioneering and illuminating as the exotic photography is, the book's text, written by Esther, is no less original, comprehensive and enlightening, for it fills a previous void in published scientific knowledge with the writer's mental mastery of hummingbirds that few ornithologists can match. For example, popular belief held that hummers sucked nectar from flowers through hollow chambers in their tongues. Fairly recently, however, it was learned that nectar is collected by a licking motion of about 13 licks a second.

Many people will be surprised to learn that hummingbirds are highly antisocial and territorial, often defending food sources viciously with bill and claws against trespassing hummers — and spectacular photography proves it. (See back cover jacket picture of fighting birds.) Moreover, at nightfall, the same combatants sometimes will paradoxically perch peacefully side by side, possibly for protection in numbers against nocturnal enemies. Consider also:

—Hummingbirds' adaptability to temperature extremes permit them to inhabit Alaska, though they are primarily tropical and subtropical birds.

—The birds consume about half their weight in sugar daily. To match the hummer's metabolic rate, a man's body temperature would have to exceed 750 degrees Fahrenheit, and would require 155,000 calories of food everyday.

—Hummers do not instinctively recognize nectar-rich flowers but determine them by trial and error.

—Numerous females have been observed eating sand, possibly to replenish calcium levels lowered by egg production.

Visually and factually,

Back cover jacket design for "HUMMINGBIRDS: Their Life and Behavior," by Esther Q. Tyrrell, with photos by Robert A. Tyrrell. The book contains many unprecedented views of hummingbird life, such as the two fighting birds pictured in the right lower corner. This photograph was reproduced from an actual book jacket by permission of Tyrrells. Published by Crown Publishers, Inc.

HUMMINGBIRDS is a jewel box. How did they do it?

In the preface, the Tyrrells describe "... years of enormous difficulty and expense and over 30,000 miles of travel ... (that) also required tremendous quantities of patience and perseverance." Questioned during a recent telephone conversation about expenses, Robert revealed they spent $20,000 of their own money preparing the book. In a book with 235 pictures, that averages $85 per shutter click! Robert and Esther Tyrrell have scored a victory in combining highest technology, lasting literature and persevering human spirit. In HUMMINGBIRDS they have tamed the will-o'-the-wisp by depicting on film the hummer's otherwise nearly-invisible beating wings, bringing up frozen split seconds of photographic history.

AURORA-EGILON NEWS

Aurora Is Bicentennial Community
Aurora is one of the few towns in West Virginia designated as a Bicentennial Community and on Wednesday, September 16, a ceremony was held at the Post Office there to commemorate the occasion. On Thursday, September 17, church bells will ring at 4:00 p.m. to commemorate the actual signing of the U.S. Constitution.

Aurora PTO Meets
A meeting of interested persons was held at the Aurora School to determine if there was enough interest to continue having a PTO. With a good turnout, the result is that they will continue. Elected officers for the coming year were: John Lofink, president; Lori Durst, vice president; Linda Snyder, secretary, and Virginia Dixon, treasurer. By a change of the by-laws, Mrs. Dixon was elected for a two-year term which will be the term in ensuing elections. Another change in the by-laws allows for an auditing committee to be appointed and to audit the books each June 30.

Reported work at the school during the summer months included total rewiring of the school which allows the intercom system now to function and the painting and repair of playground equipment, including the rebuilding of the merry-go-round. The public is asked to continue to save labels from Campbell and Swanson products (further details will be released later). A book fair will not be held this fall, but is planned for spring. Teresa Cassidy was the graduating East Preston student to receive the Aurora PTO scholarship.

Plans are being made for a Halloween Party at the school under the guidance of the following committee: Lori Durst, chairman; Trina Rumer, Karen Teets, Robin Feather, Hazel Durst, Connie Stemple, Linda Snyder, Lynn Wiles and Teresa Newberry. Persons willing to help are asked to contact a committee member or the school. Also, work is being started for a yearbook and Lori Durst is asking for volunteers who wish to help in this effort.

New teachers at Aurora School this year are Joyce Cochran, kindergarten; Phillip Rhodes, fourth grade, and Linda Watson, Home Economics.

Retired School Employees To Jackson's Mill

A meeting of the association of Retired School Employees in West Virginia was held September 3-4 at Jackson's Mill. Serving as delegates from Preston County were Charles Forney, Frank Stemple and Charles Pauly and also in attendance was Summers McCrum, county president.

Birth Announced
Tom and Shelly Martin of Salisbury, Md., are announcing the birth of their first child on September 2. Born in Peninsula General Hospital, the seven-pound, 15 ounce boy has been named Joseph Timothy.

Shelly is the daughter of Pat and Adrian Stemple, Aurora, and paternal grandparents are Timothy Martin of Elkins and MINISTERS ELECT OFFICERS — An election of officers for 1987-88 was among the orders of business at a recent meeting of the Mountaintop Ministerial Association, a local organization whose membership is open to all ordained clergy of the area. The Association sponsors and co-sponsors a number of programs in the county, such as the chaplaincy program at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a care program for transient persons in the area. It co-sponsors with other organizations in the county a booth at the Garrett County Fair, and assists with the local Hospice and Habitat for Humanity programs. Elected as officers were, pictured left to right, Rev. John Grant, St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, secretary; Rev. Ray Beahm, Crellin Assembly of God, vice president; Fr. Martin Feild, St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, Oakland, treasurer; and Rev. Allen C. Ridenour, St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, president.

Elizabeth Martin of Covington, Va. Local great-grandparents are Wade and Maxine Hauser of Stemple Ridge, and Frank and Pearl Stemple of Mt. Top.

Annual Texas Sing September 27

The annual sing, held at the Texas United Methodist Church, Horse Shoe Run, will be held September 27 and will begin at 1:15 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Video at Maple Grove

The pastor and congregation of the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church invites the public to view the video cassette "The World's Best Secret" on Sunday, September 20, at 7 p.m. The film has a mission concerned theme.

United Methodist Women
The Aurora United Methodist Women met September 3 with Rennie Conrad presiding at the meeting. Opening prayer was by Pearl Stemple and Margie Moats gave the program, "We Were Farmers," and closed with a poem, "A Country Walk In Autumn."

Activities planned are providing beverages for the Booth Festival to be held at the church Memorial Building September 16; final plans made for providing the Hopemont birthday party on September 29; making corsages to be sold at the meeting of Church Women United on October 5 and 6 at Jackson's Mill. Alma Snyder has completed corsages to be taken to the W. V. United Methodist Women annual meeting which will be sold, the proceeds going to the missions.

An election was held with the following leading the group: Bessie Conrad, president; Betty Fint, vice president; Wilda Wilt, secretary; Doris Adams, treasurer. Nominating committee is chaired by Elma Hardesty with Alma Snyder and Pearl Stemple serving as members.

The group will begin quilting on October 7. Nine were present for the meeting.

Seniors Meet September 5
There were 40 present for the September 5 meeting of the Union District Senior Citizens at the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building. Opening devotions were led by Ted Hardesty. Annie Ringer was present to make announcements.

Election provided the following officers for the upcoming year: Ted Hardesty, president; Sheridan Layman, vice president; and Mary Jane Hanline, secretary-treasurer.

Entertainment was provided by Floyd Knapp with his accordion.

1987 Potato Festival

At the 1987 Potato Festival held on September 12 at Mt. Grove, royalty selected were the following: Queen Farina, Deleta Fint, daughter of Don and Mary Fint, Aurora; Junior Miss Farina, Rachel Knotts, daughter of Richard "Buck" and Pat Knotts, Horse Shoe Run; Little Miss Farina, Shannon Stieringer, daughter of Ted and Barbara Stieringer, Aurora; King Fireman, Russell Simmons Jr.; and King Potato, Homer Mullenax. Kenny Watring was M.C. of the event and Brad Shaffer served as chairman.

Winner of the 1/2 beef was Jeff Sisler of Kingwood. A 50/50 drawing for $100 went to Arthur Junior Slabaugh.

Exhibitors of potatoes who placed first and second are as follows: biggest — first, Ernest Dumire; second, Jason Dumire; most unusual — first, Donna Mullenax; second, Jason Dumire; decorated — first, Carolyn Judy; second, Jon Dumire; smallest — first, Patty Mullenax; second, Melissa Kelly.

Personal Mention

Attending the 63rd annual Homecoming at the IOOF Home in Elkins on September 6 were Frank and Pearl Stemple, Lorain and Mary Jane Hanline and Sheridan and Nina Layman, all Aurora.

Beulah Hardesty of Aurora, was taken Tuesday morning to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she remains a patient.

Don Watring has returned to his home on Mt. Top after being treated at Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown.

Visiting with Shelly and Tom Martin at the time of their son's birth was her sister and family, Debbie and Jack Kimble and son, of Aurora. Her mother, Pat Stemple, went to be with the family on Sunday and returned Thursday to their Aurora home.

Cara Sisler and Roxanne Evans have returned to Fairmont State to complete their senior year. Continuing their degree quest at WVU are Arlene and Willie Lantz and Terry Hauser. Shauna Sisler is a junior at WVU seeking a degree in horticulture.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters of Eglon were accompanied by their daughter, Mary Lewis, on a weekend Labor Day vacation in Manassas, Va., with the former's son and family, Carl, Nancy, Suzanne, Chuck and Clayton Winters.

Mrs. Alberta "Bobbi" Lewis, Houston, is here visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Tony and Bonnie Lewis, at Aurora.

Beatrice Dean of Walnut Creek, Calif., is visiting her sister, Wilda Wilt, at Aurora. Bill and Kathleen Radcliff of Florida have been visiting her sisters, Mildred Wilt at Eglon and Olive Beckman, Aurora, and other relatives here.

Melissa Evans was a surgical patient last week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She is the daughter of Steve and Diane Evans, Horse Shoe Run.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Lantz of Aurora and his brother, Alva Lantz, of Mazon, Ill., were Saturday evening dinner guests of their sister and brother-in-law, Ruth and Roscoe Teets, at Eglon. Visiting with the Teets recently were cousins, John and Leora Hall and son, Goldsboro, N.C.

Alan and Mary Teets of Springfield, Va., were here last Massey moved recently from the Roscoe Teets home which they had rented to their newly constructed home at Silver Lake. Michelle and Dowain Ford have occupied the home at Eglon vacated by the Masseys.

Garrett County Forestry Board Reviews Workshop

The Garrett County Forestry Board held a dinner meeting at Cornish Manor on September 10 and discussed the Forest Conservation Workshop which they had hosted at Camp Hickory, August 9-15. The workshop was designed to give students interested in a career in conservation, some insight into the jobs available, and the training necessary to qualify for these positions.

Charles Strauss, Forestry Board chairperson, reported that the workshop had been "a great success." Sixty-one students from across the State attended the program. Students from Garrett County who attended the program were Sam Thomas, Scott Kahl, and Ron Hardesty.

These students were sponsored to the workshop by the Garrett County Soil Conservation District, Accident Garage, and the Garrett County Farm Bureau.

Strauss, John Forman, and Carroll DeWitt will be representing the Garrett County Forestry Board at the fall meeting of the Maryland Association of Forestry Boards in Ocean City on October 22-23. The Garrett Board unanimously agreed to ask the Association to sponsor another workshop next year.

Sarbanes Rep To Visit Garrett

Senator Paul Sarbanes has announced that his Western Maryland representative will be in Oakland next week to seek citizens' views and assist with problems relating to the Federal Government.

"I have asked Nina Conway, my Western Maryland representative, to be available in the Garrett County Courthouse Annex, County Commissioners Meeting Room, in Oakland on Thursday, September 24, from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m., so that she may meet with concerned citizens and report to me the views of Garrett County residents about current national issues and the difficulties they may be having with Federal agencies," Sarbanes said.

Constituents who are unable to meet Mrs. Conway during this time may contact her at 1906 Frederick Street, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, (301) 722-5369.

Maryland Closes FY '87 With $176 Million Unobligated Surplus

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the state of Maryland closed fiscal year 1987 on June 30, 1987, with an unobligated general fund surplus of $176,578,629. The comptroller warned that the majority of the surplus resulted from unusual circumstances that will not be repeated.

"The surplus resulted principally from a one-time income tax 'windfall' and from a large court settlement relating to the savings and loan situation. The income tax windfall came as taxpayers sold stocks, bonds and property by December 31, 1986, in order to receive the more favorable federal capital gains tax rates that expired on that date," Goldstein said. "The federal income tax reform law eliminated the tax break for capital gain as of January 1, 1987."

Individuals who took capital gains in calendar year 1986 paid additional Maryland income taxes as a result. These additional revenues came in as higher estimated and final tax payments for 1986 and are not expected to be repeated. Other states and the federal government experienced the same increase in revenue.

"At this point, we expect a different situation to develop as we process the 1987 income tax returns next winter," Goldstein said. "Individuals are still uncertain how the federal Tax Reform Act of 1986 will ultimately affect them, and many taxpayers are having more money withheld from their paychecks, either as a precaution or because they waited until later in the year to file a new W-4 form with their employer. This means we will be issuing higher refunds next year instead of taking in higher revenues."

Net state income tax revenues totalled $2.32 billion for fiscal year 1987, or $102.7 million more than estimated.

The second major event contributing to the unusual surplus was a $27 million court settlement on behalf of the Maryland Deposit Insurance Fund. "This is money the General Assembly must appropriate to MDIF during the 1988 session, and it cannot be used for other purposes," the comptroller said.

Goldstein said Maryland's surplus also resulted from a strong economy that produced retail sales and use tax revenue of $1.3 billion, or $3.3 million more than estimated. Insurance company taxes produced $120.7 million, or $8.6 million more than anticipated.

The state's general fund share of property transfer taxes totaled $50 million, or $5.2 million more than projected, indicating the continued strong housing and commercial real estate market.

Interest earned on state investments amounted to $39.5 million, or $9.5 million more than projected, and reflects the rise in interest rates. Revenue from the Maryland Lottery, after prizes and expenses, totaled $332.3 million, or $1.4 million over estimates.

State agencies returned $29.9 million to the general fund in unspent appropriations, or $14.9 million more than the expected reversion.

Hospital patient recoveries totaled $48.4 million, or $18.2 million less than anticipated.

Goldstein pointed out that the $176 million unobligated surplus is enough to operate the state for about seven days under the fiscal year 1988 state budget.

Goldstein Says Tax Amnesty Plan Working

Phones are ringing off the hook in the Maryland State Comptroller's Office. Since Maryland's Tax Amnesty Program began on September 1, more than 1,500 taxpayers have called the 1-800-MD TAXES hot line to request forms and information.

Through the first nine days of the Amnesty, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says taxpayers have "come forward and come clean" with $212,000 in back taxes and interest. That figure includes $3,000 in boat excise tax paid to the Department of Natural Resources.

Amnesty payments ranged from 97 cents owed on an individual income tax bill to more than $18,100 for five years of delinquent individual income tax.

Requests for Amnesty forms and information are coming from every part of the state with one even coming from the Baltimore City Jail. "We've received payments from 18 of Maryland's 24 subdivisions, plus out of state individuals and businesses," Goldstein said. "Individuals and businesses are paying individual income tax, corporation income tax, employer withholding, retail sales and boat excise taxes."

Many Amnesty-seekers are letting their consciences be their guide, he said. The very first Amnesty payment from a College Park resident who sent in $23 in unpaid 1985 income taxes. A retired military man walked into the Baltimore office to clear up his income tax liability on a military pension that he hadn't properly reported for 24 years. He filed correct returns and paid more than $8,000 in taxes and interest.

A boat-owner confessed to the Department of Natural Resources that he had underreported the value of his boat by $700 when he originally registered it, and came forward with the additional tax.

A transplanted Texan, coming from a state without an income tax, hadn't paid Maryland income tax since he moved here in 1984. He cleared up his old liability of more than $4,000 and has been added to the rolls so he'll keep on paying his fair share of the tax burden.

A retired teacher reported municipal bond interest dating back to 1970, paying more than $10,000 in tax and saying he should have let his wife fill out their tax returns over the years.

"We received more than $42,000 from residents and businesses in Montgomery County, by far the largest county total," Goldstein said. "About $27,000 has already come from business and individual taxpayers in Baltimore City, more than $20,000 from Prince George's County, over $18,000 from Harford County and more than $13,000 from Anne Arundel County."

The smallest county totals are: Frederick ($50), Wicomico ($130) and Queen Anne's ($500). Approximately $10,000 has been received from out-of-state business and individual taxpayers.

"These folks are to be commended for taking advantage of Amnesty so early in the program," Goldstein said. "Now that Labor Day and summer vacations are behind us, Marylanders should begin acting on Amnesty. Since they may have to go back into their records or consult with tax preparers, they shouldn't wait until the last minute. Once midnight comes on October 31, Amnesty will be over and they'll have missed their chance."

Maryland's Tax Amnesty is a one-time opportunity to pay delinquent taxes and interest without paying a penalty. Individual and corporation income taxes, employer withholding tax, retail sales and use tax, admissions and amusement tax, and boat excise tax due before December 31, 1986, are all eligible.

Amnesty forms are available at banks, libraries and Giant food stores, and from Clerks of the Court, post offices and Offices of the Comptroller and the Department of Natural Resources throughout the state. For assistance or additional information, persons may call 1-800-MD TAXES.

Largest Tax Amnesty Payment To Date Received

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said that largest single payment to date under the state's Tax Amnesty Program arrived Monday, September 14, when a taxpayer paid a $72,144 sales tax assessment. "This brings the total revenue collected under the Amnesty Program to approximately $350,000," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that the first payment of delinquent admissions and amusement taxes also came in on September 14th, meaning that taxpayers have now come forward with every type of tax eligible for Amnesty.

Other eligible taxes include individual income tax, employer withholding tax, corporation income tax, sales and use tax and boat excise tax.

"Assessments, such as the one that produced the largest Amnesty payment to date, are usually the result of an audit of a company's books that uncovers a tax deficiency," Goldstein said.

The comptroller stated that businesses with assessments against them are good candidates for Tax Amnesty because they know what the tax liability is and can often save significant amounts of money because the civil penalty is waived under the Amnesty program. The taxpayer making the largest payment to date saved more than $5,600 in penalties.

"If you have an assessment liability, it's especially important to know if all of the amount is eligible for Tax Amnesty," Goldstein said. "If the assessment was made after January 1, 1987, it may be only partly eligible for Amnesty. You should contact the Supervisor of Sales Tax Assessments at (301) 225-1572 to determine how much of the assessment is eligible for Amnesty and how much interest is due along with the back tax."

"For a free brochure explaining how Tax Amnesty applies to assessments and your rights to continue to contest the assessment, call, toll-free, 1-800-MD TAXES between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday," Goldstein said.

Maryland's Tax Amnesty ends October 31, 1987. When the program ends, civil and criminal penalties increase. The civil penalty for delinquent income taxes increases to 25% of the tax due and is retroactive. The criminal penalties for all Amnesty-eligible taxes increase to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine for each offense.

Free Publications On New Tax Law Available

To help taxpayers learn about the changes made by tax reform, The Internal Revenue Service has developed two new free publications available that explain the new tax law.

Publication 920, Explanation of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 for Individuals and Publication 921, Explanation of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 for Business, show how the new law compares to the old, first in easy-to-read charts for a quick overview, followed by detailed articles on most of the tax law changes that affect individuals and businesses.

Publication 920 covers topics on simplified and reduced tax rates, changes in IRA rules, itemized deductions, limits on personal interest and tax credits. Publication 921 also has a description of various free tax help programs the IRS offers.

Publication 921 covers business topics such as deductions for travel, business use of the home, tax credits and changes in penalties. Both publications have a complete index to make it easier to locate topics.

To get free copies of the new IRS publications, persons should write to: Forms Distribution Center, P.O. Box 25866, Richmond, Va. 23260, or call 1-800-424-3676.

CPA Week In Maryland Proclaimed By Gov. Schaefer

In honor of the centennial anniversary of the Certified Public Accounting profession in America, Governor William Donald Schaefer has proclaimed September 20-26 CPA Week in Maryland.

In presenting the proclamation to David L. Spilman, CPA, president of the Maryland Association of CPAs, Governor Schaefer recognized the "professionals in the field of accounting who have nobly and dutifully served the needs of the people as certified public accountants . . . and not only have they played key roles in our business and financial communities, but these dedicated men and women have also maintained an impressive commitment to enhancing their fellow citizens' everyday lives."

The Maryland Association of

CPAs, the statewide professional association for certified public accountants with a membership of over 6,500, has released a special centennial issue of its "Business Statement" newsletter during CPA Week. This free publication features articles on buying a microcomputer, obtaining a small business loan, managing cash flow, and understanding financial statements.

For a copy of the "Business Statement," persons may write MACPA, P.O. Box 484, Lutherville, MD 21093.

Attending D&E

Lesley C. Moran, McHenry, has been accepted at Davis & Elkins College, Elkins, W.Va. Classes began August 26.

A 1984 graduate of Bruce High School, she plans to major in recreation management and Tourism at Davis & Elkins.

Davis & Elkins is a private, four-year, coeducational liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church USA.

Local Student Attending Hood

Misti Leann Ridenour, daughter of Allen and Rita Ridenour, is attending Hood College, Frederick, as a freshman. She began her studies August 27.

Miss Ridenour, a 1987 graduate of Southern High School, was active in numerous extra-curricular activities and received many honors at Southern. She was in the National Honor Society, was editor of the Yearbook, a member of the Student Council for four years, a member of Quill and Scroll. She is the granddaughter of Preston County residents, Clyde and Helena Ridenour and Woodfield "Chuck" and Eleanor Cox.

Reception For Artist Slated September 25

A reception for Jim McNeil, watercolor artist, whose works are currently on display at Garrett Community College will be held Friday, September 25, at 8 p.m., in Room 010 of the Administrative Building at the McHenry Campus.

McNeil, resident of Columbia, and summer and fall resident of Garrett County, will appear at the college to discuss his landscapes and seascapes.

The artist classifies himself as "a realistic painter who stops short of photographic realism."

He has exhibited at numerous galleries in the Eastern United States.

The public is invited to attend the reception or to visit the gallery anytime during college operational hours.

Community Day Plans Finalized At Frostburg SU

Frostburg State University's second annual Community Day, set for this Saturday, September 19, from 9 a.m. until the football game kick-off at 1:30 p.m. will be a multi-event day with numerous exhibits, tours and activities, all of which are free and open to the public.

While last year's affair honored area elected officials, this year, according to FSU president Herb F. Reinhard Jr., "we will pay special tribute to the community's fire and rescue teams, who will be given special citations at a pre-game brunch with FSU officials. In fact, among the more than 25 community organizations having special exhibits during the day, at least three fire departments will — around the FSU library — have pumper trucks and other equipment on display. Also on FSU's showboat float, which last appeared in Cumberland's Labor Day parade, the Skillet Lickers Bands will be performing all day until 1 p.m."

"Community Day is our way of saying thank you to the many organizations and groups in the area who contribute in so many ways to the continuing success of Frostburg State University," noted the president, who added that this year many more local organizations requested campus space to set up displays and exhibits.

Besides area volunteer fire departments and rescue squads, the following community groups will have exhibits on the FSU quadrangle in front of the library: American Diabetes Association; Asian-American Friendship Club; Diabetes Foundation of the Alleghenies; Maryland State Guard; September Singers; Archway Station; Allegany County 4-H; Appalachian Environmental Laboratory; Allegany County Civil Defense; Medevac Auxiliary Medical Scholarship Foundation; American Lung Association and others.

FSU's academic departments, most exhibiting and some conducting tours, will feature, for example, a working exhibit by the computer science department of computer digital test equipment with the KU-Band satellite signals. The mathematics department will show computers, computer software and display a mathematical modeling exhibit and the visual arts department, besides opening the Roper Gallery with an indoor art exhibit, will have numerous on-site demonstrations in pottery and sculpture.

Campus open house tours will include tours of FSU's newest academic building, the Nelson P. Guild Center, which will welcome visitors with refreshments and plenty of visual displays and the Communication Media department with a special high-tech open house.

The campus bookstore, open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., will offer to Community Day visitors a ten percent discount on all Frostburg State University novelty items such as sweat-shirts and pennants.

The Bobcat football game against Wesley College is free to everyone Community Day and the game's half-time show — Band Day — will be one of FSU's largest ever. Eight tri-state area high school marching bands with more than 800 musicians will play such popular tunes as "Memories" from CATS, "Those Were the Days," as well as many patriotic and FSU fight songs.

Bands performing include: North Hagerstown High School; Clear Spring High School; Beall High School; Petersburg High School; Berkeley Spring High School; Meyersdale Area High School; Salisbury-Elk Lick High School and the FSU Marching Band.

Visitors to Community Day may find a complete program and a campus map at a special information tent set up between the library and the Lane Center. Give-away items and other materials relating to the day's events will be available at the information tent. For more information, persons may contact FSU's Office of University Advancement at 689-4161.

Revivals Slated At Bear Creek

Revival services at the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, Accident, will begin Sunday evening, September 27, and conclude Friday evening, October 2. Guest speakers for these services will be: Sunday and Monday, Rev. David Moon, pastor of the Fairview Church, who will speak on "The Greatest of These"; Tuesday and Wednesday, Rev. J. Rogers Fike, pastor of the Oak Park Church, whose sermons will focus on "Prayer" and "Baptism"; and Thursday and Friday, Rev. Sylvus Flora, West Marva District executive secretary, whose sermon topics will be "A Good and Faithful Servant" and "The Confessing Church".

A time of special music will be held each evening from 7:15 to 7:30 p.m., with the regular worship service beginning at 7:30 which will also include special music. Those providing music throughout the week will be: Lori and Daymon Schmuck and Rev. Ellis Harvey, The Schrock Quartet, The Fike Family, choirs from the Gortner, Asher Glade, and Bethesda Churches of the Brethren, the Oak Grove Mennonite Choir, and various individuals from the local church.

Pastor William Shimer extends an invitation to all in the area to attend these services.

Keller Family Meets In Virginia

The first Keller Family Reunion was held recently by Virginia K. Walsh and Eva K.

Forty-two people returned Sunday for breakfast.

IS THERE LIFE AFTER CIGARETTES?

There are times when a cigarette tastes great. Like after a good meal. Or with your first cup of coffee in the morning. Or with sports and spirited conversation. Or on any of a dozen other occasions.

It's those times — the times you most enjoy smoking — that make the prospect of quitting seem so difficult. How can you conquer those moments of pleasure and break your habit?

The answer may be America's most successful stop-smoking program — Smoke Stoppers. It works because it deals with more than the habit of smoking, it deals with the attitudes, behavior, and patterns of smoking.

Smoke Stoppers is a program designed and conducted by former smokers who know what it takes to quit and respect your courage to do the same. From the beginning, the goal of quitting remains your choice. Helping you fulfill your goal is ours. The program is always low-key, friendly, and positively supportive. Before long, the hard part will be over and you'll be ready to join the thousands of Smoke Stoppers graduates who haven't smoked in a year or more.

Does life go on after cigarettes? It may seem to require a courageous effort to know, but Smoke Stoppers could well be just the tool to help you find the answer. You're invited to an introductory session. It's free and without obligation, so please come.

Several Area Couples Observe Anniversaries

A family anniversary celebration was held September 6 at the new home of Don and Charlotte Cussins along U.S. Rt. 50 west of Red House in honor of several couples. Sixty persons attended.

Donald G. and Elaine Roth, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. They were united in marriage September 16, 1962, at St. John's Ev. Lutheran Church, Red House, by Pastor Seibert. Mr. Roth is the vice president of Miners & Merchants Bank of Thomas, W.Va., and Mrs. Roth is co-leader of the Eglen Mountaineer 4-H Club. Both are active in church activities and committees. They are the parents of three children.

Raymond and Jean Lantz, Eglen, W.Va., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. They were united in marriage on September 2, 1937. Mr. and Mrs. Lantz are both retired, and they have three children, six grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Roy and Rita Athey, Cumberland, also celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married September 17, 1937, at Frederick. Both are retired and active with the senior citizens. They have one son and two grandchildren.

The cakes were baked and decorated by Mary Jane Gnegy. Danny Roth and Linda Gnegy made the cake tops and arranged the centerpieces. The meal and homemade ice cream was prepared by the family. Photos were taken by Arlene Lantz.

Also celebrating their 18th anniversary were Steve and Diana Evans of Horse Shoe Run, W.Va. They are the parents of three children.

Don and Charlotte Cussins, host and hostess, also celebrated their first anniversary. They were wed September 27, 1986, at St. John's, Red House.

Miss Thomas Becomes Bride Of Mr. Miller In June Ceremony

Becky Marie Thomas and Roy Steven Miller were united in marriage June 27, 1987, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Accident.

The bride is the daughter of Richard and Delores Thomas, Friendsville. The groom is the son of Gene "Windy" Miller, Grantsville.

The double-ring ceremony was officiated by Pastor Ernest Lindner. Serving as organist was Mrs. Vivian Diehl and vocalist was Mrs. Lisa Humberston.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a gown of organza, enhanced with a floral design of silk-floss. The long torso featured a sheer choker and high lace neckline accented with pearls. Sheered sleeves featured a fluted ruffle on shoulders with the skirt flowing to a semi-cathedral train which was trimmed beneath with fluted ruffles.

The bride's waist-length veil fell from a satin hat accented with sequins and pearls.

Her cascade consisted of pink and white silk roses trimmed with baby's breath, pearls and pink and white satin.

Serving as maid of honor was Georgia Kay Thomas, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Bonnie Thomas, sister of the bride; Amy Margroff, cousin of the groom; and Donna Dennis, cousin of the bride. Serving as flower girl was Heather Umbel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Umbel, friends of the bride and groom.

They wore floor-length, light pink satin gowns and carried white lace fans with pink and white roses, surrounded by baby's breath.

Serving as best man was Phillip Margroff, cousin of the groom. The ushers were Steven Margroff, cousin of the groom; Keith Harman, friend of the groom; and Jerry "Nose" Harman, friend of the groom. David Ryan Durst, son of Jeanette Durst, friends of the bride and groom, served as ringbearer.

The groom and his groomsmen were attired in white tuxedos with tails, pink ties and pink cummerbunds. Their boutonnieres consisted of a pink rose accented with baby's breath.

The reception was held in the Friendsville Fire Hall. The cake was decorated by Loretta Harding and served by Cathy Margroff and Linda Robeson, aunts of the groom. The flowers were also made by Loretta Harding. Food was catered by Mrs. Ruby Margroff. Photos were taken by David Thomas. The attendants dresses were made by Mrs. Pauline Harman. The guest book was attended by Mrs. Kerrie Margroff and programs were distributed by Tina Glover and Jill Margroff.

The bride and groom are both 1984 graduates of Northern High School. Both are employed at Bausch and Lomb, Rayban Sunglass Division, Mountain Lake Park.

The couple honeymooned in Ocean City and now reside along Route 42 near Friendsville.

Glover-Margroff Wedding Slated

The parents of Tina Renee Glover and Steven Wayne Margroff have announced the forthcoming marriage of their children.

The wedding will be held Saturday, September 19, at 2 p.m. at the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren. A reception will immediately follow at the McHenry Fire Hall.

Although some invitations have been sent, the couple invites all friends and relatives to attend the ceremony and the reception.

Kerrie A. Gloeckl, Troy L. Margroff Exchange Wedding Vows August 1

Kerrie A. Gloeckl and Troy L. Margroff were united in marriage on August 1 at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, Oakland. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony were the Rev. Martin Field of St. Peter's and Rev. Ernest Lindner of St. John's Lutheran Church, Accident. The organist was Marcella Kerins and Keith Gloeckl, brother of the bride, read the scripture.

The bride is the daughter of Charles and Dolores Gloeckl, Pleasant Hills, Pa. The groom is the son of Dennis and Kathleen Margroff, Accident.

The bride was fashioned in a gown of white slipper satin featuring a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves, and a bodice of silk Venise lace, sequins and seed pearls. A cathedral-length train extended from a basque waistline with Venise lace bordering the hemline.

The fingertip veil, edged in seed pearls, fell from a dropped headband of seed pearls and sequins accented with a large pouf the base of the band.

The bride carried a cascade of white roses, white carnations tipped with fuschia, statice, baby's breath, and stephanotis.

Kathie Fife, Jefferson, Pa., was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Beth Tobiczky, Indianapolis; Patrice DeMarco, Library, Pa.; and Becky Miller, Friendsville, friends of the bride, and Jill Margroff, Accident, sister of the groom. The attendants were attired in fuschia satin gowns with ruffles off the shoulder and with basque waists. They carried cascades of sterling roses, daisies, orchid carnations, statice, and baby's breath.

Rob Carr, Friendsville, served as best man. Ushers were Steven Margroff, Accident, brother of the groom; Kevin Gloeckl, Pleasant Hills, Pa., brother of the bride; Kevin Margroff, Friendsville, brother of the groom; and Scott Rodeheaver, McHenry, friend of the groom. The groom wore black tails, white tie and cummerbund. Groomsmen wore black tails, tie and cummerbunds.

Guest registry was attended to by Amy Margroff, Accident, cousin of the groom. Programs were distributed by Tina Glover, Friendsville, fiancée of Steven Margroff.

The reception was held at the Oakland Country Club. A three-tier traditional decorated cake with white chocolate flowers was made by Amy Rowan. The music was provided by disc jockey, Dan Daniels.

Wedding guests included the bride's grandmother, Mabel McGuire, Staten Island, N.Y., aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cook of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Gloeckl of Safety Harbor, Fla., brother and sister-in-law of the bride; John Gloeckl, Pittsburgh, uncle of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gloeckl, Pittsburgh, godparents of the bride. Other relatives and friends of the bride from the

Ms. Carr Will Wed Mr. Wiley

Kathy E. Carr, daughter of Ruth Enlow and the late Robert W. Enlow, and Stephen R. Wiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Wiley, Grantsville announce their forthcoming marriage.

The wedding is slated for this Saturday, September 19, at 6 p.m. at the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren along Sang Run Road. A reception will follow at The Sportsman's Club in Grantsville.

Ms. Carr is presently employed at Savage River State Forest. Mr. Wiley is employed with Maryland State Highway Administration.

Although some invitations have been sent, all friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding and reception.

New York and Pittsburgh areas also attended.

The bride is employed as a counselor for Garrett County Mental Health and Addictions. The groom is employed as a rural route carrier for the Accident Post Office.

Upon completion of their new home, they will be residing in Accident.

Cash Rewards In Catch-A-Poacher Program Presented

The Department of Natural Resources announced this week that two rewards have been made under the Catch-A-Poacher program.

The Catch-A-Poacher review board recently voted to award $100 to an individual who supplied information about illegal duck poaching. A Natural Resources Police Officer issued a citation which resulted in fines of $400 for the offense. The second witness received $50 for providing information that resulted in conviction and confiscation of an illegal deer kill.

So far this year, there have been 12 cases reported through the Catch-A-Poacher program. Incidents reported include illegal fishing and trapping, deer and turkey poaching, hunting water fowl over bait and hunting migratory gamebirds out of season.

The Catch-A-Poacher program was initiated in 1984 to provide monetary rewards to citizens who supply the Natural Resources Police with information leading to the arrest and conviction of game violators. Callers are guaranteed anonymity, and may lodge complaints by calling the Catch-A-Poacher toll free number 1-800-635-6124.

For additional information on the Catch-A-Poacher program, or to make a tax-deductible contribution to the reward fund, persons should contact: The Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Catch-A-Poacher Program, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401; telephone (301) 974-3188.

START MAILORDER SHOPPING NOW

If you have ever bought anything by mail, subscribe to a magazine or hold a department store credit card, you probably receive your share of the estimated 10 billion catalogs distributed by companies to consumers.

The variety of products, sizes and price ranges available through the mail makes it feasible to order from a catalog and save your valuable time for family and yourself instead of frantically running from store to store.

It takes a well informed consumer though to avoid most of the pitfalls the mail order route is fraught with.

•Always start far enough ahead just in case you need to return the product, or if out of stock, send a second order. Use the 800 number two-thirds of the catalogs provide.

•Read the advertising and description carefully. Become familiar with the terminology. Know that "faux" means fake, "photo enlarged" means what you see is not exactly what you get, etc. Check measurements carefully, size charts are often included. If the model is wearing a thin blouse under a jacket, you will not likely have room for a bulky pullover under it, buy a size larger.

•Write "no substitutes" on the order form to avoid receiving articles unlike those you ordered.

•Most catalogs add fees for postage and handling, how does the final price compare with local costs for the same or similar item? Larger orders to any one company may bring the cost per item down — but do not take that for granted.

•Examine the return policy. Any returned item charged to your credit card must be credited by the seller to your account within seven days of receiving the item.

•Always specify delivery dates. Any ordered item should be delivered within 30 days of ordering, according to the FTC's mail order rule, but this does not apply to orders placed by telephone. If there is a delay, the company should inform you and offer you the chance to cancel the order and get a refund.

•If you want select types of merchandise, you can send $2 and a request to the DMA. If lists 735 catalogs you can send for.

For information on how to write an effective letter of complaint and other helpful information and addresses, contact the Cooperative Extension Service, Courthouse, 3rd St., Oakland, 21550, or phone 334-1990.

Oakland Masons Will Re-Convene

Oakland Lodge No. 192, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons will end summer recess with a regular communication on Tuesday, September 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, 3 South Wilson St.

Worshipful Master James Wm. Nelson has announced there will be conferring of a Third Degree on that evening and invites all Master Masons to attend.

Deadline For Applications To Academies Noted

U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes has announced that his office is still accepting applications for nominations to the four United States Service Academies, noting that the deadline for submitting applications is November 2.

"I urge young people who are interested in attending the U.S. Naval Academy, U.S. Military Academy, U.S. Air Force Academy or the Merchant Marine Academy to obtain a nomination application packet from my office as soon as possible," said Sarbanes. "The packet contains all the necessary information and forms. Completed applications will be carefully reviewed and those candidates who appear to meet the minimum entrance standards established by the academies will be invited to interviews before my Academy Review Board."

To qualify, applicants must be U.S. citizens who are Maryland residents; at least 17 years old but not more than 22 by July 1, 1988; have the equivalent of a high school education with high academic standing in school; demonstrate extracurricular or community activities or both which show leadership potential; and have received scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test generally in excess of 550 on the verbal portion and 600 on the math portion.

Interested young people should obtain information and packets from Senator Sarbanes' office, 1518 Fallon Federal Office Building, Baltimore, Maryland 21201, or call Corinda Jones of Senator Sarbanes' staff, (301) 962-4436.

Garrett Farm Bureau Holds Annual Picnic

The Garrett County Fairgrounds was the site of the annual Garrett County Farm Bureau picnic Sunday, September 13. After lunch, members listened to reports of the years activities by Women's Committee co-chairmen Kate Fratz and Jean Wright. President Clark Kolb and Treasurer Merrill Wilburn reported to the group, followed by a report of the State Farm Queen Contest by 1987 Garrett County Farm Queen Lori Dodge.

It was announced that the fall Farm Bureau Banquet will be held on October 23, at 7 p.m., in the Grantsville Fire Hall.

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Norman Astle, Maryland Farm Bureau's field representative for Western Maryland. Astle spoke of a number of upcoming events and concerns which Farm Bureau will be involved in this fall and winter. He also reported on the Maryland State Fair, and noted that the State Young Farmers had a very successful year at the dairy booth at the state fair. He said that 5,045 milk shakes and 25,400 ice cream cones were sold during fair week. The shakes and cones were made from 2,844 gallons of ice cream and 405 gallons of milk. Rough figuring showed that an ice cream cone was sold approximately every six seconds.

A special feature of the picnic was entertainment by the "Singing Petersheim Family," Paul, Naomi, Matthew, Rachael, Michael, Joshua, Rebecca, and Deborah, who sang a number of gospel songs.

Governor Requests Drought Damage Assessment

Governor William Donald Schaefer recently directed Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr. to request a current drought damage assessment report for Garrett County from the state office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. This request is in answer to an August 11 letter to the governor from State Senator John N. Bambacus asking for disaster designation for the county.

"At the time I made my original request for disaster designations for 15 Maryland counties," the governor wrote, "Garrett County did not qualify because estimated commodity losses were not enough to warrant a disaster designation. I know, firsthand, from visiting Garrett County and seeing the crop damage resulting from the drought that Garrett farmers are experiencing substantial losses."

The governor added that eligible farmers in Garrett County will qualify for emergency loans, etc., if Allegany County is declared a disaster area. Eligible farmers are those holding crop insurance. Farmers in a county adjoining a disaster county are automatically included once a disaster designation has been made.

Congressional Dairy Field Hearing To Take Place In Westminster

Representative Beverly Byron has announced that the Congressional Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry, chaired by U.S. Representative Charles Stenholm (D-Texas), has accepted her invitation to hold a field hearing on dairy programs at the Carroll County Agricultural Center in Westminster on Monday, September 21, at 9:30 a.m.

Rep. Byron explained, "With the expiration of the dairy herd buyout program this fall, the focus of the hearing will be the marketing, promotion and overall effectiveness of the program. We are hoping to be able to hear comments from all sectors involved in the program — from government administrators, to farm organizations and individual dairy farmers."

On tap to testify at the two-hour hearing will be Maryland Farm Bureau Executive Director Jack Matthews, Walter Martz, president of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers, and representatives of the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the University of Maryland, among others.

The whole-herd dairy buyout program represented the latest attempt by policymakers to tame the persistent U.S. milk surplus. The program paid nearly 14,000 producers who agreed to leave the industry. Those whose bids to participate were accepted had to sell their herds for slaughter or export and agree to remain out of dairying for a period of five years. The bids are expected to decrease milk production by 8.7 percent of the 1985 level. Approximately 1.6 million cows, heifers and calves will be removed from the nation's dairy herds.

"Despite the obvious reduction in the nation's dairy herds, several aspects of the whole-herd program have been controversial, not the least of which was the cost to the nation's taxpayers," said Byron. "I look forward to a thorough discussion of the issues that will face Congress and the dairy industry in the very near future."

Selenium Affects Cows' Over-All Health, Production

Dr. George F. W. Haenlein, Extension dairy specialist at the University of Delaware, says if dairymen can answer yes to the following questions, selenium may be the missing link in their feed programs: "Do you have repeat-breeding problems in your dairy herd? Is your average calving interval about 13 months or more? Do you have high somatic cell count problems in your tank milk? Do you have mastitis, metritis and retained placenta problems? Are your calves born weak?"

Cows with any of the above problems should be checked for a selenium deficiency. This can be done by submitting a blood sample to a lab and have it tested for selenium content. A selenium deficiency is a prime suspect here in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic states where soils are selenium deficient. "This means plants are deficient, too," Dr. Haenlein said, "and normally you must add selenium to your feeding ration at up to 0.3 parts per million for ruminants."

This is the new FDA allowed maximum limit, and it is three times higher than that allowed originally in 1979. The increase was thought to come closer to the normal selenium content in forages grown on soils with adequate levels.

Dr. Haenlein states that continuous feed supplementation with selenium can be justified because it takes only about three weeks for animals to become deficient on selenium-deficient diets. The practice helps maintain resistance to infections and keeps all kinds of troubles from starting.

High milk production and longevity in milking herds — both essential for maximum profits — depend on good health and the ability to resist disease. "However," Haenlein says, "high production imposes considerable stress on our cows and can reduce their ability to respond effectively to disease challenges. How often do you hear dairy farmers say that it's their top cow that got sick again, not the bottom one?"

Not only are today's cows bred and fed for higher production, they're also confined to less total space — often with not much pasture at all — and are exposed to more manure, more mud, more concrete floors, more internal parasites and disease organisms.

Pasture grazing has been replaced by silage bunk feeding, but silage fermentation degrades many vitamins in corn and other forages, including vitamin E. High grain feeding has also become necessary for today's high milk production. But without supplements, deficiencies in essential minerals must be expected, especially in selenium. Even in states like Georgia, which have normal selenium levels in their soils, selenium-deficient forages have been identified because other factors than soil influence selenium content and selenium availability to animals.

Selenium, together with vitamin E, is of critical importance for maintaining the animal immune system and the integrity and function of body cells. Recent research has shown this to be especially true for newborn calves, which had a better growth start when they receive extra vitamin E.

In other studies, cows fed rations low in selenium and vitamin E, have developed cystic ovaries, uterine infections and significantly increased incidence of retained placenta. These problems have been corrected by treating dry cows and springing heifers three weeks before calving with 10cc of a selenium-vitamin E injection, or 5cc at drying-off time and again three weeks prior to calving.

Ohio research showed dramatic benefits of up to 41 percent reduction in mastitis, with fewer cases and shorter duration, where selenium and vitamin E were added to the dairy ration or given by injections. The improved milk yield and bonus payments for shipments of milk with low bacteria and somatic cell counts increased herd profits, more than making up for the cost of the added vitamin E plus selenium.

Stressed cattle performed better, had less sick days, less mortality and better feed conversions when daily rations were supplemented with 800 international units of vitamin E, plus selenium and also some B vitamins.

"A final word of caution," says Dr. Haenlein, "selenium is readily excreted in milk. More information is needed on the allowable tolerable maximum levels of selenium in milk for human consumption. Unnecessary feeding of selenium to our cows should therefore be avoided."

Study Of W.Va. Farms Points Out Alternatives To High-Tech Farming

The technological revolution in agriculture in the latter half of the twentieth century has provided the United States with an abundant and economical supply of food.

But according to the West Virginia Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station at WVU, much of West Virginia's land is unsuitable to the highly mechanized, intensively cultivated farming which has come to dominate the agricultural economy. The number of farms in West Virginia has declined by 79 percent between 1945 and 1978.

The economic future of the remaining farms in the state depends on adaptation to the changing patterns in economics and food production. A recently released study by the West Virginia Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station at WVU examines some alternatives.

"Beef and Sheep Farming in the Allegheny Highlands,"

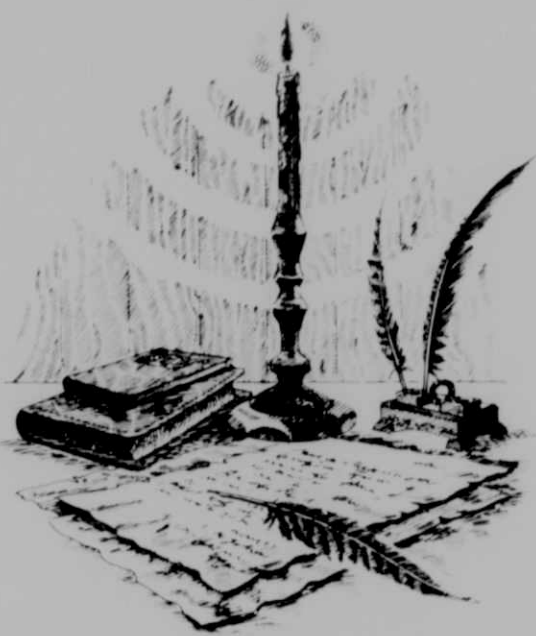

Bulletin 694, by Kimberly Reda-Wilson, Robert O. Burton Jr., Barton S. Baker and Paul E. Lewis, analyzes the experiences of several farms participating in the Allegheny Highlands Project in West Virginia in the 1970s. Alternative management strategies such as beef artificial insemination, calf wintering, intensive sheep production and hiring of farm labor were considered.

Wintering half of a farms calves for sale as yearlings, and the hiring of seasonal labor to raise sheep were found to be potentially profitable alternatives; the others less so for the farms studied.

The report is available from the Mailing Room, Communications Building, WVU, Morgantown, WV 26506.

Agriculture's Role In Writing The Constitution

Today, September 17, Americans are celebrating the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution. Parts of that Constitution were originally written to help solve farmers' problems. The following article explaining agriculture's role in the writing of the U.S. Constitution is reprinted from the September 7 issue of "Farm Bureau News."

In 1787, America was a nation of farmers where about 90 percent of the people lived and worked on farms. This dominating presence of farmers had an inevitable impact on the form of government produced by the Constitution.

Of the 55 delegates to the Constitutional Convention, 22 derived at least half their income from agriculture. These farmer-delegates were not typical American farmers. Most were slave-owning Southern planters, a few were aristocratic Northern farmers and several owned country estates or had other agricultural interests.

Nonetheless, the strong central government formed under the Constitution brought farmers important benefits: increased trade, land protection and credit opportunities.

Even in the 18th century, farmers produced for the market as well as for their own families, and America was already heavily dependent on exports for much of its national wealth. The U.S. produced mainly raw materials and imported most of its manufactured goods.

Chief exports were: tobacco, rice, naval stores, indigo, wheat and flour that went principally to Europe and the Caribbean. In 1787 this trade was in a precarious position.

The British cut back on importing American goods and severely restricted trade with the lucrative markets of the Caribbean after the Revolution. The American government under the Articles of Confederation — the form of government in effect from 1781-88 — could not even control commerce or levy an effective tariff or internal tax. The states had their own individual trade policies and passed a confusing array of tariffs and other trade restrictions.

The Constitution, however, strengthened the government's hand in trade negotiations, permitted a national tariff on imports and took away state jurisdiction over interstate trade. The Constitution explicitly forbade export tariffs in order to ensure that exports would not be hindered.

Land To Grow On

Many Americans also hoped that a strong government could protect land in the western states, allow farmers to settle the western lands and eliminate foreign meddling in American affairs.

Farmers had long been in the vanguard of western settlement; the West, offering cheap land to anyone willing to settle there, was especially attractive to poor farmers, to those who had worn out their eastern lands and to the surplus children of farmers in settled areas.

Ordinances by Congress in 1785 and 1787 guaranteed that the western lands ceded by coastal states would be available for purchase from the national government and that the new states formed there would enter the Union on the same basis as older states.

But the future of farmers who had settled across the Appalachians was jeopardized by the inability of the government under the Articles of Confederation to prevent encroachments by Britain and Spain. Spain's threat was the worst, for its government often denied American farmers access to the port of New Orleans (essential for western shipping) and encouraged the secession of western settlers from the U.S.

The Constitution created a strong central government which could field an army and navy to protect settlers and traders in the western lands, and later negotiate with other countries to buy land, as in the 1803 Louisiana Purchase.

Farm Credit

Farmers always had difficulty getting credit to buy land, and many colonies loaned money on real estate directly to farmers by issuing paper money. With the advent of hard times after the Revolution, several of the new states issued so much paper money that it became seriously depreciated. This led to a general price inflation, which benefited farmers but hurt creditors. States that refused to respond to farmers' demands for easy credit faced political upheaval. This was the situation that led to Shays' Rebellion in Massachusetts, during which angry farmers and former soldiers prevented local courts from foreclosing on farmers and released debtors from prison. Thus many people, particularly merchants and creditors, wanted a new national government that would restrict the right of states to issue money, establish a standard coinage, and better protect property rights.

The Constitution was written by Americans who held distinctly different visions of America's future. The remarkable group of men who produced it were able to negotiate among these different visions. Farmers as a whole were ambivalent about the Constitution and it was largely opposition from farmers that made it so difficult to get the Constitution ratified by the states. Anti-federalists, as they were called, had experienced strong control by their Colonial rulers and objected to the very idea of a strong government that might trample on individual rights. They also believed the Constitution would mainly benefit cities and encourage speculation and corruption.

On the other hand, the arguments of men like Madison and the presence of so many rural delegates to the Constitutional Convention no doubt helped convince many farmers to support the new government.

Neighboring County Receives Goodyear Conservation Award

Allegany Soil Conservation District and Queen Anne's Soil Conservation District are grand award winners in the 40th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program.

The Maryland districts were among the 102 top prize winners nationwide in the competitions sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in Cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD).

An independent judging committee of state agricultural leaders selected the winners on the basis of the districts' accomplishments in soil and water conservation, according to Skip Scherer, awards program director.

Each district will be represented by a member of the board on the grand awards tour, an expense-paid, vacation-study trip in December to the Wigwam Country Club Resort, Litchfield Park, Arizona. They will be joined by representatives of the other winning districts from throughout the United States.

The grand award-winning districts received plaques recognizing their achievements in presentations at a meeting of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts. In addition, plaques will be presented to the outstanding

TWO IMPORTANT DATES!

Once you've decided to sell your home for whatever reason, you'll probably have in mind a specific date for moving to your next home. For example, perhaps you have in mind a moving date which is ten weeks away. Ten weeks seems like adequate time to find a buyer, doesn't it?

BUT WAIT! You probably haven't stopped to consider some valuable information about dates. Your "moving date" is not the same as your "selling date."

The day you "sell" your house is actually the date a buyer signs an agreement to purchase your house. It is not the date you receive payment for your property, except under unusual circumstances.

Once an agreement of sale has been signed, a number of activities may take place. The buyer may need time to locate financing and qualify for a loan. An appraisal may need to be made, along with a physical survey of the property. The buyer will also want to be sure of receiving clear title to the property requiring research by an attorney. In short, it can take from a few days to several months to reach the point when the sale of your property will close, with you receiving full payment.

When planning to sell your home, get advice from a knowledgeable agent who can tell you about local market conditions which may affect sale and closing dates.

Considering Water Quality For CRP Eligibility Discussed By SSCC

Water quality criteria should be considered when the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) reviews the eligibility guidelines of the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), according to a resolution made at the State Soil Conservation Committee meeting held August 27. "A water quality component could make the CRP formula more responsive to existing agricultural nonpoint source programs," noted Rosemary Roswell, Maryland Department of Agriculture, prior to the resolution.

The resolution was made in response to concerns about low participation rates of Chesapeake Bay region states in the program, which removes highly erodible lands from agricultural production. A series of meetings of key state and federal agencies led to the current ASCS review of the CRP in the Bay region. One of the tasks will be an evaluation of eligibility criteria and recommendation of rental payment rates based on local conditions represented by the criteria.

Existing criteria for previous CRP signups included land values, rental rates, production capability, major land resource areas, political boundaries, differences in climate and geographic distribution and number of eligible acres per pool. These criteria established two levels of rental compensation. Additional criteria, such as water quality, could add another rental rate or "bid pool."

Pearlie Reed, Soil Conservation Service, announced that 970 acres had been accepted in Maryland during the July signup period for CRP, increasing to 3,700 acres the total acres accepted in Maryland.

Jim Richardson, ASCS, said that the ASC Committee will review the program and discuss ways to improve participation. Suggestions include emphasizing water quality benefits as a criteria in determining eligibility and using bonus payments from other sources to raise current CRP rental rates. State Soil Conservation Committee (SSCC) members cited economics as a major reason for low participation and emphasized the complexities of making a 10-year commitment to remove from production highly desirable and marketable land.

The SSCC discussed topics to be included in regional workshops for Soil Conservation District supervisors, who are responsible for implementing local, state and federal soil conservation and water quality programs. These workshops will update supervisors on emerging and current issues concerning agriculture and the environment, identify the increased responsibilities of supervisors, and propose strategies for meeting them.

Gould Charsse, Maryland Department of the Environment, reported the progress of the SSCC monitoring subcommittee stating that the multi-agency committee which represents those agencies dealing with agricultural nonpoint source pollution programs has set goals concerning monitoring efforts. A catalog of monitoring activities is being compiled, and will be evaluated for information gaps, overlaps and utility for program refinement.

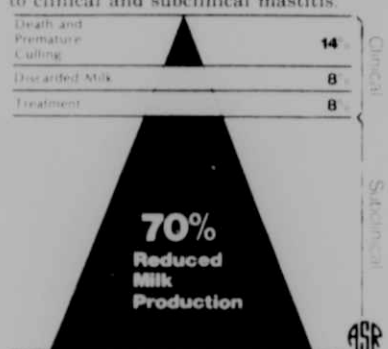

SSCC members adjourned to participate in activities at Wye Field Day, hosted by the University of Maryland.

How Much Is Mastitis Costing You?

By Gerald Neeley, D.V.M., Technical Service Veterinarian, The Upjohn Company

Mastitis is one of the most common diseases known to dairy producers — and one of the costliest. Dairywomen who try to figure the cost of mastitis in their herd may find themselves only adding up the cost of clinical mastitis — what they pay in terms of veterinary bills, treatment costs, discarded milk and lost production.

However, the cost of clinical mastitis only comprises about one-third of the total losses due to mastitis, as subclinical mastitis — mastitis which is not outwardly obvious in terms of affected milk — costs the dairy producer twice as much as clinical mastitis. Figure below illustrates the breakdown of total financial losses due to clinical and subclinical mastitis.

Total financial losses from mastitis are divided up this way. The 30 percent represented by dealing with the tip of this iceberg is just one-third of the total losses. The 70 percent represented by reduced milk production is the real cost of mastitis.

Utilizing SCC Data
To help dairywomen monitor the level of mastitis in their herds, the Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) provides information on somatic cell counts (SCCs). A large number of somatic cells (which include white blood cells and epithelial cells) in the milk indicate the presence of bacterial infection and injury to the mammary tissue. When an infection exists, the body sends white blood cells (measured as somatic cells) to the infection site, where they try to destroy the infection.

The SCC information the dairyman sees on his DHIA printout each month also serves as a measuring stick which the dairyman can use to estimate how much production he is losing to mastitis. Wisconsin DHIA data, for example, show a loss of 400 pounds of milk production per lactation for each doubling of the cell count over 50,000. In more general terms, cows with an SCC of less than 200,000 are considered to be uninfected; cows between 200,000 and 600,000 are suspect and cows having 600,000 somatic cells or more based on one sampling are likely to be infected.

An SCC of 200,000 to 400,000, meanwhile, indicates a milk production drop of five percent; 400,000 to 800,000 translates to a loss of eight percent; and a count above 800,000 indicates a 10 to 12 percent drop in production and income. Once the herd's SCC exceeds 1,000,000, the dairyman faces the obstacle of regulations which prevent him from marketing his milk.

Somatic cell counts help dairywomen identify the amount of subclinical mastitis in their herd and which particular cows are "problem cows." This, in turn, helps the dairyman evaluate the effectiveness of his management program. By determining the rate at which new infections occur in the herd and the rate at which infections are removed, a producer can measure how subclinical infections affect production. A bacterial culture should be run on the milk of cows with a high SCC in order to identify the organisms causing the inflammation. After this has been determined, the factor or factors in herd management that are causing new infections can be changed.

Good Management Lowers Mastitis Incidence

The following procedures can help lower the incidence of mastitis in a dairy herd:

- * maintaining milking equipment in proper operating condition and updating equipment as needed
- * using correct milking procedures
- * dipping all teats immediately after each milking with an effective product

- * milking infected cows last
- * providing proper housing for cows, including well-bedded stalls and clean lots
- * evaluating clinical mastitis treatment decisions, using commercial mastitis treatment products according to label directions

- * evaluating dry period management, using commercial dry cow mastitis products according to label directions
- * comparing individual cow SCC before dry off and a month after calving to determine the effectiveness of dry cow management

Total Dry Cow Treatment Essential

Cutting overhead costs is an important aspect of any successful business, including a dairy operation. However, while making one's dairy operation more efficient is desirable, cutting out necessary management steps in order to "save money" will only hinder production and reduce profit potential.

A good case in point is dry treating. Total dry cow treatment — infusing each quarter of every cow at drying off — is an essential component of any good mastitis management program, because it helps prevent costly subclinical mastitis during the dry period and clinical mastitis after breaks the following lactation.

In selecting a dry cow product, the producer should follow the advice of dairy researchers and extensionists across the country and use an approved, commercially prepared dry cow tube. This makes it possible for the producer to predict which organisms the product will treat and know how long he has to withhold milk following calving. For example, 90 percent of all mastitis cases are susceptible to the antibiotic novobiocin, which is contained in the dry cow product Biodry, while as many or more cases are susceptible to the antibiotic combination of novobiocin and penicillin contained in the dry cow product Albady Plus. Dairywomen using these products also know that milk from cows treated with Albady Plus should be discarded for 72 hours after calving, while cows treated with Biodry have no milk withdrawal requirements as long as cows are treated at least 30 days before calving.

Treating Clinical Mastitis

Although dry treating and good management practices can greatly reduce the incidence of subclinical and clinical mastitis, flare-ups can still occur. In these cases, prompt treatment is essential to limit losses. Left untreated, clinical mastitis can result in the loss of a quarter, necessitate early culling or even cause the death of an animal.

A veterinarian can best determine which organisms are active and recommend proper treatment. The infected quarter should be milked out, the teat end sanitized with alcohol, and the quarter infused with a commercially prepared single-dose tube of lactating cow treatment, such as Albacillin, which contains the antibiotics novobiocin and penicillin. Albacillin has a milk withdrawal time of only 72 hours after the last treatment which allows the cow to re-enter the milking string quickly.

Reducing Mastitis Increases Profit Potential

Dairying is like any business: the more efficient it can be, the more profitable it will be. When a dairyman gets mastitis under control in his herd, he increases his efficiency, because he can realize the fullest potential from each cow — and actually make more money with fewer cows. In addition, milk from mastitis-free cows is also of a higher quality, possessing the characteristics of better flavor and longer shelf life. These are extremely important considerations to the far-sighted dairyman who knows he needs to market as well as simply produce his product.

AVOID CUTTING YOUR ALFALFA NOW!

I have noticed several fields of alfalfa being harvested this week. The recent rainfall has put alfalfa growth back on track and certainly it's very tempting to harvest. The problem with late harvest here in Garrett County is that hard early frosts can kill new growth on alfalfa, consequently killing the plant. When you cut the plant off there are tiny dormant buds on the remaining stems. These buds will break dormancy and are very tender. There is a chance that a hard frost will kill this tender growth destroying all of the potential buds for next spring's growth. Sometimes you can get away with it, but it's a gamble. It is recommended to harvest alfalfa after the first or second hard frost when the plants are dormant.

WHAT'S NEXT FOR DAIRYMEN?

The Dairy Termination Program (DTP), created by the 1985 farm law, is over. The question now is, what happens next? Although 1.553 million head of cows, heifers, and calves have been slaughtered or exported during the life of the program, July 1987 milk production is just 3 percent below year-ago levels.

Under the 1985 farm law, the current $11.35 price support drops 25 cents on October 1, the same day the remaining 25-cent assessment required of producers to help pay for the DTP ends. On January 1, the $11.10 price support can drop to $10.60 if CCC calendar year 1988 purchases are projected over five billion pounds. The National Milk Producers Federation (NMPF) is under orders from its board of directors to avoid the January 1 cut at all costs. NMPF projects 1988 purchases at 4.2 billion pounds.

In its mid-session fiscal year 1988 budget review, USDA assumes a January price support cut will be made to $10.60, because without it, purchases would be in the area of 5.5 billion pounds. However, the decision is not final and won't be until mid-December when Secretary Lyng plans an announcement. "The key is consumption over the next few months and what producers do who are still in business. The current price support rate and feed prices make conditions favorable for production," one analyst says.

As early as a month ago, some members of Congress voiced opposition to a January reduction. But it will take considerable political pressure or dramatic increases in consumption to forestall this cut. Remember, as of October 1 it will have taken the administration two years to reduce the price support $2, and it's had to swallow two special programs to do it.

Moisture Is Improved In State's Farmland

Rain increased soil moisture dramatically throughout the state during the period of September 5-13. Some areas in central and southern Maryland received surplus rain.

Crops were standing in water, causing some lodging. On September 13, Maryland topsoil moisture was adequate in most areas. Subsoil moisture was adequate in most areas. Subsoil moisture was short to adequate, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. The number of days suitable for fieldwork during the week ended September 13 averaged 3.5.

The condition of corn averaged fair. Much of the corn in good condition was located in counties along the Pennsylvania border. Corn was 98 percent in or beyond the dough stage, three percent ahead of normal. Corn was 85 percent in the dent stage, equal to the normal pace. Sixty percent of the corn was mature, 15 percent ahead of average. Twenty percent of the corn for grain had been harvested by September 13, 10 percent ahead of normal. The harvest of grain for silage was 70 percent completed, 20 percent ahead of normal.

The condition of soybeans ranged from poor to fair, mostly fair. Later planted soybeans will benefit somewhat from the recent moisture. Soybeans have set pods on 85 percent of the acreage, five percent behind the most recent five year average. Thirty percent of the soybeans were turning color, 15 percent ahead of average. Soybeans had begun to shed leaves on 15 percent of the acreage, 10 percent above normal. Corn earworms were present in soybeans in at least eight counties.

The condition of pasture improved to fair. The cutting of alfalfa was 95 percent completed. Recent moisture will help to rejuvenate hay growth. The condition of apples was good. Apples were 25 percent harvested, the same as average.

Weather

Weather for the week ended September 11 was warm with light to heavy precipitation. Temperatures averaged 71.8 degrees, 3.0 degrees above normal, the first time since the week ended August 21 that temperatures have been above normal.

High temperatures were in the mid 80s except on the Eastern Shore where highs reached the high 80s. Welcome rains also fell on the weekend in varying amounts with lighter amounts on the Eastern Shore.

Writers' Guild To Meet Monday At LaVale Bank

The Tri-State Writers' Guild will meet in the upstairs of the Liberty Bank Building (next to the police barracks) in LaVale on Monday, September 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Esther Bender and Edna Clark will be serving as co-leaders of the group since Pat Timbrook, the group's founder, has asked to resign because of writing commitments. Ms. Timbrook will continue to lead the daytime group which is solely for those interested in writing for children. Anyone interested in the children's group should contact Ms. Fred Timbrook at 724-4486.

Garrett County writers and prospective writers are encouraged to attend the meeting. Some time will be spent discussing the needs of local writers and what programs the group might sponsor to fill those needs. Anyone wanting to car pool from Grantsville should contact Esther Bender at 895-5736 after 5 p.m.

Completes Travel, Tourism Program

Traci L. Martin, Oakland, a 1987 graduate of Southern High School, recently completed the travel and tourism program at the Boyd School, located near Pittsburgh.

The program curriculum included training on the TWA PARS System, airline ticketing, travel agency procedures, and the automated travel agency bookkeeping system.

DEER PARK

Recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Livengood were Mrs. Sebold, Port Charlotte, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Bowman, McHenry; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Custer, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Zimmerman and son, Roger, Swanton; Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Bowman and son, Eric, McHenry; Mrs. Diana McCartney and daughter, Michelle, Oakland; and Debbie Bowman, Annapolis.

Former Local Resident To Serve At London's Famous Wesley Chapel

Editor's note: The following article, reprinted from a Westminster newspaper, is about Andrea K. Pritts, who is the daughter of Robert and Anna Pritts, Westminster, formerly of Kitzmiller, granddaughter of Minor H. and Audrey Jones Morris, Elk Garden, W. Va., and granddaughter of the late Robert F. and Grace Willis Pritts, who were also residents of Kitzmiller.

WESTMINSTER — When Andrea K. Pritts arrives in England this month, she expects a once in a lifetime experience. For the next year, the third-year seminary student and life-long member of Westminster United Methodist Church, will be assistant minister at London's famous Wesley's Chapel.

John Wesley, the 18th-century Anglican priest who started the Methodist Movement, laid the cornerstone for a chapel in 1777 to replace a foundry which served as a Methodist preaching-house. Today, the building houses a local congregation and, as a historic site, welcomes guests from around the world.

"Wesley's Chapel is very special to all Methodists," said Andrea's pastor, the Rev. Robert E. Zimmerli, "and we're mighty proud that a daughter of the Westminster Church will be a pastor there."

For several years, the England church and its pastor, the Rev. Ron Gibbons, have invited an American seminarian to join their staff, and this year the student is from the Methodist Theological School at Delaware, Ohio. The school selected Pritts, a John Alford scholar.

A 1981 graduate of Westminster High School, Pritts is active in her home church where she has led worship and preached. She earned a degree at West Virginia Wesleyan College in 1985 and then was accepted into a Masters of Divinity and Master of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Ministry (counseling) program at the Ohio seminary.

Pritts completed an internship at Baltimore's Sheppard and Pratt Hospital, worked as a juvenile services counselor and directed a youth program at a West Virginia church. This summer, she was part of an 11-church cooperative parish in Michigan.

"In addition to visiting and teaching," Pritts said, "for the first time I preached on a weekly basis." Pritts' new assignment promises new challenges. She will work in a parish overflowing with tourists, serve in an economically depressed neighborhood, lead worship "higher" than most United Methodist services and live in a foreign country.

"Such opportunities will be welcomed by Andrea," said David W. Bearr of the Westminster church's staff-parish relations committee, which has responsibility for ministerial candidates. "Her experience in ministry, commitment to service and especially her openness to people will serve the church well."

"I understand that England youth simply do not go to church," Pritts said. She hopes she can pull on her skills to help London youth in the church. Pritts will also conduct weekly noonday services for the London city workers and have a unique living arrangement. The assistant pastor is domiciled in a community house at the chapel. Consisting of 5 to 10 members, the community provides room and board and an intense theological and spiritual experience. Originally an all-Methodist group, the community currently includes Friends, Anglicans and Roman Catholics.

Thousands of global visitors attend Wesley's Chapel annually, but while Pritts is there, the 250th anniversary of Aldersgate will be celebrated. The event commemorates the beginning of Methodism which is dated from May 24, 1738 when, at Aldersgate, Wesley recorded that he "felt his heart strangely warmed." Pritts will process with others from the chapel to the Aldersgate Memorial during a week-long observance attended by delegates from every continent.

Pritts is hoping to recognize some Carroll County faces among the Aldersgate crowd or at the World Methodist Peace Council to meet at the Chapel the following month. Several countians have indicated plans to attend and many more have promised to write to their own year-long delegate to Wesley's chapel.

Man Sentenced In District Court On DWI Charge

During traffic court proceedings held recently in Garrett County District Court, one man received a 90-day suspended sentence from Judge Jack R. Turney after being found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Craig Jeffrey Kitzmiller, 25, was found guilty of the charge after he had been arrested April 23 on Monte Vista Road for driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence of alcohol. Kitzmiller was also placed on 18 months supervised probation and fined $500.

Lisa Ann Turner, 21, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated and, as a result, received 12 months of supervised probation and a $500 fine. The fine was then reduced to $200.

The following persons were found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and were each fined $500, $300 of which was suspended, and placed on 12 months supervised probation.

Dennis Dean Davis, 26, was arrested May 24 on Glendale Road.

Kim Denise Shears, 28, was arrested April 30 while southbound on Savage River Road north of Rt. 135.

Wayne Albert Ellis, 37, was arrested June 21 on Rt. 219 at Sand Flat Road.

James Everett Sheppard, 40, was arrested June 20 on Rt. 135 at Deer Park.

Patrick John Sweeney, 32, was arrested July 4 on Rt. 219 at Thayerville.

Also during traffic court proceedings, Douglas Gene Warnick, 23, was found guilty of a violation of probation, and his probation time was extended for a six-month period. No other sanctions were imposed. He had been found guilty previously of driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence of alcohol after his arrest in October of last year.

Sen. Bambacus To Hold Public Meeting

A public meeting will be conducted by Senator John Bambacus and his part-time legislative assistant, Criss Kepple, Friday, September 25, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Garrett County Commissioners' conference room in accordance with the senator's ongoing Outreach Program.

The meeting is open to the public and is an opportunity for Garrett County citizens to voice issues of local concern.

Continuing Ed. Classes Offered By Garrett CC

A variety of Continuing Education courses is now being offered by Garrett Community College. Persons desiring more information about the courses should call the Oakland Center of the college at 334-8266.

EFFECTIVE PARENTING OF TEENAGERS

A course entitled Techniques for Effective Parenting of Teenagers is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College beginning Wednesday, September 30. Sessions will be held at the Oakland Center of the college each Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. for six sessions.

This course is designed for the individual who wishes to develop an understanding of effective parenting skills when dealing with teenagers. Topics will include the individual roles in the family, communication skills, problem solving techniques, common stress situations and logical consequences.

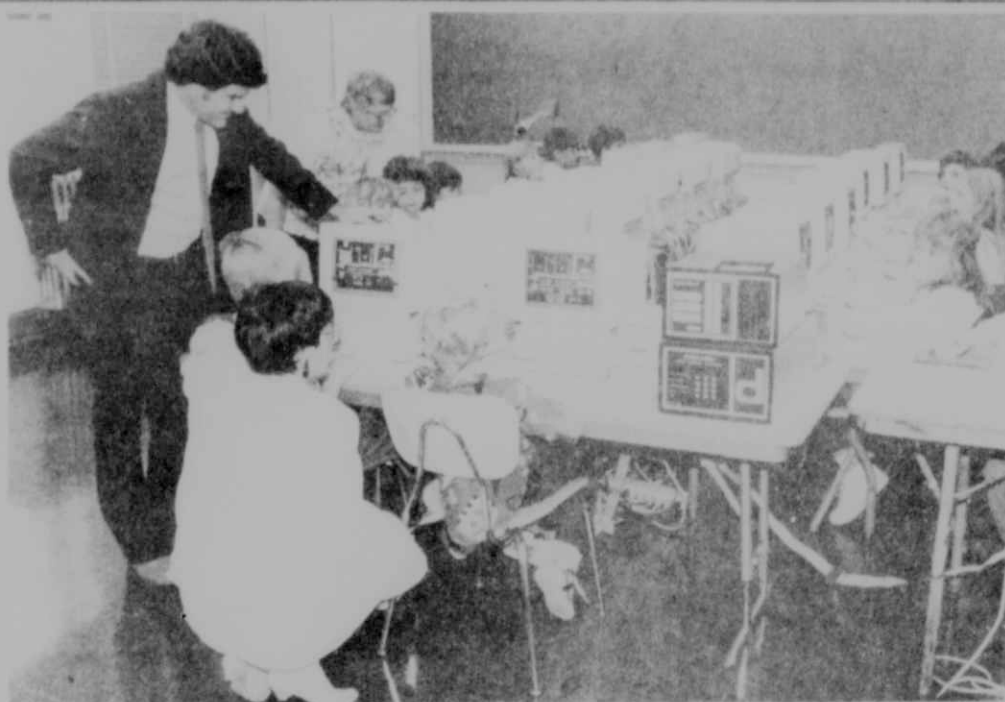

DARKROOM TECHNIQUES

A course entitled Darkroom Techniques is being offered by the Continuing Education Division. Sessions will be held at the McHenry Campus of the college each Tuesday from 6 to 9:15 p.m. for eight sessions beginning September 29.

This course is designed to provide students with basic darkroom techniques for commercial or personal applications. Topics include chemicals, timing, print making, polarizing, equipment and display.

BASIC ACCOUNTING

A Basic Accounting course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division beginning Monday, September 28. Sessions will be held each Monday from 1 to 3 p.m. for six sions will be held each Monday at the McHenry Campus from 3 to 6:15 p.m. for 12 sessions.

A MOBILE COMPUTER CLASSROOM — The Potomac Edison Company's Mobile Computer Van visited the Kitzmiller Elementary School last week and set up the fully networked computer classroom pictured above for Miss Judy Burrell's fourth and fifth grade class. Potomac Edison sponsors this mobile classroom as part of its economic development activity, feeling that students with the benefit of computer-enhanced education will be better prepared to meet the future challenges of our nation. The primary studies of the computer classroom are math and science. Pictured above with the students are: kneeling, Dr. Brenda McCartney, principal of Kitzmiller Elementary School; standing, Todd R. Stockslager, Potomac Edison Mobile Classroom coordinator; and in the back, Miss Judy Burrell, fourth and fifth grade teacher. The Mobile Computer Classroom was also available for the Kitzmiller Parent Teachers Association which met at the school that evening.

Individuals who desire a relaxed learning atmosphere and low stress levels may wish to enroll in this course offering. It is for beginners or for persons who have completed bookkeeping and want to expand their knowledge. Topics will include accounting cycles, banking activities, payroll, petty cash, depreciation, bad debts, notes payable and notes receivable.

PAINTING FOR SENIORS

A Painting for Seniors course, concentrating on basic portrait drawing, is being offered by the Continuing Education Division beginning Friday, October 2. Sessions will be held each Friday at the Oakland Center of the college from 1 to 3 p.m. for six sessions. Maryland senior citizens and permanently disabled individuals are tuition free, but will be charged for materials used during this course. A tuition fee of $10.00 plus materials will be charged for others wishing to enroll in this course.

Vehicle Damage Investigated By Sheriff's Dept.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week is investigating two destruction of property cases that involved damage to vehicles.

Curtis R. Friend, Deer Park, reported that on September 4 on the Old Deer Park Road, his 1984 Mercury 4S was scratched on both sides while parked in the parking lot at his residence. Damage is estimated at $250. Deputy C.P. Nolan is investigating the incident.

Nina F. Bess, Aurora, W. Va., reported that a bullet was fired at her 1980 Chevrolet while parked in a lot at the Gortner Air Show August 31. She discovered a bullet hole in the right rear panel of her vehicle after returning home. Damage is estimated at $120. The investigation is being conducted by Deputy R. L. Sines.

A theft was also reported to the Sheriff's Department that resulted in a $175 loss at the Garrett County Roads Department in Grantsville.

According to Leo Miller, supervisor there, someone removed a tool box containing various tools including a Lincoln grease gun, crescent vise grips, one set of open-end wrenches, a ball peen hammer, and several screwdrivers. Chief Deputy H. Tichnell is investigating.

Operation TIPS Reminder Issued By State Police

1-800-492-TIPS. Maryland State Police want citizens to remember to use this toll-free number to help identify and stop illegal drug activity.

"Operation Tips" was initiated to increase citizen awareness and participation in the agency's efforts to combat drug related crime, according to a spokesman for the MSP.

During the past 18 months, 574 phone calls were received on the toll-free line. All calls on the "Drug Tips Hotline", operational 24 hours a day, seven days a week, are answered by State Police investigators trained to gather specific information from the caller on drug related activity. The caller's anonymity is guaranteed and, since police investigate all calls, there is no need for the caller to appear in court. When information is received, it is analyzed by a specialist and forwarded to an investigator who is an expert in drug related criminal activity.

According to Mr. John J. O'Neill, acting superintendent of the Maryland State Police, "Drugs threaten our children's lives, disrupt our schools, and shatter families. Drug related crimes overwhelm our courts, social service and police agencies. This situation need not and must not continue. Across America communities have found ways to turn the tide in the battle against drugs. Operation Tips is one of those ways. Citizens must realize that illegal drug activity in their neighborhood breeds violence that readily and easily escalates into armed confrontations that result in needless deaths. We, in the State Police, cannot do it alone. We need your help by reporting illegal drug activity."

Posters listing 50 clues to detect drug smuggling will be placed in airports, train stations, bus stops, marinas, interstate highway rest areas, and other public areas for citizens to note and call.

Among the clues mentioned on the posters are: boats riding excessively low in the water; vessels requiring assistance but refusing help; the absence of women or children on pleasure craft; passenger seats removed from planes; pilots who are reluctant to leave their craft or discuss their destination; and large cash payments for fuel, supplies, motels, etc.

Lieutenant Colonel James E. Harvey, State Police Special Operations Bureau Chief who oversees the Narcotics Division, stated, "Operation Tips was introduced in the summer of 1984 and has been very successful. However, we feel many citizens may have forgotten or may be unaware of the toll free number. We want to remind them it is available and we are waiting for their calls."

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Kenneth Wayne Hinebaugh Sr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hinebaugh, Deer Park, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant in the United States Army.

Sgt. Hinebaugh is a flight engineer on a CH-47 Chinook helicopter, with the 2/179th Aviation Co. at Fort Sill, Okla.

He resides in Lawton with his wife, Amy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Lowdermilk, Friendsville, and their two sons, Kenneth Wayne Jr. and Nicholas Robert.

Thomas (Tom) DeGrave, son of Dale and Jeanne DeGrave, Kearneysville, W. Va., and a 1987 graduate of Jefferson High School, has accepted a tour of duty with the United States Marine Corps. He left September 9 for Parris Island, S.C. basic training.

DeGrave has been active with the 4-H program in Jefferson County and is a member of the Evergreen 4-H Club. He has received numerous awards and ribbons and this year he received his 4-H Charting Pin. The past year he has been involved with the Shepherdstown Fire Department and organized a program on first-aid to his club members to complete a teen project. While in school he worked part-time at Long John Silvers Charles Town. He was named Employee of the Month for August at his job.

DeGrave is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gatto, the great-grandson of Mrs. Talmadge White, Eggon, W. Va.

SRA Richard and Tina Martin-Selders recently returned to the United States, after being stationed with the U.S. Air Force for the past three years in the Philippines.

After spending August with their parents, Raymond and Barbara Selders and Harry & Lois Martin, Oakland, they traveled to Phoenix, Ariz., where SRA Selders will be stationed at Luke Air Force Base for 12 months.

Few Arrested

This Week On DWI Charges

Relatively few arrests for driving while intoxicated were made this week by the Maryland State Police.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst

IMPORTANCE OF PLANNING

Often one works for a lifetime, makes countless sacrifices, and does a great deal of planning in order to provide financial security for one's heirs. On the other hand, often too little time and thought is spent on other considerations involving one's survivors.

What should be done in the event of one's death is of primary importance. It is a difficult enough time for spouse and close relatives without having to make decisions regarding your wishes—particularly if these have never been expressed. Discuss the subject openly and, better yet, include your wishes in written form (called Letter of Instruction).

Plan ahead concerning other matters. Should the survivor stay where he or she is and live alone? Would it be better to move in with grown children, another relative, a friend, a retirement community? Unless this type of question is explored and answered, one has not fully provided for one's survivors.

New Maryland Official Highway Map Available

The new Maryland Official Highway Map, recently published by the State Highway Administration, is now available to the public.

The map, updated from the 1985 edition, features a panel of bright color photos showing places to go and things to do in Maryland, including sailing on the Chesapeake Bay, Harborplace in Baltimore and skiing in Western Maryland.

"Our Cartographic Section spent approximately seven months revising the map," said SHA Administrator Hal Kassoff. "They completely redrew the entire statewide section, and used typefaces and type sizes designed to make the map easier to read."

The maps, which are free, are available at Tourist Information Centers, Maryland Toll Authority toll booths, the Motor Vehicle Administration, SHA headquarters in Baltimore, SHA district offices, Maryland State Police barracks, the Department of Economic and Employment Development, and various other State departments, including the Governor's Baltimore and Annapolis offices, Comptroller's office and the State House.

Telephone and mail requests will be filled by the Map Distribution Center, State Highway Administration, 2323 West Joppa Road, Brooklandville, MD 21022, phone (301) 321-3518.

SUNNYWIDE- UNDERWOOD

The Underwood Church Homecoming was held on Sunday with a capacity crowd attending Sunday School and worship services as usual in the morning and a covered dish dinner in the pavilion.

The program which followed in the afternoon was opened by prayer. The Underwood Choir sang, "What A Good Reunion Day," Tommy Grottelty and his string band of two guitars, a mandolin and bass fiddle followed with some instrumental and also singing for several numbers.

Peggy DiSimone sang a solo and then sang a duet with her husband, Joe.

A special prayer was said for Dr. Alvin Friend for his recuperation from his accident. Tom Grottelty's group consisting of Gloria McCabe, Beulah Dunbar, Ralph Lee, Floyd Knapp and Delmer Knotts performed.

Juanita Hebb Archer presented a number on guitar. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lewis and Janet Wilt led several numbers in song. A requested special was also by Janet Wilt John and Carolyn Foster also sang two numbers with help from the congregation on the chorus.

Remarks were given by a visiting pastor, Lloyd Spencer, and the dismissal prayer was by Joe DiSimone.

Bible study this week was held in the home of Wilma Waybright. Opening prayer was by Mildred Peterson and closing prayer was by Elaine Beckman. Others attending were Sybil Merrill, Florence Hamill, Bessie Canan, Jane Kope and the hostess Mrs. Waybright. The "Helping Hands" group had its meeting in the Ford Memorial Park and pavilion with a cookout and wiener roast on Friday evening. The meeting opened with prayer by Mildred Peterson. A business conversation followed with a plan for a demonstration party at the Community Building in Crellin, on Friday, September 11.

Those attending were Hazel Upole and daughter, Donnie and Connie Friend and daughters, Elaine and Becky Cummings, Audrey Lewis, Marian and Earl Friend, Ronald and Elaine Beckman and family, Joyce and Carolyn Foster, George and Hazel White, Heidi Hauser and Mildred Peterson. Herbert and Linda Tax of Manassas, Va., spent the weekend with their great-uncle and aunt, Noah and Wilma Waybright. Herbert is the head of the Music Department in the Manassas Church of the Brethren. On Saturday evening, Herbert, Linda, Noah, Wilma and Delbert Waybright and Orval and Janet DeWitt spent an evening in music and singing for Zella Snyder.

Governor Accepts Whitewater Plan For World Event

Governor William Donald Schaefer has reportedly agreed to accept the Whitewater Plan submitted to him two weeks ago by Whitewater Championships, Inc. (WCI). The Plan calls for the state to provide up to $335,000 in the promotion of the World Whitewater races and $609,689 of in-kind services to sponsor the event which will be held on the Savage River near Bloomington.

The governor's chief aide, Mark Wasserman, said the governor has approved the September 7 agreement with WCI.

Schaefer had sent Department of Natural Resources Secretary Dr. Torrey Brown and Department of Employment and Economic Development Secretary Randall Evans to meet with the WCI officials two weeks ago to determine what was expected of the state's involvement in the races.

Schaefer said he would "settle for nothing less than a major success for Maryland."

WCI is seeking corporate sponsors to fund the 1988 pre-world and 1989 world events, but Schaefer agreed to set aside $335,000 to pay for an unforeseen shortfall.

A total not to exceed $250,000 was earmarked for "contingency funds" to enable WCI to conduct the events not already paid for by private sponsors or in-kind services.

An additional $85,000 was budgeted for the hiring of an executive director and two other staff and administrative support persons, while $15,000 (from Garrett and Allegany county governments) was approved to hire a professional sports promotion firm to solicit media coverage and sponsors.

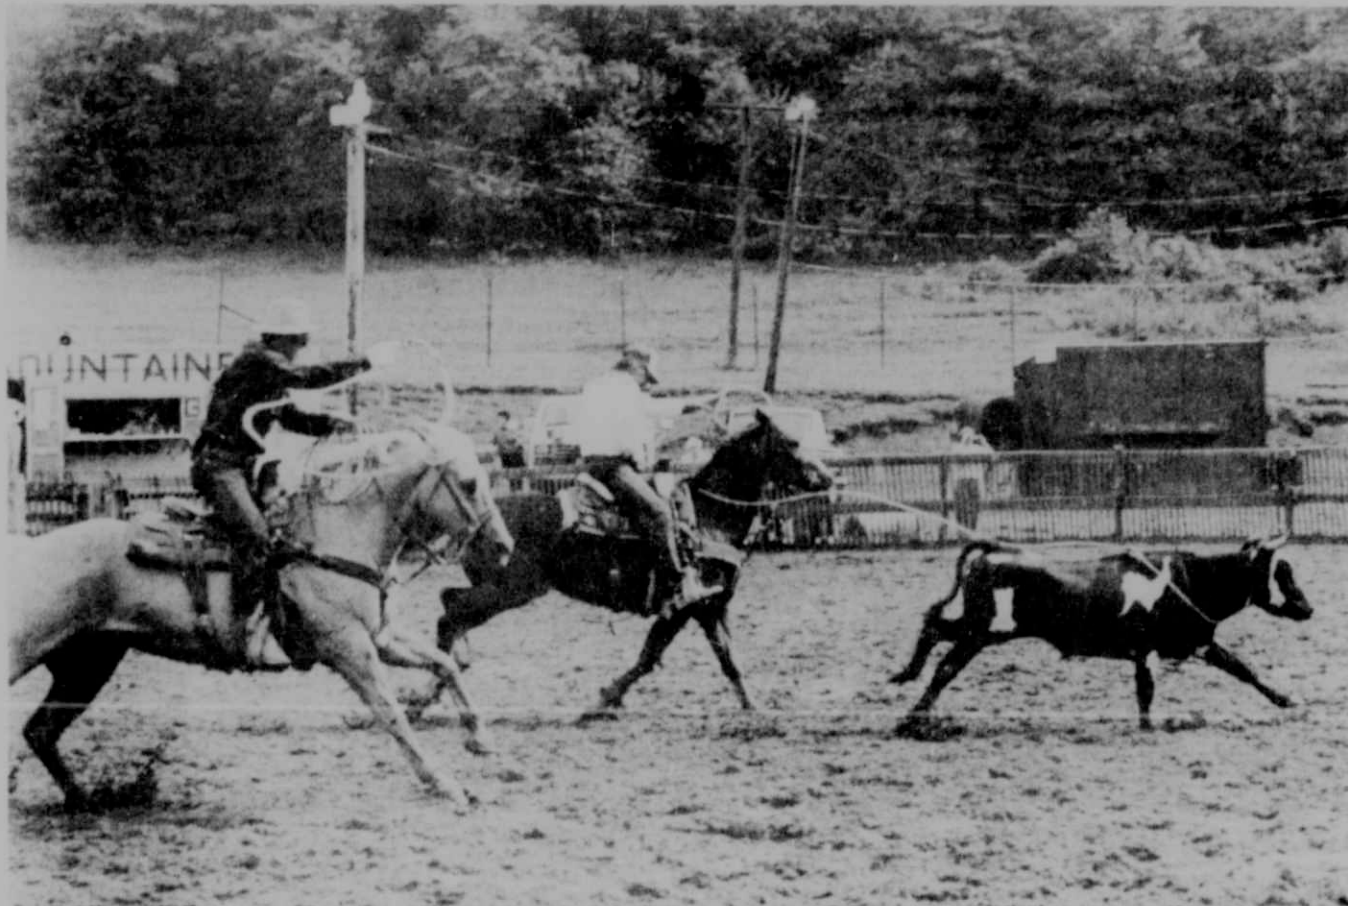

The largest pledge of in-kind services, $471,000, will be for work in 1988 and 1989 by the Department of Natural Resources to complete the development of the Savage River race site. DNR's Forest, Park and Wildlife Service will also assist with crowd control and safety measures while protecting the environment.

Maryland State Police will also coordinate traffic control, spectator safety and medical and emergency services.

SKILLED TEAMWORK AND SPLIT-SECOND TIMING are just two elements required for team roping. The riders must also consider ground conditions and the performance of their horses, not to mention the swiftness and agility of the calf. These skills were performed for the public Sunday during the Oktoberfest held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. Rodeo competition was held in five classes: Open Calf Roping, won by D.W. Minnick; Open Team Roping, won by Ken VanPelt and Floyd Rhodes; Novice Team Roping, won by Bill Savage; Open Barrel Race, won by Doreen Ulery; and Open Team Penning, won by Dave High, Doreen Ulery and Barry Germanoski. The team pictured above is made up of header Shel Madden (right), president of the Western Pennsylvania Roping Association, and heeler Dave High.

County Roads Administrator Briefs Commissioners On Landfill Status

During an administrative meeting of the Board of Garrett County Commissioners and officials from the Garrett County Roads Department, Paul R. Shockey, roads administrator, briefed the commissioners on the progress of solid waste facilities and summer roads projects.

Shockey told the commissioners that the Round Glade treatment system for leachate is still under review and design by consultants, Harris, Smariga and Associates, and that a proposal has not yet been received.

New dates for revising the consent order have been prepared by the consultants and were forwarded to the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene for their comment. Shockey said this would enable use of the landfill to come into compliance with the consent order.

He further stated that the consultants are still working on Phase II of permitting the new landfill site. He noted that the land had been purchased and that boundary and aerial surveys have been completed. The administrator indicated that Schnabel Engineering has developed a proposed boring layout of monitoring wells and submitted it to the State Health Department. A spokesman from DHMH has hinted that the plan will likely be approved. He said the wells would have to be monitored for several months before Phase II would be approved.

The current estimate for development of the new landfill is $2.7 million.

The county received a grant in August of 1986 in the amount of $228,000 from the Maryland Environmental Service (MES). A request for $75,575 for reimbursement for land acquisition has been submitted which leaves a balance of $152,425 from the grant.

MES is now taking applications for a $500,000 grant/loan pool. The county is requesting a grant of $250,000 which was mailed Tuesday.

Roads Update

Also Tuesday, Shockey announced that 56 miles of county roads would be line-stripped before the close of the summer construction season, which is the most ever done in one season.

Two bridges in the county were also completed recently after receiving major repairs. Dedication will be held next Tuesday morning for the Snowy Creek Bridge and the Swallow Falls Bridge.

The commissioners expressed their appreciation to the Roads Department for the successful completion of those bridges and to the citizens of the county for "putting up with the inconvenience this summer during construction."

Health Dept. Advises Dog Owners Of Rabies Vaccination Recall

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene is urging dog owners to be on the lookout for notification from their veterinarians regarding the need for certain dogs to be revaccinated against rabies as soon as possible. "This alert is a result of an announcement by Norden Laboratories that a rabies vaccine administered to dogs subcutaneously (under the skin) may not be as effective as when the animal is vaccinated intramuscularly (into the muscle)," said Dr. Jack Grigor, Maryland Public Health veterinarian.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), which licenses animal vaccines, has withdrawn the approval for subcutaneous use of Norden Laboratories' Endurall-K and Rabguard-TC. Sale of the two

Coal Symposium Going On At Wisp

The Wisp Resort is the site of the annual coal symposium being held today and tomorrow by the Maryland Coal Association. The focus of the sessions is the fundamental and technical aspects of coal mining.

The economic impact of mining in the state is being addressed by John Martin, a principal analyst with Martin and Associates, who have also done similar studies in years past. His report was presented this morning after opening remarks by J. Randall Evans, secretary of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development.

Also speaking this morning was Ralph Bourquin, of Baltimore Gas and Electric, who discussed a study of how Maryland coal would perform in a coal gasifier, and Jim Davenport, DRAFT-CO, Inc., who demonstrated computer equipment to aid mining.

After lunch, Anthony Abar, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, presented a talk about mine regulations and answered questions from those attending. Directly following Abar's presentation, Thomas Hewson Jr., of Energy Venture Associates, discussed acid rain and its effect on the Maryland coal industry.

Later today, reclamation, reforestation and wildlife habitat enhancement will be discussed by Bernie Ziomek and Edward Golden, both with the Maryland Forest, Parks and Wildlife Services, and Fred Bagley, of the Bureau of Mines.

Other technical lectures will consider ways to exclude vaccines was temporarily suspended on August 17 to revise labeling. Provisional approval, granted in July 1985 to administer the products under the skin, was rescinded by the USDA when recent tests indicated that protection did not meet government standards.

Norden's recent laboratory studies show that the intramuscular route of injection must be used to assure adequate rabies protection. The only dogs affected by this alert are those dogs which were given Norden's vaccines subcutaneously. Dogs given other vaccines and Norden's vaccines intramuscularly are not involved. This alert also does not apply to cats. "Dogs vaccinated at county animal rabies clinics should not be at risk, since it has always been state policy to vaccinate animals against rabies intramuscularly," said Dr. Grigor.

Norden Laboratories has instructed users of these vaccines to notify owners of dogs given the vaccine under the skin that those dogs should be revaccinated intramuscularly at the earliest convenience of the veterinarian and the pet owner.

Maryland public health has a great deal at stake because of the ongoing rabies epidemic in wildlife. It is very important that pets be vaccinated against rabies to prevent the animal from contracting the disease and exposing family members and others to rabies.

Child "Critical But Stable," Man Awaiting Trial

Two-year-old Blake Hedrick, Mtn. Lake Park, remains a patient at West Virginia University Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., in "critical but stable" condition while David O. Mosser, 29, charged with child abuse and battery, is still incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail on a $100,000 bond.

Mosser, also of Mtn. Lake Park, was charged by Detective L.E. Gnegy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department September 13 following the death of Christine Hedrick, 28, who was killed in an automobile accident in Mtn. Lake Park while rushing home to check on the condition of her son, Blake.

According to police reports, Hedrick had received a call from Mosser earlier that same morning informing her that her child had been injured when he fell from a crib at the house she and Mosser shared in Mtn. Lake Park.

Detective Gnegy stated that the investigation is continuing, and that persons who were acquainted with Mosser in Cumberland are being interviewed. Mosser and Hedrick moved here recently from the Cumberland area. Gnegy added that a preliminary hearing for Mosser is scheduled for October 6 in Garrett County District Court.

Public Meeting Slated To Review Final Plumbing Law Proposal

A public information meeting, slated for October 1, at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the auditorium of Garrett Community College to give local plumbers and concerned citizens the opportunity to voice their opinions regarding the final proposed agreement on the issue of licensing plumbers. The agreement was drawn up between county officials and the State Board of Commissioners of Practical Plumbing.

The proposal was drafted recently when state officials realized that the 60-year-old ordinance was not being enforced — neither by the state nor the county.

In a review of the ordinance, it was found that plumbers could not practice in the state without first apprenticing under a master plumber for a period of five years. To obtain the status of a master plumber, a rigid examination must then be passed.

Since many plumbers have been practicing in the county for a number of years, the Garrett County Commissioners requested that an agreement be entered into which would allow plumbers to pass a less rigorous test and be grandfathered in as licensed plumbers. The more rigid test would still be required to obtain master plumber status.

At a meeting late last month with county and state officials, the proposed agreement was presented to the commissioners for their review and recommendations.

Whereas the state recommended that all applicants for the master plumber examination must work in the plumbing trade for a period of four years prior to the date of the examination, the commissioners proposed a two-year period. Likewise, the state proposed a two-year period for a journeyman while the commissioners called for a one-year period.

The agreement states that a year of experience will be defined when the applicant has earned a substantial part of his livelihood from the installation and repairs of plumbing materials and systems during that period.

The agreement further states that the local jurisdiction will arrange for all necessary public meetings and advertisements, shall receive all applications for examinations and handle all other business of a local nature in regard to the special examination.

Miss Maryland To Be Festival Parade Marshal

Miss Tammy Elaine Walker, the current Miss Maryland, will be the Parade Marshal for the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade on Saturday, October 10, at 1 p.m. in downtown Oakland.

Miss Walker, who is also Miss Montgomery County, is a 21-year old senior at Towson State University. A music major at Towson, she has special training in voice, piano, acting and dance, and received the Maryland Distinguished Scholarship in Performing Arts. A member of America's High School Honors Choir, she has been the lead female singer for "The Majestics," a top-40 Baltimore band, and a female vocalist with Zim Zmarel's Big Band Orchestra.

The daughter of Mrs. Sonja Walker of Kingsville, and the late Dr. Thomas Walker, Miss Walker is a past Miss Baltimore County, as well as Miss Baltimore's Best and a finalist in Towson State's Talent Competition. She was one of the top 10 finalists in the 1988 Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City.

Miss Walker's sponsor for the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival is Ernest J. Gregg Jr., Garrett County Commissioner and owner/operator of Gregg's Pharmacy in Oakland.

For more information or a free Autumn Glory Festival schedule of events, persons may contact Festival Headquarters, Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland, 21550, telephone (301) 334-1948.

State Liason For Whitewater, Inc. Named Recently

John Zerbe, one of the chief promoters of the Miss America Pageant, has been named Maryland's liason for the 1989 World Whitewater Championships, according to Mark Wasserman, chief program aide for Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Whitewater Championships Inc. (WCI) has contracted with the American Canoe Association to plan, organize and conduct the June 11-25, 1989, world events, as well as the 1988 pre-world's.

Zerbe is currently the state's marketing coordinator and previously served as director of the Baltimore Convention Center and the Civic Center.

Wasserman said Zerbe was "a natural for us to assign and he will be our direct link."

AIDING THE ILL AND INJURED on a daily basis in Garrett County and the surrounding area are dozens of volunteers who serve on rescue squads, plus a host of paid professionals at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Emergency Room. All of these individuals are being recognized this week, September 20-26, which has been proclaimed Emergency Medical Services Week. See photo feature on page A-8.

AN OFFICIAL SEAL for the Town of Accident was given final approval by the Mayor and Town Council during the September 8 business meeting. The art work was done by Edna Bender, local artist. Mary Miller Strauss, the Town's historian, originated the design concept. The seal depicts the cultural development of the community; the historical heritage, the Drane House, oldest standing structure in Garrett County; and two major industries, farming and lumbering. The Town plans to make available soon reproduction copies of the seal in color.

$3000 Theft Reported To MSP By Area Resident

The Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, recently investigated several breaking and enterings and thefts, one of which involved a loss of approximately $3000 for a summer resident.

Ronald E. Livengood, Cumberland, reported that sometime between September 7 and 11, a shed at his cottage on Thousand Acres Road in Swanton was entered and an undetermined amount of hand and power tools, as well as a Sears lawn tractor, were removed. Sgt. R.E. Friend is investigating the incident.

A breaking and entering and theft was also reported Saturday by Robert N. Edgar, McHenry, who stated that someone entered his residence on Bumble Bee Road through an unlocked door and stole a Remington 22 automatic rifle and a Savage 20 gauge double barrel shotgun. Loss is estimated at $500. Tfc. Dale K. Williams is the investigating officer.

Another breaking and entering and theft was reported that occurred sometime between Friday and Saturday at Chubby's, Inc. along Rt. 219 at Deep Creek Lake. According to reports, a window, valued at $200, was broken to gain entry and a t-shirt was stolen. The t-shirt is valued at $5.50. Tpr. Paul R. Brown is handling the investigation.

State Police are also investigating a destruction of property that occurred at Garrett County Peat Products, Accident, sometime between September 4 and 17. According to Ray K. Buckel, manager, an unknown person or persons placed a sand-like substance in the oil pan of a shredder parked there. Damage is estimated at $850, according to investigating officer, Tpr. J.K. Moore.

A theft was reported that occurred last Thursday at a picnic area located south of King's Run Road when someone reportedly stole a picnic table valued at $100. The table is the property of the Maryland State Highway Administration. Tfc. Dale K. Williams is investigating.

Md. Man Sentenced In District Court By Judge Turney

Judge Jack R. Turney this past week sentenced a Capitol Heights man to two years in the Maryland Department of Corrections after he was found guilty in Garrett County District Court of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and malicious destruction of property.

Kenneth J. Garry, 18, was then given credit for time already served and one year

LET THERE BE LIGHTS! "Buy a bulb," is what the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club is requesting of all Oakland area residents. BPW is sponsoring a fundraising campaign to purchase lights for the downtown community Christmas tree located in front of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church. The tree will be a special place for Santa to hand out Christmas treats to area children this year. Persons wishing to make a "Buck a bulb" donation may do so at Electronics Plus, Second and Alder streets, or their soon to be new location at the former Miller's Market. All donors' names will be placed on the "free window" at that location. Other businesses accepting donations include: Marvin's Men's Wear, Vogue Beauty Salon, Flowers by Webers or from any BPW member. Shown in the photo, left to right, are BPW members placing the many donations already received, Lisa Thayer, club president; Diana Geare, club secretary; Linda Maroney, Phyllis Trickett, and Bea Crocco, project chairman.

and nine months of the sentence was suspended. He was placed on 24 months supervised probation and ordered to pay a $50 fine and court costs.

Garry had been found guilty of the two charges in a previous hearing when a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. A charge of escape from confinement was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement.

The charges were filed by Tpr. Paul R. Brown, Maryland State Police following a June 28 incident when Garry escaped from the Savage Mountain Youth Center, Lonaconing (Garrett County), where he had been court committed.

According to police reports, Garry then returned to the center where he broke into and stole a state-owned van, breaking a rear passenger window and damaging the steering column in an attempt to disable the locking mechanism.

He was apprehended June 29 at a Buffalo Coal Mine, Lonaconing, by a K-9 Unit from the Allegany County Sheriff's Department. Defending attorney was John R. Toston, public defender.

Virgie L. Moore, 34, Oakland, received a six-month suspended sentence, placed on six months unsupervised probation and ordered to pay a $100 fine and court costs after she was found guilty, in a previous trial, of making a false statement to a peace officer. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered.

According to the complainant, Deputy P.K. Buckel of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, Moore stated that she had been assaulted by her husband and, later, retracted the statement. Ralph M. Burnett was the defending attorney.

Robert H. Stemple, 34, Oakland, was found guilty of disorderly conduct in a public place, given a 60-day suspended sentence, placed on 12 months supervised probation and ordered to pay a $25 fine and court costs.

The charge was filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, Maryland State Police, following a June 27 incident in the parking lot of Zump's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake, when he reportedly acted in a disorderly manner.

A charge of battery against him was placed on the Stet Docket after the complainant, Wilma R. Stemple, Oakland, filed the charge following the same incident.

Timothy L. Guthrie, 21, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., was found guilty of malicious destruction of property and received a 60-day suspended sentence. He was then placed on 12 months supervised probation and ordered to pay a $25 fine and court costs.

The complainant in the case, Sgt. Roger L. Lewis, Oakland City Police Department, stated that Guthrie damaged the front door windows at a building, belonging to Fanny Johnson, on Oak Street, Oakland, June 28. James Burns, Oakland, received a 30-day suspended sen-

Mark Fazenbaker, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was given 18 months unsupervised probation before judgement after he was found guilty of battery by District Court Judge Tim Finan. Luann Fazenbaker, Swanton, filed the charge following a May 28 incident.

Finan also found Luann Fazenbaker guilty of destruction of property and disturbance of the peace. She was then placed on 18 months unsupervised probation before judgement. Fazenbaker was charged by Robin A. Tichnell, as a result of a May 27 incident. Toston was the defending attorney.

A charge of destruction of property filed against Rodney G. Guthrie, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted after restitution to the complainant was made. The charge was filed by James K. Lyons, Kitzmiller, following a July 4 incident at Broadford Park when Guthrie reportedly damaged his 1987 Buick Somerset.

After Kenneth T. Wiley, 41, Grantsville, and Rosalie E. Wiley, Aurora, W.Va., filed charges of battery against each other following a June 25 incident, the charges were placed on the Stet Docket.

A charge of battery filed against Michael W. Greene, 31, Oakland, was also placed on the Stet Docket after the complainant, Kim A. Greene, also of Oakland, refused to testify. The charge was filed following a June 26 incident.

Two charges of battery filed by Linda J. Moon, Oakland, against David F. Moon, 31, also of Oakland, was placed on the Stet Docket. The charges were filed following an August 8 incident.

Smoke Stoppers Begins Monday

Wellness Together program coordinators encourage all local residents who want to quit smoking and would like to try a successfully proven method for quitting, to come to the free introductory Smoke Stoppers class on Monday, September 28, at 6:30 p.m., in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board Room.

Smoke Stoppers Instructor, Doris Baker, will present the plan for quitting and answer questions about the program on Monday night. People who would like to participate in the program will meet again the following Monday through Thursday nights and the last three Mondays nights in October.

Most Smoke Stoppers graduates "stay quit" from tobacco through the end of the program, and more than half have done so for one year or more after completing the Smoke Stoppers program, according to Wellness Together coordinators.

"These statistics are excellent," said a Wellness spokesman. "Quitting tobacco, whether chewed or smoked, is one of the hardest things a person may have to do in life. Since smoking is the major preventable cause of death in the United States, cessation of tobacco use is a top priority for the Wellness Together project. To pre-register for Smoke Stoppers, please call 334-2155."

Area Man Charged With Battery, Held On $1,000 Bond

Several arrests were reported recently by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, one resulting in a Swanton man being held on a $1,000 bond in the Garrett County Jail.

Steven H. Kitzmiller was charged by Michelle L. Miller following an incident last Thursday when he reportedly assaulted and battered her. As a result, Miller was reportedly treated for injuries and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Miller was, in turn, charged with battery by Kitzmiller as a result of the same incident, and was served a criminal summons by Deputy Russell Drenning.

Also arrested was Robert P. Thomas, 27, Accident, who was charged with assault and battery by Evonne C. Thomas, also of Accident, following a September 15 incident. Deputy R.L. Sines was the arresting officer.

A bench warrant, issued by Judge Jack R. Turney, was served to James G. Carpenter, Silver Run, for failure to appear in District Court July 15 for a violation of probation hearing. Carpenter was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and later released on his own recognizance. Deputy Drenning was the arresting officer.

A bench warrant was also served to James D. Harvey, 33, for failure to appear in Garrett County District Court for a violation of probation hearing. Deputy P.J. Pratt was the arresting officer.

A criminal summons was served to Carolyn L. Russell, Mtn. Lake Park, charging her with two counts of battery. The charges were filed by Philson D. Hinebaugh, Oakland, following incidents on July 15 and September 7 and 11. The summons was served by Deputy Russell Drenning.

Betty J. Brown, Oakland, was served a criminal summons, charging her with battery following an incident at Short Stop, Inc., Oakland, on September 15. Irene V. Sanders, St. George, W.Va., filed the charge.

Mennonite Men To Erect Habitat House Saturday

A number of professional contractors from the Marlboro Mennonite Church in Hartsville, Ohio, will be in Bloomington Saturday, September 26, to erect a house for a family in that town. The project is sponsored by Habitat for Humanity and the public is invited to assist or to spectate the event, according to Connie Margison, volunteer coordinator.

The men will be erecting the shell of the house in one day. Following that, a potluck supper will be held in the Bloomington United Methodist Church near the house.

More information may be obtained by calling Kathy at 334-9431.

Grantsville Visit Of Bloodmobile Nets 141 Pints

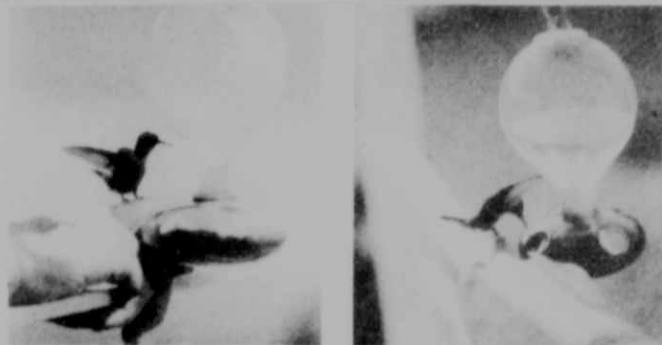

The September 18 visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Grantsville resulted in the collection of 141 pints of blood, according to Lela Bender, chairman of the program in northern Garrett County.

There were four persons deferred for various reasons and there were nine first-time donors.

Terry Stanton gave his 64th pint of blood to become an eight-gallon donor; Simon Yoder and Olen J. Yoder reached the five-gallon level; Jacob Yoder and George Simmons became four-gallon donors; Marjorie Menges reached the three-gallon level; Deborah Stanton, Clifford Bender and Gary Buckel became two-gallon donors; and Brenda Durst, Sharon Butler, Wilfred Karsten, R.T. Wengerd, Gary Holliday, Lillian Guthrie and Francis Forney became one-gallon donors.

Volunteer nurses assisting with the visit were Sara Wengerd, Mildred Yoder, Marlene Tice, Rhoda Maust, Leona Maust, Luella Yoder, Marvin Yoder, and Alice Orendorf. Aides included Doris Beal, Charlotte Tice, Brenda Hawkins, and Anna Yoder. Other volunteers were: Lois Bender, Lois Durst, Glenda Yoder, Mary Opel, Esther Opel, Mabel Brennenman, Alma Camp, Phyllis Bender, and Hilda Sturtz.

City Police Arrest Swanton Man On Various Charges

The Oakland City Police Department this past week reported the arrest of a Swanton man, charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance, disorderly conduct and a number of traffic violations.

Robert E. Johnson Jr., 22, was at the scene of an accident on Third Street where he had reportedly wrecked his vehicle when he was arrested by Sgt. Roger Lewis. According to Lewis, Johnson was acting in a disorderly manner at the time.

He was also charged with driving while intoxicated. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail where a search led to the discovery of marijuana and a pipe.

Area Man Charged With Theft, DOP By State Police

A 19-year-old McHenry man last Thursday was charged with theft and destruction of property by the Maryland State Police following their investigation of an August incident at the Village Green Golf Course, McHenry.

Michael A. Hoffeditz was served a criminal summons by Tpr. J.K. Moore following the incident August 13 when he reportedly stole a golf cart, drove it around the golf course and caused damage to the vehicle by scratching the paint.

A criminal summons was served to Christopher A. Williams, 18, Friendsville, who was charged with two counts of battery by Robert D. and Jason W. McCombie following an August 30 incident at the United Pentecostal Church in Friendsville. Williams allegedly assaulted and battered the two men. Complainant in the case is Tfc. R.J. Resh.

Three Friendsville residents were charged with disorderly conduct by Tfc. L. Rosage on September 12.

Richard W. Hoover, 18, Ralph G. Frazee, and Lisa J. Paugh, 18, were charged following a disturbance on Maple Street in Friendsville.

In other news from the State Police, Tfc. Dale K. Williams is investigating the escape of a 16-year-old Union Bridge youth from the Meadow Mtn. Youth Center, Grantsville. According to Williams, the male youth was reported missing Tuesday and is described as being five feet, five inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, with brown hair and a medium build. He was reportedly wearing a blue jean jacket, blue jean trousers and tennis shoes.

We Agree, Senator . . .

A few weeks ago in this column we referred to a proposal before the Board of Public Works that would alter the state funding formula for school construction in the state of Maryland. If the proposal is adopted, the planned renovation of Southern Garrett High School for 1989 may have to be axed because the amount of local funding required for the project would far exceed our capabilities.

Last week we published a guest editorial by Senator John Bambacus on a related issue. It concerned the inability of local government to afford basic necessary services, such as an adequate water supply. He noted how ironic it is that located in Garrett County is one of the world's finest whitewater racing rivers, the Savage, which will be the site of the 1989 World Championships, and yet just 15 miles away are local residents who must stand in line for their drinking water. He went on to explain that, since most federal monies no longer exist for such public projects as water and sewerage systems, and because our rural areas simply do not have the tax base to afford them, something must be done at the state level to provide major funding assistance. He suggested a non-metropolitan infrastructure funding program to address these needs.

To the Senator's suggestions, we say "Hear, hear." As he pointed out, it is also ironic that, despite the fact that Maryland is one of the nation's wealthiest states, there are many rural communities whose water and sewerage systems are horrendous, if not non-existent. Maryland is also known as a great tourism state, especially the Western Maryland region; but in order to proceed with economic development projects, whether they are related to tourism or any other form of industry, there must be adequate services such as water and sewerage available.

Some of our urban dwellers may not agree with this position, using the argument that those who reside in rural communities choose to do so and thus a Baltimore resident should not have to help finance a water system in Klondike (Allegany County). However, using the same argument in reverse, a Garrett County resident should not have to help finance the Baltimore subway system or stadium building project. A dollar out of the pocket of the Baltimore taxpayer is no different than one out of the pocket of an Oakland taxpayer.

We do hope that the 1988 Maryland General Assembly heeds Senator Bambacus' suggestions and acts accordingly. We generally support the cutbacks in federal spending, because without them, our enormous national deficit will only grow larger. However, the slack must be taken up somewhere, and the major share of the burden should be assumed by state governments. Local governments must also do their share, but there is a limit to what is possible, especially for those in rural counties.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This year marks the beginning of our nation's bi-centennial celebration of the United States Constitution. On September 16, America's schools led a national tribute to this vital document by conducting day-long teachings.

Traditionally, teachers have had the responsibility to teach the meaning, the rights and the privileges guaranteed by our Constitution. But on September 16, the National Education Association (of which the Garrett County Teachers Association is an affiliate), in cooperation with numerous other organizations and agencies, requested that schools across America conduct their own unique programs and activities to help young people celebrate the rights and privileges of citizenship.

One highlight of the September 16 teach-in was a nationally broadcast program on radio and television. President Reagan led the nation's students in the Pledge of Allegiance to our flag during the broadcast. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, Ret., chairman of the commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, also read the Preamble to our Constitution and shared his thoughts on its importance.

The National Education Association, along with the Garrett County Teachers Association, hopes September 16 was a meaningful and lasting tribute to the United States Constitution and encourages all community members to join with America's schools in "A Celebration of Citizenship."

To the Editor:

I read, with interest, the letters to the editor last week against Robert Bork's appointment to the Supreme Court.

I find it hard to understand that there are people in Garrett County who are against Mr. Bork because of his beliefs. They say they are advocating women's rights and human rights, but I would like to ask, what about the unborn babies' rights?

I think it is time this country has men appointed to the Supreme Court who have high moral standards. We, the people, need to return to the so-called "ideologies of yesteryear."

Millions of unborn babies are being murdered by legalized abortions, venereal disease is rampant and now we have the threat of AIDS everywhere.

It seems to me that we need to return to the basics: a time for believing in God and the moral standards His Holy Word teaches us.

I think Christian people everywhere need to pray that more men and women with high moral standards will be appointed or elected to government positions.

Sincerely,

I hope the person or persons who shot our pedigree Pyrenees in the head on the privately owned Pea Patch Road last week felt the enlightenment s/he had apparently hoped to feel after doing such a heinous crime. I know you made a family, including two small children who dearly loved their pet, feel great sorrow and pain.

I hope you and your family never feel such sorrow — it truly hurts. I hope you also know that you were on private property and were trespassing.

Dear Howes,

On a related note, I wish to take this opportunity to inform the thoughtless jerk who ran over our family dog, Katie, at 11:15 p.m. last Wednesday on the curve on Old Rt. 135 and G Street in Mt. Lake Park (Columbia Hill) and didn't bother to stop, that she died the following evening. We had her nine years and her loss has likewise caused considerable pain for us and our four young children.

In March of 1984, the voters of Garrett County went to the polls to vote in the primary election, only to find one candidate for the position of Board of Education when, in fact, two seats on the Board were vacant.

In March of 1986 the voters of Garrett County went to the polls again, this time to find a slate of ten candidates to choose from a primary election. In that primary the slate was narrowed to six candidates for the general election, which was held in November, 1986. The general election of 1986 returned Beverly by D. Noel Obenshain, Research Consultant

The COLA Catastrophe

Here in 1987, the USA is rapidly becoming a nation of sales and service workers, instead of the former greatest productive nation in the world.

Foreign nations have now taken over major production of commodities, which were formerly made here in America, and America has become a sales and service nation for these foreign producers.

Why? Quite simply, we are suffering the results of "The COLA Catastrophe".

COLA is the major culprit! "COLA" is an acronym for Cost of Living Adjustment.

When the CPI, the "Consumer Price Index", developed and published by the U.S. Department of Labor, became well recognized in 1972 as a good indicator of the "cost of living" for the average American family, the American Labor Unions quickly latched onto the rising CPIs as justification for annual pay raises, "just to keep up with the cost of living", so they proclaimed.

That sounded reasonable, but what neither the labor unions nor our national government economists recognized, was that annual COLAs were setting up what is mathematically known as "exponential" progression of wages and consumer prices.

Since labor, direct and indirect, mental and physical, is over 90% of the cost for producing commodities, when labor rates go up, so must the prices of the produced commodities go up.

It takes about a year for these increased commodity costs to reach the marketplace and raise the CPI. Therefore, most people do not recognize the increase in the CPI as being related to the increase in wages in the previous year. So, another COLA is demanded. And so on, year after year, developing a true "exponential progression". As mathematicians well know, the ultimate end of any exponential progression, unless halted, is a catastrophe. A bank savings account is a very precise exponential progression. A dollar put in a bank savings account at the birth of Christ, at 6% interest, would here in 1987 have grown to 192 trillion, trillion, trillion, trillion dollars. All the banks in the world could not begin to pay off that account, a real banking catastrophe!

By 1981, the year-after-year COLAs had raised American commodity prices so high, that even Americans could no longer afford to purchase them, and of course export sales were impossible.

Cheaper foreign imports began taking over the American markets, curtailing demand for the more expensive American made commodities, and thus throwing millions of American workers out of good paying production jobs into the lower paying sales and service jobs, or into no jobs at all. The unemployment rate climbed from 5.0% in 1972 to 9.5% in 1982 and 1983. It has slowly dropped since then, with employment mostly in the lower paying sales and service jobs.

The steel industry, automobile and truck manufacture, heavy earth moving and construction equipment manufacture, radio, music, TV, VCR, and photographic equipment manufacture, also household appliance and clothing manufacture, are rapidly moving to foreign countries. Very little production will be done here in America.

Even Brazil, with its fast-growing semi-tropical forests, is threatening our American pulp and paper industries, one of our few remaining "smoke stack" industries.

The COLA catastrophe has thrown our nation on a serious economic decline, and we are rapidly approaching "The Great Depression of 1990" as predicted by the eminent economist, Dr. Ravi Batra, in his recent book by that title.

Only very prompt and radical actions, some requiring Presidential proclamations, can save our nation at this late date. Among other items, COLAs must be strictly outlawed. Also required are anti-monopoly laws for labor unions, financiers, financial institutions and other monopoly-prone groups, somewhat similar to the Sherman Anti-Trust Act for business and industry.

With double the population density existing in 1929, this "Great Depression of 1990", could easily lead to anarchy, with the possible threat of a Communist take-over.

All because we have unwittingly fallen victims of: "The COLA Catastrophe".

Murphy to her seat on the Board and added new members, Mikal Moomau and Charlie Teets.

In March of 1988, the voters of Garrett County will be going to the polls to vote in another primary election. As was the case in 1984, two at-large seats on the Board of Education will be open for election. It is not too early for candidates seeking election or re-election to the Board of Education to announce their intent on filing for candidacy.

Please remember, December 28, 1987, is the last day to file for candidacy leaving only ten weeks until the Tuesday voting of March 8, 1988. The top three vote-getters in the primary will advance to the general election in November of 1988.

Let's give the voters of Garrett County a choice, as was the case in 1986. Interested individuals may feel free to contact me.

Welfare Rolls

Program is viewed as one component of a much broader effort to assist clients in becoming more self-sufficient and self-supporting," stated Mrs. Shockey. The broader program, she said, is known as "Project Independence," whereas the client is able to break the chains of dependency upon welfare benefits.

Mrs. Shockey explained that, since IJO is designed to serve families who are receiving AFDC, it will require close cooperation and coordination between the local Department of Social Services office and the Western Maryland Consortium (The Training Place). As of July 1987 there were 390 families receiving AFDC in Garrett County, of whom 95 are eligible for the IJO program on the basis of unemployment coupled with financial deprivation.

The Management Committee has decided to engage an outreach effort to encourage AFDC recipients to enroll in the IJO Program. Participation in the program is voluntary. Initial efforts have been focused on families who have been receiving AFDC for more than two years, and also those in which the parents are under 24 years of age. However, any AFDC recipient who expresses an interest in participation will be processed for enrollment, according to Mrs. Shockey.

The Committee will send letters next month to all families now receiving AFDC, explaining the IJO Program. The Training Place will be offering classes to the IJO clients in trade skills (carpentry, masonry, electrical wiring, and plumbing), office skills, basic remedial, ABE/GED classes, and on-the-job training with local employers.

Referrals are made to the program by Social Services, the Department of Economic Development, Vocational Rehabilitation, and the local Western Maryland Consortium office.

"We (the Consortium) have always worked indirectly with other agencies, such as Social Services, primarily just for an exchange of information," Mrs. Shockey said. "But this new effort (the IJO Program) really gives us all the opportunity to work together to train and find jobs for local welfare recipients, and thus decrease the amount of tax money that must be spent to support the welfare program."

Mrs. Shockey went on to state that the success of the program will also depend greatly upon the general support of the community, plus the willingness of local employers to participate in it.

"We have a great deal to offer local employers," she said. "We encourage all who are interested in finding out more about the program to call us at 334-8136."

Our Turn

Don't Bother Me With Details

by Pam Ashby

I'm convinced that details are some of life's nastiest little evils. Details envelope confident, yet unsuspecting, people and turn them into sniveling, cowering wimps who begin making excuses for not taking care of said details.

Details have a way of turning a simple task into a mind-blowing, over-taxing major production. Details are to private citizens what bureaucratic red tape is to local government.

Take, for instance, the simple task of enrolling one's child in kindergarten. This should be a non-threatening experience. Right? Wrong. Granted, it was easy enough to get a few hours off from work to retrieve my five-year-old from the babysitter and take her to the school for registration. Then the details converged. Detail: She needs her immunization shots. Make a doctor's appointment. Detail: Take more time off from work to take her to the doctor. Detail: Convince the five-year-old that the shot will hurt for just a little while. Detail: Find the lost form that proves she's had her shots. Detail: Obtain another form. Detail: Take the form back to the doctor to complete. Detail: Take phone call from school reminding you that they have no record of her immunization. They don't want to hear your lame excuses regarding all the details you have to cope with, so you don't bother telling them. They don't care if you lost the form; they want proof.

The trouble with details is that there are always more details to upstage the initial details.

Details also have a way of making me late for work on occasion. Details like:

— "Mom, you can't leave yet. You haven't signed my permission slip."
— "Wait, mom! I don't have any lunch money."
— "Don't start the car, mom. The cat is asleep on the engine."
— "You promised you'd braid my hair this morning."
— "Didn't you pack my lunch yet?"
— "I don't have any clean underwear, mom!"
— "Mom, the school secretary is on the phone. They still need my immunization records."

In my next life I'm going to be a television character. I mean, have you ever seen Krystle Carrington sort through coupons, make a grocery list, drop one kid off at gymnastics on the way to the grocery store and pick up another from football practice on the way home, after she picks up the dry cleaning and before she drops off overdue books at the library? I should say not!

My friends, I deplore you! Never trust a word with the prefix "de." They will only serve to depress you as they deflate your ego, degrade your sense of well-being, demoralize your character, defeat your purpose and totally destroy you as you decide to tend to every little detail.

second talk.

At the dinner tonight, the Coal Association will present its annual reclamation award.

Friday morning will begin with a short-term outlook for the industry by Jeffrey Watkins of the Annapolis-based Hill and Associates, Inc. A yet-to-be-announced speaker will consider co-generation of electricity and its impact on the coal market.

Finances will be the main topic later in the morning when Larry Boggs, vice president of the Cumberland office of Butcher & Singer, Inc. and John Smyth, CPA, of Riggelman, Smyth & Associates, will review finances, investments and the changes of the new tax law.

Nelson-Rees Survey

Should Bork serve on the Supreme Court?

(Readers can participate in this survey by calling one of the telephone numbers below.)

No

Robert Bork is an arrogant, right wing zealot with a Neanderthal attitude toward human rights. If he becomes a Supreme Court Justice, everyday Americans will be the big losers.

His confirmation would jeopardize the civil rights achievements of the past 30 years, and would profoundly influence the law of the land well into the 21st century," says Ralph Neas, executive director, Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

Bork's record is frightening. He believes women have no constitutional protection against discrimination. He criticized the Supreme Court for striking down poll taxes used to prevent poor blacks from voting.

He feels the 1973 Supreme Court ruling legalizing abortion was "wrongly decided." He does not agree that the Constitution guarantees the right to privacy. He believes states have the right to forbid anyone—even married couples—to use contraceptives. He disagreed with a ruling that outlawed racial discrimination in the lease or sale of property. He would restrict our right to free speech, arguing that only "political speech" and "moral and scientific debate" are protected by the Constitution.

"Robert Bork's America is a land in which women would be forced into back alley abortions," charged Senator Ted Kennedy. "Blacks would sit at segregated lunch counters, rogue police could break down citizens' doors in midnight raids, school children could not be taught about evolution, writers and artists would be censored at the whim of government."

Let your voice be heard! If you agree that Bork's nomination endangers basic freedoms and should NOT be confirmed, call:

Yes

What gives Ted Kennedy—who was kicked out of law school for cheating—the right to pass judgment on the character of Robert Bork?

The simple truth is that Robert Bork—a bearded Ollie North—is qualified for the job. For our Chief Justice Warren Burger said Bork is the most qualified Supreme Court nominee in 50 years. "Bork is the greatest constitution scholar alive," said Dan Casey of the American Conservative Union.

Not one of Bork's 426 judicial decisions has been overturned by the Supreme Court. In six cases where Bork opposed the majority opinion, the high court agreed with Bork's minority position.

Joe Biden would have us believe Bork wants to put blacks in the rear of busses with smokers, and restrict NOW membership to pregnant women without shoes. The record is altogether different. As an appellate court judge Bork voted more than 90 percent of the time with Carter-appointed liberal Ruth Bader Ginsburg.

Those screaming to cork Bork are not as concerned with his impeccable personal and professional qualifications as with his intent to hold the high court within its constitutional limits instead of furthering unpopular liberal causes. A Bork balanced court won't mandate federal funding for abortions, abolish the death penalty or establish adoption privileges and employment quotas for gays and lesbians.

If you agree with President Reagan that Robert Bork should sit on the Supreme Court, call now and let your opinion be known.

Military Women To Be Subject Of Hearings

Chairman Beverly B. Byron (D-Md.) of the House Armed Services Military Personnel Subcommittee today announced that the subcommittee will open hearings October 1 on women in the military.

Chairman Byron said there were three key concerns: "First, we will be looking at the treatment meted out to women. The immediate concern is the Pentagon report that found sexual harassment and morally repugnant behavior toward women serving abroad.

"Second, we will be looking at the range of opportunities for women in the military. The northern European members of NATO have opened a far wider range of jobs — up to and including combat positions — for women in recent years.

"Third, we will be looking at the unsung woman of the military — the spouse. In the latest wrinkle, the subcommittee has learned of alleged pressures on military wives to quit their paying jobs so they could perform 'volunteer' work on military bases."

Rep. Herbert H. Bateman of Virginia, the ranking Republican on the subcommittee, said, "Women now comprise 10 percent of the active force and well over half the active force is married. Women are central to the efficient functioning of all of our services. We need to assure that job satisfaction of spouses and women in uniform receives the attention it deserves."

Rep. Byron said the subcommittee last took a comprehensive look at women's issues four years ago. "I think it's time to look again — both at the new issues that have been raised as well as at some of the changes we proposed four years ago to see how they are faring."

Rep. Byron noted that the pool of 18-year-old men is declining, "which makes women an even more important source of manpower for the military."

"Considering that the U.S. military only 'discovered' women about 15 years ago, the Defense Department has done a reasonably good job of integrating women into the uniformed services. But it's clear some major problems remain," Rep. Byron said.

"Sexual harassment, for one thing, is totally unacceptable and must be stamped out with the same vigor applied to racial bias. I do not, however, think the services take sexual harassment anywhere near as serious as racial discrimination.

"Career opportunities are a mundane but nonetheless extremely important area of con-Equality of pay is a given within the military, and is one of the attractions the military holds for women. But true equality of opportunity remains to be demonstrated."

Baltimore Couple Receive Injuries In Auto Mishap

A Baltimore couple were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were treated for injuries and released following a two-vehicle accident that occurred yesterday afternoon on Turkey Neck Road, Swanton.

James Cole, 52, and JoAnn Cole, 49, were traveling northbound on Turkey Neck Road at 3:25 p.m. when a 1981 Ford Courier pick-up truck, operated by Daniel Atkinson, 39, Mtn. Lake Park, entered the road from Cedar Brook Lane. As a result, the 1985 Volkswagen Jetta, operated by Mr. Cole, struck the pick-up truck on the driver's side.

Investigating officer, Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, charged Atkinson with failure to yield the right of way, and the Coles were charged with failure to use their seat belts.

Atkinson and his passenger, Terry Auvil, 23, Mtn. Lake Park, were reportedly not injured. Southern Rescue Squad transported the injured couple to the hospital.

The Homemakers Club will meet Monday, September 28, at 8 p.m. at the home of Misses Alveta and Louise Dillon. Dues of $3 will be collected from each member.

An old-fashioned sauerkraut supper will be held Saturday, October 3, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the social room of Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society and Evening Women's Group. Adult suppers will be $5.00. For children 12 and under the cost will be $2.50. There will also be a table with baked goods and craft items for sale. The public is invited.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, met on Thursday evening, where hostesses were Mrs. Cleda Baker, Grantsville, and Mrs. Ernest Lindner. Plans were completed for the Pittsburgh Zone Lutheran Women's Missionary Rally to be held at St. John's Lutheran Church on Sunday, October 4, where registration will begin at 1:30 p.m. followed by an opening devotion, business meeting, a meal, and the special speaker, Rev. Edwin Bergstresser, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church for the Deaf, Swissvale, Pa., will speak to the group. Both Rev. Bergstresser and his wife are deaf and they serve in a deaf congregation. Rev. Wilfred Karsten, Accident, will be in charge of the closing devotions. Those wishing to attend should give their reservation and money for the meal to Mrs. James Margroff or Mrs. Vernon Richter by Sunday, September 27. Rev. Mark Ochsankel, a former pastor at St. John's and now living near Pittsburgh, plans to be in attendance.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Glover were Mr. and Mrs. Don Glover and daughters, Nicole and Monique, Mt. Airy, Nicole and Monique remained with their grandparents while their parents motored to Columbus, Ohio, for a day. Other Saturday visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dixon and daughter, Sykesville, and grandson, Shawn, and Mrs. Rita Mangold and son, Frederick. They attended the wedding of Lawrence's granddaughter, Miss Tina Glover, Friendsville, to Steven Margroff, on Saturday at the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, and the reception at the McHenry Fire Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Don Glover and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Glover were among those attending the worship services at Oak Grove Church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt announce the birth of their second child and daughter, Rachel Lucinda, on Sunday, September 20, at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. The infant weighed 8 lbs., 12 1/4 ozs. Mrs. Schmidt is the former Miss Darlene Cokely, a teacher at the Accident Head Start. A grandmother's dinner get-together is held each year near the birthday anniversary of the late Mrs. Lucinda Kolbfeisch that occurs on September 20. The infant is a great-grandchild and was born on her birthday. The dinner and get-together was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Georg, Grantsville, with a large number of relatives in attendance including Mrs. Russell Schmidt and daughter, Betty; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmidt and family, John Schmidt and daughter, Pamela; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schmidt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Schmidt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kolbfeisch and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Stark and twins. Also visiting in this community and attending were Glenn Kolbfeisch Sr., Damascus, and Miss Kay Schmidt and fiancée, Mike Shiner, Frederick.

A number of persons from this community attended the 50th wedding anniversary open house honoring Mr. and Mrs. Rob Roy Paugh on Saturday at the Lakeside Assembly of God Church, Sand Flat, near Oakland.

It has been learned here that Rev. August P. Kreutz, former pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, in this community, died early Sunday morning in New York State, where he has lived since his retirement.

A NEW WAY TO ENJOY THE PLEASURES OF DEEP CREEK LAKE can be experienced on "The Evening Star," a 48 passenger, fully enclosed excursion vessel which was launched in August. Designed and built by Robert Browning, McHenry, on the shores of Deep Creek Lake, the christening cruise took place Sunday with approximately 30 persons aboard. According to Browning, the vessel is 29 feet, 10 inches long and 14 feet wide, and consists of two fiberglass pontoons, each weighing approximately 1000 pounds. Powered by two 120-horsepower engines, the boat has an average cruising speed of 12 knots and has a total weight of 6000 pounds. Plans for the fall include group charters and one-half hour cruises on Saturdays at 2 p.m. Reservations are recommended. Anyone wishing to charter "The Evening Star" should contact Browning at 387-6977. Pictured above is Browning and, below, Darlene Tressler serves up some scrumptious-looking cuisine and champagne on the christening cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bender were Sunday visitors of the former's father, Norman Bender, at the Meyersdale, Pa., Community Hospital, where he was admitted during the week, and with the former's mother, Mrs. Norman Bender, at the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Grantsville. Rev. and Mrs. Oren Bender were Friday visitors of Oren's father at the hospital. They were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Oren Bender's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Maust, Salisbury, Pa., where Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yoder and son and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bender and family were also dinner guests there with other relatives. All of the children and respective family members of Mr. and Mrs. Maust were guests of their parents at various times throughout the day. The Douglas Benders were Thursday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Art Maust, Salisbury, Pa.

Mrs. Hazel Oester is now a resident of the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Grantsville, after spending a couple of days with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Oester, Grantsville and after being a recent hospital patient. Members of her family have been frequent visitors of her.

Mrs. Margaret Beadle recently moved from her home on Devil's Half Acre Road to the Oak Ridge Farm on Town Hill, near Accident. A brother-in-law and sister from England are spending a vacation with her. She invited the congregation and guests of St. John's Lutheran Church, LCA, to be guests of her family on Sunday for a covered dish dinner at her new place residence. It was well attended.

Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, Wooster, Ohio, and Luther Miller of Ohio, were Friday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Richter, Accident, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ringer. Mrs. Ruth Thompson was an overnight guest of Mrs. Richter. Herbert Ringer, Grantsville, and Mrs. Thompson spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ringer. A Kramer family get-together was held on Sunday at the Lutheran Parish House, Confluence, Pa., in honor of Mrs. Thompson's 85th birthday anniversary that occurs this month. There were approximately 65 persons in attendance including Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ringer and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer and granddaughter, Kristen Hoffman from this community.

Glenn Alexander, Accident; Fred Bentz, Mrs. Mabel Fike and Mrs. Helen Harman returned to their respective homes on Friday evening following a 21-day trip to the southwestern part of the United States with a bus load of senior citizens from this area. Mrs. Harman talked to her brother-in-law, Rev. Carl Harman, Tucson, Ariz., by phone while there. A son, Carl Harman, Midland, Tex., met the group at Carlsbad, Tex., and had supper with Mrs. Helen Vitez, Mrs. Jeri Driscoll, Friendsville; Fred Bentz, Mrs. Fike and Mrs. Harman. They were met at Mesquite, Tex., by Mrs. Harman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson and had dinner with Mrs. Vitez, Mrs. Driscoll, Mrs. Fike and Mrs. Harman. The group of senior citizens report that they saw many interesting educational and entertaining sights in many different states.

Miss Lee Ann Schmidt accompanied the Northern

High School Band to Friendsville on Friday where they participated in the groundbreaking ceremonies there for the Friendsville Park. That evening she participated with the band for the Homecoming Football Game at Northern High School, where the game was played between Petersburg and Northern High School, with the latter being the winning team.

Wednesday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft were Mrs. Douglas Bender and children. A Saturday overnight guest was Miss Lynette Johnson. Mrs. Juanita Johnson was a Sunday evening visitor. Mr. and Mrs. Hanft were among those attending the Veterans G-I-On-The-Farm-Training get-together at Grantsville on Saturday evening, with their instructor, Charley Miller, his wife and son, Friendsville. The Hanfts visited briefly with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer, Timonium; Miss Melrose Hanft, Baltimore, and Mrs. Juanita Johnson.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reichenbecher and George Hetz were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holliday, Dunedin, Fla.; Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, Lake Eyrie, S.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Georg, Accident; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Reichenbecher, McHenry; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman and Mrs. Gertrude Glass.

Mrs. Paul Bender was a Tuesday evening dinner guest of Mrs. Earl Yoder, Springs, Pa., at Penn Alps Restaurant, Grantsville. A Saturday forenoon visitor of the Paul Benders was Miss Stephanie Beachy, Grantsville.

Spending a few weeks vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schwing, is Miss Cassandra Schwing, CONSTITUTION WEEK was proclaimed recently by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners in observance of the 200th birthday of the document that grants the rights and privileges of the citizens of the United States. Constitution Week was observed locally September 17-23. Many schools in the area celebrated by saying the Pledge of Allegiance with President Ronald Reagan via television and through various other plays and activities. Pictured with Commissioners Ernest Gregg Jr., Elwood Groves II, and John G. Braskey, are Mrs. Ruth Calderwood, past regent and chairman for Constitution Week; and Mrs. Ruth Porter, chaplain of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, D.A.R.

Grantsville Area BPW Club Has Dinner Meeting

The Grantsville Area Business and Professional Women's Club met September 21 for its monthly dinner meeting at Penn Alps Restaurant, Grantsville.

Each year the club offers educational scholarships to area women. Three scholarships were awarded this year. Recipients were Cindy Stanton, Sylvia Donley and Loretta DeWitt. Sylvia and Loretta were guests at the meeting and each gave a brief summary of lives, careers and educational goals.

Nominations were accepted for Woman of the Year. Four nominees were selected and each will write a synopsis on her achievements and the Cumberland Club will be asked to select a winner. The Woman of the Year will be honored at the October meeting.

The Membership Committee briefly outlined its duties and goals. Each member present was issued the challenge of bringing a guest or prospective member to the October meeting.

The annual Christmas Auction which is held in November was discussed. A committee was formed to finalize the meeting place and dinner arrangements.

"BPW — The National Federation of Business and Professional Women is the voice of working women," stated a club spokesman. "We are women helping women to take charge of their lives — at work, at home, in the community." For more information or if you would be interested in becoming a member, please contact Juanita Beachy, president, at 895-5638 or Nancy Watkins, Membership chairperson, at 895-5322.

Governor Signs State Hospice Licensure Bill

Governor William Donald Schaefer has signed into law House Bill 498, the Hospice Licensure Bill that will enable the Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene to issue a General License and a Limited License.

Hospice programs providing care in a self-contained hospice unit and those providing care in a home-based situation will be eligible for either a General or a Limited License. Hospice of Garrett County received one of the pens used by Governor Schaefer when signing the bill.

Since Hospice of Garrett County provides skilled medical and nursing care through a medical director, the Home Health Agency, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital, they will apply for the Limited License.

Volunteer and bereavement services will be provided by hospice to the terminally ill pa-

MSBA Legal Line Expansion Noted

To meet the public's increasing comprehensive need for legal information, the Maryland State Bar Association (MSBA) has expanded the Maryland Legal Line, a free telephone service providing tape recorded explanations on legal topics.

Launched in 1985, thousands of citizens have called Legal Line to learn more about legal issues ranging from divorce and child support to wills and bankruptcy. Because the service has been so well received, three new tapes were added to the Legal Line series.

These tapes, written by the MSBA Section of Estates and Trusts, were developed to educate the public on the legal procedure to follow when someone dies, what probate is, and what to be aware of when choosing a power of attorney.

To hear any of the two-to-five minute taped messages on legal rights and services in Maryland, persons may dial the toll-free number, 1-800-638-8862. For a free brochure listing the complete range of Maryland Legal Line topics, they may call Kim Meyers at the Maryland State Bar Association at 1-800-492-1964.

The Maryland State Bar Association is a professional, non-profit, voluntary membership association comprised of over 12,000 attorneys across the state of Maryland, which monitors judicial and legislative issues in the state, offers legal education opportunities and promotes leadership within the legal profession.

Emergency MEDICAL SERVICES WEEK

SEPTEMBER 20-26, 1987

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES WEEK was proclaimed for September 20-26 this week by the Garrett County Commissioners. In part, the proclamation read "When an emergency happens, Marylanders can be confident that the call for help will bring them the very best in medical care...as our citizens are protected by the only state-wide, comprehensive emergency medical system in the nation." The proclamation also noted that the system includes 11,000 first responders, 14,000 emergency medical technicians, 2,400 cardiac rescue technicians and paramedics, and 35 aviation trauma technicians, most of whom are volunteers. It said that the "dedication and commitment of these heroic men and women have not only saved countless lives, but have brought international recognition and acclaim to this State and to the Maryland Emergency Medical System." Pictured left to right above are: Pauline Fauceff, of the Garrett County Health Department; Pat Bowser, chairman of the board of directors of Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad; Ed Livengood, captain of Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad; Garrett County Commissioners Elwood Groves, Ernie Gregg, and John Braskey; Fran Pope, cardiac rescue technician for Southern Rescue; Dr. Gordon Earles, chief of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital emergency room; and Joyce Andrews, of the GCMH Nursing Staff.

Nurses staffing the emergency room at GCMH are a vital part of the emergency medicine team. They depend on each other, their physician colleagues, and other team members. Every member of the team knows exactly what to expect from others, whether it's working with cardiac arrest, major trauma, or comforting a sick child. Nurses in the emergency facility provide direct patient care including Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation, dispense medication, communicate vital information to other health team members, document changes in a patient's condition, and direct professional and auxiliary staff while coordinating a patient's total care.

A Salute To The Unsung Heroes Of Emergency Medicine

Your son falls off his bike and is crying hysterically. He is bleeding and you believe his leg may be broken.

Your father suddenly clutches his chest and gasps for breath.

Your baby's temperature has suddenly risen to 104°.

What do you do when a medical emergency strikes? Who do you call? Where do you go?

We are fortunate. When an emergency occurs, we can dial 911 and receive excellent services from local rescue squads. The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Emergency Room facilities and personnel are also available for treatment of acute illness and accident victims on a 24-hour basis.

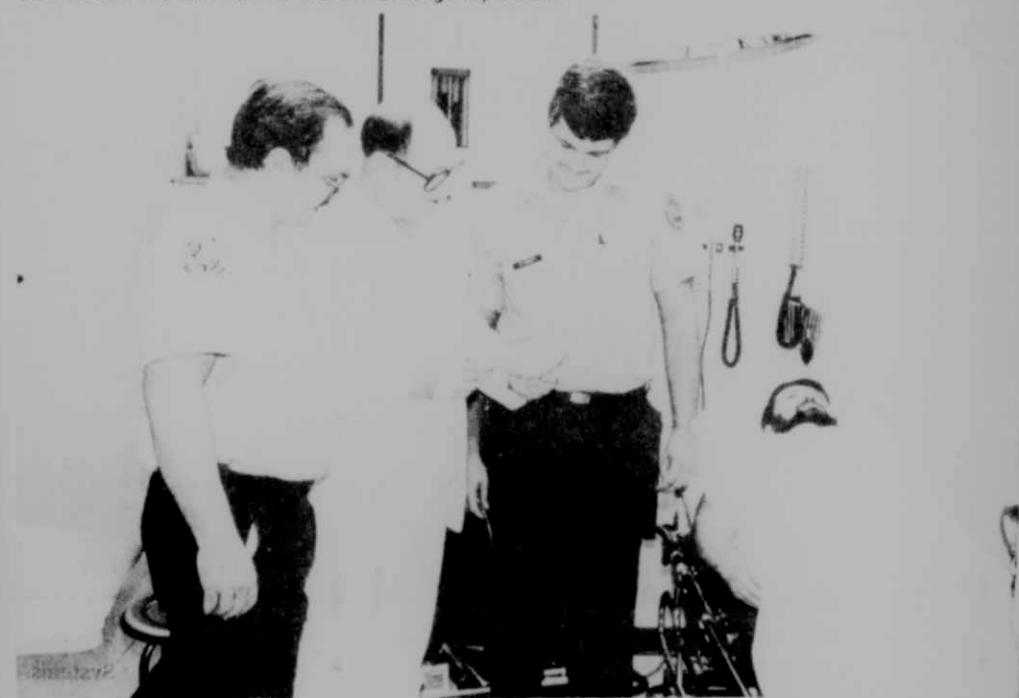

Emergency Medical Services Week is celebrated September 20-26. Take time to appreciate the excellent emergency services provided locally — not just this week, but 365 days a year!

Physicians who staff the emergency facilities of Garrett County Memorial Hospital never know what type of case will come into the emergency department. It could be the victim of an automobile or industrial accident, a patient suffering a cardiac arrest, or a child who has swallowed household detergent. Physicians must make rapid decisions on appropriate treatment, the need for hospitalization, and the type of consultation that may be needed. In addition, they must calm worried family members. When the doors of the Emergency Room open, the physician has the confidence to meet each new crisis. Staff physicians, with Advanced Cardiac Life Support Certification, are on duty at the GCMH 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Pictured above is Dr. M.J. Cannon, an emergency room physician at GCMH.

Prehospital medical care has grown rapidly during the past two decades. Emergency medical technicians (EMTs) and cardiac rescue technicians (CRTs) are trained to care for patients before they reach the hospital providing a crucial link in the provision of emergency medical care. Under the direction of physicians, EMTs and CRTs have been responsible for reducing death and permanent injury associated with illness and injury. Local services are provided by Northern and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squads, as well as squads from Mt. Storm, Tucker County (Parsons), Elk District, Medevac, Tri Towns, and WV Health-Net. Below, Southern Rescue EMTs Walter Lee, left and Brian Fowler, right, pass along vital patient information from the field to Dr. Gordon Earles, chief of the GCMH Emergency Room.

The committee has also agreed to give a suitable title to the 1988 pre-world event to reflect the involvement of the state. The state will reportedly select the title.

The county will also be responsible for inspecting business records or other appropriate documentation of each applicant to determine his qualifications and to determine his eligibility for taking the master or journeyman examination.

Examination fees will also be collected by the county and forwarded to the state for processing. The State Board agreed to furnish all applications and examinations. They will also advise all applicants which materials to study for the examination.

Before an examination, the county will arrange a meeting between the applicants and the State Board to explain the conditions under which the State Board will give a special examination and issue applicants a master or journeyman certificate. The State Board agreed to answer all questions on the plumbing code and its application in reference to the installation of plumbing systems. The board agreed to hold as many of those meetings as requested by the county.

The State Board also agreed to administer at least two special examinations for master and journeyman's plumber certificates within 60 days of each other to give unsuccessful applicants a second opportunity to qualify. Successful applicants will be granted a certificate limited in scope to Garrett and Allegany counties.

Successful applicants may apply for Statewide licensure, in the same category, upon demonstration of an additional two years of experience which parallels statewide requirements. An apprentice will require four years of experience to take the examination and two years experience as a limited journeyman under the supervision of a limited or statewide master to be eligible for the statewide journeyman examination.

The statewide master requires a journeyman's license plus two years of experience prior to the examination and two years subsequent. Persons holding the limited journeyman's license may also qualify for the statewide master examination after performing an additional four years of qualifying work, under the supervision of a master plumber.

Finally, the agreement states that the county must require permits and inspections of all plumbing work and the enforcement of the State of Maryland Plumbing Code and the rules and regulations of the State Board of Commissioners of Practical Plumbing.

Copies of the special licensing agreement may be obtained at the commissioners' office before the public meeting.

All of these persons attended the reunion at the fire hall along with Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hardesty and son, Bittering.

Stress Workshop

For Emergency

Personnel Stated

"Emergency medical careworkers, fire and police personnel confront numerous stressful situations in the course of doing their job," stated David P. Ramsey, Emergency Medical Services Region I administrator. "To combat those problems, a special workshop, entitled "Stress Assessment and Management," will be conducted on Monday, September 28."

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in Room 201 of the Lane Center of Frostburg State University, sponsored by the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems.

The workshop will cover sources, measurement and management techniques of stress. The instructor will be Dr. Lee Ross of Frostburg State University.

Persons interested in attending the workshop or desiring additional information may contact the Region I office at 895-5934 or 826-8636. Pre-registration is required and contact should be made by September 28.

League Of Women Voters To Discuss Agriculture Policy

The League of Women Voters will meet Monday, September 28, at Dot Leighton's home on 976 Dennett Road in Oakland. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the discussion topic will be "The Role of the Federal Government in Agriculture," led by Bernice Kepple.

The public is invited to attend.

Free Flight To Perform At WVU

The West Virginia University Division of Music will kick off the performance year Saturday, October 3, with the group Free Flight, a quartet specializing in classical music and jazz. The 8:15 p.m. performance will be held in the concert theater of the Creative Arts Center.

Named "Combo of the Year" by critic Leonard Feather for their debut album in 1981, the group draws on a repertoire that includes originals as well as spirited reworkings of material by Bach, Beethoven, Barber and Brubeck.

Free Flight was organized by Jim Walker, principal flutist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, who set about to find musicians who shared his ideas, tastes and abilities for combining his two great passions: classical music and jazz.

Public response to the group was immediate and club engagements soon gave way to performances in some of the United States major concert halls. They have also appeared on the Johnny Carson Show and several PBS programs.

Walker received his early musical training from his parents in Greenville, Ky., and furthered his studies at the University of Louisville School of Music. He performed with Pierre Monteaux's "La Domainine" school for conductors, the USMA band at West Point, the Premier Woodwind Quartet, the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, and the New Pittsburgh Quintet before joining the Philharmonic in 1977.

He works extensively in television and films and maintains an active teaching career, instructing individual students and presenting master classes. He will conduct a master class during his brief residency at the College of Creative Arts.

Keyboard player Mike Garson is a graduate of Brooklyn College with degrees in music and education. He has studied with a number of renowned classical teachers including Leonard Wisner of the Julliard School of Music and jazz musicians Lennie Tristano, Herbie Hancock and Bill Evans. He spent two years as music director for David Bowie and has recorded two solo albums.

Bass player Jim Laceyfield is a native of Chicago and began his musical career at age 13. By the time he enrolled in the Music Department at North Texas State University he was already proficient on both electric and acoustic basses. He toured Europe with the NTSU One O'clock Jump Jazz Band in 1976, and was principal bassist with the NTSU Symphony in 1977.

He is currently a member of the Long Beach Symphony and freelances in numerous television, film and recording studios.

Drum and percussion player Ralph Humphrey has toured and recorded with a wide range of artists including Frank Zappa, Don Ellis, Al Jarreau and Manhattan Transfer.

He holds both a master's and bachelor's degree in music performance and is the co-founder of curriculum at the Percussion Institute of Technology.

Free Flight's appearance in Morgantown is partially funded through a grant from Arts and Humanities. Seating is reserved. Tickets, priced at $6 for the general public and $4 for full-time students and senior citizens, are available at the CAC Box Office weekdays from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. They may also be obtained by mailing a check (made payable to the WVU Foundation, Inc.) or credit card number and expiration date to: Creative Arts Center Box Office, P.O. Box 61111-WVU, Morgantown, W. Va. 26506-6111. Phone orders may be placed by calling 293-3020 during business hours.

Southern Jayvees Blank Northern

The Southern High junior varsity upped its record to 4-0 Monday evening by blanking cross-country rival, Northern, 24-0, on the Huskies' field. It was the second win by the Rams over the Huskies this season.

Mike Fulmer led the Rams' offensive effort by running for one touchdown and throwing for another, plus a pair of two-point conversions.

Mike Dever opened the scoring from his defensive position, as he sacked the Northern quarterback in the end zone early in the contest to give Southern a safety.

Then in the second quarter, Fulmer scored on a 10-yard run and connected with Shaun Ryan for the two-pointer, giving Southern a 10-0 halftime advantage.

Coach Jim Bosley's squad recorded two touchdowns in the third period to conclude the scoring. The first came on a 20-yard pass from Fulmer to Dave Eiswert and the second was on a 32-yard run by Billy Welch. The conversion attempt on the first score was no good, but Jamie Ashby hauled in Fulmer's toss for the final two points of the evening.

Dever and Chuck Graham led the Ram defense, while Pete Bittinger and Wayne Jacques paced the Northern defensive unit.

It was the third defeat in four games for the Huskies.

Mud Volleyball Tournney Slated

There will be a mud volleyball tournament, featuring the Bethel United Methodist Youth Group, Mtn. Lake Park, which has challenged the youth group of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. The event will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry, this Sunday, Sept. 27, at 3 p.m.

Competition will consist of women vs. women, men vs. men, youth boys vs. youth boys, and youth girls vs. youth girls. Donation is 50 cents per person and refreshments will be sold.

Southern Girls Lose To Valley

The Southern girls' varsity volleyball team dropped to 1-2 last Thursday in failing to host Valley, 15-12, 15-4, and 15-12. It was the second win in as many starts for the Lady Black Knights.

Katie Groves led Southern's attack with 10 points, including three service aces, while Debbie Bateman finished with three aces.

Jill Bevin, Heather James and Dana Winters each had 10 service points for the Knights.

Southern also lost the jayvee contest, 15-13 and 15-7. Stacey Beckman paced the Rams with nine points, while Diane Winner led Valley with 16.

Southern hosted Northern last night, however results of the match were unavailable by press time.

GCC Women Win Volleyball Tri-Match

The Garrett Community College volleyball team took first place last night in a tri-match, crushing Dundalk in a JUCO conference contest, 15-5, 15-2, and 15-2, and then stopping Potomac State College, two games to one.

The Lakers nipped the Catamounts in the first game, 18-16, lost the second one, 15-8, and won the rubber game easily, 15-1.

The Lakers are coached by Margaret Quinn.

Huskies Mash Vikings In Homecoming Game, 27-12

A balanced rushing attack by Rodney Lipscomb and Ed Tabor, plus a strong defensive performance, paved the way for the second win of the season for the Northern Huskies Friday night at the Cove, as they whipped Petersburg, 27-12, before a homecoming crowd.

The Huskies dominated the entire first half of the contest, taking a 21-0 advantage into the locker room at intermission.

Lipscomb recorded one touchdown and 75 yards on 18 carries, while Tabor finished with two six-pointers and 73 yards on 16 attempts.

One breakdown in the Northern secondary and a muffed play in their offensive backfield led to the Vikings' two touchdowns, both scored in the second half.

2-1 right now and we're anxious to play Beall," Vent said.

He also gave considerable praise to his assistant coaches who he says are doing "an outstanding job" with the players.

Ringer Slingers

Conclude Season

The Mt. Top Ringer Slingers concluded their season of competition Sunday afternoon with a singles match at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

Carl Holtschneider won the event, followed by Vernon Sines, Joe Lewis, and Dave Nugent.

The Slingers will resume their bi-monthly matches next spring.

A DOUBLE QUEEN — It was announced last week that Jenny Golden, a student at Northern High School, would be crowned the 1987 Autumn Glory Queen. It was announced Friday night that Miss Golden was also selected the 1987 Homecoming Queen for Northern High. Coronation ceremonies were held during halftime of the Northern-Petersburg game when Miss Golden was crowned by Ed Green, principal. Also present were her escort, John Joe Friend, and last year's Homecoming Queen, Marlene McElroy. Jenny is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Golden, McHenry.

quarter, when Tabor raced into the end zone from nine yards out.

Northern assumed a 12-0 lead early in the second stanza when Tabor scored again, this time from four yards out.

Both of Danny Sines' attempts to boot the extra points failed; however he quickly redeemed himself midway through the quarter when he kicked a 26-yard field goal.

Moments later, Craig Umbel broke loose and raced 37 yards for a score to give the Huskies their 21-0 halftime lead.

The Vikings re-grouped during the intermission and came back to cut the Northern lead to 21-12 by the middle of the fourth quarter.

A miscue in the Northern secondary allowed Petersburg quarterback Scott Smith to connect with Mike Meek on a 30-yard touchdown pass play in the third period. The run for the two-point conversion was thwarted by the Husky defense.

A mix-up in the Northern backfield in the fourth quarter led to the Vikes' final score. Umbel attempted to hand the ball off to Lipscomb, however the ball ended up on the ground and was scooped up by Petersburg's Mark Fleming, who raced 50 yards for a touchdown. Once again, the run for the conversion failed.

The Huskies added an insurance touchdown late in the game when Lipscomb led a final drive with several runs and capped it with a one-yard plunge into the end zone.

The ball was kept on the ground most of the evening, as all of Northern's 195 yards in total offense was in rushing and all but 12 of the Vikings' total of 165 yards were on the ground.

The loss was Petersburg's third in as many starts.

"We are definitely playing better," stated Northern Coach Tom Vent. "Our defense played very well again and we maintained control throughout most of the game, with the exception of a few breakdowns."

Vent was particularly pleased with the performances of Umbel, Lipscomb and Tabor. "Craig (Umbel) played an excellent game and I can't say enough about Rodney (Lipscomb)," Vent said. "He just did a super job."

While Vent is excited about being 2-1 right now, he believes that this Friday night will be the Huskies' "first true test," as they travel to Frostburg to meet the Beall Mountaineers.

Beall is currently 1-2 on the season, having lost close games to powerful Southern and Hampshire, and will come into the game with Northern off a win last week over Berkeley Springs. While the Mountaineers have had some problems in the early going, Vent believes they have some of the most talented players in the area.

"Jim Wellings (a 5-9, 185-pound senior) is one of the finest running backs around," Vent said, "and Jamie Cutter (6-2, 205-pound nose guard) is just an excellent player."

Other top performers for he continued. "This year I know we have a chance."

Tom Savage and Ed Lytle are the only Huskies expected to remain sidelined this week, both still hobbled with knee problems, and Vent noted that some kind of influenza has caused problems for the team this week. "But every team has trouble with the flu at least once during the season," he said.

Major injuries are a problem that the Huskies can ill afford since the varsity roster includes

Rams Amass 505 Yards In Whipping Central Preston

Rushing was the name of the game for the Southern Rams Friday evening at home against Central Preston, as they amassed 415 yards on the ground and routed the Cavaliers, 44-6, for their third straight win in as many starts.

The Rams finished with 505 yards of total offense, while Central Preston managed only 176 yards, two-thirds of which was through the air.

J.R. Bosley was again the leading ground-gainer and scorer for Southern, as he recorded 170 yards on 21 carries and scored three touchdowns plus a pair of two-point conversions.

Junior fullback Mike Bittinger finished with 138 yards on just nine carries, including a 71-yard jaunt for a touchdown.

Bosley opened the scoring for the Rams as he scored on a nine-yard run at the 5:43 mark of the first quarter. John

RUSHING FOR OVER 400 YARDS were the Southern High Rams against Central Preston Friday night in Oakland, as the Rams thumped the visitors, 44-6, for their third straight win of the season. J.R. Bosley led Southern with 170 yards, Mike Bittinger finished with 138, and Randy Tichnell, pictured above, gained 55 yards. Coach Tom Woods hopes his team can keep the momentum going in their favor this Friday when they face their toughest opponent to date, Musselman.

Mulligan's kick for the extra point, which was five yards longer because of a penalty, was wide to the right.

Central Preston came back to knot the score when, on the first play of the second quarter, quarterback Jason Corbin found Shawn Jennings crossing over the middle, hit him with a 15-yard pass, and Jennings outran the Ram secondary for a 71-yard touchdown. The run for the conversion was no good.

Southern wasted little time in taking the lead for good, as quarterback Zack Gibson engineered a five-play, 61-yard scoring drive capped by a four-yard run into the end zone by Bosley. The senior tailback also ran for the conversion to give Southern a 14-6 lead.

It appeared that the teams would go to the locker rooms with that score, but with just 36 seconds left in the half, Bittinger crashed through the Cavalier line over left tackle and ran 71 yards to pay dirt. Brian Ridenour, who had seen only limited action because of getting a late start at practice this summer, came in to grab Gibson's pass in the corner of the end zone for the two-point conversion.

The second half was all Southern, as the Rams came out and, on the fourth play of the third quarter, Bosley ran 50 yards for his third touchdown. Mulligan's kick gave the Rams a 29-6 lead with 9:49 remaining in the period.

Randy Tichnell, who finished with 55 yards on 10 carries, capped another Southern drive in the fourth quarter with a one-yard run and Bosley recorded his final points of the evening with the conversion run.

The final touchdown came midway through the final quarter when third string quarterback Todd Michaels connected with Ridenour on a 54-yard scoring strike and Mulligan again nailed the extra point.

The Southern defense held Central Preston's rushing game to just 58 yards, as Sean George led the way with 30 yards on five carries. Ram Scott Damon led the Southern defense with seven tackles. The Southern offense did not have to punt a single time.

"We were very pleased with our performance, especially by the offense," Southern Coach Tom Woods said. "It was one of the best rushing efforts we've had in years. There were very few breakdowns on our offensive line."

"Our defense also played a fine game," he continued. "We maintained a good aggressive rush and kept pressure on the quarterback all evening."

Taking away the 72-yard touchdown play, the Cavaliers recorded only 46 yards through the air.

Woods said he was also pleased that everyone on the team had the opportunity to play, even in the first half when the Rams had taken a comfortable lead.

He noted the addition of Brian Ridenour as a new offensive weapon to enhance the Rams' passing game. "Brian has good speed, he's tall, and he probably catches better than anyone else on the team," Woods said.

The Rams will no doubt need all of the weaponry they can muster this Friday night when they travel to Martinsburg to take on Musselman. The Applemen, projected in the pre-season to be the team to beat in the area, are 2-2 right now, but Tom Woods is nonetheless anticipating an extremely difficult contest.

"Their losses have been to Tucker County, perhaps the best team in West Virginia, and to Frankfort, and in both games they had a number of bad breaks," Woods said.

The reason Musselman was expected to be so outstanding is that all 11 defensive starters from last season's 7-3 team are back this year.

The Applemen's wing-T offense is led by senior split end Todd Funkhouser, 5-9, 145; senior quarterback J.R. Franks, 6-5, 203, and a three-year starter; junior tailback

Mason, 6-2, 227.

Jody Linton, an All-State placekicker for the Applemen last season, was actually beaten out of that position this year by sophomore Brad Lewis, who has kicked seven field goals so far this season.

"This young man is amazing," Woods said. "He has hit a 43-yarder and at Frankfort missed a 50-yarder because it was wide to the right."

Woods said that, besides having the best kicking game the Rams will see this year, the Applemen also have the best special teams.

Fans going to the game from Garrett County should follow U.S. Rt. 70 to Hagerstown, take Rt. 81 South about 25 miles, take the Inwood, W.Va., exit, turn left off the exit, go about one mile to the first intersection and turn right. The school is about one mile further, on the right. The kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

IS THERE LIFE AFTER CIGARETTES?

The classic double bond you're cursed if you keep smoking, and cursed if you quit

There are times when a cigarette tastes great. Like after a good meal. Or with your first cup of coffee in the morning. Or with spirits and spirited conversation. Or on any of a dozen other occasions.

It's those times — the times you most enjoy smoking — that make the prospect of quitting seem so difficult. How can you conquer those moments of pleasure and break your habit?

The answer may be America's most successful stop-smoking program — Smoke Stoppers. It works because it deals with more than the habit of smoking; it deals with the attitudes, behavior, and patterns of smoking.

Smoke Stoppers is a program designed and conducted by former smokers who know what it takes to quit and respect your courage to do the same. From the beginning, the goal of quitting remains your choice. Helping you fulfill your goal is ours. The program is always low-key, friendly, and positively supportive.

Before long, the hard part will be over and you'll be ready to join the thousands of Smoke Stoppers graduates who haven't smoked in a year or more.

Does life go on after cigarettes? It may seem to require a courageous effort to know, but Smoke Stoppers could well be just the tool to help you find the answer.

You're invited to an introductory session. It's free and without obligation, so please come.

Lady Huskies Open Campaign With Two Wins

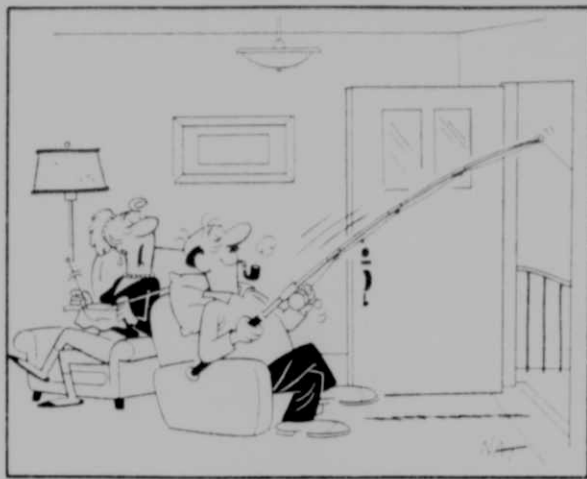

The Northern High School Lady Husky volleyball team opened its 1987 season last week with a pair of victories over Calvary Christian Academy.

The first match held at Cresaptown saw Northern win by the scores of 15-4, 15-6, and 15-7. Leading the way for the Huskies were Debbie Rounds with 20 service points, including 10 aces, and Julie Yommer with 11 points and three aces. Lisa Swauger contributed seven points with five aces and Laura Sines added six points.

Both Rounds and Yommer were perfect from the serving line making 25 and 16 good serves, respectively. As a team the Lady Huskies completed 86% of their serves.

Offensive power was provided by Donna Stanton, who registered eight killer spikes. Kim Hinebaugh and Pam Brenneman each scored two kills.

In the Jayvee contest, Calvary Christian won the first game 15-11; the Little Huskies came back in the second contest to win 15-9, and accepted a forfeit for the third game to claim victory in the match. Leading the squad were Marcia Sisler with 11 points and seven aces and Kim Beal with eight points and six aces. Betty Miner added four points.

The second meeting of the two teams saw Northern again come out on top by the scores of 15-5, 15-6, 15-4. Debbie Rounds again led the scoring with 14 points and six aces. Laura Sines added 12 points, followed by Julie Yommer with seven points and Pam Brenneman with five points.

The Lady Huskies had an 87% serving accuracy. Donna Stanton and Kim Frantz led the power attack with five and three killer spikes, respectively.

Summing up the first week's play, Coach Vonda Yunker stated that she was pleased with the overall defensive play and the aggressive net play.

The Huskies played again last night at Southern, but results were unavailable by press time. They will play again next Wednesday at home against Fort Hill.

Fishing Contest Winners Listed

Fishing contest winners for the week ending September 20 were announced by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and are as follows:

Largemouth bass, 3 lbs., 8 oz., 18 1/4 inches, caught by Edward Yetter, Clear Spring.
Smallmouth bass, 3 lbs., 12 oz., 19 1/2 inches, caught by Donald VanDivner, Oakland.
Chain pickerel, 1 lb., 1 oz., 17 inches, caught by E.H. Hoff, Jr., McKees Rock, Pa.
Walleye, 3 lbs., 3 oz., 18 inches, caught by George Phillippi, Confluence, Pa.
Northern Pike, 6 lbs. 10 oz., 30 1/4 inches, caught by Jerome Hayes Jr., Washington, D.C.
Bluegill, 12 oz., 9 inches, caught by Ryan Coulter, Pittsburgh.

Winners of the contest are named weekly and each receives a citation and patch. The fishing contest, sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Promotion Council, began May 1 and will end September 30. All fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House along Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake.

Jets, Raiders, Steelers Win In Youth League

The Oakland Jets are now the only undefeated team in the Mt. Top Youth Football League, as they blanked previously undefeated Thomas-Davis Rams this past weekend, 14-0, at Northern High School.

In other league action, the Oakland Raiders edged the Terra Alta Dolphins, 6-0, and the Northern Steelers recorded their first win of the campaign by whipping the Parsons Vikings, 20-6.

Jets/Rams

Ritchie DeWitt scored both touchdowns for the Oakland Jets against the Rams, the first of which came in the second quarter when he hauled in a five-yard pass from Shane Skipper. The attempt for the conversion was no good.

The Jets maintained their 6-0 advantage until the fourth period when DeWitt broke loose for a 12-yard scoring run around the right end. Skipper then kicked for the two-point conversion to complete the scoring.

Jason Rinker led a balanced Jet rushing attack with 45 yards, while Skipper added 37 yards and DeWitt finished with 27, along with a 30-yard punt return. The wet field made it difficult for both teams to move the ball on the ground.

The Jet coaching staff noted the strong performance of quarterback Garth Glatfelter, who was also one of the leading tacklers on defense, along with Rinker, Dave Biser, and DeWitt. Bill Ferry and Shane Skipper also played well for the Jet defense, which forced four Ram turnovers on fumbles and held the Rams to just two first downs. DeWitt also had two fumble recoveries, while Rinker and Biser had one each.

Leading the Ram offense was running back Shawn Cutright, while defensive end Brian Zirk paced the defense.

Raiders/Dolphins

A 54-yard run to the one-yard line by Jeremy Bosley set up the only score of the game between the Raiders and Dolphins.

Nathan Dixon, who was among his team's defensive standouts, carried the ball over from the one for the touchdown.

Also leading the Raider defense were Preston Sharps and Michael Stewart. Bosley, Mike Baker and Josh Woods each recorded a fumble recovery.

The Raiders will play again this Saturday, Sept. 26, against the Northern Steelers at Northern High School. The kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Steelers/Vikings

Lamon Thomas was on the receiving end of two touchdown passes for the Northern Steelers in their 20-6 win over the Parsons Vikings.

The first Steeler touchdown came in the first quarter when Thomas pulled in a 28-yard pass from Jason Sisler. Doug Brenneman ran for the extra point.

Brenneman increased the Steeler lead in the second quarter when he carried the ball into the end zone from 14 yards out. Sisler passed to Brenneman for the conversion.

The Steelers put the game out of reach in the third period when Brenneman connected with Thomas on a halfback pass play that covered 55 yards. The attempt for the conversion was no good.

The Vikings finally got on the board against the Steeler second team in the fourth quarter when George Shine broke loose for a 14-yard scoring run.

Thomas finished with 88 yards on three catches, while Brenneman recorded 53 yards of rushing on 10 carries.

Defensive standouts were Brenneman and Todd Burdock and Larry Wakefield. Burdock, Tim Warnick, and Thomas each had a fumble recovery.

The Steelers will host the Oakland Raiders this Saturday night at Northern High School.

NOTICE OF DETERMINATION OF NO SIGNIFICANT ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT

Upper Youghiogheny Area Sewerage Facilities Improvements Project

The Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., has made application to Farmers Home Administration for assistance to make improvements to the Trout Run Sewage Treatment Plant and the Shady Acres sewerage facilities. The District proposes to upgrade the Trout Run Sewage Treatment Plant, construct sand filters and storage facilities, construct a sewer collection system in the Shady Acres area, and construct a sewer interceptor line from Shady Acres to the Trout Run Sewage Treatment Plant.

The impact on land resources will occur on approximately 8.6 acres of agricultural land.

The application for FmHA assistance and the Environmental Assessment is available for review at the FmHA District Office at 198 Thomas Johnson Drive, Suite 14, Frederick, Maryland 21701, phone (301) 694-7522.

Any person interested in commenting on the application, the feasibility of the proposed action or alternatives to the proposed improvements may do so by providing their comments in writing to Mr. Peter Wesp, Farmers Home Administration, 198 Thomas Johnson Drive, Suite 14, Frederick, Maryland 21701 by October 9, 1987.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Wendell R. Beitzel, Administrator, Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland 21550, phone (301) 334-1980. 30-21

We're Here To Help
by Pamela A. Martin, CCHA

HELP, NOT HURT
Hearing impaired people are often caught between noises that are too loud or too soft, between hearing and not hearing. As a result, they are often unsure about what is being said. They are nearly always uncertain about what others think. We expect them to understand "plain English." When they do not, we may leave them to find someone who can. In this way, we often hurt those with this type of impairment. Quite naturally, hearing impaired people stop exposing themselves to situations where continual stress and insults occur. This is the first sign that with drawal is beginning. It should also be the trigger that makes us intercede with help. Care and understanding can lead to the diagnosis and treatment of hearing impairment.

Such hearing impairment often benefits dramatically from the hearing assist devices available at ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES. Enjoy the people and the world around you. Let us help you return to the sounds of pleasurable social interaction. Come in today so that we may help in selecting and fitting the hearing instruments you require.

Hearing losses worsen slowly, unlike their psychological effects that can compound much more rapidly.

Tusing Honored Upon Retirement Of First United National As Head

A retirement dinner was held Saturday to honor Courtney R. Tusing, president and chairman of the Board of First United National Bank & Trust. Tusing retired August 31, as president after nearly 38 years of active banking experience. He continues to serve as the bank's chairman of the Board.

The dinner, which was hosted by the Board of Directors, was attended by several members of Tusing's family and former banking colleagues, in addition to First United's officers and Advisory Board members. The event was held at Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake.

Richard G. Stanton, president of First United National Bank & Trust, served as master of ceremonies and commented on the highlights of Tusing's career. Horace P. Whitworth, Board member and general counsel for the Bank, presented Mr. and Mrs. Tusing with gifts on behalf of the Board of Directors.

Born at Rock Oak, (Hardy County), W.Va., Tusing was graduated from Moorefield High School and served three years in the United States Marine Corps during World War II. He attended Dartmouth College, and later Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., where he was graduated in 1947 with an AB degree in economics.

Tusing's banking experience began in 1947, when he was employed as a Note Teller at Farmers & Merchants National Bank, Winchester, Va. Leaving the banking field temporarily, he sold insurance and taught school for three years before joining the staff of South Branch Valley National Bank, Moorefield, W.Va. He then joined Capon Valley Bank, Wardsville, W.Va., where he served for nine years as its chief executive officer. Having been recruited by the Bank of Charles Town, (W.Va.), he worked there for four years as vice president and trust officer prior to coming to Garrett County.

Having joined the First National Bank of Oakland in 1965 as vice president and assistant trust officer and member of the Board of Directors, Tusing was named president and trust officer in 1970, and chairman of the Board and president in 1980. During his tenure, the bank has grown from three offices to 15, and from $18 million to more than $250 million in assets.

Throughout his career, Tusing completed several banking schools, including the five-year West Virginia School of Banking and the Stonier Graduate School of Banking, and many college-level courses sponsored by the American Institute of Banking, as well as numerous seminars, conferences and workshops. As an active proponent of education, Tusing organized the first AIB Study Group in Garrett County in 1968, and taught several banking courses. That group is still active, and is now associated with Garrett Community College.

Tusing has been an active community leader throughout his career. He was a member of the Lion's Club for 18 years and a member of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce for 17 years. He served on the Board of Garrett County Development Corporation for 15 years, and held several offices on the Council of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland.

Recognition within banking circles include Tusing's many years of service, in various capacities, to the West Virginia and Maryland Bankers Associations, and as an Advisory Committee member for the Fifth National Bank Region. In May 1986, he was named president of the Maryland Bankers Association, following a one-year term as vice president, and a one-year term as president-elect. Tusing holds the distinction of being the only banker from Garrett County ever to have served in that statewide office. He will continue to serve on the MBA Executive Committee for one year, and then as ex-officio member of the Board for three more years.

Speaking of his retirement, Tusing said: "Mattie and I plan to travel, play golf, ride our horses, run a few steers on our farm near Baker, and enjoy the easy-going rural life among family and friends, while keeping an active relationship with banking for a few more years."

And, do a little more fishing," he added.

Married to the former Mattie Webster, the couple has two children: Cynthia T. Pike, an art teacher in Greenville, S.C., and Lt. Cmdr. George M. Tusing II, USN, San Francisco, and five grandchildren.

The Tusings have now established their residence at Baker, W.Va., and are now members of Ebenezer Lutheran Church, Rio, W.Va.

A beam of light can travel around the earth in just one-tenth of a second.

COUNTRY KIDS 4-H CLUB

by Amy Friend, Reporter

The September meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was called to order by Secretary Becky DeBerry. Pledges were led by Amy Friend. The secretary's report was given and dues were collected. There was no treasurer's report.

Jamie DeBerry gave a report on the 4-H picnic that was held in August at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Under new business, baby beef tickets are being sold. A Halloween party is to be scheduled at the October 20 meeting. A hayride and horseback riding is scheduled for October 4 at Western Trails. Members and their families will meet at Western Trails at 3 p.m. to trail ride. The club will pay the cost of all members and their immediate families. Guests will pay $6. At 7 p.m. the group will again meet at Western Trails for the hayride. Each family is to bring a drink. Certain club members have volunteered to bring potato chips and marshmallows. Hot dogs will be provided for cooking over a camp fire during the hayride.

A reminder was given to members to begin their record books. A motion was made and seconded to adjourn the meeting and refreshments were served.

In Loving Memory of

who passed away in September, 1986

As we started our lives together with this thought and prayer in mind...

May the Lord watch over me and thee while we are absent from one another. Little did we know that absence would be as permanent, for God would call you home. We're comforted by the memories of those happy times we shared, for I feel that God has said to you, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter then into the joy of the Lord."

horses (Is that a "horse laugh" coming from that near-side lead horse?). and a rodeo on Sunday that attracted 50 to 75 cowboys. Pictured below right, waiting their turn outside of the ring are competitors in the Team Roping class, with Ken VanPelt pictured at the right swinging his rope in practice for the event. Proving that "practice makes perfect," VanPelt came away Team Roping Heading Champion. Organizers say that the success of Oktoberfest assures another next year. No date has been set at this time, however.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meetings. Installs Officers

A special meeting of the Proctor Kildow Unit No. 71 of the American Legion Auxiliary was held recently for the installation of the new officers for 1987-88. Those installed by the outgoing president, Alice Strobel, were: Leona Beckman, president; Lucille Marsh, treasurer; Elaine Ream, secretary; Lois Latin, chaplain; and Sandy Sukow, historian.

Installed later were Shirley Stem, vice president, and Alice Strobel, sgt.-at-arms, by Lois Mechem, a past president.

The September 21 meeting was conducted by the president, Leona Beckman, who at that time appointed a committee to handle the Lion's Club dinners which will resume this month. Committee members are: Lucille Marsh, Lois Mechem, Freda Austin, Mary Tuel, Norma Liller, Alice Trobel and Shirley Stem.

Mrs. Beckman announced the auxiliary would again serve dinners and sandwiches at the Post Home on Saturday, October 10, during the Autumn Glory Festival. Since most members will be busy that day, it was decided to participate in the Firemen's Parade on October 8, instead of the October 10 parade.

At the Mt. District meeting held Sunday, September 13, at Victory Post in Westernport, the Auxiliary Unit of Post No. 71 was awarded four certificates for first place in the following categories: Americanism, Children and Youth, Veterans Affairs, and Community Service. The next District Meeting will be November 15 at a place to be named later.

It was decided to donate to the Epilepsy Foundation of Maryland, Inc., called "The Tree of Light Project". This is a fund-raising effort by which a single tree will be erected in five locations throughout the State encircled with tiny white lights symbolizing efforts to "take epilepsy out of the darkness." This project will be during the month of November, National Epilepsy Awareness Month. Money will be raised by paying $1.00 to have one light lit, representing each of the 40,000 Marylanders with epilepsy.

Lucille Marsh announced the title for the 1987 State Essay Contest to be held in the schools from November 1 to December 1 is "Why I'm Glad I Live In America".

In conjunction with the drive to get new Christmas lighting for the Town of Oakland, the Business and Professional Women's Club is heading a project to place lighting on a tree beside St. Matthew's Episcopal Church. The club voted to make a donation to this endeavor of $25.00 which will put 25 lights on the tree.

The president announced there would be Veteran's Day services held on November 11 at Rocky Gap State Park, near Cumberland. She urged all to attend.

Also announced by the president was the annual Pig Roast to be held November 13 at the Post Home on Memorial Drive. All members are urged to help serve.

Card of Thanks

From
Dr. & Mrs. Alvin P. Friend

Words do not adequately express our depth of gratitude and appreciation to the multitudes of Christian friends and neighbors who have fervently prayed following the near fatal tractor accident of August 28, 1987. It was only the grace of God, and the many prayers in our behalf, that sustained us during the most anxious moments of our lives. We sensed God's ministering angels and the comfort of His Spirit when human hope was fading away.

We owe an immeasurable depth of gratitude and thanksgiving to the Southern Rescue Squad; the Oakland Volunteer firemen; Murphy's 135 Amoco; Doctors Alvarez, Fedde, Campbell, Cannon, Strauss, Failing; and the West Virginia Medical Center for their medical expertise, services and concerns.

The personal messages written in hundreds of get-well cards were a source of hope, comfort and strength. The many cards from individual pastors, Ladies Groups, and churches who were offering special prayers in our behalf touched us deeply.

To all who sent the many baskets of beautiful flowers that graced our hospital room, we give you thanks, and a special thanks and appreciation to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Family.

If we missed anyone, God knows you and will bless you for every act of love and kindness. These final few words sum it all.

Maybe you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair; maybe you sent a floral piece, if so we saw it there. Maybe you spoke the kindest words that any friend could say; maybe you weren't there at all, just prayed for us that day. Maybe you helped cut our winter wood, or did another task. Whatever you did to comfort us and ease the pain, we thank you very much.

We love you all, and may God richly bless. With God's help, we're on our way to recovery.

Commissioners Meet With Heads Of Co. Agencies

During their regular meeting day on Tuesday, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners met with various county heads to discuss several county issues.

Sheriff M. Van Evans spoke to the commissioners about a proposed policy by the State Department of Corrections that may eliminate the current system whereby the county jail houses state prisoners for a substantial reimbursement.

Currently, the state pays the county a dollar amount for each prisoner each day. With the construction of a new state prison facility on the Eastern Shore, the possibility exists that the county would no longer house state prisoners.

Evans expressed his concern that the policy could seriously alter his current budget. The commissioners said they hoped this was not a situation they had to face in the future.

Board of Ed.

John Morris, assistant superintendent of the Garrett County Board of Education, presented the commissioners with the Education Board's annual sign-off of a five-year plan required by the State Board of Education. The commissioners approved the plan which included the proposed renovation of Southern High School — a plan which may be in jeopardy if the Board of Public Works approves a plan to revise school construction funding.

County officials were in Annapolis last week to testify against the funding proposal which would increase the county's local share of the renovation funding from $1.2 million to $2.5 million.

Louis Goldstein was in Garrett County this week and said that the funding proposal would most likely require legislation — a move which may buy the county some time in going ahead with renovation plans for the local high school. Northern High School underwent similar renovations last year.

DCL Planning

John Nelson, planning and zoning administrator, met with the commissioners for their final approval of the Deep Creek Lake Plan Update, the lake zoning ordinance and zoning map. A complete story on that plan and ordinance will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.

Health Department

Dr. William Pope met with the commissioners also to brief them on the financial health of the department, which is in "good fiscal shape," according to Dr. Pope and the commissioners.

If the state continues to reimburse home health payments on a regular schedule, the commissioners said they feel the department will continue in sound fiscal condition.

NEW COUNCIL PRESIDENT, TREASURER INSTALLED — Garrett County Extension Homemakers Annual Achievement Night was held September 22 at Garrett Community College. The outgoing president, Hallie Snyder, installed Fran Stieringer as new council president and Merla Murray as treasurer. The new leaders will work closely with 267 Homemaker Club members during their two-year term. Stieringer resides in Frostburg and has been a member of the Casselman Valley Club for 18 years. She is their current president and was voted Homemaker of the Year for 1987. Murray, also from the Frostburg area, joined the Route 40 Homemakers Club 20 years ago. This past year she achieved perfect attendance at her club meetings, a commitment that benefited her club and organization. Pictured above, left to right, are: Irmgard R. Koscielniak, new Garrett County Cooperative Extension agent congratulating the new officers; Merla Murray, new council treasurer; Fran Stieringer, new council president; and Hallie Snyder, outgoing council president.

APPLESAUCE DREAM BARS

Karen Rexrode

- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups all purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon soda
- 1 cup chopped nuts*
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 cups rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
- 1 pint applesauce

Beat together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add combined flour, cinnamon, salt and soda; mix well. Stir in oats; press half of crumb mixture onto bottom of a greased 13x9 inch baking pan. Spread with applesauce; sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in preheated moderate oven (400°) for 30 minutes or until golden brown, cool; cut into bars.

*Optional

APPLE NUT SQUARES

Faye Livengood

- 3 eggs
- $1\frac{3}{4}$ cups sugar
- 1 cup cooking oil
- 2 cups unsifted flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 4 to 6 tart diced apples

Beat together the eggs, sugar and cooking oil; sift together and add the flour, soda, cinnamon and salt. Fold in the nuts and apples. Bake in a greased and floured 13x9 inch pan for 1 hour at 350°.

OLD-FASHIONED APPLESAUCE CAKE

Hannah Sincell

- 2 cups applesauce
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup margarine
- 2 tablespoons soda
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 cups all purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 2 cups raisins
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup nuts

Heat applesauce in large saucepan. Remove from stove and stir in margarine and soda. Add sugar. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into large Bundt pan or angel cake pan and bake 350° approximately 1 hour, or bake 45 minutes if in 2 smaller pans.

APPLE DUMPLINGS

Pam Ashby

- 2 cups water
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon cinnamon
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon nutmeg
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon red food coloring
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter
- 2 cups sifted all purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup shortening
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
- 6 small whole apples, peeled & cored

For syrup, mix first 5 ingredients; cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add butter. Sift dry ingredients, cut in shortening to make coarse crumbs. Add milk all at once, stir till moistened. On floured surface, roll to 18x12 inch rectangle. Cut in 6 squares. Place apple on each. Sprinkle generously with more sugar and cinnamon and nutmeg; dot with additional butter. Moisten edges of pastry. Bring corners to center and pinch. Place 1" apart in 13x9 inch baking pan. Pour syrup over dumplings. Bake 35 to 40 minutes at 375°. Serve warm with cream.

APPLE-CRANBERRY CRISP

Mae Nicholson

Topping:

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour
- $\frac{1}{3}$ cup oleo
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup rolled oats
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup nuts

Mix with your hands until crumbly.

- 4 large Granny Smith apples peeled & cut in slices
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups cranberries
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Put apples, cranberries, sugar, flour and cinnamon in dish and microwave on high for 14 minutes. Turn 4 times. Put topping on top and cook 4 more minutes. Serve warm.

APPLE PASTRIES

Shirley Hutzel

- $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 egg, separated
- Milk
- $\frac{2}{3}$ cup crushed corn flakes
- 5 cups sliced apples
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix flour, sugar and salt and cut into shortening; separate egg, put yolk in measuring cup and add milk to make $\frac{2}{3}$ cup. Add egg mixture to shortening mixture and divide into 2 balls. Roll out one dough ball until it fits cookie sheet or is 15x11. Cover with corn flakes and put apple slices on flakes. Mix sugar and cinnamon and put over apples. Roll out second dough ball and put over apples. Pinch dough to seal. Beat egg white until stiff, spread over top crust. Bake 400° 40 minutes. Mix 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon milk, and 1 teaspoon vanilla together and drizzle over top while still hot. Cut into bars and serve. Can serve with ice cream. Good.

Kay Harvey

- $1\frac{1}{2}$ cup oil
- 3 eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 cups finely chopped apples
- 1 cup golden raisins
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Blend first four ingredients together. Mix together flour, soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg, and add to wet ingredients. Fold apples, raisins, and nuts into batter. Pour batter into a greased and floured tube or Bundt pan. Bake 1 hour, 15 minutes at 325°.

APPLESAUCE OATMEAL MUFFINS

Cindy Kitzmiller

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup softened butter
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup flour
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon soda
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup applesauce
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup raisins
- 1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal

Cream margarine, add brown sugar and cream until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Mix and add alternately with applesauce, flour, cinnamon, baking powder soda and salt. Add raisins and oatmeal, stirring until blended. Bake in a greased muffin tin at 350° for 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 15.

JEWISH APPLE CAKE

Pam Ashby

- 3 cups flour
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups granulated sugar
- 1 cup cooking oil
- 4 unbeat eggs
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{3}$ cup orange juice
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons pure vanilla
- 3 teaspoons baking powder

Combine the above ingredients in a large bowl and beat until smooth. In another bowl, mix together: 6 thinly sliced apples, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, and 3 teaspoons sugar. Set aside. Grease and flour a tube or Bundt pan and alternate layers of batter and apples, beginning with batter and ending with apples. Bake 2 hours at 350°.

APPLE SQUARES

Nellie Bishoff

- 2 cups flour
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon baking powder
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup vegetable shortening
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar
- 2 egg yolks, well beaten
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water

Cut first 4 ingredients with pastry blender to size of peas. Add juice, egg yolks and cold water and blend with fork until absorbed. Knead lightly in bowl and divide dough into 2 balls. Roll $\frac{1}{2}$ of dough and put in jelly roll pan. Spread apple pie filling (cherry or other may be used) on dough. Roll other dough and place on top. Bake 350°.

SHARE YOUR LIFE...

One day Jesus was confronted with 5,000 hungry people who had been listening to his teaching. In an effort to satisfy their physical needs, he asked his disciples to find some food for them.

All they could find was five loaves and two small fish carried by a little boy in his lunch bag. But Jesus took the shared-lunch and multiplied it until all were filled, brimful and running over, and they had left-overs.

Jesus invoked a basic principle of life: "Life shared is life multiplied," as Gordon Poetel phrased it.

When life is shared, more (not less) is created for all. When a person gives he receives. His resources are multiplied because they are shared. As someone put it: "The only way to keep your religion is to give it away."

Fact is, the only way to keep the great values of life is to give them away. Give away love, kindness, patience, hope, faith, and they are multiplied, not only for the person giving but for all humankind.

Life shared is life multiplied. It's life's basic principle.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ON MAKING A NAME FOR OURSELVES

September 27, 1987

Background Scripture: Genesis 11:1-26
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 16:1-19

Just what does God want and expect of us? Sometimes it would seem that we are reprimanded and even punished when we try to use the resources he has placed within us. If we are intellectually and creatively able to invent and develop the wonders of this technological age, should we not assume that this is good in God's sight, inasmuch as he is the source of this potential?

TO CONFUSE THEIR LANGUAGE

This is one of the important questions raised by the story of the Tower of Babel in Genesis 11.

Where did these people on the plain of Shinar go wrong? Certainly they did not offend God or thwart his plan by learning the art of brickmaking and mortar. Certainly there was no sin in their decision, "Come, let us build ourselves a city" (11:4). Was it the building "a tower with its top in the heavens"? Or was it their desire to "make a name for ourselves"? Neither can we imagine that there was any offense in having but one language.

It would seem that the writer of Genesis wants us to believe that God opposed all of the above. It sounds as if God is concerned that his creatures will be too smart and too constructive: "Behold, they are one people, and they have all one language; and this is only the beginning of what they will do; and nothing that they propose to do will be impossible for them" (11:6). To stop this "dangerous" development, the writer of Genesis represents God as saying, "Come, let us go down, and there confuse their language, that they may not understand one another's speech".

TOWER OF BABEL

There are far too many passages in the Bible, particularly the New Testament, indicating God's plan to unite his children for me to believe that God really wants us to be alienated. In fact, it would seem that at no point in the world's history has there been any "danger" of humanity being too unified and too productive. More likely, God is concerned because we make too little, not too much, of our human potential.

What, then, is the point of this story? Perhaps the key is in that they wanted to "make a name" for themselves and forget about the God who gave them their potential in the first place. Our sin is not in our ability to build towers of Babel, but in letting these creations take the place of our Creator.

WHY WE CAN FILL ANY PRESCRIPTION?

Although we have thousands of different medicines in our prescription laboratory, our reference books list many thousands more. Yet, rarely do we not have in stock the medicines physicians, even those in distant cities, prescribe.

By reading drug and medical journals and staying right up-to-date we know those medicines that are being called for most often. And leading drug manufacturers send us a supply of each new drug as soon as it is released for safe public use.

A classic Disney fairy tale is premiering on cable TV

By Connie Passalacqua

"Sleeping Beauty" (1959) will be making its television debut Saturday, Oct. 3 on The Disney Channel. Twenty-two years and a lot of advanced animation technology separate "Snow White" (1937), Disney's first landmark full-length film, from "Sleeping Beauty." But there are some wonderful moments all the same. The movie is visually beautiful.

Sleeping Beauty

It took seven years and $6 million to make (in 1959 dollars) and the lavish attention shows. It's more multi-dimensional than "Snow White"; scenes in large, lush forests look suitably grand. And the basic palette — pastel backgrounds and bright colors for main characters — works well. The music is especially lovely, including many works of Tchaikovsky and the movie's theme song "Once Upon a Dream," sung by opera star Mary Costa as Aurora, the Princess.

Unfortunately, many of the characterizations of supporting characters border on sitcom. The three bickering fairy godmothers who raise Aurora are meant to be endearing, but aren't. The token buffoon, King Hubert, isn't nearly as captivating as Snow White's buffoon, Dopey.

But "Sleeping Beauty" does have one of Disney's most memorable characters. Maleficent, the evil creature who leads Aurora to prick her finger on a spinning wheel on her sixteenth birthday, sending her into a sleep from which she can only awaken with a Prince's kiss. The character is so frightening that terrified children reportedly had to be carried out of theaters when the movie was first released.

And if you're an adult female, there's a special meaning for you. You know this story all too well — it's "The Myth of the Beautiful Princess," gets rescued from "Evil Witch by Handsome Prince, and live happily after. Our trouble was we believed it, having it drummed into our heads while we were still little girls. So Walt Disney was the one who indoctrinated us long before we were old enough to know better!

The 'Cosby' grandmother feels at home on the stage

By Toni D'Amato

I read that Clarice Taylor works on the stage. Did she leave "The Cosby Show"? — W.D., Ormond Beach, Fla.

Clarice Taylor

Taylor has not given up her "Cosby" role as Grandma Huxtable. Although she was nominated for an Emmy for that work, she is also an accomplished stage actress.

"I think there's nothing in the world like working on the stage," she says. "That's where you can talk to an audience and have them respond. TV is a different thing altogether."

Taylor currently is starring in "Moms," an off-Broadway play based on the life of comedian Moms Mabley. She produced, researched and wrote the script herself. Taylor won a 1987 Ohio Award for her performance.

Despite her love of the stage, Taylor says working with Cosby is great. "We have a lot of fun on 'Cosby.' There are a lot of good vibrations there," she says.

"I originally auditioned for the role of Clair Huxtable's mother. I thought her mother would have to be youthful and lovely, so I dressed accordingly and the director told me I looked too young. Then they called me back for Bill's mother. I made myself look like an old lady. Bill saw right through it and said, 'You've got the part.'"

I always thought Alexis Smith was one of the most beautiful actresses in the world. Is she retired? Where can I write to her? — S.P., Dillonvale, Ohio.

Smith is currently in New York City filming "The Clinic," a mid-season replacement TV series for ABC. Send mail to her in care of Eric Shepard, International Creative Management (ICM), 40 West 57th St., New York, NY 10019.

What is the name of the music played on the Gallo wine commercials? — K.B., Frewsburg, N.Y.

The name of that tune is "Hymn from the Opera Savage." It was written by Vangelis.

(Do you have a question about a celebrity? Write Toni D'Amato at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

That famous combination of down-home humor and glitz comes to TV with the premiere of ABC's "Dolly," starring Dolly Parton. The show debuts Sunday, Sept. 27.

This actor on 'Y&R' was also on a nighttime soap

By Kimberly Redmond

Can you tell me if Rod Arants (Dr. Steven Lassiter on "The Young and the Restless") appeared as Dusty Farlow on "Dallas"? — K.P., Gastonia, N.C.

Rod Arants

Arants portrayed Andre Shuman on "Dallas" in 1985. The role of Dusty was portrayed by Jared Martin.

I'm convinced that Robyn Bernard, who plays Terry O'Connor on "General Hospital," also portrayed Anne Logan on the show several years ago. My friends say that I'm wrong. Can you clear this up? — G.S., Wautoma, Wis.

Your friends are right. This is Bernard's first stint on "GH." The role of Anne Logan was portrayed by Susan Pratt, who now portrays Barbara Montgomery on "All My Children."

I read recently that Shirley MacLaine's daughter, Sachi Parker, was seen on a daytime soap. Can tell me what show she appeared on? — E.K., Scranton, Pa.

Robyn Bernard

Parker portrayed Tracy, a drug addict, on "Capitol." Her last daytime role was as rape victim Lucy Pickett on "Santa Barbara."

What happened to Derya Ruggles, who played Robin Jacobs on "Days of Our Lives"? I missed a few episodes, and when I started watching again, she was gone. — J.C., Simi Valley, Calif.

Ruggles was abruptly written out of the story line after Robin told Mike Horton (Michael Weiss) that their interfaith romance wasn't going to work out.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

Starbuck (Dale Robertson, l.) suspects a businessman (Bill Bixby) of murdering his wife in a preview of NBC's "J.J. Starbuck." It airs Saturday, Sept. 26.

CINDY SAYS

Bette Davis to be feted; The Bridges to be co-stars

By Cindy Adams

Bette Davis will be this year's recipient of the Kennedy Honors. Just in time for the release of her 100th film, "The Whales of August." From Leilani Jones (Tony winner for "Grind"), who's now playing a princess at the St. Louis M.F.N. opera. "Such a role rarely comes my way. I usually play strippers or hookers."

Bette Davis

Jeff Bridges and father Lloyd Bridges star in "Tucker," the story of Preston Tucker, who in 1945 introduced a car that was so revolutionary that the auto industry ganged up to dump it. Only 45 cars were ever manufactured. Francis Coppola and George Lucas, who are producing and directing this movie, own three of them.

A new book is coming out, one in which I am mentioned, called "Inside the Palace: The Rise and Fall of Ferdinand & Imelda Marcos." It's by one-time palace insider Beth Day Romulo, widow of Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, the foreign minister to Marcos for 14 years. As journalist Beth, who has written 26 books, puts it, "I don't expect the Marcoses to like it. It's not that I jumped on the bandwagon and said I hated them. The truth is, I'm ambivalent about them."

Jeff Bridges

Al De Matteo, head of Avery Boardman Ltd., which makes custom sofas for the likes of ex-presidents Ford and Nixon, B. Streisand, B. Bacharach, Matt Dillon, Malcolm Forbes, took a month off to be with wife Donna, author of "The Silver Fox," a play starring Uta Hagen and produced by Norman Kean at East Hampton's John Drew Theater. Great movie, own three of them.

My question is, why do ex-presidents Ford and Nixon, B. Streisand, B. Bacharach, Matt Dillon, Malcolm Forbes sleep on sofas?

PBS

In PBS's "Lily Tomlin," the comedian reveals the work that went on behind the scenes in the production of her show "The Search for Signs of Intelligent Life in the Universe." The special airs Wednesday, Sept. 30. (Check local listings.)

BEHIND THE SCENES

Parker ponders, he paces, he takes on prime-time TV

By Frank Lovece

Robert B. Parker paced nervously, trying to think of what to say. He wasn't nervous, really just anxious. Anxious to get it over with. He liked talking, especially if it would help the "Spenser" detective novel series he'd been dish out for the past 14 years and nearly as many books. But this was different. This had to do with television.

Robert B. Parker

The folks at ABC were having trouble again, trouble with the Robert Ulrich series "Spenser: For Hire." Parker wasn't exactly broke, but when they came to him with an offer he wasn't particularly interested in, he tried to look at the bigger picture. The "Spenser" series, brought in residuals, greenbacks — the stuff bank accounts are made of. They wanted his help to give the show a boost. They wanted him to write the se-son's opening script, airing Sunday, Sept. 27. Fine. He would write it. But it would cost him.

"The money isn't all that's important," he said. "I make more for the same amount of work I put into a book. Last year I wrote a script because they thought it would help the ratings, and my wife had a great idea. This year, the producer told us, 'Only you, Dick Daring, can do this to help the series along.' But I didn't reject the eighteen grand. I would never reject the eighteen grand."

A grand guy, obviously. But the honchos who hired him had rules. Would he put up with them?

"The TV show is fine," he said. "I find that if you're going to make two quantities of the same content, the novel is easier — sort of contrary to what the public thinks. I find that generally television does not tolerate understatement, and is uncomfortable with irony and meaningful pauses."

"I find that you write it, and 15 or 20 people rewrite it," he went on. "You don't do television writing if you can help it, not because of anything good or bad, but because it's not yours. And there's other things. At ABC, anybody under 16 years old (on screen) can't be in jeopardy. We wrote a script last year that had a 10- or 11-year-old. We had to start out with a birthday party to show she was 16."

Will he do any more TV scripts? "I doubt it very much," he said. Case closed.

Annual Tourism Conference Set At Ocean City

It's Maryland's second largest retail industry. It's playing an increasingly important role in the economy — and in Governor William Donald Schaefer's plans for the state. Maryland and the state's premier conference on that business — the Maryland Governor's Conference on Tourism — will meet October 18, 19 and 20 in Ocean City.

Office of Tourist Development and the Maryland Travel Council, this seventh annual Governor's Conference is designed to provide the newest marketing and sales promotion techniques for professionals involved with the tourism industry. The conference —

"Maryland's Six Regions: Let's Get It All Together" — will also focus on upcoming issues and legislation affecting tourism.

J. Randall Evans, secretary of the Maryland State Department of Economic and Employment Development; Peter Chambliss, acting director, Office of Tourist Development; and Roland "Fish" Powell, mayor of Ocean City, will address the more than 300 people expected to attend the three-day conference.

Workshop and seminar speakers will include: J. Daniel Brock Jr., vice president of Piedmont Airlines; Tim Connor, author of the international best-seller The Soft Sell; Hugh C. Barton, manager of the Virginia Beach Convention Bureau; and Sarah Sonke of the American Bed & Breakfast Association.

"Selling and promoting Maryland's public and private attractions through a regional approach is the emphasis of the conference," said Paula Fishback, president of the Maryland Travel Council and owner of Three Centuries Tours of Annapolis. "Our goal is to increase the economic benefits of those in the travel industry throughout the state." The program also includes group discussions on a variety of subjects, including campgrounds, bed and breakfasts, group tours and hotels and restaurants.

Another annual feature of the conference is announcement of the "Travel Person of the Year Award," presented by the Maryland Travel Council in honor of an individual who has shown outstanding leadership, support, and volunteerism in the travel industry. The Maryland Office of Tourist Development also honors the travel writer of the year and makes additional awards for excellence in print and broadcast media. The awards will be presented at the banquet on Monday, October 19.

Tours of the Eastern Shore will be available to the participants; and door prizes will include weekend vacation packages, and — as the grand prize, a week-long trip in Maryland.

Attendance at the conference is open to non-members as well as Maryland Travel Council members. For registration information, persons should call the Maryland Travel Council at (301) 647-7880.

NHS Parental Advisory Group Holds Meeting

The Parental Advisory Group of Northern Senior High School held its first meeting September 1 where possible ways of being a support group for the teachers, administrative staff and students was discussed.

Other items of discussion centered around courses of study, teacher recognition and using the advisory group as an additional liaison with the community and as a means of relaying information to the school board concerning the needs of the school.

According to a spokesman for the group, a teacher representative will be appointed to the group and will be in attendance at the October meeting. The group will then receive a tour of the school facilities and further discuss its function within the school program.

In attendance at the meeting were Carolyn Deniker, Steve Hamilton, Gayle Morris, Sara Ramsey, Bill Graham, Carolyn Morgan and James Morgan.

Health Insurance Counseling Service

To Be Provided For The Elderly

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced recently the allocation of $70,000 to the Maryland Office on Aging to establish a Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program (HICAP) for senior citizens in seven counties across the State.

The program will train volunteers to provide one-on-one assistance in selecting insurance, filing claims, and appealing Medicare decisions. The service will be offered to clients in senior centers, nutrition sites and, when necessary, in their homes. Pilot projects will be established in Harford, Allegany, Washington, Dorchester, Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester counties.

In applauding development of the HICAP program, Governor Schaefer said, "Medicare is very complex. It is hard to understand what it covers and what it doesn't. The complexity is made even worse when older people buy additional insurance to pay for some of what Medicare doesn't cover. It is no wonder some older people find themselves with a pile of bills and don't know where to turn for help. Now they will have a place to go. I am particularly pleased that we are using volunteers in this project. Volunteers are the backbone of aging services in Maryland. This is an example of how state government, working with its citizens, can provide an invaluable service to our senior population."

Because Medicare currently pays only about 38 percent of the average beneficiary's health care costs, most older people purchase Medicare supplemental insurance ("Medigap") to supplement Medicare's incomplete coverage. Dozens of policies are available in Maryland. Choosing the right one is a problem for many older people.

"We have been sensitive for some time to the problems encountered by senior citizens in dealing with Medicare and supplemental insurance," said Mrs. Rosalie S. Abrams, Director of the Maryland Office on Aging. "The Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program will provide education, health insurance counseling, claims assistance and, when needed, help in appealing Medicare decisions."

"We expect to prove the value of HICAP during the pilot phase of the program and expand services statewide within the next few years," she continued. "No one questions the need for a service such as this. Our job now is to prove that trained volunteers, assisted by the resources of Maryland's aging services network, can meet that need," Director Abrams said.

Seniors living in the counties where the pilot program is offered may contact their local Area Agency on Aging about this service.

Class Of 1972 Of NHS Holds 15-Year Reunion

The 1972 graduating class of Northern High School held its 15th year reunion on Saturday, August 1, at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. A social hour preceded the buffet dinner.

A class reunion booklet and name tags were distributed to those attending.

Rick Wakefield extended the welcome and Jim Edmiston offered the invocation. Following the dinner, a business meeting was held. Charee Reckner gave a summary of past reunions and volunteers for the 20-year reunion planning committee were chosen. Patty Bender Rice gave a financial report.

A memorial service was conducted by Patty Bender Rice, Ellen Hersberger Housley and Jim Edmiston. A poem was read and a candle was lit as the name of each of the three deceased classmates was mentioned. A prayer was also given at this time.

Charee Reckner presented awards to Sharron Broadwater Shawley, first person to send in reservation and married the longest; Jim Edmiston, traveling the longest distance and most education; Charee Reckner, most occupations since graduation; Vickie Teets Powell, youngest child; Rick Wakefield, married the shortest time; Linda Glatfely Wengert most changed female; and Allen Richter, most changed male. Marlene Yoder Tice presented a dried flower arrangement to Patty Bender Rice for serving as committee chairperson. Marlene also donated five wildflower arrangements which were presented to classmates who had NHS printed in their reunion booklets. The group reunion pictures were taken by Jeff Rice. Socializing continued and music of the early 70's was played.

A family picnic was held the next day at New Germany State

Orendorf, Sharon Thomas Platter, Donna McClintock, Ruth Kolb Hahn, Patty Bender Rice, Ellen Hersberger Housley and Linda Glatfely Wengert; third row, George Tasker, Betty Jo Swauger Wiley, Pam Bowers Braskey, Meg Browning Ellis, Sharon Bender Breneman, Jenny Knox Hady, Charee Reckner, Karen Platter Dishong, Connie Kamp Lively and Rick Wakefield.

Park. Those unable to attend the dinner, but who attended the picnic, were Henry Bowser, Bob Clinton, Patty Sisler Griffith and Jan Yoder Schrock.

There are extra booklets available for those classmates who didn't attend the reunion. Those interested may contact Patty Rice at 689-6759.

SUNNYWIDE- UNDERWOOD

The Underwood choir was invited to sing in the United Brethren Church service that was being held there. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Lloyd Spencer, who is superintendent of the Conference in Jamaica.

Bible study was held Thursday afternoon in the home of Bessie Canan. After reading the 18th chapter of First Kings, prayer was offered by Elaine Beckman. The lesson was taught by Jane Kope and the closing prayer was by Wilma Waybright. Others attending were Mildred Peterson, Amanda Beckman and Sheril Cosner.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Friend, accompanied by Robert and Naomi Ford, were in Delaware to attend the funeral of their brother-in-law, Ray Ellifritz.

On September 12, Noah Wilma and Delbert Waybright and Janet DeWitt met their uncle, Roy Bittinger, from Johnstown, Pa., at Accident. There they visited Mrs. Mary Strauss, historian, at her home and talked about early Accident history. Then they took a tour of the Bittinger farms, where Roy was born and where Jonas and Etta Bittinger once resided. The churches and the cemeteries and various places Roy remembered from his early childhood around the Bittinger and Accident area were visited.

Bessie Cana received word that a nephew, Theodore Harold Arnold, has died in a hospital in Michigan, after a lengthy illness. He was a veteran in the Korean conflict and had retired from the armed services. His older brother, Roy Arnold Sr., also a veteran of World War II is in the Martinsburg, VA hospital suffering from a broken hip he received from a fall.

On Monday Bessie Canan had as guests Don A. Lee, nephew, and daughter, Sherri from Mission Hills, Calif., Conley and Leora Lee, Englewood, Ohio, and William and Virgie Edeburn, Fairmont, W.Va. They were all accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Nelle Lee, of Kingwood, W.Va.

On Wednesday evening a reunion was held at the pavilion at the Fairview Church in Location with a covered dish dinner, for the Lees of California.

Stanley, Jane and LaVerne Waybright of Brookside visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cosner, Westernport, on Sunday.

On Saturday evening, Bessie Canan attended a baby shower for Suzanne Helmick held in the home of Mary Ellen and Kenny Helmick near Kingwood. The shower is for the infant of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Helmick.

On Friday afternoon Bessie Canan accompanied her son, Milton Canan, to visit her sister, Mrs. Vernon Lantz, in Location.

Earns Convocation Honors At Hood

Kristi Jean Bowling, Frederick, formerly of Oakland, was among students earning convocation honors during recent ceremonies at Hood College marking the beginning of Hood's 95th academic year.

Ms. Bowling daughter of Nancy J. Spiker, Frederick, is a member of Hood's senior class. This is the third time she has earned convocation honors, as well as being named a Hood Scholar for the second straight year. Ms. Bowling has been elected to Phi Kappa Phi international honor society. She holds a Beneficial-Hodson Scholarship in recognition of her outstanding academic record at Hood. During her freshman year at Hood, she sang with the Hood Choir.

Ms. Bowling is a 1984 graduate of Southern High School.

Convocation honors are awarded to those students maintaining at least a 3.5 grade point average and taking at least 24 credits during the academic year 1986-87. Hood Scholars are those outstanding students who have been awarded convocation honors for two consecutive years.

Hood college, a liberal arts college for women, is beginning its 94th academic year, awarding baccalaureate degrees in 29 subjects and 13 concentrations in its Graduate School.

Beaver Creek Bluegrass Band To Perform

The Beaver Creek Bluegrass Band from Beaver, Pa., will perform Friday, October 9, as part of the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival.

The Beaver Creek Band started entertaining audiences in 1981, and from the beginning decided not only to play quality music, but to entertain their audiences. The band is composed of five top entertainers from the Beaver Valley in western Pennsylvania, who perform a variety of bluegrass music, complete with costumes, including truck stop, railroad and gospel themes.

Band members include Don Shean, banjo player from Greensburg, who has won both the West Virginia and Maryland State Banjo Championships and was a founding member of the Dog Run Boys band; Rich Ord, bass player and vocalist from Monaca, Pa., who has performed with the popular bluegrass gospel group Country Sunshine; Randy Ord, guitar player, lead and harmony vocalist, from Glenwillard, Pa., who began playing guitar at 13 years of age; Mary Mahonen, guitar player and vocalist from West Finley, Ohio, now a regular on the WWVA Wheeling Jamboree; and Greg Pawlack, mandolin, fiddle player and vocalist from Enon Valley, Ohio, whose first bluegrass band was a Washington, D.C. area band called "Keep Off the Grass," and who was one of the original founders of the Beaver Creek Bluegrass Band.

The performance will begin at 8 p.m. at the Garrett Community College auditorium in McHenry. Admission is $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for children, and a limited number of seats is available. Tickets may be purchased from Festival Headquarters, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550, or at the door prior to the concert. Refreshments will be available. For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may call Festival Headquarters at (301) 334-1948.

Springs Folk Festival Slated For October 2-3

The 30th Annual Springs Folk Festival will be held October 2 and 3 in Springs, Pa., along Rt. 669 north of Grantsville. This traditional festival, held each year in the height of Autumn, is a celebration of the arts, crafts, and culture of the pioneers and mountain folk of days gone by.

Craftsmen from several states will gather in the village of Springs to offer heritage crafts using natural materials and native skills. Visitors may observe local crafters blowing glass, stitching colorful quilts, making baskets, and dipping candles. Unique gifts may be purchased at the Festival.

Live music will be featured throughout the Festival including the banjo and fiddle music of bluegrass performers, the a cappella singing of local Mennonites, and the mountain melodies of the dulcimer.

Visitors who stroll the forest trail will see many pioneer exhibits and will observe maple sugaring, apple butter boiling, log hewing, and sauerkraut making. Visitors may ask questions about wool dyeing, spinning and weaving, tin-smithing, fungus painting, and the making of apple cider.

Pennsylvania Dutch foods will be offered including sausage burgers, bean soup, homemade baked goods, doughnuts, funnel cakes, and apple-butter on homemade bread.

The Springs Historical Museum, located in two large buildings, is open to the public during this festival. The museum houses an array of artifacts presenting the history and way of life of the early Springs settlers.

Admission to the festival grounds and museum is $3.00 for adults, $1.00 for children ages 7-12, and free for children 6 and under. Free parking is available.

For more information, persons may contact the Springs Folk Festival, Box 293, Springs, PA 15562, (301) 895-5985 or the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550, (301) 334-1948.

Western Maryland Residents Taking Advantage Of Tax Amnesty Program

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, who visited Garrett County on Tuesday, says more than $16,000 in Tax Amnesty payments have come from Western Maryland in the program's first three weeks. "During that time, we've collected more than $853,000 altogether," he said. Tax Amnesty is offered until October 31, 1987.

Payments totaling $3,130 from Frederick County, $6,077 from Washington County, and $7,120 from Allegany County represent individual and corporation income tax, employer withholding and sales tax.

"We've received 25 Amnesty telephone calls in our Frederick office and helped one individual discover back year refunds were due him," Goldstein said. "In Hagerstown, our office has taken 21 calls and aided one business in paying more than ten years' worth of use tax on goods purchased in other states. Our Cumberland office has received 50 Amnesty phone calls in connection with all of the taxes eligible for Amnesty."

The comptroller noted that

Amnesty payments have come from all but one Maryland county (Garrett) as well as more than $113,000 from outside the state. Payments have ranged from 55 cents owed on an individual income tax bill to $81,900 in corporation income tax owed by an out of state business.

"More than 3,400 telephone calls have come into the Amnesty hotline, 1-800-MD TAXES, and to our field offices around the state," he said.

The comptroller noted that his office has received Amnesty payments covering every category of eligible taxes: individual income tax, corporation income tax, employer withholding tax, sales and use tax, admissions and amusement tax and the boat excise tax. Civil and criminal penalties are waived under Amnesty.

"All of our offices, as well as the regional offices of the Department of Natural Resources are able to help individual and business taxpayers with forms and free assistance. No questions are asked. We're happy to help," Goldstein said. "Forms are also available at banks, libraries, post offices and tax preparers throughout the state."

Amnesty Forms Easy To Use

You won't get Amnesty for unpaid Maryland taxes unless you ask for it by filling out a simple form available in many banks, libraries, court houses, state offices and Giant food stores, Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that the green form is easy to use. "You just complete the appropriate sections, include any necessary attachments, such as unfiled or amended tax returns, and your check or money order," Goldstein said.

Businesses must also include their federal employer identification number (FEIN).

Part II of the Amnesty form lists the eligible taxes. "You must file a separate form for each type of tax," Goldstein added.

The comptroller reminded Marylanders that Amnesty applies only to taxes due before December 31, 1986. "That means your 1986 individual income tax return is not eligible since it was due in April of 1987. The same goes for sales taxes collected in December, 1986, but due in January, 1987," he said.

The comptroller stated that taxpayers can figure the amount of interest due on their account by referring to the most recent statement of account if it's less than 30 days old, or calculate the amount using the table on the bottom of the Amnesty form. "The table is very helpful, but if you're still unsure, you can call 1-800-MD TAXES and we'll be happy to figure the interest for you," he said.

Not only is it easy to file, but the state is making it easy to pay.

Part IV of the Amnesty form provides space to indicate the method of payment: check, money order or credit card (VISA, Mastercard or Choice). Credit card payments are made through COMCHECK and taxpayers will be charged a fee by their credit card company. "If you pay by credit card, please be sure to enter your card number and expiration date," Goldstein said.

Taxpayers should sign the Amnesty form in Part V and attach all necessary unfiled or amended returns.

Both back-year forms and amended forms (Form 502X) can be obtained from any branch office of the State Comptroller or by calling the toll free number.

Checks or money orders for the full amount of tax and interest due should be made payable to Comptroller of the Treasury. "Keep copies of everything since no receipts will be issued," Goldstein added.

All forms, returns and payments should be mailed to: Maryland Tax Amnesty, Comptroller of the Treasury, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201-2383.

"It's important to follow all the procedures correctly and file complete and correct forms, because any error may delay processing. If that happens, you may risk missing the October 31st deadline. Maryland's Tax Amnesty is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to come forward and come clean and it ends at midnight, Saturday, October 31, 1987. When it ends, it ends forever," Goldstein said.

For more information, taxpayers can contact any of the 15 Maryland income tax offices located throughout the state, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The addresses and telephone numbers are listed in most local telephone directories. The toll-free number for assistance with Maryland's Tax Amnesty is 1-800-MD TAXES. For information on boat excise taxes, call 1-800-492-1138.

Failure to Take Advantage Can Cost Plenty

Comptroller Goldstein says tax evaders who fail to take advantage of the state's one-time-only Tax Amnesty Program could be paying with more than money.

"When Amnesty ends on October 31, 1987," Goldstein said, "criminal penalties increase from a maximum of one year in prison to five years and fines increase from $1,000 to $5,000 for each violation."

"A penalty provision of 25% of the tax due will be imposed on unpaid income taxes, and the penalty is retroactive," he warned.

It's a similar situation for those failing to pay the boat excise tax. Violators now face a maximum one year jail term with fines from $500 to $1,000. After Amnesty, it's a five-year jail term and fines go up $5,000 for each violation.

And that's not all. "When Maryland's Tax Amnesty Program ends," Goldstein said, "the Comptroller's Office will have more personnel in collections, auditing and criminal enforcement to pursue those with outstanding tax obligations."

Advanced computer technology is also in place. The Computer Assisted Collection System (CACS), which has been in place for a year, is the only system in the nation which allows collectors to pursue more than one tax at a time. This makes it much easier to reach taxpayers with more than one delinquent account.

The state's vendor offset program automatically reviews payments being made for goods and services and freezes payments to vendors who owe Maryland taxes until the delinquency is resolved.

"Time is running out for Maryland taxpayers to take advantage of the Amnesty Program which ends October 31, 1987," said Goldstein. "Not only are you more likely to be caught after Amnesty, but it will cost you more if you are."

Under the Tax Amnesty Program individuals and businesses have until October 31, 1987, to pay back individual income, employer withholding, corporation income, sales and use, admission and amusement and boat excise taxes, plus accumulated interest, without civil or criminal penalties.

DAV Van To Be In Grantsville

Leighton Receives Master's At Illinois

Among the 941 August graduates of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign was a Oakland resident, who was awarded a master's degree in science.

H. Vernon Leighton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Leighton, Dennett Road, received one of the 488 graduate degrees. Leighton is a 1981 graduate of Southern High School.

Kevin Dodge Is New Professor At Garrett CC

Garrett Community College announced recently the appointment of Kevin Dodge to the position of assistant professor of Wildlife and Biology.

Dodge, a native of the Kansas City area, received his bachelor's degree in biology from Southwest Missouri State University, and a master's degree in biology from Michigan Technological University.

He is completing his doctoral studies in wildlife biology at West Virginia University. His dissertation focuses on predicting the effects of the gypsy moth on bird habitat use.

Dodge enjoys traveling and actively participates in church-related activities. He has been involved in outdoor education activities, especially with youth, for a number of years. He is available to local groups for talks, hikes and other educational activities, and can be contacted at the college at 387-6666.

Marcy Weeks, William Mattern Exchange Wedding Vows June 6

Marcy L. Weeks and William A. Mattern were united in marriage on June 6, at South-west Community Church, Miami, Fla. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was Pastor Kenneth Miller. Mrs. Patty Martin was the organist and soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Richard and Sandra Weeks, Loch Lynn. The groom is the son of Albert and Janet Mattern, Miami.

The bride chose a gown of satin with inlaid embroidery on the puffed long sleeves and train. The bodice was embroidered with pearl seeds with an embroidered full satin skirt, edged with embroidered lace. A cathedral-length train extended from the waistline with inlaid embroidery bordering the hemline. The waist-length veil fell from a plain satin hat. The bridal bouquet consisted of a cascade of white roses, baby's breath and ivy.

Wendy Weeks, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were: Julie Curtis, Birmingham, Ala.; Tracy Thompson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Sara Cecil, Miami; and Teresa & Jene Mattern, sister of the groom, Miami. Serving as flower girl was Tabitha Deihl and ring bearer was Anthony Paviglianti, whose parents are friends of the bride and groom. The bridesmaids wore ankle-length royal blue bubble-bottom dresses with yellow orchid headpieces and carried yellow carnations accented with yellow ribbons and ivy.

Serving as best man was Patrick Koster, Knoxville, Tenn., friend of the groom. Ushers were: Steven Faille, Rome, Ga.; Doug Mays, Bill Janke, Jeffrey Lewis and Butch Mattern, brother of the groom, all of Miami.

The groom was attired in a black and grey tuxedo with tails and the groomsmen were attired in grey tuxedos with tails. Their boutonnieres consisted of a yellow rosebud with baby's breath.

The reception consisted of a catered sit-down dinner which was held in the church fellowship hall. A three-tiered cake was trimmed in blue and yellow roses with bride and groom figures on top and a water fountain on the bottom. The cake was accented on the side with four white swan planters with matching blue and white silk roses. These were given to the grandparents of the bride and groom.

The bride is employed as a loan closer for a large mortgage company and the groom is employed as a purchaser for the Bird Plumbing Corporation of Miami.

The couple honeymooned at the Mayfair Hotel at Coconut Grove, Fla., and at the mountain resort of Blowing Rock, N.C. They are presently residing in Miami.

Mrs. Lillie Biser Celebrates 97th

Lillie Biser, Oakland, celebrated her 97th birthday at her home August 31, with nearly 40 family members in attendance.

Mrs. Biser still resides at her home, where she is able to do her own cooking and her favorite hobby, quilting. Born near Red House, she is the wife of the late Elza Biser. Nine of her ten children are still living. She also has 33 grandchildren, 59 great-grandchildren, and nine great-great-grandchildren.

Anita P. Bowser, Steven M. Funk Wed During Double-Ring Ceremony

Anita Pauline Bowser became the bride of Steven Michael Funk August 22. The double-ring ceremony took place at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Cumberland, with Father James McGovern officiating. Mrs. Katherine Stilanos was organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Bowser of Grantsville. Mr. Funk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Funk, LaVale.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of sheer organza and satin, embellished with silk floss embroidered lace. The satin basque bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. Pearls accented the sleeves to the cuffs. Seed and oat pearls encrusted the lace accenting the bodice. The demi-bell skirt of organza over satin was embellished with floral lace sweeping to a cathedral train. A toque cap of satin and pearls held a back pouf with split elbow-length illusion. The brides jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace and pearl bracelet, a gift from the bridegroom. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of pink and red roses.

Mrs. Lisa McGee, Cumberland, and Ms. Ann Bowser, Grantsville, served as maids of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Brenda Ross, Friendsville, Ms. Barbara Funk, LaVale, and Ms. Dawn Lechlitter, LaVale. Ms. Amy Brehm, Harrisburg, Pa., cousin of the groom, distributed packets of birdseed made by the bride and groom. She also registered guests.

The best men were Richard Funk, brother of the groom, LaVale, and Lee Green, McHenry. Ushers were Walter Ross, Friendsville, Todd Adams, Virginia, and Jim Shertzer, Frostburg.

A reception followed at the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department. Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Wilson, Snellville, Ga., were in charge of the refreshments. A traditional wedding toast was made to the newly weds by the best men.

The seven-tier cake, made by Shelby Gable, featured a fountain and stairways with satin bows, fresh greenery and flowers to match the color scheme.

Music was provided by Perry Kamp and Company.

Following a trip through Ohio, the couple will set up residence in Grantsville.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and is presently enrolled in the nursing program at Allegany Community College. She is employed at the Western Sizzlin Steak House, LaVale.

The groom is a graduate of Allegany High School and is presently enrolled in the engineering program at ACC. He was employed by the State Highway Administration this summer and presently is employed by R.T.K.L. Company of Baltimore.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Western Sizzlin Steak House. The bride was guest of honor at two showers, one given by her sisters and another by her co-workers.

The groom was honored by his brother at a bachelor party.

Out-of-town guests were from West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Georgia, and Michigan.

Ms. Miller Becomes Bride Of Mr. Keefer In July Ceremony

Rhoda Miller and Ralph Keefer were united in marriage July 25, at Cherry Glade Menonite Church, Accident.

The bride is the daughter of Fannie Zook, Grantsville, and the late Floyd J. Miller. The groom is the son of Ralph and Beatrice Keefer, Oakland.

The double-ring ceremony was officiated by Richard Tepper, Vocalists were Greg Brenneman, Dee Dee Welch and Joe DiSimone.

Given in marriage by her brother, Daniel Miller, the bride chose a gown of white satin. The long torso featured a sheer choke and a high lace neckline, long puffed sleeves with a cathedral train with Venise lace boarding the hemline.

Her cascade consisted of white and pink silk roses trimmed with baby's breath, pearls and assorted greens.

Serving as maid of honor was Rachel Miller, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Ida Marie Miller, sister of the bride, and Brenda Miller, niece of the bride, Linda Bittel, friend of the bride, and Nancy Beitzel, sister of the groom. They wore tea-length coupedeville crepe gowns overlaid with antique rose lace. They carried white lace fans with pink and white roses surrounded by baby's breath and greens. The gowns were designed and fashioned by Katherine Miller, sister of the bride. Serving as best man was Bill Stuck. Ushers were Randy DiSimone, James Livengood, Kim Meyers and Rick DiSimone, all friends of the groom.

The groom and his groomsmen were attired in gray tuxedos with dusty rose colored ties and cummerbunds.

The flower girl was Elissa Orendorf, niece of the bride, escorted by Gabriel Burkey, nephew of the bride.

The guest registering was attended to by Anna Marie Bowman and Barb DiSimone, friends of the couple. Programs were distributed by Marla Miller and Rachel Burkey, nieces of the bride. Bird seed packets were distributed by Matthew Burkey and Michael Miller. All flowers were made and arranged by Rachel Miller.

The reception was held at the church fellowship hall. The cake was made by Gloria Beitzel and served by Elsie Sommers and Louise Maust.

Wedding guests included family and friends from Nebraska, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Canada.

The bride is employed at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The groom is employed at Zump's Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake.

After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, they now reside along Second Street, Oakland.

AURORA-EGILON NEWS

Texas Sing

The annual Texas Sing will begin at 1:15 p.m., Sunday, September 27, at the Texas Bethel United Methodist Church, Horse Shoe Run. Groups from various areas will be present for an afternoon of gospel music to which all are invited.

Homemakers Meet

"Talking to Your Doctor" was the topic for discussion when the Aurora Extension Homemakers met on September 15 in the home of Pearl Stemple. Leading the discussion was Ernestine Sisler, who suggested that persons should be assertive in informing the physician of problems and in asking questions when something is not understood. Her questions led to further discussion of the topic.

Opening devotions were in keeping with the Bicentennial Celebration of the United States Constitution and Mary Jane Hanline read a selection from "Meditations" and from the VFW Magazine, then closed with prayer.

Presiding at the business meeting was Martha Bolyard, who also reported for the treasurer. Achievement Day is October 15 for which the Aurora Club is responsible for registration. Final plans for Buckwheat Festival help was made, tickets and money from car ticket sales collected. Dues are to be in by October 4.

At the October meeting, a Christmas activity is to be planned. Each member is asked to bring suggestions. A donation of $10 will be made for use of the Community Building when serving the Mt. Lions. Also, beginning with the October meeting, the time for assembly has been changed from 1 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. but continues on each Tuesday of the month. Mrs. Stemple's special feature was a cathedral window quilt which she had made and a picture of her new great-grandson, Joseph Timothy Martin, one day old. He is the son of Shelly and Tom Martin, Salisbury, Md.

Beverly "Kitty" Myers will be hostess to the 7:30 p.m. meeting on October 20. Anita Lantz will be program leader for "Altering to Fit You." Eleven members and one guest, Beatrice Dean, were present for the September meeting.

Lewis And Kemper Births
Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lewis of Aurora, announce the birth of their first child, born in Garrett County Memorial Hospital September 10. The little girl has been named Toni Lane and her birth weight was seven pounds, 15 ounces.

Mrs. Lewis is the former Bonnie Nordeck and the maternal grandparents are Betty and Howard Nordeck of Tucson, Ariz. Paternal grandparents are "Bobbie" Lewis of Houston, Tex., and Harold Lewis of Terra Alta.

Their second child, a daughter, was born September 10 in Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Harlan and Donna Kemper of Aurora. Named Heather Renee, the baby weighed eight pounds, 12 ounces and she has an older brother, Harlan Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Frantz of Terra Alta, are the maternal grandparents and paternal grandparents are Herman Kemper of Aurora, and Delores Kemper of Albright. Great-grandparents are Edna Frantz and Mr. and Mrs. D.T. Hughes of Terra Alta, Maxine Baker, Herman and Mary Kemper of Aurora, and a great-great-grandmother is Charlotte Kemper of Oakland.

Lee Death

Anna Pearl Lee, 68, died September 17 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She is survived by her husband, Claude Lee, Oakland; five daughters, among whom is Mrs. David (Delores) Stemple of Aurora; four sons, 34 grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, two brothers and three sisters. Services were held on Sunday from the Durs Funeral Home in Oakland with interment in the Maplewood Cemetery, Kingwood.

Egion 4-H

Mark Durs, an Oakland Funeral Director, was the guest speaker for the September 14 meeting of the Egion Mountaineer 4-H Club. He gave the members and parents an inside view of the training required, the duties, and other aspects of the funeral business.

The meeting opened with devotions by Jeremiah Feather and Mark Utterback, members of the Citizenship Committee. The 4-H Pledge and pledge to the flag were led by the Music Committee.

Reports were from Debra Rinehart, gold ribbon winner, on the State Roundup at Jackson's Mill; by Jeremiah Feather on the August cutting to Canaan Valley; by John Utterback on the preview Market Lamb Show and the awards he received there including a first place in advanced showmanship.

Buckwheat Festival exhibits are to be taken in September 23. Members and parents are asked to help with the County 4-H in serving buckwheat cakes on Friday. Lamb ring applications and county award applications are also due.

To observe National 4-H Week, October 4 through 10, members are asked to wear their Egion 4-H t-shirts. Those who have none should secure theirs from the leader.

Election of 1987-88 officers resulted in the following slate: president, Julie Lewis; vice president, Debra Rinehart; secretary, Mark Utterback; treasurer, Emily Lewis; reporter, Nathan Snyder; recreation leaders, Natalie Snyder, Jeremiah Feather, Brian Corbin, Kevin Corbin and Matt Utterback; and music leaders, Jeremiah Feather, Brian Corbin and Natalie Snyder.

Graded project books and activity records were returned to the members by Elaine Roth. The next meeting is to be held October 12 with a program on 4-H Awareness. Refreshments for the October 12 meeting will be by the Moore and Utterback families. Serving refreshments to close the meeting above recorded was the Lewis family.

Attending in addition to the above named were: Stephanie Evans, Billy and Danny Moore, Donna and Patty Mullenax, Donald Rinehart, Katie Utterback, Aaron Teets, Nicole Teets, Amy Mathes, Elizabeth Wotring and leaders Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth.

Aurora Classes Have Reunion
The reunion of the classes of 1941 and 1942 of Aurora High School was held in the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building on September 19. Dinner was served by women of the church. Favors were Aurora Bears and centerpieces of violets and an arrangement of rosebuds were given as door prizes. These were class flowers.

Celebrates Bicentennial
On Wednesday, September 16, at 1:15 p.m. the Terra Alta/Aurora VFW Post 578 and Masontown VFW Post 1589 members helped the people of Aurora celebrate the naming of their community as a Bicentennial Community and the anniversary of the signing of the U.S. Constitution.

In charge of the ceremony was Stacey Fint and the crowd of about 60 persons, meeting at the Aurora Post Office, joined in singing "God Bless America" and other songs which were followed by the Pledge of Allegiance at 1:30 p.m. to coincide with ceremonies held in other cities across the U.S.A. Also joining in the pledge were the students of the Aurora Elementary and Junior High who were led over the intercom in this ceremony by Eighth Grader Emily Lewis.

At 4:00 p.m., church bells in Union District rang out to mark the actual hour of the signing of the Constitution.

More From Aurora-T.A. VFW
A dinner was held in Rowlesburg September 19 with the meal furnished by the Aurora-Terra Alta VFW Post 578 in appreciation of the work, equipment, etc. donated toward the building of the new addition to the post home in Terra Alta.

Attending were 22 persons from Terra Alta and Aurora. The meal was prepared and served by the Rowlesburg VFW Post 3008 members and auxiliary.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

The St. Paul's United Methodist Church hosted the area Women's Fellowship on September 16 with 71 persons in attendance for the 20th year.

The Sanctuary and social room were both decorated with fall mums. Marsha Swauger welcomed the group and Pastor Ellis Harvey gave the invocation. A covered dish dinner was served.

A short business meeting was held. The group was given the opportunity to elect new officers. The following officers were retained: Alice Younkin, president, and Margie Menges, secretary.

The 1988 meeting will be hosted by Christ Lutheran Church, with the United Methodist Church in charge of the program.

The poem "He Loves You" was shared, and everyone adjourned to the sanctuary, where the United Church of Christ had the devotions, which were prepared by Margie Menges. Rae Ann Frazee played the organ. Mrs. Menges read a poem, and Sue Beachy and Rae Ann Frazee sang a duet.

The meeting was then turned over to the United Methodist Church, who led the Memorial Service, first for Fred Holliday Sr., with a moment of silent prayer, followed then with remembrances of Lavina Kamp and Emma Weimer, by Frances Patton.

The meeting was then turned over to the United Church of Christ women. Mrs. Marion Borch introduced her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Linda Borch, from the Faith Baptist Church in Laurel, who shared her experiences of the three years they served at Alice Springs, Australia. She taught weaving, knitting, crocheting and gathering of natural materials of the trees. She wore a necklace she made and showed others. Her talk was followed by a question and answer period. She returned home in May and has a 16-month old son, who was born in Australia.

Mrs. Betty Jo Swauger, Mrs. Ora Younkin, Mrs. Roxanne Whisner and Mrs. Arlene Green recently vacationed at Ocean City.

James Guthrie Sr. and son, Junior Guthrie, made a trip to Tennessee for the weekend, where they visited the former's son, Dale Guthrie and family and returned home with his daughter, Mrs. Cheryl Emmert and daughter.

Those attending District Conference at the Moorefield, W.Va., Church of the Brethren, were Rev. James Show, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin, Mrs. Orpha Wiseman, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Durr and daughter, Mrs. Bernice Merrill, Rev. Joseph Lewis, Mrs. Rosella Miner and Rev. and Mrs. Connell Chaney from the Grantsville area.

The Grantsville Senior Citizens are planning a trip to Holiday House at Monroeville, Pa., for lunch and the show "Hawaii International." The bus will leave Grantsville at 8 a.m. and there are still seats available. For further information, persons may call Lulu Brown at 895-5092.

Mrs. Ora Younkin and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wable attended the wedding of Steven Margraff and Tina Glover on Saturday.

The Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41 met for the first time in their new building on Miller Street. Phyllis Bender, president, presided. Plans were made for the building. A stove and refrigerator are still needed.

Information about the banquet on October 17 at 6:30 p.m. will be shared. An open house is being planned for the near future. Tom Bender won the door prize.

The next meeting will be at the new building on October 28, at 8 p.m. all members are welcome.

Gospel Sing To Benefit Victim Of Rare Disease

A benefit gospel sing will be held Sunday, October 4, at the Gorman Church of God, Red House, to benefit Casey Lambert, the infant son of Gene and Joanne Lambert, Oakland.

Casey was born last March with a rare birth defect, known as Klippel-Trenaunay-Weber Syndrome which manifests itself in large tumors throughout the body. He has already undergone numerous corrective surgeries and, according to Casey's mother, faces many more for the removal of tumors and plastic surgery.

The gospel sing will begin at 2 p.m. and will feature the Mtn. Top Gospelaires, a local group. A free-will offering will be taken. Anyone wishing to donate may also do so by writing the Gorman Church of God, Rt. 5, Box 155, Oakland, Md., 21550 or by calling 334-3732.

Casey is currently a patient at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa.

GOBA Members Meet, Various Topics Discussed

Members of the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) met Tuesday, September 8, at Cornish Manor for their regular monthly meeting. Connie Margison reported on the Oakland Christmas decoration fund drive, lighting the tree at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church for the holidays, a GOBA billboard and the possibility of funding to bury telephone wires in Oakland.

The group also discussed selling Garrett County flags to local merchants. It was also suggested that merchants use the GOBA logo in their advertising as much as possible.

Dwayne Boyce will speak to Dottie Leighton, president of the Garrett County Arts Council, about the possibility of restoring the B&O Railroad station to be used as a restaurant or museum.

A letter was read at the meeting written by Dr. Stephen Herman encouraging faculty and students to support the GOBA coupon books.

It was agreed that Tom Jones, economic development director, should be invited to GOBA meetings since the group is seeking direction on attracting new businesses to the downtown area.

Will Wadsworth of the Acupuncture Center of Western Maryland was introduced as a new member of GOBA.

Aurora-Egdon

Continued from Page C-3 and Ruth Teets, Ellis Teets, John and Rebecca Teets. Moderator of the event was former pastor, J. Rogers Fike, of Oakland.

Gerald Parks, who had been a patient in West Virginia University Medical Center for a week, returned Monday to his home at Egdon.

On September 13 Melvin and Rose Ina Harsh went to the Church World Service Center at

New Windsor, Md., for a reunion of men who had served in various CPS Units during World War II. Mr. Harsh was attending for the first time, although the reunions have been held for several years.

Glen Rumer spent last week from Wednesday to Saturday with Melvin and Rose Ina Harsh, Stan and Mark at Egdon during which time he journeyed to nearby areas doing genealogical research.

Recent visitors with Mrs. Lydia Harsh, Aurora, have been Arlene Stemple, Betty Moore, and Elwood and Hazel Blamble.

Mike and Mary Winters and their children, Brett and Lisa of Columbus, Ohio, were weekend guests of his uncle and aunt, Robert and Lois Strawser and Randy at Amboy.

To Celebrate Golden Anniversary

On Saturday, September 26, Mary Jane and Lorain Hanline will be honored by their son and daughter-in-law, Norman and Janice Hanline, Oakland, with an open house at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. The couple requests the presence of friends and relatives between the hours of 6:30 and 8:30 p.m., but asks that gifts be omitted.

Vital Records Office Hours Are Extended

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene wants Marylanders to know the Division of Vital Records is open to the public from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Paul M. Winkler, chief, Division of Vital Records (DHMH), said the additional hours of service were established to provide more time for people to obtain copies of vital records such as birth, death and marriage certificates.

In-person applicants can receive a certified copy of a vital record processed in less than two hours by the Division of Vital Records office in the Herbert R. O'Connor Building, 201 West Preston St., Room SS-5.

"You can be served a lot quicker if you come between the hours of 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. or 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.," Winkler said.

Mailed applications for copies of records are processed in three weeks or less.

A fee of $3.00, which includes the cost of searching for the record, must accompany all applications.

An automated system is being installed to decrease processing

SPECIAL OLYMPICS WINNER — David Flude, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flude, New Stanton, Pa., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Leighton, Oakland, won a Silver Medal in the Mixed Doubles Bowling Competition and a Bronze Medal in the Mixed Doubles Bowling Competition at the International Special Olympics held in South Bend, Ind., August 3-4 and 5. David was the only one out of eight bowlers representing the state of Pennsylvania to win two medals.

time and to improve service to the public.

For further information, persons may contact the division of Vital Records, 201 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201 or call 225-5988.

Bachtel Family Named County Outstanding Cooperator Of The Year

The Kenneth Bachtel family was named Cooperator of the Year by the Garrett Soil Conservation District Committee at the second annual Cooperators' Dinner September 17 at the Bittinger Fire Hall. The family, Kenneth and Dorothy, their daughter Frances, and their son Forest, operate a 151-acre dairy farm near Red House.

Bachtel, who has been farming all his life, has been a Garrett Soil Conservation District cooperator since 1968. At the present time, the Bachtels are milking 35 cows, with a 16,500-pound herd average. Since 1968 the Bachtels have applied the following conservation practices on their 103 acres of tillable farmland and 48 acres of woodland used for wildlife management, hunting and wood harvesting; watering troughs, ag waste storage, two acres of grass waterways, cover crops, pasture improvement, crop residue use, minimum tillage practices, and thousands of feet of subsurface and open drainage.

A slide presentation was given by Jim Simms showing many of the conservation practices in use on the Bachtel farm, saying that Bachtel was a leader and an innovator in agricultural conservation.

Also during the course of the evening, an Appreciation Award was presented to Bernice Kepple, farm editor of The Republican, for "excellence in conservation and agricultural news reporting and journalism."

Jim Simms of the Garrett County Extension Service opened the meeting with a welcome to those attending. George Bishoff, chairman of the Garrett Soil Conservation District, introduced the many guests.

Among the guests were: Garrett County Commissioners Elwood L. Groves II and John Braskey; Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess Elaine Cummings; Garrett County Farm Queen Lori Dodge; the Soil Conservation District staff, Shaun Sanders, district manager; Wanda Foley, secretary; Butch Miller, technician; Chuck Hayes, planner; USDA Soil Conservation Service staff, Jim Schlossnagle, district conservationist; Kim Meyers, technician; and Robert Obermeier, part-time technician.

The District supervisors attending were George Bishoff, chairman; Harry Hummel, vice chairman; Claude Wagner Jr., treasurer; Harley Brennehan, supervisor; Marvin Kolb, supervisor; David Thomas, associate supervisor; and W. Brooks Hamilton, associate supervisor.

Attending from the Maryland Department of Agriculture were Dan Bard, MDA area coordinator; and Mike Seerist, assistant state conservationist of Maryland.

Also present were a number of former employees, including William Nace, former district conservationist and district manager; Cecil Kight, former technician; and Adam Lucas, former technician.

Other guests included: Granville P. Halterman, ASCS executive manager; Darlene Reems, ASCS program assistant; Betty Mattingly, ASCS program assistant; William COOPERATOR OF THE YEAR — Kenneth and Dorothy Bachtel were presented the Garrett Soil Conservation District's Cooperator of the Year Award by District Committee Chairman George Bishoff (left) last Thursday night at the second annual Cooperators' Dinner held at the Bittinger Fire Hall. The Bachtels, along with their daughter, Frances, and their son, Forest, operate a 151-acre dairy farm near Red House and have been District cooperators since 1968. Also at the annual dinner an Appreciation Award was presented to Bernice Kepple (below), farm editor of The Republican.

DeWitt, ASCS committee chairman; Clark Kolb, Garrett County Farm Bureau president; Tim Taylor, Farmer's Home Administration; Ernie Metz, Forest, Parks and Wildlife Service; Lee Thorn, Garrett County Roads Department engineer and stormwater manager; and Greg Hartsock, Allegany County Soil Conservation District manager.

The special guest speaker of the evening was Malcom Crooks, who raises Christmas trees in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Crooks is the northeast representative of the National Association of Conservation Districts and covers 13 states in the northeast United States.

He spoke of conservation districts across the country and the role they play as well as mentioning the past national leaders who strongly believed in soil conservation. Each district, he said, deals with soil conservation problems in ways that will be successful in that district.

"What happens here (in this district) is not isolated from the rest of the state and nation," he told the group, "just as what happens in Annapolis or Washington, D.C., is important to you here."

He continued by saying that conservation districts were the first organizations to solve soil erosion problems in the 30s and 40s. Those problems, he said, were mainly wind erosion in the west and water erosion in the east.

In the 70s, Crooks related that conservation districts began to look at sedimentation and how it lowered water quality.

Conservation now includes such diverse programs as land-use planning, open space, and farmland preservation, Crooks said. In the future, he sees conservation districts becoming more popular as more pressure is put on resources with efforts expanded even more toward water quality, sediment and erosion control.

"There is far more erosion from construction sites, for example, than from farms but it may require legislation to control that problem," he said. He also sees an expansion in nutrient control in the future of Soil Conservation Districts to cover areas of manure and fertilizer management, septic disposal systems, hazardous waste disposal, disposal of municipal sewage, ground water management, control of flood damage through flood plain management and warning systems, more mine reclamation programs, stream bank protection, and research and water monitoring.

"Why should Soil Conservation Districts become broader?" he asked. "Because Soil Conservation Districts are democracy in action," he said. "They are local people taking care of local problems in their own district. Conservation is a way of thinking," he said, "a way of living. We must educate, inform, influence, and support land ethics through conservation districts nationwide."

Farmland Acres Down From 1986

Maryland land in farms continues to decline in 1987. There was 2.4 million acres of land in farms in 1987 compared to 2.5 million acres in 1986. The land in farms had shown a slight increase from 1977 through 1981, and has shown a steady decline since 1981.

"SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICTS are democracy in action," said Malcom Crooks, northeast representative to the National Association of Conservation Districts, speaking at the second annual Garrett Soil Conservation District's Cooperators' Dinner last week. "They are local people taking care of local problems in their own district," he said. (See story.)

of farms has not reached the 1974 record low of 16,400 farms.

The number of farms in the United States in 1987 is estimated at 2.17 million, down two percent from the 2.21 million in 1986 and nine percent from the 2.40 million in 1982. The number of farms has declined each year since 1982. Total land in farms for 1987 is 1,002 million acres, down one percent from 1986 and two percent from 1982. Land in farms has declined every year since reaching its peak at 1,206 million acres in 1954.

In 1945, Americans ate an average of 402 eggs a year; by 1985 that was down to 255 eggs.

FARM SAFETY

National Farm Safety Week, September 20-26

Agriculture remains one of the nation's most hazardous industries. Although the agricultural death rate has decreased over the last few years, (agriculture was considered the most hazardous industry in 1983, second after mining since 1984, and this year rated third after mining and construction) the nation's farmers should consider accident prevention a year-round job. This week, September 20-26, National Farm Safety Week reminds all farm families of the need for good safety practices.

Nearly 1,700 people died working on America's farms last year while another 170,000 suffered disabling injuries, according to Jim Mersberger, health and safety director for the American Farm Bureau Federation. "Agriculture remains among the nation's most hazardous major industries with an accidental death rate of 52 per 100,000 workers," he said. Those numbers do not include those farm and ranch residents who were seriously injured or killed in home, recreation and roadway accidents, Mersberger added.

Articles in the local newspaper show that county farmers, as a whole, have experienced enough farm-related accidents over the last few years to encourage them and their families to take a few minutes to read the following safety tips and to make farm safety a practice on their farm in the future.

Know Your Role

"No one likes to even imagine an accident happening to himself, a family member, friend or anyone else. But it may be better to program in advance your reactions for when the adrenalin prompted by an accident situation sends you into 'overdrive' and you want all your efforts to count for the person in need of help," says John True, University of Minnesota.

Serious accidents can happen to someone working alone. That's why it's good to check frequently on how a person working alone is getting along. It's better to work in teams of two or more whenever possible, says True.

Having first aid training certainly is a plus. If two people find someone in distress, one could go for help while the other assists the victim. But if it's a one-to-one situation, alleviating the victim's problems comes first, before seeking help, True says.

Unless there is an immediate threat (such as fire or an enraged animal), no inexperienced person should move a seriously injured person. Leave that to experienced rescuers and physicians, advises True.

He also advises that all members of farm families know the answers to the following points in advance:

- where and how to turn off the engine on powered equipment,
- emergency phone numbers (911) which should be on or near every telephone on the farm,
- how to disengage the power take-off (PTO),
- location of fire extinguishers, how to use them and the best source of water for fighting fires (which might be a lake or pond),
- how to turn on the lights and how to turn off or disconnect electric power,
- where electric power lines are in relation to movement of equipment,
- where and how to turn off farm equipment such as automatic grain handling equipment, grain dryer, silo unloader, conveyors, auger or elevator,
- how to use safety bars on self-unloading wagons,
- how to turn on fans to get air moving in manure pits and confinement housing,
- location of the water container or tank in event of an anhydrous ammonia accident,
- directions to the accident location and how to get emergency vehicles into various areas of the farm.

Teach your kids & yourself Farm Safety

Prepare For Accidents

Suppose you're the first person on the scene of a major farm accident. What do you do? "One thing not to do is to panic because self-control is essential," says True. "But, to prevent panic, you must be prepared ahead of time." The following steps can lead to positive and quick action:

- Shut off equipment and remove additional hazards. Shout for help if someone is near.
- Check the victim's airway and breathing. Is the victim conscious and can he talk to you? If there's no verbal response and the victim is not breathing, check mouth and throat for blockage.
- Check the victim's circulation. Bleeding is common in most major farm accidents, so you must ignore the blood and direct attention to the injury.
- Control bleeding. If the injured part is not entrapped in equipment and is bleeding badly, immediately apply a tight pressure bandage and splint.
- Check the victim's spine. Check for signs of back injury, back pain and paralysis.
- Splint any fractures. If the injured part is not entrapped and not bleeding, apply a bandage and a splint, if available.
- Obtain assistance. If you discover an accident away from immediate help, assist the victim first and then obtain help.
- Phone the nearest rescue squad (911). Give complete information about where the accident occurred and the condition of the victim.
- It is good to have directions to your farm written out ahead of time. It's difficult to think clearly in a panic situation, so it is better to be able to read the directions.
- Do not try to move the victim yourself, unless you must get him or her away from another danger such as fire. Help is essential if you suspect a neck, back or upper leg injury. Ambulance or rescue squad transportation is recommended in these instances unless delay is excessive.

Animals Startle Easily

Animals were involved in one of every seven accidents reported, according to a study of Wisconsin farm accidents. Victims involved in animal-related accidents usually moved too quickly, approached animals the wrong way, lost their balance or lost their tempers, says Don Jensen, University of Wisconsin safety specialist.

Livestock detect us by our movements, says Jensen. They hardly notice us if we stand perfectly still. Movement itself is much more important to animals than what is moving or the location and color of the moving object, he says. Cattle have a broad, panoramic view of the surrounding area and can detect movement occurring almost directly behind them.

Livestock generally hear high-pitched sounds better than humans. Many high-pitched sounds which we can't hear ourselves may frighten or excite livestock.

Sense of smell, especially between females and newborn young, is extremely important to animals. Animals often react to odors that we do not detect. For example, cattle may be lured by the smell of newly mowed hay. A bull often becomes aggressive when he detects cows in heat.

For personal safety, always let animals know you are present. Be cautious, but let the animal know you are approaching. Talk to it — don't surprise it, advises Jensen.

LIVESTOCK IS UNPREDICTABLE!

This Ain't No Bull

Years ago, most farms had some cows — and if you had cows, you probably had a bull. Because of their macho nature, bulls were responsible for many serious and often fatal farm injuries. But artificial insemination and agricultural specialization changed all that and the bull population dropped accordingly — and with it the incidence of bull-induced injuries.

Nevertheless, the potential for injury by bulls still exists as many are out there yet. Steve Larson of "Hoard's Dairyman" says that nearly half of the magazine's readers own dairy bulls — in fact, they average 2 and one-half bulls per farm. On at least half of these farms, the bulls run with the dairy herd. Most dairymen respect the dangers bulls present and handle them properly. But an unwary visitor, child, farm worker, hunter or trespasser could become a victim.

Farm residents need reminded about the need for proper management of bulls. Also, non-farm residents, including youngsters, should be urged to stay out of pastures and other places where dairy and beef animals are feeding or loafing. Even a placid cow can turn mean if she thinks her calf is being threatened by an intruder. Warn children about the danger of reaching through a fence or pen to pet or feed dairy animals, most certainly the male versions.

Use Ag Chemicals Safely

Ag chemicals are indispensable to modern agriculture. Chemical fertilizers and pesticides multiply crop yields and help protect what we raise from pests. Still they must be used with care and the appropriate protective gear.

•Always read and follow label directions. Instruct other workers on safe use. If you have questions, call your dealer or extension service.

•Don't use ag chemicals without ample skin cover and eye protection. Even with chemicals not regarded as particularly hazardous, wear trousers, a sleeved shirt and hat, preferably a bump or hard hat that cannot absorb dusts or liquids. Wear gloves and boots impervious to the material you are using. With some chemicals you might need liquid-proof garments.

•With many pesticides you'll need a respirator recommended for the formulation being applied. If the job involves an oxygen-deficient atmosphere, use an air-supplying respirator. The filter or cartridge type only cleans air without affecting oxygen content.

•Store chemicals in original containers in a cabinet, room or building that can be locked. Safely dispose of empties.

•Using anhydrous ammonia, protect your eyes with goggles designed for the job. Carry a pocket squeeze bottle of water and five or more gallons of clean water on the rig, as water is the only effective first aid measure if you get ammonia in your eyes or on your skin.

Safe Storage

Many poisonings can be blamed on improper storage of medicines and household and farm chemical products. Often they are within easy reach of children or stored in inadequate or unmarked containers. Store yours safely:

•Keep pesticides in a cabinet, room or building that can be locked to keep children out. Store in original marked containers. Don't transfer a non-edible product to a food or drink container.

•Keep household chemical products in original containers in cabinets or on shelves inaccessible to small children.

•Keep medicine in a lockable cabinet that small children cannot get into. Never leave medicine on a kitchen or bedside table, in accessible purses and such when small children are present. Medicine containers should have child-proof caps; make sure caps are replaced after each use.

•When finished with a product, return it to safe storage. Promptly dispose of empties.

Charles DeBerry Attends FFA National Leadership Conference

Charles DeBerry, treasurer of the Maryland FFA Association, attended a National FFA Leadership Conference for state officers recently. The conference was held at Martinsburg, W.Va., and was one of nine conferences held across the nation.

This FFA Conference was designed to improve leadership and communication skills, develop an understanding of state FFA officer responsibilities and prepare state officers for more effective leadership roles in their state FFA association. The conference was also a forum for the exchange of ideas between officers from several states.

A highlight of the event was the opportunity to work with the national FFA officers who conducted the conference. Besides the training sessions, the 1987 program included a public speaking workshop, a banquet program and many other leadership activities all designed to improve the communication skills of state FFA officers.

The National FFA Leadership Conference for State Officers was sponsored by Merck and Company, Inc. as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc.

DeBerry, 18, is the son of William B. and Donna DeBerry of Oakland.

Oakland FFA To Hold Annual Picnic

The Oakland FFA Chapter and FFA Alumni will hold their annual picnic on Sunday, September 27, beginning at 4 p.m. at the Hamilton Farm. Organizers hope that all FFA and FFA Alumni members, and their families and friends will be able to attend.

Hot dogs, drinks, and table service will be furnished, with families asked to bring a covered dish.

Directions to the Hamilton Farm from Oakland are: take Route 219 south approximately nine miles to Route 50 at Red House. Take Route 50 west approximately one-half mile and watch for a sign. For additional information call FFA Adviser Steve Kiser at 334-1580 or Alumni President Sandy Harvey at 334-2239.

Federal Dairy Hearing To Be Rescheduled

The Congressional Dairy Field Hearing to have been held Monday, September 21, in Westminster was cancelled and will be rescheduled, according to Rep. Beverly Byron's office.

"The leadership of the House decided to bring the Farm Credit Bill to the floor of the House of Representatives that day," stated Rep. Byron. "That meant that Congressman Stenholm, who chairs the Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry, and the other members of the committee were required to be in Washington on the morning that the bill was brought up," she said.

"I have spoken with Chairman Stenholm and he has assured me that the subcommittee will attempt to reschedule the hearing in Westminster in the October-November timeframe," Byron said.

Travelling Horses At High Risk For PHF Disease

Horse show and racing seasons are far from over, and the incidence of potentially fatal Potomac Horse Fever (PHF) is expected to continue to grow. With PHF now confirmed in 33 states, many people who live in endemic areas have already vaccinated their horses. Horses residing in non-endemic areas that travel to areas with PHF, however, are also at high risk.

TRACTOR EXPERT — Chad Malone, 18, of Finzel, poses with trophy and ribbons after winning the 4 H Tractor Operators Contest on September 3 at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium. He will represent Maryland on September 29 during the 37th annual Eastern Region Division of the U.S. 4 H Engineering Event at Richmond, Va., in conjunction with the Atlantic Rural Exposition and State Fair of Virginia. Jason Worthington, 16, of Hagerstown was involved in the Interstate FFA Tractor Competition on September 19 during the Eastern States Exposition at West Springfield, Mass., after winning the FFA division of the state fair tractor contest also at Timonium on September 3. Superintendent this year for the FFA and 4 H Tractor Operators Contest at the state fair was Lee P. Grant of Dayton, Dr. Grant is an extension specialist for youth programs in agricultural engineering at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Vaccinating "to prevent an epidemic"

The growing trend seems to be prevention with a new vaccine, manufactured by Shering Animal Health and available from local veterinarians.

In Connecticut, for example, equine practitioners who have reported new cases of PHF this summer outside the endemic area around the Connecticut River, believe many horses are picking up the disease in their travels.

State Veterinarian Jean Kucia, V.M.D., feels that horses who travel through endemic areas should be vaccinated against PHF. Richard Mitchell, D.V.M. of Fairfield, Connecticut, agrees, saying, "I can't see the logic of not protecting horses that are at high risk by virtue of moving around a lot." Another Connecticut equine practitioner, Dr. Harry Werner, who has vaccinated more than 400 horses already this summer, says, "Rather than wait for an epidemic, we're hoping to prevent one."

Practitioners and animal health experts in other endemic states, including Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York agree, as cases of confirmed or suspected PHF continue to mount.

Transmission remains a mystery

Although PHF was first identified in 1979 near the Potomac River in Maryland, experts are still unsure how it is spread. It is caused by a microorganism which is believed to be carried by an insect such as a fly or tick, but despite intensive investigation, no vector has been identified. For that reason, it is especially difficult to protect horses from exposure.

Diagnosis curial

Because tetracycline, the most effective treatment for PHF, can be dangerous for horses who don't have the disease, accurate diagnosis is critical. According to Jean Sessions, D.V.M., who has been involved in PHF research since its earliest days, PHF is not always easy to diagnose. "The usual symptoms are depression and loss of appetite, fever and severe diarrhea," she notes.

"Unfortunately, recent testing has confirmed the disease in horses with no diarrhea at all."

To confirm a diagnosis of Potomac Horse Fever, two blood samples must be taken from the sick horse and analyzed two weeks apart. Only a handful of facilities are equipped to conduct the test, and it is expensive. Many horses die or must be put down before the second sample can be obtained, and even a post-mortem examination of the horse may fail to confirm the disease. Therefore, vaccination is the best method of protection.

MILK UP

Milk production increased to one percent over year-ago in August. It doesn't sound like much, but it was the first month this year for production to be up. More important, it looks like a trend. Milk output was down four percent in January. In each successive month production has closed in on year-ago, and it's now gone ahead. The new figures appear to add a bit more weight to the side of the scales that will prompt USDA to go for a January cut in milk supports.

BEEF TIPS

Fall is a busy time for many cow/calf producers. It's time to 1) wean and make marketing decisions for calf crop; 2) select replacement females; 3) vaccinate replacement animals for IBR & P13; 4) treat for internal and external parasites; and 5) pregnancy test and cull all open cows.

Handling facilities should be in place and working. Minimize stress and handling and processing difficulties with proper handling facilities. Remember, gates and portable head chute are available from the Extension Office.

When vaccinating, remember to use the prescribed dosage in the appropriate location. If using modified live vaccines, remember they will be killed and rendered ineffective by heat, excess light, and contamination with alcohol and other equipment cleaning products. Use all mixed modified live vaccines within two to three hours.

Agriculture Secretary To Accompany Governor On Economic Mission

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr. is accompanying Governor William Donald Schaefer and other cabinet heads on a two-week economic development mission to the Far East to promote more business for the Port of Baltimore and to relay the message: "we have products that their consumers should buy."

Six Maryland businessmen representing five firms will join state officials on the trip. "Our purpose in going is to spread the word about Maryland," Schaefer said. "The message is very simple... that Maryland is a great place to do business." Traveling with Gov. Schaefer and Sec. Cawley will be the secretaries of economic and employment development and transportation as well as David Wagner, head of the Maryland Port Administration.

J. Randall Evans, economic development secretary, said state officials will try to encourage investment in Maryland by Japanese and Taiwanese firms, look for markets for Maryland products, explore joint technological development projects and attempt to boost travel to Maryland.

A major goal of the mission is to seek business for the Port of Baltimore. Wagner said trade with the Far East accounts for about 20 percent of the port business. "We are in deadly combat... with other ports on the East Coast. We have our work cut out for us," Schaefer said.

Secretary Cawley said he will be looking for markets for farm products and seafood and trying to find out more about what kinds of products consumers in Taiwan and Japan will buy. He said Marylanders already know, for example, that the Japanese "aren't really used to what we call yellow chicken."

Maryland already ships soft crabs to Japan, and Cawley said he would like to see that market expanded to include hard crabs.

Tooth Decay Declining, But Nursing Bottle Mouth Cases On The Increase

MORGANTOWN, W. VA. — Dental health in the U.S. has improved dramatically over the past 20 years. Tooth decay rates have plummeted, mainly as a result of fluorides in water supplies and toothpaste.

But dentists are frustrated by an evident rise in the number of children with a serious tooth disorder called nursing bottle mouth.

At the West Virginia University Medical Center pediatric dentists say they are seeing many infants with this dental problem, which can result in facial disfigurement. A major cause of tooth decay in 2-, 3-, and 4-year-old children, nursing bottle mouth is caused when parents give infants sweet liquids frequently, especially when the children are falling asleep.

"Although decay rates are dropping for most children, we still see lots of nursing bottle mouth," said Sanford Fenton, WVU professor of pediatric dentistry. "What bothers me is that this problem is so very preventable."

Constantly giving infants sweet formula, soft drinks, sugar water or other sweet drinks in their bottles causes bacteria in infants' mouths to create acid at an alarming rate. The acid, a byproduct of the bacteria's metabolism, dissolves tooth enamel, and can rob toddlers of their smiles.

Regular infant feedings also create the opportunity for bacterial acid to attack tooth enamel, Fenton said. However, during the time afterward,

HURRY UP AND ... WAIT!

Just imagine how you would feel in the following set of circumstances. Let's say you've decided to sell your home and have employed the best real estate agent in town to represent you.

After a few days your agent calls for an appointment to show your house at 3 p.m. You rush to do some last minute cleaning, making sure your kitchen is spotless and the bedrooms presentable. You finish by 2:30, and settle back to wait.

Then ... NOTHING HAPPENS. No one comes and no one calls. By 5:00 you're ready to scream. After putting a lot of yourself into making your house shine, nothing happened.

STOP! This entire scenario is fictitious! A good real estate agent will spend time qualifying prospective buyers so that appointments are made to show your home only to motivated, capable buyers. Thus, few appointments are ever cancelled and, even if that occurred, the agent would have called to let you know.

But, by changing just one thing — the situation becomes frustratingly real. If you sell "by owner", be prepared for many such disappointments. Many prospects who call a "by owner" are neither qualified, nor serious buyers. As a result, they think nothing about failing to show up for scheduled appointments. After all, unlike you, they have nothing to lose.

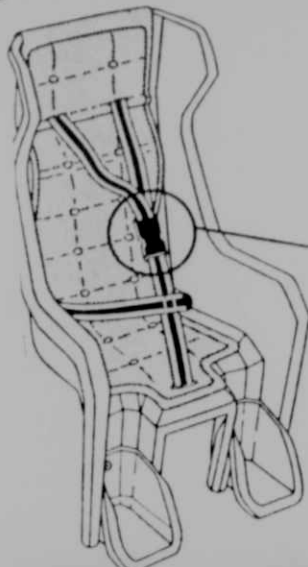

If you're planning to sell your home soon and would like information on its current value, give us a call at 387-5303 or come by our office located at McHenry Plaza.

Do you have one of these bicycle child carriers?

This buckle is recalled

These redesigned buckles on carriers sold after July 1986 are not recalled.

SAFETY RECALL — In cooperation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission, D & R Industries, Inc., Lincolnwood, Ill., announced a voluntary recall from consumers of the shoulder harness on a Championship Deluxe Bicycle Child Carrier sold through the Sears, Roebuck and Co., stores. The plastic buckle on some of the shoulder harnesses may unhook or disengage during use and a child could fall from the carrier. D & R Industries is aware of six reported instances where the buckle failed to engage. Parents are cautioned not to use the carrier until the shoulder harness buckle is replaced. The carriers have been sold to consumers nationwide. The retail price of the carrier may be as much as $40. Only those carriers sold between February and July, 1986, are affected. The carrier can be identified by stock number 82595 on the outside of the box. Consumers may order a new shoulder harness free of charge from D & R Industries, Inc., 7111 Capitol Drive, Lincolnwood, IL 60465, or by calling toll free 1-800-323-2852. For further information consumers may also call the CPSC toll-free hotline number at 800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 800-638-8270. Information about the recall was released locally by the Garrett County Extension Service.

when no food is given, saliva in a child's mouth rebuilds enamel that may have been damaged by acid.

"The problem with using a bottle filled with sweet liquid as a pacifier is that the body has little chance to repair bacterial damage," Fenton said. "If a child has a bottle in his mouth all day or at night, the acid has more time to destroy enamel, and the body has less to replace it."

Dismaying results of infant bottle mouth are being seen at the WVU dental clinic, said Doug Holmes, WVU assistant professor of pediatric dentistry.

"We see an array of problems," he said. "We've seen babies as early as 16 to 18 months old who had to have teeth extracted because they were mutilated by decay beyond restorability."

Aside from the pain nursing bottle mouth can cause children, the disease results in blackened teeth and sometimes abscesses or other signs of progressive infection.

"Infants with deep decay may be in a lot of discomfort," Fenton said. "If the decay enters the nerve, or pulp, the resulting infection can leave the tooth's crown and travel down the entire root of the tooth. It will kill the nerve, and then the infection's byproducts spill out causing destruction of the supporting bone, which can lead to 'gum boils.'"

These initial effects of nursing bottle mouth are often followed by problems with permanent teeth. Because primary teeth serve as natural space maintainers to ensure that permanent teeth will align properly in the mouth, loss of primary teeth is troublesome.

Often permanent teeth will come in at wrong angles or be blocked entirely by adjacent teeth when the primary teeth have been lost to nursing bottle mouth. Although space maintainers can be given to a child who has lost primary teeth, Fenton said they aren't as effective as teeth.

Another problem is that decay may spread from the primary teeth's roots through to the permanent teeth, which are formed in the gums just under the primary teeth. These teeth will then come in already damaged by infection.

Where is the line between using a bottle to give nutrition to a child and using it as a pacifier? Dr. Fenton said that when the first primary teeth come in, generally at five or six months, parents often notice that their child is beginning to sleep through the night and doesn't wake for an early morning feeding.

"Mother Nature is telling you at that point that the child doesn't need any additional nutrients during the sleep period," he said. "But parents sometimes continue giving them something they don't need simply as a pacifier."

Early treatment of nursing bottle mouth is helpful but won't always save a child's teeth, he said. However, more options for treating the disorder are available if the child is brought to a dentist early. Parents should have their children examined by a dentist by the time they are one year old, Dr. Holmes said. An Infant Oral Health Program provides free examinations at the WVU dental clinic in Morgantown. Appointments can be made by calling 293-3841.

Thefts, D.O.P.'s Investigated By Sheriff's Dept.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department recently investigated several theft and destruction of property cases.

Charles Warfield, Baltimore, reported a breaking and entering and theft that occurred within the last three months at his farm house located on Walnut Bottom Road.

According to Warfield, a person or persons entered the house and removed a kerosene heater, an electric gas pump and an electric fence charger, resulting in a loss of $580. Deputy David Crossland is investigating the incident.

Deputy R.L. Sines is investigating a destruction of property that occurred September 13 at the Bloomington Elementary School. Eleanor Sloan, principal there, reported that someone shot out several windows with a pellet gun, resulting in approximately $400 worth of damage.

Joseph F. Howe, Grantsville, reported that his Great Pyrenees dog was fatally wounded with a gunshot sometime between September 14 and 16. The incident reportedly occurred in a wooded area along Pea Patch Road. Monetary value of the dog was estimated at $400. Deputy R. Shaffer is investigating.

A theft and destruction of property that occurred at B.J.'s Convenience Store on Savage River Road resulted in a $205 loss. According to police reports, a Huffy girls' 10-speed bicycle and a boys' bicycle (unknown brand) were stolen from the parking lot there, and a taxidermy-mounted snake was destroyed. Deputy R.L. Sines is investigating.

A destruction of property was reported by Zelma M. Neary, Oakland, who stated that a rock was thrown through the windshield of her 1984 Ford Escort while it was parked at Browning's Foodland on September 16. Damage was estimated at $200. Investigating officer was Deputy Russell Drenning.

Basic Training For Cub Leaders Slated

A Mini-Basic Training session for Cub Scout leaders, Webelos leaders, cubmasters, assistant cubmasters and committee members will be held Sunday, September 27, from 1-4 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oak and Fourth streets, Oakland.

"This is the best way for those holding positions in the scouting program to learn to do their jobs and to see how successful packs and dens are run," said a scout spokesman.

All new leaders are urged to attend and to bring their leader books if they have been issued one. Those attending should also bring notebooks and pencils, said the spokesman.

DAV To Meet

Mt. Top Chapter 29, Disabled American Veterans, and its auxiliary will meet Monday, September 28, 7:30 p.m., at the Oakland Fire Hall. The guest speaker will be Edward Grandy Sr., Senior Vice Commander of the Department of Maryland DAV.

THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

STATE FOREST ROADWAYS

At 53,000 acres, the Savage River Forest is Maryland's largest. The variety of habitats found from its stream valleys to ridge tops support an incredible diversity of plant and animal life. In order to properly manage such a large natural resource, access is a must! As such, over 200 miles of roads crisscross the Savage River State Forest. These roads provide access for timber and wildlife management personnel, as well as, forest visitors. Twenty percent of the roads in Savage River are county maintained and are used by the general public in their daily commutes through the forest.

The rest of the roads located in the state forest are maintained by the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service. More than 80% of these are open year-round, allowing access for MVA licensed vehicles. Hunters, naturalists, photographers and just plain outdoor enthusiasts enjoy the access to various sites in the state forest afforded by these roads.

Twenty percent of these state forest roads are gated either year-round or during certain seasons. Roads are closed with gates to protect the forest resource in various ways: to promote road stabilization, enhance wildlife management practices, deter poachers, discourage trespassing on adjacent private lands, provide recreation and to protect state forest facilities. Roads gated on a seasonal basis are usually opened to allow hunting and firewood collection during the fall.

Below is the road opening schedule for September 1987 through August 1988. The state forest manager reserves the right to change the schedule, as necessary. If you have any questions concerning these openings, please call the Savage River State Forest Headquarters (301-895-5759).

On a final note, please keep in mind to never park in front of a closed gate! By blocking the road, you hamper the rescue, fire-fighting and enforcement efforts of your state forest rangers. Don't slow the ranger's response time... remember, you may be the hunter or hiker who needs emergency help!

THIS IS A COURT ORDER. IF YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND WHAT THE ORDER SAYS, BE SURE TO HAVE SOMEONE EXPLAIN IT TO YOU.

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION FOR THE ADOPTION OF A MINOR CHILD

NO. 501 ADOPTIONS

SHOW CAUSE ORDER

TO: Unknown adult male Garrett County, Maryland

NATURAL FATHER OF THE MINOR CHILD.

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED THAT:

1. A petition has been filed for the adoption of the minor female child who was born to Cheryl Lynn Sines, in Licking County, Ohio, on January 16, 1982.

2. If you wish to object to the adoption, you must file a Notice of Objection on or before October 26, 1987 at the Office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Court House, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

3. WHETHER THE PETITION REQUESTS ADOPTION OR GUARDIANSHIP IF YOU DO NOT FILE A NOTICE OF OBJECTION ON OR BEFORE THE DEADLINE STATED ABOVE, A DECREE TERMINATING YOUR PARENTAL RIGHTS MAY BE ENTERED WITHOUT YOUR CONSENT.

4. You may want to hire an attorney to help you. You are entitled to have the Court appoint an attorney to represent you in this proceeding if:

(a) you are the person to be adopted and;

(1) you are at least ten years old and, because of disability, you are incapable of consenting to the adoption or of effectively participating in the proceeding; or

(2) the proceeding involves the involuntary termination of the parental rights of your parents.

(b) you are a natural parent of the person to be adopted or for whom guardianship is sought; and

(3) you are under 18 years of age, or because of disability, are incapable of consenting to the adoption or guardianship or of effectively participating in the proceeding; or

(3) do not have the money to hire an attorney.

IF YOU BELIEVE YOU ARE ENTITLED TO HAVE THE COURT APPOINT AN ATTORNEY FOR YOU AND YOU WANT AN ATTORNEY, NOTIFY THE COURT BY THE TIME YOUR NOTICE OF OBJECTION MUST BE FILED.

5. If you wish further information concerning the appointment of an attorney by the Court, you may contact:

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on October 1, 1987 at 7:30 p.m. in the Old Grand Jury Room (Third Floor Court House, Oakland, MD). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket VR 172, an application made by Ms. Mary E. Malloy for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the rear yard setback requirement for residences.

Mr. Dick is requesting a Variance to allow the construction of a deck on her property which would extend to within 5 feet of the Penelec line. The property is located on Lake Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR 173, an application made by Mr. Perry Dick Jr. for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the rear yard setback requirement for residences.

Mr. Dick is requesting a Variance to allow the construction of a residence which would extend to within 30 feet of the Penelec line. The property is located in the Sandy Beach Development (Zoned LR).

3) Docket VR 174, an application made by Mr. Dennis Fike for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the side yard setback requirement for residences.

Mr. Fike is requesting a Variance to allow the construction of an addition to his residence which would extend to within 6 feet of the side property line in the rear of the required 10 feet.

The property is located on Paradise Point Road (Zoned TR).

4) Dockets VR 175 and SE 171, an application made by Mrs. Vava Railey for a Special Exception and a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the maximum area allowed for a directional sign. Mrs. Railey is requesting a Special Exception and a Variance to allow the placement of a 3 x 4 ft. off premises directional sign on the Tower property located at the intersection of Mayhew Inn Road and U.S. 219 (Zoned LR).

5) Docket VR 176, an application made by Mr. Richard Riehl for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the requirement that no required lot or area shall include any property, the ownership of which has been transferred after the effective date of the Ordinance, if such property was a part of the area required for compliance with the dimensional requirements applicable to the lot from which such transfer was made.

Specifically, Mr. Riehl is requesting a Variance to allow the establishment of a 537 acre lot from which a 123 acre portion was transferred after the effective date of the Ordinance. The property is located on Stockslager Road (Zoned LR).

6) Docket SE 168, an application made by Red Run Restaurant, Inc. for a Special Exception Permit to allow the expansion of the bed and breakfast operation (rooming house) on the Red Run Restaurant property located off Mayhew Inn Road (Zoned LR).

7) Docket SE 169, an application made by Mr. James L. Harley for a Special Exception permit to allow the establishment of a bed and breakfast operation (rooming house) on the former "Wagner Farm" located off U.S. 219 near Hoop Hole Ridge (Zoned LR).

8) Docket SE 170, an application made by Mr. Austin Chamber for a Special Exception permit to allow the placement of a sign on his property located in the Roman Nose Spa Subdivision (Zoned LR).

Dividends May No Longer Be A Tax Exclusion

Because of a change brought about by The Tax Reform Act of 1986 all dividends received are to be included in gross income.

Under prior law, a single individual could exclude up to $100 and a married couple could exclude up to $200 of qualifying dividends from their gross income. Under the new tax law this dividend exclusion will no longer be allowed.

The new law also repeals the $1000 per year interest exclusion allowed to a person who receives life insurance proceeds because of the death of a spouse. The surviving spouse may no longer exclude from gross income any interest payments received in installments. However, if an individual died on or before October 22, 1986, the surviving spouse may continue to exclude this amount of interest from income.

For more information on these changes or any other area of tax reform, persons may call the IRS at 1-800-424-3676 and order the free Publication 920, Explanation of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 for Individuals.

Teachers Discuss Legislation For 1988 Assembly

Nearly 70 teachers from throughout the state met in Rockville on Saturday to discuss the 1988 session of the Maryland General Assembly. The Legislative Committee of the Maryland State Teachers Association includes representatives from every Maryland subdivision.

The group was unanimous in its support for a bill to establish a Professional Standards Board for teachers. As a result, MSTA will be lobbying the legislature for an autonomous standards board so that the teaching profession can become truly self-governed and high standards can be set for teachers.

Despite a setback in the 1987 legislature, MSTA said it is optimistic about the association's chances of passing a Professional Standards Board in 1988.

"Backroom politics is what killed our bill last year," MSTA President Beverly L. Corelle told the assembly. "This year we'll be putting the issue in the limelight. Our challenge is to organize the public to demand higher standards for teachers and to make the public aware of the need for the board. Teachers must take their rightful role in determining what is good for their profession and in determining what it takes to hold a job as a teacher," she said.

Other issues discussed at the Legislative Committee meeting included school construction, the Governor's Commission on Teacher Salaries and Incentives, the proposed mathematics high school, collective bargaining legislation, AIDS education, and other issues of concern to Maryland educators.

The Committee's recommendations will be forwarded to the MSTA Representative Assembly for consideration, October 30-31, in Ocean City. Subscribe to The Republican Introducing Dimensia... the technological breakthrough that proves there is no place like home.

The Dimensia Concept

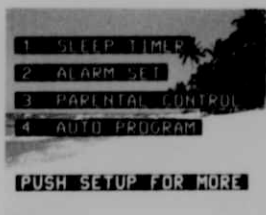

Dimensia Digital Remote

Some forms perform functions you won't find in Excel. In your spreadsheet program, there are many more examples. A spreadsheet program can even provide the formulas that you need to calculate.

2. To start your search, click on the "Search" button in the top right corner of the page. A search bar will appear, allowing you to enter your search terms. You can also use the "Advanced Search" button to refine your search results.

2. To achieve an angle, set your spreadsheet's grid dimensions at 18 to type your text in the paragraphs on a diagonal by hitting the ctrl + alt + down arrow key combination. To move the text to the right, add another ctrl + alt + right arrow key combination. To move the text to the left, add another ctrl + alt + left arrow key combination.

27" Diagonal Television Monitor/Receiver*

Frequency synthesis quartz tuning provides 147 channel broadcast and cable capacity

With one-touch auto-programming, you'll never again go through the tedious process.

of manually tuning each channel available in your area. Your monitor/receiver automatically searches for all available broadcast and cable channels, then locks them into the channel scan memory in seconds.

Hi-Fi Stereo VCR

Our most technologically advanced VHS hi-fi VCRs deliver amazingly lifelike sound, with built-in MTS broadcast stereo and incorporate convenient tuner auto programming, multi-event/one-year remote programmability, multi-channel FS broadcast/cable tuning and on-screen operating displays. Models 640 and 695 utilize new Super VHS format to produce unbelievably sharp, high-resolution picture.

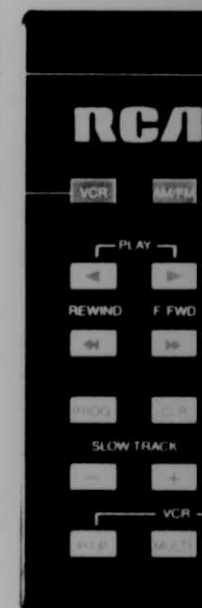

Model 6's χ^2 value included semi-structured spatial effects. For a 100 × 100 grid with 10,000 cells, the program used a diagonal of 1000 cells (one cell per row) to save time and space. Four main images (supplemental web 4) and small inset images (supplemental web 5) were the turning points.

Video Receiver

Locks in crystal clear reception through quartz digital tuning and features signal processing loop for Dolby Surround Sound or a 10-band graphic equalizer. AM/FM tuner has 20 presets for instant selection/scanning of your favorite stations. Also available is a 50-Watt Audio/Video Receiver featuring built-in 50-watts RMS amplifier plus all of the above features.

(Audio-video control center requires either MPA 100- or 120-Watts/Channel Amplifier.) Both models include Dimensia 56-button digital remote control.

120-Watt Per-Channel Stereo Amplifier

Our finest amplifier delivers big, full sound with 120 watts RMS per channel, a frequency range of 20-20,000 Hz and less than 0.015% Total Harmonic Distortion (THD). Independent bar graph readouts indicate power output for left and right channels. Includes peak hold to retain peak power readouts for up to two seconds.

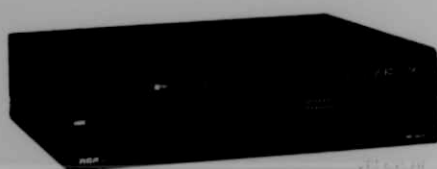

DIMENSIA

THE ULTIMATE IN HOME ENTERTAINMENT

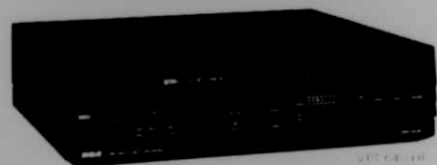

In 1984 we introduced the first integrated home entertainment system. Now we have gone beyond that technology to create the most intelligent audio-video instruments ever. All operated with a single remote control. Dimensia. The breakthrough that went beyond technology—beyond imagination.

Compact Disc Player

Reproduces the full range of today's audio discs with a wear-free, three-beam semiconductor laser pickup that can play your discs thousands of times without harming the disc surface or affecting sound quality. Easy front-loading unit features 15-track random access programming, convenient index/program search and fast-forward/reverse audible scanning with pitch-correct, natural tone sounds. Independent suspension helps prevent track skipping by providing additional stability.

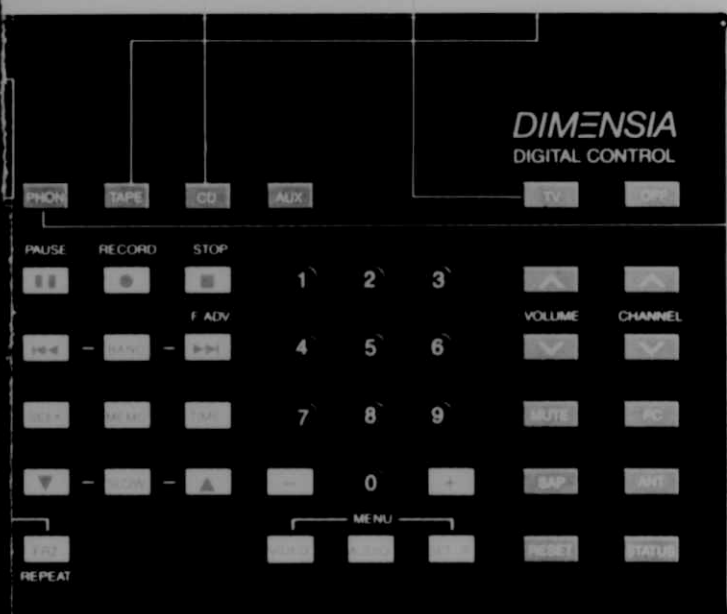

Dual Auto-Reverse Cassette Deck

Extends your recording/playback capability with synchronous high-speed dubbing and dual-deck, auto-reverse and continuous play features. Soft-touch electronic controls operate 15-track random access programming with scan/play feature. Dolby B/C noise reduction helps decrease audible tape "hiss," while automatic cueing and auto-reverse allow unattended recording. Metal tape capable.

Programmable Linear Tracking Turntable

Achieves optimum sound reproduction without excessive record wear through a low mass, linear-tracking tonearm. Magnetic cartridge delivers crisp response. Features 15-band random access programming controlled by an optical sensor.

Dolby[®] Surround Sound Processor

Produces your own private, in-home theatre by decoding Dolby Surround Sound from specially recorded videotapes and television programs. Other speaker systems available are SPK250 2-Way Acoustic Suspension Bookshelf speakers, SPK400 3-Way Acoustic Suspension Speakers and SPK050 Surround Sound Speakers.

Custom Dimensia Furniture

As you build your Dimensia system, custom-crafted, system-matched furniture in a variety of traditional and modern styles will be ready to house your components. Choose a fine console such as those shown here (different styles available) or one of three attractive table models.

Design Your Own Dimensia System, Now Or Later.

Dimensia lets you create an audio/video entertainment system that matches your current needs and lifestyle. More importantly, it gives you almost limitless opportunities to re-design or expand your system in the future.

At first, you may purchase only the Dimensia monitor/receiver. But after experiencing television with MTS broadcast stereo, you may decide to enhance that sound with an audio-video control center, powerful stereo amplifier, special speakers and even the ultimate Dolby Surround Sound processor.

Next, you may want to enjoy the latest movies or tape your favorite television programs on a Dimensia hi-fi stereo VCR.

By now, you have one of the world's finest sound systems integrated with your Dimensia video components. So it may make sense to add a programmable turntable, dual auto-reverse cassette deck or programmable compact disc player.

Regardless of which components you decide to add, all are fully remote compatible with your overall Dimensia system, and fully interactive with each other.

Experience Dimensia before November 10th and receive free custom furniture.

Finding the right environment for your Dimensia system is just as important as selecting the right components, so RCA is offering specially designed furniture. Receive a free component rack and monitor base, or a free entertainment center (some even include speaker stands) — a manufacturer's suggested retail value of up to $399.00.

To qualify, purchase any 27" diagonal Dimensia television monitor/receiver with either an MSR250 audio-video receiver or MPT200 audio-video control center (which must include the purchase of an MPA100 or 120 amplifier). Then, add any three of these qualifying audio components: MPA100 or 120 amplifier; MTR225 auto-reverse cassette deck; MCD245 compact disc player; MTT230 programmable turntable; MSP400 Dolby® Surround Sound processor; MGE260 10-band graphic equalizer; and SPK050, SPK250, SPK400 or SPK500 speaker systems before November 10, 1987. See your Dimensia dealer for additional details.

Begin building your Dimensia system today and you will be eligible for up to $100 in rebates.

Once you purchase a Dimensia component, RCA would like to help you build your ultimate home entertainment system with up to $100 in special "System Starter" rebates.

Your purchase of a Dimensia VCR automatically qualifies you for a $50 rebate when you buy any Dimensia monitor/receiver from the same dealer. Choose from nine 27" diagonal consoles or three table models (FPR2722, 2723, 2725, GPR2740, 2743, 2750, 2751, 2755, 2758, 2760, 2790, 2798).

Or, if you began your system with a Dimensia television, receive a $50 rebate when you purchase any of Dimensia's three VCRs (VPT630HF, 640HF, 695HF) from the same dealer.

You can earn an additional rebate by expanding your system's audio capabilities once you've made your video purchases. Get a $50 rebate by buying an MPT200 audio-video control center from the same dealer, or a $25 rebate on your purchase of an MSR250 audio-video receiver from the same dealer.

To qualify for your special rebate, simply fill out the rebate coupon (or coupons) you receive from your Dimensia dealer. Then send the coupon(s), along with proof of purchase of all qualifying components, to the address listed on the coupon.

NOTE: Only one Dimensia $50 video rebate for a monitor/receiver or VCR, and only one rebate for a Dimensia audio-video control center or audio-video receiver will be honored per household. Rebate coupons are valid for purchases made on or before December 31, 1987 only and must be received no later than January 31, 1988.

Your Dimensia dealer, whose name appears below, is eager to help you select a customized Dimensia system that is just right for you. Visit your dealer today for a demonstration of the technological breakthrough that proves there's no place like home.

If you select any Dimensia 27" diagonal monitor/receiver and at least two audio components, your dealer will even hook up Dimensia in your home at no charge. He'll make the proper connections and check to make certain all components are operating properly. Plus, you'll get a firsthand demonstration of how easy it is to add or change individual components and how to get the most enjoyment from your new home entertainment system. Take advantage of this special service soon, because it ends December 31, 1987.

Select a new home for your home entertainment system.

If you're looking for a home for all your Dimensia components, custom horizontal or vertical audio-video entertainment centers or monitor bases with matching component cabinets are available in tasteful warm oak and sleek ebony finishes. Some even have matching speaker stands.

White Conviction Upheld By Court Of Special Appeals

The Maryland Court of Special Appeals this week has upheld the murder and child abuse convictions and the sentencing previously handed down by Washington County Circuit Court to 29-year-old Donna L. White, Swanton.

White and her boyfriend, Bruce Allen Sarver, 31, also of Swanton, were convicted of first degree murder and child abuse in October of last year following separate but simultaneous trials in Washington County. White's appeal was based on arguments that she had been denied rights to be present at all significant points in the trial, to a pre-sentence investigation and to have the child abuse conviction merged with the murder conviction.

White's sentence of life imprisonment plus 15 years was also affirmed by the court in Annapolis.

Brandy White, Donna's four-year-old daughter, was found unconscious May 18 of last year at their residence and died May 31 after a judge ordered her removed from a life-support system.

It was found by the appeals court that Ms. White had not been barred from all bench conferences during her trial but only from one she was not entitled to attend. The panel of judges also ruled that the Washington County judge did not deny her rights by sentencing her immediately following the conviction.

W.D. Mizell To Be Marshal Of Firemen's Parade; Oktoberfest Set

Wilmer D. "Vinegar Bend" Mizell, who spent 14 years in professional baseball and now happens to be the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, will be the parade marshal for the annual Autumn Glory Firemen's Parade, slated for October 8 in downtown Oakland.

Mizell's baseball career included six years with the St. Louis Cardinals and a stint with the Pittsburgh Pirates when they won the World Series in 1960.

After his retirement from baseball, Mizell served three terms as the Congressman for the fifth district of North Carolina. For another two years, he served as Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development and has served since August 1982 in his present position as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture for Governmental and Public Affairs. He has also served as chairman of the Board of County Commissioners for Davidson County, N.C.

Active in church affairs, Mizell is a member of the Christian Missionary Alliance Church, and has been a deacon, vice-chairman of the board, Sunday School superintendent, and teacher. He is chairman of the Board of Trustees, Toccoa Falls College, Toccoa Falls, Ga., and serves on the Board of Managers of the Christian Missionary Alliance Ministries International, Nyak, N.Y.

A veteran of the United States armed services, Mizell interrupted his baseball career with the Cardinals to spend two years at Fort McPherson, Ga., and Fort Jackson, S.C.

He's been selected to the

Chad Malone Wins National Tractor Contest

Chad Malone was the first-place winner of the National Tractor Operators Contest held Tuesday in Richmond, Va. Malone, who will be returning home later today, was announced the winner at last night's awards banquet and ceremony held in conjunction with the Atlantic Rural Exposition and State Fair of Virginia.

Malone is an eight-year member of the Finzel 4-H Club, currently serving as vice president. He has been a participant in the county Tractor Operators Contest during the Garrett County Fair for the past six years, placing first or second in his category each of those years.

Malone, who is attending Frostburg State University, is the son of Bev and Jerry Malone of Finzel. His trip to Richmond was sponsored by the Wright Auction Service of Frostburg.

Area Foresters Called To Fight Fires Out West

In response to a request by the U.S. Forest Service, the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has sent 20 rangers to assist in fighting wildfires in the state of Oregon. The Maryland rangers departed Saturday for Harburg, Pa., and then flew from there to Oregon, where they are helping to extinguish the Fort Copper fire in the Klamath National Forest. This blaze, located near the California-Oregon border, had consumed 28,000 acres as of Sunday.

Forest ranger Owen Handwerk, of Garrett County, is among the Maryland crew members, as are Harold McDonald Jr., a forest ranger from Allegany County; Olie Teeter, ranger at Rocky Gap State Park near Flintstone; David Ryder, ranger at Greenbrier State Park, Boonsboro; and Richard Lillard, forest ranger in Frederick County.

McHenry Man Is Handed 10-Year Sentence To DOC

A McHenry man was sentenced to a total of 10 years in the Maryland Department of Corrections by Judge Fred A. Thayer last week in Garrett County Circuit Court where five separate cases against the man were heard.

Donald E. Oates, 26, had been found guilty September 3 of three counts of breaking and entering and stealing and two counts of daylight housebreaking following incidents that occurred between December 15 and 26 of last year.

The incidents occurred, in four cases, at cottages around the Deep Creek Lake area, and, in one case, at The Rendezvous Tavern on Deep Creek Drive, McHenry. In all the cases, numerous items were stolen and door windows or windows were damaged.

Five counts of theft, four counts of destruction of property and one handgun violation were also filed against Oates as a result of the incidents. Lawrence V. Kelly represented Oates.

Also during Circuit Court proceedings last week, an Accident man was placed on four years supervised probation after a four-year sentence to the Maryland Department of Corrections was suspended by Judge Thayer.

Kenneth E. Tasker, 20, was found guilty of sexual contact in an August 20 trial where a pre-sentence investigation has been ordered. Charges of second degree sexual offense, child

Baltimore Man Fatally Wounded By Handgun

A 30-year-old Baltimore man was fatally wounded in a shooting accident early Sunday morning in a wooded area of a privately owned farm near Finzel.

Randy Lee McKee was found at 8 a.m. Sunday by Maryland State Police who had been conducting a search for him since he was reported missing the night before. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. George B. Stoltzfus, assistant medical examiner for Garrett County.

It was determined by State Police officials that the handgun, a Sauer Western revolver, McKee had been wearing in his belt had fallen to the ground and dislodged a bullet that entered his body at the thigh and then entered his stomach. His body was found beside a Yamaha ATV four-wheeler on a tram road where he and a few other men had been logging.

Milton Bertholdt, Finzel, who owns the farm reported McKee missing Saturday at approximately 11:30 p.m. The search was conducted that night without success and continued in the daylight hours the next morning at 7:45.

Reporting officer, Tfc. R.C. Resh, indicated that no foul play is suspected in the fatal accident.

Autumn Glory Slate Of Events Announced By Promotion Council

The 20th annual Autumn Glory Festival will be held October 7-11 in the Oakland area and the schedule of events was released this week by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

The Autumn Glory Festival will commence with a Kickoff Reception on Wednesday, October 7, at 6:30 p.m. at the Silver Tree Inn. During the reception the Autumn Glory Queen will be crowned and a special plaque will be presented to this year's Honorary Golden Ambassador.

Also on Wednesday a free Fine Arts Exhibit will begin at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, with a large display of local artists' paintings, drawings and prints on display. Most works will be for sale and the exhibit will continue through the month of October during regular library hours.

Thursday, October 8
The annual Oktoberfest meal and celebration, complete with local Oom-Pah Band, will be the highlight of Thursday's events. German food and drink will be served at the Oakland Fire Hall from 4:30 p.m., followed by the Oktoberfest celebration with polka and march music.

The Firemen's Parade will be held prior to the celebration at 7 p.m. featuring bands, drill teams, fire equipment, antique fire apparatus and rescue apparatus from as far as 200 miles away. Later in the evening, the Fireman of the Year will be named.

Before the parade, the Aerobic Diehards, a local youth fitness team, will perform on Second Street in Oakland at 6:15 p.m. They represent Brenda's Body Shop.

Also on Thursday, the Garrett County Historical Museum will be open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. The museum now contains

Natural Resources Police Probing Black Bear Kill

Maryland Department of Natural Resources Police is investigating the illegal killing of a five and one-half-year-old black bear whose decomposed body was found Friday in the Keyser's Ridge area.

Officer John Milbourne and personnel from the Maryland Forest, Parks and Wildlife Service began their investigation Sunday following the report from a bow-hunter who discovered the body. It was reportedly located north of U.S. Rt. 40 on the Savage River State Forest in the Buck's Run area about one-half mile south of the Pennsylvania line.

The carcass was reportedly found with half of an aluminum arrow and broadhead between two of the bear's ribs but Milbourne stated that the bear could have been shot sometime since bow season began just recently, September 15.

Authorities estimated that the bear was a male and weighed between 200 and 250 pounds. It had been ear-tagged in Addison, Pa. in February of 1983.

Following the fatal wounding of two pregnant female bears in Garrett County in January of 1986, concerned citizens, with the help of legislators, were instrumental in passing legislation which stiffened the fines for killing bears. As a result, a first offense is punishable by up to a $1,500 fine and imprisonment of up to six months.

Armed Robbers Being Sought

Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, are continuing to search for two armed robbers who held up the Shop and Gas Mart in Grantsville shortly before midnight Sunday. An artist's rendering of the two men is shown above.

Sgt. Robert E. Friend stated that two men entered the establishment carrying a sawed-off, single-barrel shotgun and a .22 calibre, single-shot, bolt-action rifle. As the men entered the store, they ordered two persons standing outside into the store.

They then ordered an attendant and the two persons to lie face down, on the floor and then instructed the attendant to get up and go to the cash register, but to keep his head down. The attendant then opened the register while one of the suspects removed the cash drawer, containing about $200 in cash.

According to Friend, they were in and out of the store in a matter of seconds, and no one was reported injured. The cash drawer was recovered six-tenths of a mile north of Rt. 40 on Rt. 669.

Prior to the robbery, the two persons standing outside the store had observed a late model white Cadillac go by the service station several times and then up a nearby alley. Police set up several roadblocks immediately following the robbery.

One suspect was described as a white male with dark hair, about five feet, six inches tall, and a stocky build. He was reportedly wearing a stocking over his head. The other suspect was also a white male and described as being five feet, eight inches tall, with long red hair and a mustache. He was wearing blue jeans and a blue denim jacket.

Sgt. Friend is asking that anyone with information about the two men or the incident, call the Maryland State Police at 387-5511 or Garrett County Crime Solvers at 334-1975.

Women's Refuge Agency Undergoes Name Change

Effective immediately, Women's Refuge, the only local agency serving victims of spouse abuse, rape and sexual assault, has undergone a name change and will now be known as Family Crisis Resource Center.

Carylon Graham, executive director, said the change was decided by the Board of Directors because of program and geographical expansion, increased numbers of clients and the evolution of what began as a crisis intervention agency into a comprehensive service delivery system.

Commenting on the name change, Ms. Graham said, "In the past few years we have found that we are treating more and more family members; not only the primary victim. We have changed our name to reflect the actual population that we serve, which is families."

An illustration might be the abused woman who is sheltered with her children. She and the children will receive the full range of services. Additionally, the abusive spouse will have access to a therapy group.

Another example is the sexually abused/assaulted child whose family receives counseling and supportive service. The victim is the focus; however the entire family is affected by victimization, Ms. Graham explained.

In the past six months, the staff has worked with an average of 104 people per month, and there have been 193 new clients. There have been 739 bed nights provided at the shelter and 2,984 hotline calls. "We

Man Sentenced To Six Months On Battery Charge

During Garrett County District Court proceedings this past week, an Oakland man was sentenced to six months in the Garrett County Jail after he was found guilty of battery by Judge Jack R. Turney.

Duane A. Garlitz, 18, was also placed on 12 months supervised probation and ordered to pay a $25 fine and court costs as a result of the conviction.

The charge was filed by Michael W. Stem, correctional officer at the Garrett County Jail, and stemmed from a July 4 incident at the jail when Garlitz, an inmate there, reportedly assaulted and battered another inmate, Steven Dillworth. Dillworth required medical attention as a result.

In other court news, Edward D. Shuttleworth, 22, Oakland, was found guilty of possession of drug paraphernalia with the intent to use and received a 90-day suspended sentence as a result. He was also placed on 18 months supervised probation and fined $100. A charge of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance (marijuana) was not prosecuted.

The charges were filed by Tfc. R.M. Hershberger, Maryland State Police, following an incident at the scene of a motor vehicle accident along King's Run Road June 13.

James A. Tasker, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of two counts of theft, malicious destruction of property and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. A pre-sentence investigation was then ordered by Judge Turney.

The charges stemmed from a July 5 incident when Tasker (along with three unidentified persons) reportedly stole two Radio Shack walkie-talkies and 30 gallons of fuel from a truck parked at the State Highway Administration abrasive storage area in Oakland.

The truck, owned by Glen Sines, Friendsville, was used by the four men and, according to the investigating officer's report, extensive damage was done to one side of the truck. The radios and fuel were the property of Concrete General, Inc., Gaithersburg. Detective L.E. Gnegy, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, filed the charges.

Charles K. Glascoe, 18, Baltimore, was found guilty of attempted theft and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The charge was filed by Tpr. Paul R. Brown, Maryland State Police, following an incident June 28 when Glascoe reportedly escaped from the Savage Mtn. Youth Center, Lonaconing (Garrett County), where he had been court-committed. He then attempted to steal a state-owned van, valued at $10,000, from the center.

Two charges of escape from confinement were not prosecuted because of a plea agreement. John R. Toston, public defender, represented Glascoe. A charge of battery, filed against Todd W. Sisler, 19, Oakland, was not prosecuted because the complainant, Larry T. Smith, did not wish to pursue the charge.

The charge was filed following a May 16 incident at Heck's, Inc. parking lot in Oakland, when Sisler reportedly assaulted and battered Smith. Robert E. Watson was the defending attorney.

The following cases were placed on the Stet Docket.

George M. Stanya, 44, Fairmont, W. Va., was charged with battery by Cheryl L. Stanya, also of Fairmont, following a July 6 incident in Oakland. The complainant did not wish to testify.

Albert L. Moats, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, and Alice A. Guthrie, 23, Oakland, filed charges of battery against each other as a result of an August 21 incident in Oakland. The complainants did not wish to pursue the charges. Lisa C. Thayer defended Moats.

John Shahan, 41, Mtn. Lake Park, was charged with writing a bad check and theft by Susan M. Lavengood, vice president, Total Discount Foods, after he reportedly wrote a check with insufficient funds at Ralph's Richmond, Oakland, June 12. The check was then made good. Michael M. Morrisette was the defending attorney.

Sharon C. Friend, 38, Friendsville, was charged by Brodak's Discount Liquors, Oakland, after she reportedly wrote a check there June 15 with insufficient funds. The check has since been made good.

Autumn Glory Bingo Scheduled

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Oakland Elks Lodge will sponsor a special Autumn Glory Bingo at the Oakland Fire Hall next Friday evening in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Festival.

Early bird games will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the regular games at 7 p.m.

All proceeds from the event will benefit the Oakland VFD and the Elks Lodge.

Battery Charges Filed Against Oakland Man

An Oakland man, charged with two counts of battery, (one against a five-month-old child) was arrested Sunday by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and was held in the Garrett County Jail on a $1000 bond.

David W. Welch was arrested by Deputy Russell Drenning following an incident Saturday in Oakland when he allegedly battered Willa L. Welch, also of Oakland, and a child under her temporary care. David Welch was later released on the bond, and is awaiting a court hearing.

Also arrested was Charles L. Ison, 57, Mtn. Lake Park, who was charged with felony theft by Patricia Ison, also of Mtn. Lake Park following an incident in early August.

The complainant stated that Ison entered her residence on August 4 or 5 and stole a corner cupboard and a glass-top coffee table. Total loss was estimated at $600. Detective L.E. Gnegy was the arresting officer.

Ison was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail after his arrest September 21 and later released on his own recognizance.

Jeffrey L. Snyder, Rawlings, was arrested Sunday after he was charged with battery by Perry W. Thomas, Barton. Arresting officer was Deputy R. Drenning.

Snyder was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and later released on his own recognizance. The charge stemmed from a June 21 incident in Bloomington.

Roy J. Reed, 58, Elizabethtown, Ky., was served an arrest warrant charging him with theft after he reportedly stole merchandise from Heck's, Inc., Oakland.

The incident occurred Monday when Reed allegedly stole two batteries from that establishment. Deputy R.L. Sines served the warrant.

A criminal summons was served to Shirley W. Wagner, 27, Oakland, charging her with assault following a September 22 incident. The charge was filed by Donna J. Park, also of Oakland. Deputy P.J. Pratt served the summons.

Jeffrey V. Corby, 19, Deer Park, was served a criminal summons charging him with malicious destruction of property following a September 18 incident when he reportedly damaged a toilet at the Garrett County Jail. According to the arresting officer, Corby was an inmate there at the time of the incident. Estimated cost to replace the toilet is $230.

Philson D. Hinebaugh, 39, Deer Park, was served a criminal summons charging him with trespassing and disorderly conduct following a September 10 incident. Carolyn Russell, Mtn. Lake Park, was the complainant. Deputy Pratt served the summons.

A criminal summons was served to Eric W. Friend, 22, Loch Lynn, who was charged with disturbance of the peace. The charge was filed by Mark T. Best, Mtn. Lake Park, following a September 22 incident. Deputy Drenning served the summons.

A bench warrant was served to Steve A. Burns, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, charging him with violation of probation. The warrant was issued by Judge Jack R. Turney after Burns was sentenced in Garrett County District Court on a handgun violation. Deputy Drenning served the warrant.

James A. Arney, 33, Baltimore, also received a bench warrant, charging him with failure to appear in District Court in November of last year for a violation of probation hearing. Deputy P.J. Pratt served the warrant.

Theft Results In Over $3,000 Loss For Local Business

Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, this week are investigating a breaking and entering and theft that occurred at the Ringer Petroleum Service Station, located south of Oakland on Rt. 219. According to police, over $3000 worth of video cassettes and a video cassette player, valued at $300, were removed from the establishment.

The incident occurred sometime between September 20 and 21 when a person or persons disabled two exterior doors there to gain entry. Once inside, two cabinet doors were damaged and a Torta 3100 model 3 VHS video cassette player and 42 VHS video cassettes, valued at $75 each, were taken. The incident is being investigated by Tpr. R.C. Resh and Tte. J.K. Moore.

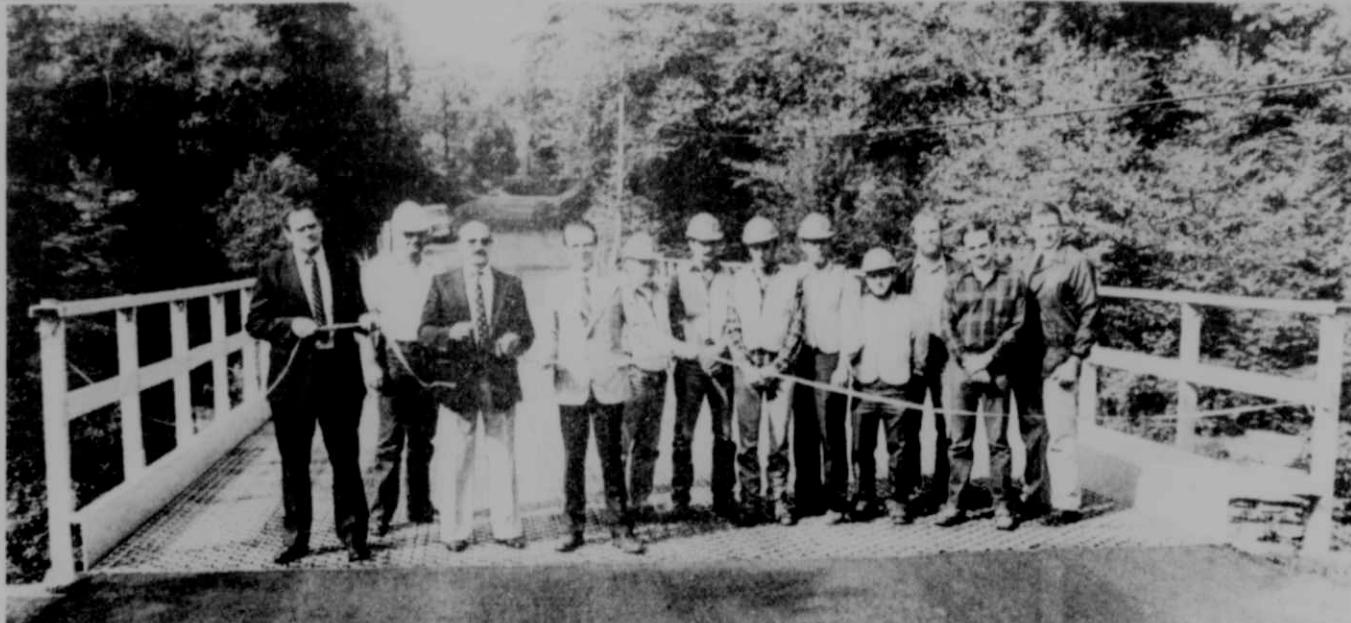

State Police also investigated a destruction of property that occurred early Wednesday morning at Northern High School.

The incident resulted in $1,200 worth of damage to the school when four large windows, enclosed in metal doors at the front of the school, were smashed with a wooden object shortly after 3 a.m.

The incident was reported by Marvin R. Murphy, custodian on duty at the school, who stated that he heard noises outside but did not arrive at the site of destruction in time to catch the person(s) responsible. Tpr. J.K. Moore is investigating.

A breaking and entering and theft was reported by Leonard C. Winebrenner, Frostburg, that occurred Sunday at his residence on Rt. 40, west of Frostburg (Garrett County).

According to Winebrenner, someone entered his home by breaking out a window and stole two gold watches and a gold ring, a .22 caliber, single-shot, bolt-action rifle and boxes of shells, and a plastic box containing $30 in U.S. currency. Total loss in damage and stolen goods amounted to $479.50. Tte. Dale K. Williams is investigating the incident.

A theft was reported that occurred sometime between last Thursday and Monday at Westvac Savage River wood yard in Bloomington.

According to police reports, two nylon straps with ratchet-tightening wrenches were stolen from a flatbed truck parked there. Loss was estimated at $400, according to investigating officer, Tpr. R.T. Wilson.

Following an investigation by the Maryland State Police, a Swanton man has been arrested and charged with a fourth-degree sexual offense and battery on a four-year-old female. William J. Maus, 22, was arrested on September 15 by Tte. D.W. Broadwater, following an initial investigation by Tte. R.C. Resh.

Police reports indicate that the offense allegedly occurred sometime between September 4-8 at a private residence while Maus was babysitting the victim. Maus is currently being lodged in the Garrett County Jail on $10,000 bond, according to a spokesman from the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

In another State Police matter, Irene V. Sanders, 31, St. George, W.Va., was charged with battery by Tte. D.W. Broadwater. The complaint had been filed by Betty J. Brown, Oakland, on September 15. An arrest warrant had been issued that day. Following a call from the State Police, Sanders allegedly voluntarily came to the Sheriff's Department on September 17 when formal charges were filed.

Sanders was released on her own recognizance.

W.Va. Youth Dies As Result Of February Mishap

A Fairmont, W.Va. youth has died of closed head injuries after months of hospitalization as the result of injuries he received in a motor vehicle accident in McHenry last February, according to a report from the Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment.

William C. Ruoff, 18, died Tuesday, September 22, at the Wishung Well Health Center in Fairmont. He had been transferred there May 1 from West Virginia University Hospital.

Ruoff was a passenger in a 1984 Ford Bronco driven by Edwin T. Stitt, also of Fairmont, on February 18 when the vehicle overturned after the driver failed to negotiate a curve on Deep Creek Drive near Point View Inn.

Stitt and another passenger were treated and released at Garrett Memorial Hospital following the accident. A third passenger was taken to West Virginia University Hospital where he was admitted as a patient.

Funeral arrangements were handled by the R.C. Jones Funeral Home in Fairmont.

Ruoff was the son of William D. Ruoff and Bonnie L. Reigle, both of Fairmont.

CURE Seeks Cure . . .

There will no doubt be at least one showdown in Congress this year, the results of which will have an effect on Garrett County industry.

Back in the 1970s when the nation's rail companies were going into bankruptcy at an alarming pace, West Virginia Representative Harley O. Staggers sponsored a bill to de-regulate the railroad industry and allow the laws of free enterprise to take their course. The legislation passed and the railroads no longer had to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to establish rates.

The legislation worked. The railroad industry was saved in the nick of time and not a single major railroad has filed for bankruptcy since 1980.

The side-effects of the de-regulation have not all been positive ones, however, because the cost of transporting freight by rail has gone through the roof. In Garrett County and surrounding West Virginia counties, coal companies are paying huge sums of money to the rail companies for coal transport. In fact, it costs more to have coal transported by rail to the Port of Baltimore than it does to have it shipped from Baltimore to Europe.

Contained within the Staggers bill was a provision that was supposed to protect those shippers who had no other reasonable alternative to rail transport, such as coal companies in outlying areas. However, that provision of the bill has not been enforced by the ICC and there is a special interest group called CURE (Consumers United for Rail Equity) composed of representatives of coal-burning utilities and the mining industry attempting to force revision of the Staggers law.

CURE says it also supports de-regulation of the rail industry, but wants the Staggers law "fine-tuned" so that it protects major users from unreasonable rail rates.

The rail industry claims that, if this occurs, the railroads will again be a regulated industry and be thrust back into economic collapse.

As with most two-sided controversies, there must be some form of compromise. We certainly do not want to see the rail industry go bankrupt, but we do desire some control over the rates they are charging their customers, especially since one of their major shippers is among Garrett County's biggest industries.

The rail companies need large sums of money to remain viable, but these funds should not come via the gouging of its major shippers. Hopefully our elected officials will find a workable solution that is acceptable to both sides.

Major County Issues Discussed By Commissioners, Governor's Aide

While at a Maryland Association of Counties (MACo) planning meeting and board of directors meeting last week, Commissioners John Braskey and Elwood Groves II had the opportunity to meet with the governor's chief aide, Mark Wasserman, to discuss major local issues pending at the state level.

Wasserman told the commissioners that Governor William D. Schaefer had indicated that the Board of Public Works would take action on the Rural Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program (RAMP) upon the governor's return from Japan. The chief aide said he would relay to the governor that positive economic boost that approval would give to the county.

Excess State Land
Although the Department of Natural Resources has released over 1,200 acres of excess state land for sale to the public, the Board of Public Works has not yet approved that agreement between the state and the county, pending further study of it.

Garrett County Airport Celebrates 25th Anniversary

The Garrett County Airport in McHenry celebrated its 25th anniversary on Monday, September 28. The airport was dedicated on a cold, windy day 25 years ago with 150-200 persons in attendance.

The guest speaker for the dedication in 1962 was Rudolph Drennen, director of the State Aviation Agency, who had worked on the project since its inception. Other dignitaries attending were: Andrew Hubeck, secretary of the Board of Public Works, representing Governor Millard Tawes who had decided not to fly in for the ceremonies because of the inclement weather; Senator Bernard I. Gonder Sr.; County Commission Chairman Carl Schell; and Charles Burdell, a member of the State Aviation Commission who also flew in for the ceremonies.

Also among the guests was A.D. Naylor, who had observed his 101st birthday the week before, and according to a report of the dedication in The Republican, "was not to be denied the opportunity to see the afternoon activities."

Those attending had the opportunity to tour and inspect the new administration building which contains offices and a large waiting room.

Prior to the ceremony Saturday, September 28, 1962, nine planes landed at the new airport.

To the Editor:
This letter goes out to all former Southern Band members, asking them to march with the Alumni Band in The Autumn Glory Parade. Act NOW so that arrangements can be made concerning instruments, music and other equipment.

We are planning to have one rehearsal on the Friday evening before the parade on Saturday. Members should try to get a copy of the music prior to that time. We will be playing "Theme to Masterpiece Theatre/Rule Britannia."

Anyone wishing to lend a hand or wanting future information should contact Mark Weeks at 334-9640, Teresa Rivenbark at 334-9719 or Blair Glass at 387-5793 (weekends only).

Let's all get together to relive old high school memories and renew old friendships. It will be great fun.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

How many of our political leaders could have forecast back in 1959, when Fidel Castro was clearly on his way toward establishing the first communist stronghold in the western hemisphere, that 20 years later he would be instrumentally involved in establishing the first communist stronghold on the American mainland?

The point is, that these predictions were made, but nothing was done to stop them, and the worst has come to pass.

The prediction now is that both Cuba and Nicaragua will play an instrumental role in establishing another communist stronghold on the American mainland. Yet there is a well-orchestrated movement, reaching into the Congress itself, that is intent on blocking any moves to stop them.

This smells like another disaster in the making.

Sincerely,
Steven S. Showers

Our Turn

Time Out
by Susan Alvarez

There are two kinds of people in the world — those who set their alarms to get up at precisely the time they want to jump out of bed and those who set their alarms an hour before the time that they actually want to reach a state of semi-consciousness so they can wake up gradually.

Unfortunately, these two types are usually married to each other. To compound the problem, the "jumper-out-of-bed" types are just as intolerably cheerful as the snoozers are unbearably unpleasant.

The jumpers fly out of bed with a smile, whistling a catchy tune. The snooze alarm holdouts lie in bed agonizing over the pressing decisions of the moment. "Should I get up or should I punch the snooze alarm for five more minutes or should I throw the clock out the window?"

Every marriage license issued should include a section where sworn statements are taken from each party, ascertaining whether that party is a jumper or a snoozer. Not only would it save time and money on family counseling and lawyers, but a young couple could begin planning right away whether to invest in coffee or cassette tapes of "Revelie."

You know why life used to be so simple just a few, brief years ago, don't you? Our forefathers never had to deal with roosters equipped with snooze alarms.

Services, regarding landfill grants.

Seyffert urged the commissioners to seek grants to complete the landfill as soon as possible as the "pot was getting low."

The grants are obtained from MES, a quasi-governmental agency which receives partial funding from the state. The commissioners expressed to Wasserman their support for the continuation of the Solid Waste Loan Facilities Program that provides the grants or low-interest loans for the implementation of state-mandated landfills.

Last year, the county received a $228,000 grant for the landfill. The commissioners are now seeking a $250,000 grant from MES for the development of the landfill which must be completely lined to catch leachate and treat it so that it becomes a non-toxic substance.

"A state-of-the-art landfill is an expensive undertaking that the state is now mandating, so state support is very important," said Commissioner Groves.

The commissioners felt their meeting with Wasserman was "very productive" in dealing with Garrett County issues.

Nelson-Rees Survey

Was the NFL strike justified?

(Readers can participate in this survey by calling one of the telephone numbers below.)

No

In college they used to say football players were dumb. Now I believe it. In the last five years the average salary of the 1,600 players in the NFL has soared from $90,000 to $230,000 a year, for about six months' work. So they vote to strike!

When union leader Gene Upshaw says the strike is not about money, someone ought to muzzle him with a dirty sock strap. Of course it's about money. The major issue is free agency—a player being able to play anywhere he wishes after four years in the NFL. If John Elway became a free agent after four years, what would Denver have to do to keep him? Pay a salary to make an Arab sheik envious.

With the new free agency two things will happen. Salaries of blue chip players will double or triple. And good players will gravitate to the popular teams. What star running back will stay with Tampa Bay if he can sign on with the 49ers or Bears? The good teams will get better and the bad teams will get worse, and that is bad for football, especially in cities that don't have strong teams.

The players like to think they are striking against team owners, but in the end they are striking against us, the fans. We are the ones who pay their already extravagant salaries—through ticket prices as high as monthly utility bills, and by buying the products advertised on football broadcasts. Paraphrasing Mark Twain: A striking NFL player differs from a dog in that a dog doesn't bite the hand that feeds it. As far as I am concerned the only athletes that ought to have strike on their minds are bowlers and baseball players.

If you agree that football players ought to be more concerned with yard lines than picket lines, call the number below.

Final '87 Rabies Clinics For Cats, Dogs Scheduled

The Garrett County Health Department will be conducting a final series of rabies clinics beginning Monday the week of October 5. This will be the last opportunity for pet owners to have their dogs or cats vaccinated at a low-cost Health Department sponsored clinic in 1987. Exact times and locations for these clinics are as follows:

Monday, October 5, Broad Ford Elementary School, 5-6 p.m.; Tuesday, October 6, Bittinger Fire Hall, 5-6 p.m.; Wednesday, October 7, Accident Elementary School, 5-6 p.m.; Thursday, October 8, Swanton Community Building, 5-6 p.m.; and Friday, October 9, Kitzmiller Community Building, 5-6 p.m.

County health department officials wish to call local residents' attention to the vaccination alert by Norden Laboratories of Lincoln, Neb., which includes dogs and cats vaccinated subcutaneously (under the skin) with Endurall-K and Rabguard-TC (see separate article elsewhere in this issue). Environmental Health Officer Rodney Glatfelter advises pet owners that at only one specific health department clinic, the spring 1986 Grantsville clinic, rabies shots were given subcutaneously, according to label instructions. Glatfelter says that owners of pets given the 3-year vaccine at that May 15 Grantsville Clinic will be contacted by telephone and told that they may bring their pets to any of the above clinics to have them re-vaccinated free, or they may attend a clinic the department will be setting up for them in the future.

Rabies continues to be a serious problem in Garrett County and surrounding areas, according to Dr. William Pope, Garrett County Health officer. While local and state-wide figures do show a slight decline in the number of cases reported for the disease, a sufficient number of cases are still present in the wildlife population to continue to pose a serious threat to domestic animals and their owners. Thus far in 1987, five positive cases of rabies have been confirmed in raccoons in Garrett County. Over the past four years cases of rabies have been reported in most geographical areas of the county. Continued efforts on the part of all county residents to have all their pets vaccinated against the disease is extremely important at this time.

Vaccination of dogs and cats is the single most important measure which can be taken to prevent the spread of rabies to the human population. Through vaccination, an effective barrier is erected between the wildlife population harboring the disease and human pet owners who are often in close contact with their dogs and cats.

Maryland law now requires that all dogs and cats four months of age and older have up to date rabies vaccinations, although pets of only three months of age can be brought to the clinics and properly protected through immunization.

The cost of the vaccinations at the clinics is only $3 per animal. Dogs should be brought to the clinic on a leash and under the control of a respons-

Garrett County licenses for dogs may also be purchased at the clinics.

Sheriff's Dept. Probing Theft At Southern States

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week is investigating several thefts, one of which occurred at the Southern States Oakland Co-operative on Rt. 135.

According to Harland Tichnell, chief deputy, there are, as yet, no suspects in the theft that involved the loss of a "Mighty Mac" log splitter, valued at $1099. The theft reportedly occurred sometime between Saturday and Sunday.

The theft of a Milwaukee eight and one-half inch table saw and a Delta sawbuck were reported by officials from Maxwell Construction, Hamilton, W.Va., at a building site on Deep Creek Drive in McHenry.

According to police reports, the theft occurred sometime between September 18 and 19, and the loss was estimated at $1000. Detective-Sgt. D.W. Tucker is investigating.

Another theft was reported by Robert W. Thrasher, Deer Park, from his home under construction along Rt. 135. Thrasher reported that sometime between September 20 and 21, someone entered the premises and stole a McCulloch 1010 chain saw, a Homelite weed eater, a Sears seven-inch circular saw, a Sears hand grinder, a Sears shop vac, a tool box and a DOP rivet gun. The items are valued at $588.95. Deputy J. Murphy is investigating.

Deputy Randy P. Shaffer is investigating an assault reported by a 13-year-old Oakland youth that reportedly occurred September 21 on Mayhew Inn Road. The three suspects are also all juveniles.

DCL Zoning Map Approved By CC Commissioners

The Deep Creek Water Shed Zoning Map which reflects four amendments, was approved by the Garrett County Commissioners last Tuesday, September 22, according to John Nelson, director of the Garrett County Planning Commission.

The map was amended as a result of the Planning Commission's comprehensive review, which was completed in 1985. A public hearing was held last March for citizens to review the amendments.

The four changes, according to Nelson, are as follows: 1) Town Center District in Thayerville was extended north to Innsbrook Village, 2) Town Residential Center in Thayerville was extended south to Mayhew Inn Road, 3) the McCann property in McHenry was converted from town residential to lake residential and 4) Walt's Tips Up and the adjacent DeWitt property (which amounts to less than one acre of land) was converted from town residential to town center.

In a separate action, the commissioners partially approved a petition by Allan B. Lemley, who had requested that 42 acres of property along Rt. 219 at Deep Creek Lake be re-zoned to Town Center. The commissioners approved 14.95 acres.

Nelson stated that action was postponed concerning the first four changes until resolution of the Lemley proposal. That public hearing was held in July.

Two Injured In Oakland Traffic Accident Tuesday

Two persons were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were taken by the Southern Rescue Squad Tuesday following injuries they received in a two-vehicle accident in Oakland.

Oakland City Police Department Chief, John K. Sines, investigated the 9:29 a.m. accident that sent George E. Hubbard, 60, Thomas, W.Va., and Gale C. Wilt, 32, Bayard, W.Va., to the hospital.

According to Sines, the accident occurred on Oak Street when Wilt pulled out from Fourth Street in the 1983 Subaru she was operating and struck the 1986 Ford Ranger pickup truck, operated westbound on Oak Street by Hubbard.

Wilt stated that the glare of the sun restricted her view of the Hubbard vehicle. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Maryland State Police investigated an accident that occurred late Monday evening when an Oakland man was miraculously not injured in a one-vehicle accident.

Michael P. Green, 19, was operating a 1985 Ford Ranger north on Md. Rt. 560 when he apparently fell asleep. The vehicle then traveled off the right roadside and struck an embankment and overturned when it re-entered the roadway.

The vehicle then slid for approximately 607 feet before coming to rest on its roof in the southbound lane. Investigating officer, Tfc. C.R. Smith, charged Green with negligent driving.

Food Bank Concept Being Eyed For Local, Low-Income Families

Concerned citizens in Garrett County are attempting to establish a food bank to assist low-income families in their purchase of food, according to a volunteer spokesman.

The food bank would provide help for low-income families who need additional assistance beyond the federal programs, such as food stamps and W.I.C.

"When one considers Garrett County is always in the top three in unemployment and one of the poorest counties in the state, it becomes clear why a food bank is needed," said the spokesman.

The food bank will be called "Garrett County Food Resources" with the purpose of providing food and other sundries at a minimal cost per pound to non-profit human service organizations within the region for distribution to combat hunger on the local level.

Other purposes include, but are not limited to: offering information about available resources for residents in need to be distributed by member agencies, offering nutrition education materials for agencies to make available to their clients, promoting self-help projects like canning clubs, gardening clubs, brown bag clubs and co-ops, collecting information from member agencies to document the extent of hunger in the county and the need for assistance, encouraging the participation of mentally and emotionally handicapped adults in the warehouse and food distribution activities of the organization, in order to provide them with vocational training opportunities.

It has been proposed that the warehouse will operate three days a week, with the staff reporting on Mondays for preparation, soliciting, ordering and administrative duties. Tuesday would be the day earmarked for sponsors and organizations to purchase between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Wednesday would be clean-up day and organization for the following week.

The staff would consist of all volunteer personnel. A minimum of six staff on a rotation basis would be needed to operate.

Food would be purchased from the Maryland Food Committee, Western Maryland branch. Local businesses in the area would also be solicited.

Eligibility will be determined by a policy board.

At the present time, a warehouse is being sought to house such a facility. Manpower and financial aid are also needed to begin the program.

C&P Proposes Freezing Basic Rates And Market Pricing Other Services

C&P Telephone filed a proposal Wednesday with the Public Service Commission of Maryland seeking pricing flexibility for certain telephone services, in exchange for guaranteeing protection from rate increases for basic telephone service. The proposal suggests implementing these changes in regulatory oversight for a trial period of four years.

In its proposal, C&P also guarantees that telephone service quality would remain at current levels prescribed by the Commission.

C&P recommends freezing basic rates for all business and residence dial tone service and residence customer telephone usage. During the trial periods there would be no change or withdrawal with respect to any of the protected basic services.

Any potential increase in business customer usage would be limited to a maximum of $.02 per message over the next four years; this would allow the Company to consider such options as volume discounts for business customers who make large numbers of calls. Business customer service connection charges could also be increased to cover the cost providing the service.

According to C&P president Hank Butta, "This proposal, if approved, would be good for our customers, those who invest in our business and the Company. For our customers, it's important to know that C&P had its last rate increase for basic service in 1985. Adoption of this proposal would, in effect, guarantee Maryland ratepayers seven years of declining or stable rates (1985-1992). And that's good news for our customers."

Rates for basic service would be frozen on July 1, 1988, and C&P says it has no plans to increase rates before then. In addition, Butta explained, "On July 1, 1989, the price for dial tone will be reduced through a previous agreement between C&P, the PSC Staff and the Office of People's Counsel. Rates would then be frozen at the lower level."

In exchange for guaranteeing rate stability for these basic services, C&P is seeking alternatives in its pricing methods for other services and products which are either optional or competitive.

"Although these services would still be tariffed, the added flexibility would give the Company the opportunity to react more quickly to market demand," Butta said.

If C&P is able to operate under the same rules and guidelines as its competitors — and have the flexibility to react quickly to changing market conditions — the Company should be able to better capitalize on these competitive opportunities, he said. "There would be stronger incentive to find innovative sources of revenue so as to bring better returns in the competitive, riskier areas of the business," Butta said. "And, that should be good news both for investors and C&P."

The visit by the Stroh's Mobile is being sponsored by Eberly Wood Wholesalers, Oakland.

In order to be able to compete in this way, C&P would forego the protection of the traditional rate-of-return form of regulation. Stockholders, not ratepayers, would bear the risks of the Company's competitive ventures.

C&P's proposal was requested by the PSC at its August 19 Administrative Meeting. The proposal will now be turned over to a task force for evaluation. The task force is required to give its written recommendations and comments to the PSC no later than December 31.

The Public Service Commission intends to conclude its proceedings and rule on the proposal by June 30, 1988.
